SENATE RESOLUTION

EXTENDING BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS TO LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS

Messrs. DiSILVESTRO, WEINER and BERGER, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 96), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 8, 1961.

We are pleased to take a few moments to extend to the President of this Senate, John Morgan Davis, happy and best wishes on his birthday.

The Senate is indeed fortunate to have as its President a person with the educational background, training and experience of Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis. Born in Shenandoah on August 9, 1906, he completed his high school education in Reading, was graduated from the Wharton School and the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania, and after practicing law and serving the public in various capacities was elected in 1951 to a judgeship in Philadelphia.

In addition, he is kind, considerate, affable and democratic, but one who commands respect; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends to Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate, John Morgan Davis, felicitations and best wishes on the event of the anniversary of his birth, with sincere hopes of continued success; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to John Morgan Davis, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of this resolution.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on behalf of this resolution,—and I believe I speak for all of the Members of the Senate and I am sure that I speak for the Democratic Caucus—we have been delighted to have had Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis in our midst. I hope he has found us as amenable as we have found him to be. We certainly wish him many, many more happy birthdays, whether he be at the rostrum, in other areas of government, or if he were to just come up here as a visitor and see those of us who are here after he has completed his term of office.

Not only on his birthday, but on all days in the coming year we certainly wish him many, many happy days and good health.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I hope I still have the opportunity to second the motion for the unanimous and immediate adoption of this resolution.

I am sure that I speak for all the Members of the Senate, and I know I speak for all of the Members of our Caucus, in joining in the felicitations to the Lieutenant Governor, John Morgan Davis, upon his birthday. We wish him many happy returns of this glad event.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Let us have your applause indicate the adoption of this resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and President of the Senate, the Honorable John Morgan Davis.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE, HONORABLE JOHN MORGAN DAVIS

The PRESIDENT. I am very moved, gentlemen. I deeply appreciate your kindness in sponsoring, moving, seconding, and adopting this resolution. I shall always treasure the memory of this day. Thank you.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MURRAY and FLACK presented to the Chair SB 906, entitled :

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways, with the approval of the Governor, to erect and construct a bridge over the Susquehanna River, connecting the State highway system in Luzerne County with the system of State highways in Lackawanna County, and to provide the necessary approaches and connection with such State highways; empowering counties to pay certain damages; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, we have on our Calendar a bill which would give the enforcement officers of the Liquor Control Board additional retirement benefits. They would like to have the same retirement benefits as the State Police now enjoy.

The bill I am about to introduce would give the enforcement officers a little more authority. It would give them the authority to make a citation within fifteen days rather than to wait three, four or five months before they notify a licensee that he has violated the law. This would give them the authority to make the citation within fifteen days.

I think this is a very fine bill, and I would like to see the Committee Chairman release it and get some action on it.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. PECHAN, ROONEY, STROUP and EHRGOOD presented to the Chair SB 907, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "Liquor Code" requiring notice of violations noted by an agent or employe of the board as a prerequisite to the imposition of a penalty, suspension or revocation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make certain reports from committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Hearing no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, first I have been instructed by the Committee on Local Government to report out House Bill No. 1438, as amended. I have been further instructed to report House Bill No. 1221, as amended, with definite instructions from my committee that after this bill is read for the first time and printed, it be returned to the Committee on Local Government for further study.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Haluska, will you listen carefully to see if the Chair reports these matters correctly?

Senator Haluska, on behalf of the Committee on Local Government, has reported, as amended, House Bill No. 1438, commonly referred to as the Strip Mining Bill and relating to bituminous mining. Is that correct, Senator Haluska?

Mr. HALUSKA. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The same Senator, on behalf of the same committee, has also reported, as amended, House Bill No. 1221, which is the bill commonly referred to as the Strip Mining Bill, relating to the anthracite coal region. As I understand from Senator Haluska, it has been agreed that after this bill is read today for the first time, it will be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government for further study and consideration. Is that correct?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the bill must be in print before it is recommitted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. After the bill is read for the first time and is printed, it will appear on the Calendar.

Mr. HALUSKA. Tomorrow, Mr. President, I will make a motion to have it recommitted to the Committee on Local Government for further study and consideration.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I agree with everything that the Chairman of the Local Government Committee has said, except that he said tomorrow he would make the motion. I presume that if he does make the motion, he will be making it to himself since we are not going to be in Session tomorrow. Therefore, the motion will have to be made next Monday.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I stand corrected.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE. OVER IN ORDER

SB 88—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

SB 104 (Pr. No. 1168)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the Report of Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 104, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" changing the permitted length of vehicles operated in combination and granting the power to the Secretary of Highways to establish speed limits.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(Remarks of the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. EHRGOOD, were then stricken from the record.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Ehrgood.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, so that it is distinctly understood, I was in favor of the original Senate Bill concerning the forty-foot trailer, and I was in favor of the amendment placed by the House in Senate Bill No. 104, which would have provided for a forty-foot trailer, but with no extension to fifty-five feet.

Mr. President, this Chamber was one time termed "a citadel of cynicism." It seems to me that the coiner of that phrase forgot to mention the Third Floor, South Wing of this Capitol Building, which is now designated as the Governor's Office, where on Friday this alleged compromise was worked out to provide for a fifty-five foot trailer, in effect up until January 1, 1967. Up until that time, things were going along their normal way.

It is true, and I agree, that the Governor has been very clever. I agree there has been a very clever move on the part of certain unseen bosses in this Commonwealth; namly, from Philadelphia. However, I would like to question whether the people—the traveling motorists in this Commonwealth—have been protected by such a deal. It is no compromise, really. Let us call it for what it is worth—a deal; a deal to the detriment of the traveling public.

Incidentally, I have not as yet seen where the Secretary of Highways or the Commissioner of Highway Safety have placed their stamp of approval on such a measure as this. To be sure, they do not have to do that. However, it seems to me that the Governor of this Commonwealth has cried to high heaven about highway safety, and we now have in front of us—with his approval and worked out in his office—a bill to provide for fifty-five feet.

Mr. President, I repeat again that I was in favor of the original bill, which would not have increased the over-all length. However, let us consider what fifty-five feet will do to the traveling public. As you go along the highway, have you ever tried to pass one of these monstrous dinosaurs? Now to be confronted with a length of fifty-five feet, it may not be so difficult on the Turnpike or a four-lane highway, but in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we have many two-lane highways and many, many township roads. Try to think of the highway safety angle as you try to pass this increased length.

One thing further. I was discussing this with a certain city policeman, who also moonlights by driving a tractor-trailer, and he asked me to vote against the forty-foot trailer bill. He did not realize at that time that this would not have increased the over-all length to fifty feet, and I explained this to him. He said: "Then, that is all right, Tom."

"With fifty-five feet, I can tell you what occurred with an out-of-State rig. When one of these out-of-State rigs made a turn and the individual coming in the other direction misjudged that additional footage length, there was an accident as a result. Therefore, when I ask you to think of highway safety, or when I supposedly think of what the Governor states is his great aim of highway safety in saving lives and having fewer accidents, I do not understand how this bill jells with that very, very fine principle which he desires to attain.

May I also say this? I repeat again that undoubtedly this has been a very, very clever political move. There has been a great hurry to move this now that the so-called deal has been arranged, without the motorist being aware of what is occurring and without the motorist having a chance to come here and let his voice be heard to the people and to we who are going to vote on this measure.

I would say that this is a deal which is worse than cynicism. I would be hopeful that we would all vote against such a measure. I would be hopeful that in the future we are not asked to go ahead and vote for increased weights to take care of the increased lengths, as well.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman who just spoke is completely confused. I would, therefore, like to more or less sort out some of this confusion in order to find out exactly what he is trying to say.

Last week, this bill, Senate Bill No. 104, passed the Senate and dealt with a different matter than is in the bill now. It was returned by the House and this very same gentleman who just spoke, and who is shedding these large tears,—I hope we do not have to mop up the complete floor here because of the large tears that are falling on it—came over and wanted to run this bill immediately. He wanted to pass it.

If forty feet were all right last week, why is it not all right this week? I do not want to make it appear as though this gentleman has been spoken to, or that some new people have talked to him about this measure. However, I cannot understand how you can escape that conclusion.

There are forty-six States which have this. As a matter of fact, I was not in favor of this measure, but I think a compromise has been reached. It is an industry compromise and not mine. It is not anyone's compromise except those people. As a matter of fact, if the gentleman is so worried about Philadelphia, if he will look at the vote in the House, he will find that almost all of the Philadelphians voted against this bill. How this matter can have anything to do with the political situation in Philadelphia completely escapes me. If this is a campaign oration, I will be very happy to chalk it up to that and have it noted in the record. However, I do not understand what the gentleman is trying to arrive at.

We now have thirty-five foot trailers. Under the House amendments, you will have forty-foot trailers. You will have an over-all cab and box length of fifty feet. By these amendments, you are merely allowing the people, who have just purchased some of this equipment, to amortize or depreciate this equipment for five years. I am told by people in the industry that this merely adds, actually, one or two feet to the entire thing, and not five feet as the gentleman has stated.

I believe the gentleman was very much in favor of this bill because he was advised by somebody in his community that this meant a great deal of plant expansion down there. They were going to build these forty-foot trailers. Now, however, the gentleman has completely gone the other way or has reversed the situation. If the gentleman wishes to vote against this bill and he still feels as strongly about it, let us have a meeting on this matter and perhaps we can defeat this measure completely. If that is what the gentleman wants to do, perhaps we can do it. However, Mr. President, these were not his sentiments last week. All we heard from industry, throughout Pennsylvania, was that this was going to close up plants, jobs were going to be lost throughout the Commonwealth, and there was going to be an economic holocaust. As a matter of fact, I was importuned, from the time I tried to leave here last week until we came back here, by every single person who had some interest in this measure, asking that we do nothing except try to save this measure. That is all that has been done.

If the gentleman is against this measure and wishes to defeat it, and thinks this is helpful to the industry which was crying for it, I think he should take that position and I think he should lead that position. I think he might even have people who will follow him on it.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the only difficulty with the Majority Leader's statement is that in the interval of a week end, the difference has become five feet. The industry was not clamoring for fifty-five feet. It was clamoring for an over-all total of fifty feet. That is the difference, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to advise the gentleman that everybody who was interested in this measure—and I have the least interest of anyone—approved these amendments and helped to write them. Therefore, these are not my amendments or anyone's in this room. These were written by the people in the industry. The big cry was that we were going to put these important people who make these forty-foot trailers in Pennsylvania out of business and we would close down plants.

I received telegrams from down in Reading, in Berks County. I received telegrams and letters from the gentleman's own area. Everybody and his brother were up here concerning this bill. It was so urgent that we had to act on it immediately. I agree with the gentleman that I think their method was very poor in the way they went about it. I think the gentleman should talk to some of his colleagues who, I think, are very close to him, and who helped to draft this bill and put these amendments into it. It was faulty and we even corrected the language in it so it would be a proper bill for the Governor to sign. As of last week, it was not that at all and he could not sign it.

If the gentleman is reading an editorial that has been written in one of his home town newspapers, I think that is fine and very laudable. I think he should do that from time to time. It is very helpful because maybe everybody does not buy the newspaper and does not read all those editorials. However, if the gentleman is actually here discussing the merits of the bill, I think he would be well-advised to at least discuss it with some of his own colleagues, all of whom sat in on this measure and discussed it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I have listened with a great deal of interest to Senator Ehrgood and to the Majority Leader. I am amazed that a man as smart as the Majority Leader could not clearly understand what Senator Ehrgood was saying. I believe it certainly was clear to everybody else in this Chamber, except the Majority Leader.

There is no question that the bill, as it was amended in the House and came back here for concurrence by the Senate, was a far different measure than this Conference Committee Report which lies before us today. Certainly an attempt was made, and probably rightly so, to protect this industry in Pennsylvania in order to bring us into line with the other States in the Union.

However, when we have a bill before us that raises, as this bill unquestionably does, the over-all length of vehicles on the highways of Pennsylvania by five feet,—and regardless of any of the proponents of this measure saying that it is only one or two feet, legislative approval is given to the five-foot increase—I can see no reason for putting this through. I also see no reason to rush a vote through today on this matter, and perhaps Senate Bill No. 104 could lay for several weeks on our Calendar—repose, if you please, in the Secretary's Office. With that I have no control, but it did for some ten days before it came out. The effective date is not until December 31, 1961. Surely another week would have no particular ill-effect upon the bill if it does have the merit which the Majority Leader ascribes to it. Mr. President, I do believe we should have time to find out what the Secretary of Highways thinks about this particular measure. I think we should consult with him and get his opinion on it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is the gentleman making a motion that this bill go over in its order? If he is, I will be very happy to join him.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I intend to do that in a very short moment.

I would like to have the people of Pennsylvania—the citizens, if you please—given an opportunity to see what we have done with this measure. I would like them to decide and, if they so feel inclined, to write to their representatives in the Senate of Pennsylvania and advocate either that we do be for this measure or that we be against it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I now will make a motion that this bill go over in its order until next Monday.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease for a few moments.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate is now at ease, Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. All right, we will be at ease, Mr. President. However, I want you to know that I am opposed to this motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator will be recognized. However, we are at ease for a couple of moments.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on this motion, please.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We are at ease. The Senate is presently at ease, Senator Sesler.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will now come to order.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the motion to carry this bill over in its order. As a matter of fact, that suggestion went over with me like a lead pipe, and I want to tell you why.

We have had this problem before us for quite some time. I feel we have a good representation here in the Senate today. I feel this legislation should be resolved. As far as I am concerned, Mr. President, I feel we must keep abreast of progress.

I must say that I, too, am not crazy about the large trucks upon our highways. However, Mr. President, we must remember that we are competing with other States. We must keep abreast of the times. I feel, Mr. President, it is proper that we consider this angle because here in Pennsylvania today, we have quite a number of distressed areas where there are quite a number of people unemployed. If this is going to help industry, I, for one, will sacrifice my pleasure as far as the big trucks are concerned. I believe that this probably is a forward step, although we will receive criticism.

Mr. President, over the weeks I have been harassed by opponents and proponents of this legislation. I am getting pretty tired and this week end I would like to go home and have a rest for once, and at least have one Sunday in my home without being bothered by people working me over on legislation. I think that quite a number of the Members of the Senate feel the same way. Therefore, let us resolve it once and for all. I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on this motion, I will support the motion that the bill go over in its order. Senator Fleming has made the motion and Senator Ehrgood has seconded it.

However, I think, Mr. President, that I might say, as a Member of the Conference Committee on this bill, that it was represented at all times to us in our Caucus discussions and also in the Conference Committee that this bill was most important to industry and employment in Pennsylvania.

Now in so far as the amendment is concerned, which will permit the use of forty-foot trailers on cenventional tractors and not the cab-over-engine type, this was put in to protect—and I think quite properly—the people who now have an investment in that type of equipment, with the limitation that they may not continue to put into use conventional tractors with forty-foot trailers after the effective date of the Act, using only those which are presently in operation or acquired before that time.

I certainly admit that I had some misgivings when the amendment to 660 inches was placed in the Conference Report, but I was assured—and I believe that I was correctly assured—that the total increase, using conventional equipment with the forty-foot trailer, would amount to no more than two or two and one-half feet and not five feet.

Mr. President, there is nothing, I feel, in the bill that would permit the use of a longer trailer on a conventional or cab-over-engine type of tractor.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was defeated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question now recurs on the motion for the adoption of this Report of Committee of Conference.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I would like to make a brief explanation of my vote on this particular matter.

I told many of my constituents that I would favor a forty-foot trailer bill, with the proviso that it did not increase the over-all length or weight of the rig.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I do not want to delay the proceedings. However, I would like to speak briefly.

I can assure the Members of this Senate that I have no interest either way. I feel I was as impartial as any Member on this floor. I have absolutely no connection one way or another, but I have taken an interest in this bill for a number of reasons.

Before we let this go by as a deal, as has been mentioned, I think we should review very briefly what this means.

We have been told how many States there are which allow forty-foot trailers. There are forty-five States. All of the northeastern States have forty-foot trailers except West Virginia, and they have an interpretation of the law in West Virginia which permits their use. Oregon has a thirty-five foot law, and for a fee of one dollar, they permit the use of the larger trailers.

The question comes down to this. The two problems involved in trailers are: One, the question of the weight factor on the highway, because of damage and destruction to highways. The second factor is the factor of allowing a trailer to pass a trailer.

As to the first problem, the length of a trailer has no relative relationship to the weight on the road. This is determined by the number of axles and placement of these axles relative to the points. Any intelligent law which trys to deal with the problem of weight on the highways should deal in terms of either axle weight or bridge formulas. To attempt to control this problem in terms of maximum gross load is a mistake. Anyone knows if you have five tandem axles on a trailer, you could carry as much as 100,000 pounds in that trailer, but yet have less bearing point on the axles. Therefore, maximum gross weight, which we still retain in this State for some reason—I do not know why—is immaterial, and it consequently makes immaterial the size of the trailer as to the effect of whether it carries more weight or not.

That leaves one factor left, and that is the factor of the difficulty of passing and the hazard of passing a trailer with this extra length. First of all, the length varies. You do not know whether it is going to add exactly five feet or maybe two feet. Second of all, we have any number of tandem trailers running on the highways of Pennsylvania. As you know, livestock trailers now are allowed to be forty feet and have been forty feet for a long time. Third, a goodly portion of the interstate traffic going across Pennsylvania travels on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, and is not even affected by this bill. This bill does not govern traffic on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

I may add one more fact to this; that is, as all truckers know, for the last six months, with the full knowledge and tacit consent of the State Police and the Department of Highways, they have been running this type of trailer.

In view of the fact that we are surrounded by States permitting this length, thus making us an island, I felt it was imperative that we give consideration to this trailer bill. We do have a number of industries which I think would be adversely affected, and I do not think they were just crying crocodile tears when they came in here and said: "Gentlemen, if you do not pass this bill, we are going to be in serious trouble." I, for one, took them at face value and I continue to take them at face value because we need those industries.

To set off against that, what do we have? There was a question of economic obsolescence of the older trailers if the new bill were passed. This is a compromise. It attempts to consider the hazards of a longer trailer opposed to increasing the amount of economic obsolescence of the short trailer. This was a compromise. It may not be the best, and I am not completely happy with it myself. However, I do think we have a workable compromise on what I still believe to be a very important piece of legislation. For that reason, I think it deserves our support.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I believe this bill is good for business and will create more jobs in Pennsylvania.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I do not know how many of my colleagues read the Harrisburg paper of July 31st, wherein an editorial appeared with a headline reading: "Allentown Could Teach Us a Lesson in Initiative." The editorial reads as follows:

> "Of Pennsylvania's many large and medium-sized cities, Allentown has always been comparatively prosperous. Its unemployment rate, together with that of nearby Bethlehem and Easton, has remained rather steady, well under the ten per cent mark and sometimes edging toward six per cent. This is not as good a record as Harrisburg can claim, but it's not bad, either, in the Pennsylvania picture.
> "Is Allentown content with its relative economic strength?"

That is a question in this editorial, and it answers itself. The editorial further states:

> "Not by any means.
> "Allentown is busily engaged in the search for new industry. Its financial and civic leaders have formed the Industrial Development Corporation of Lehigh County, and this agency has already nailed down a new plant for Allentown. It will be the eastern base for Downyflake Foods Division of DCA Foods Industries, Inc., and it will mean between 200 and 300 new jobs in that area."

The reason I point that out, and one of the big reasons why I have been a leading proponent of this legislation, is the fact that the arrival of the Downyflake Company in the Lehigh Valley area is due largely to the fact that there was a chance that we would be able to use the forty-foot trailer. The product that is handled by Downyflake weighs 20,000 pounds in a forty-foot trailer. So, you can see that this will be a real asset to that particular business.

We are the largest truck manufacturing area, employing 3,200 people and upward at the Mack Manufacturing Plant in the city of Allentown. It was because of some hard work on our part that Mack decided to stay in Allentown rather than move to another State, again keeping industry here. One of the vital reasons hehind this was the opportunity to manufacture new equipment for the truckers of the State.

It has been pointed out that this compromise is questionable. Let me say that while talking to one of the leading members of the trucking industry in my area, he pointed out that this would be an asset to eighty-five per cent of the truckers in the State who do not have the ready cash to go out and buy new equipment. By being allowed to use the additional two or two and one-half foot length, they will be able to cope with the competition and eventually see themselves clear without going far into debt.

In so far as the truck problem on the highways is concerned, I have always maintained, and always will, that it is not the equipment, but the human element involved. Therefore, I would urge my colleague in the Senate to support this measure.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I intend to cast my vote in favor of this Conference Report. However, I would like to ask the Members of the Senate, how long can we increase truck weights, and, at the same time, still have highway safety?

During the past two years, we have had fifty-foot rigs—the combination tractor and trailer—on our highways. The State Police did not enforce this law because it was really never brought to a real test. However, I want to tell you gentlemen of the Senate about what you have done for the truckers since 1955. Some of the statistics I have here are very interesting.

The increase in length of tractor-trailers started in 1949, when it was increased from thirty-three feet to thirty-five feet. The combination tractor and semi-trailer was increased from forty-five to fifty feet in 1953. The semi-trailer car carrier was increased from thirty-five to thirty-seven and one-half feet in 1955. The semi-trailer, carrying livestock, was increased from thirty-five to forty feet in 1959. In 1955, the maximum gross weight of the combination tractor and semi-trailer was increased from 39,000 pounds to 60,000 pounds.

Ladies and gentlemen and Members of this Senate, how far can we go? Are we going to build Pennsylvania highways to carry the same weights and the same lengths as our railroad industry is carrying on railroad tracks? We must come to an end on this. I hope this is the end. I hope the trucking industry will not ask for any additional length or any additional weight, because we are going to cause an increase in highway carnage.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I do not wish to belabor this problem much further. However, I desire, by reason of the constituency I represent,—which is heavily populated with truck operators, drivers and the trucking business—to speak on behalf of the particular motion that is before us.

Mr. President, I doubt whether any legislation during this Session has had such an unusual experience in the halls of the General Assembly. I go back to Senate Bill No. 432. I think it was introduced by some of us here on April 8. By certain maneuvering, it was recommitted and there it died. As a consequence, an effort was made in the House and this bill came before us as it presently exists.

The crux of the whole matter in this particular instance, Mr. President, is whether or not this additional length of five feet is going to cause any considerable difficulty on our highways. It has been explained that only approximately two to two and one-half feet are necessary. From a practical standpoint, we will not need to go to five feet, and that will be finished in 1967. This gives those particular operators, having tractors which at the present time would not be able to haul a forty-foot trailer because they would be over the fifty-foot length, a chance to adjust themselves. It is in the interest of their business and it is in the interest of employment throughout the Commonwealth that this measure should pass.

Mr. President, it is for this reason that I support the legislation which is before us. The vehement opposition to it, which so long threatened to defeat this excellent type of legislation, has now been removed. This compromise, while not most desirable, is, nevertheless, the end result which will be most beneficial to the economy of our Commonwealth. Therefore, I ask all of my colleagues to support the motion to adopt this Report of Committee of Conference.

Mr. YATRON. Mr. President, as one of the conferees on the Committee of Conference, I, too, was perhaps not happy with the compromise of the increase in over-all length. However, I feel we are doing the right thing. In my District, in the city of Reading and in the county of Berks, we have a plant which manufactures trailers. Because they were unable to run forty-foot trailers on our highways, this plant has shut down. I am speaking about the Brown Trailer Company, in Reading. Parrish Pressed Steel, which is a division of the Dana Corporation, manufactures component parts for these trailers. We need these industries to put our people to work, not only in Berks County but throughout the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In the city of Reading, we are the largest pretzel center of the world. This would give us an opportunity to ship our pretzels, without going over the weight limit, at fair rates.

For this reason, Mr. President, I feel we cannot afford not to pass this legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

SB 195 (Pr. No. 1153)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

> Amend Sec. 3, page 4, line 1, by inserting after "pay": either directly or by means of a payroll deduction authorized by the employe

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, for the benefit of the Members of the Senate, this amendment is very brief. It simply writes into the bill the privilege of payroll deduction, which the bill now does not include.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WADE.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 353 and 375—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 413—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 413 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I object to Senate Bill No. 413 going over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 413 go over in its order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on the motion.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I second the request for a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, one of the reasons for asking that this measure go over in order—so that before we vote on it, we will know what we are voting for—is that there are a number of amendments which are being prepared for this measure, in order for us to vote on it and put it in proper form.

If there is great haste that this thing must be done today and if there is some compelling reason for that to be done, I will be very happy to go along with it and I will not stand in the way of it. However, I think this matter could certainly wait until Monday. I am positive that on Monday we will act on this measure one way or another.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, certainly, if the Majority Leader wants an opportunity to look it over for the possibility of further amendment and will agree that on Monday we will vote on the measure, I certainly will withdraw my request for a roll call. I am sure my second will also withdraw his second to the request for a roll call and we will permit the bill to go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President. I want to assure the Members on the other side that on Monday we will act on this measure one way or another.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, wish to be recognized?

Mr. PECHAN. No., Mr. President. However, since you have recognized me, I do want to say that the amendments which I offered to this bill yesterday were presented on the recommendation of some of the Members of the Senate on the other side of the aisle. I thought the bill was ready to be acted upon. However, if they have other amendments, we will certainly give them all the opportunity to offer them by Monday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Am I to understand then that all parties concerned have withdrawn their respective motions?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

HB 518 and 522—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. PECHAN.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 742—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 750 (Pr. No. 1155)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there is some misunderstanding about this measure and I would like to make the record clear so that we know what we are voting on and what we would be doing. This bill would cover a situation where if, for example, a person gets a notice—this only applies in cities of the first and second class—that they have a fire violation or a housing violation, that they do not run out and sell the house or sell the property without notifying the prospective buyer that these violations exist. This does not cover violations that the man does not know he has or violations concerning which he has not received notice. This only covers the violations that the owner now knows about, which have been served upon him, and that he is aware of. All he is doing is making the persons who are buying the house aware that such a problem exists. He is putting them on notice and these are the things that the buyer is going to have to do.

Therefore, when the agreement of sale is signed, the man knows that he is not only paying X number of dollars for the house, but it is going to cost him X number of dollars plus to correct these problems which exist.

I am well aware of the basic premise of the law of caveat emptor, which is: "Let the buyer beware." We are trying to ameliorate that, so that the person buying the property will also have some notice of what is now in the possession and the hands of the prospective seller.

I think this is a fair measure. I think anybody who is fair-minded would want that to be known were they buying a property. I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this important legislation.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, this is not debate and it is probably out of order. However, this is the second time today that after I voted, there was debate on a bill.

I would like the Chair—whoever occupies it—to be more careful and to make sure that everybody has been recognized because it is a little bit embarrassing to vote and then listen to debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair thinks you will find that it has been exceedingly cautious. You will remember that the Chair, on a previous bill, asked that all motions be withdrawn and the deck cleared. The Chair does not quite understand your remark. The Chair would like to hear your remark again, because it is directed at the Chair.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I do not especially direct this at the present occupant of the Chair. I have a rather peculiar position, being number one on the roll call. Twice today I have had my name called and I have voted. Then I have listened to debate on a bill upon which I had cast my vote. I think in the future that those who desire to be recognized, in order to take the burden from the Chair, should ask to be recognized before the roll call is commenced.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, has this bill passed third reading?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This bill has already passed third reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading inasmuch as I would like to put this bill over in its order, possibly with the hope of getting some further information for the Members of the Senate in regard to this measure.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 750 go over in its order and appear on Monday's Third Reading Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order and appear on Monday's Third Reading Calendar.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am pleased to announce that the Borough of Hollidaysburg, which is home sweet home to me and which is the county seat of Blair County, is this week celebrating the 125th anniversary of its founding.

I am, therefore, Mr. President, offering this resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING THE BOROUGH OF HOLLIDAYSBURG ON ITS 125TH ANNIVERSARY

Messrs. MALLERY and STEVENSON, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 97), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, August 8, 1961.

The Borough of Hollidaysburg, the County Seat of Blair County, nestling in the foothills of the Alleghenies, was incorporated in 1836 and is celebrating its 125th anniversary. The history of this community is one of progress and prosperity over the years of its existence.

The founders of the community were Adam and William Holliday who, in 1768, purchased from Thomas and William Penn two thousand acres of land which comprises the Borough of Hollidaysburg.

The Borough has prospered and grown and today has a population of more than seven thousand. It has become an important industrial center of our Commonwealth. The firm of McLanahan and Stone is one of the oldest foundries in Pennsylvania. Its products are shipped and used throughout the United States and foreign countries. The Samuel Rae Shop of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is the largest railroad shop in the world.

On August 6, 1961, a Union Vesper Service commemorated the founding of the Borough of Hollidaysburg. All of the churches of the Borough joined in the celebration, which took place on the Hollidaysburg High School Athletic Field. Rev. John F. Chalker, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, delivered the Invocation. Addresses were made by Rev. John F. Cullinair of St. Michael's Catholic Church, and by Rev. Wesley Wright, former pastor of the Church of God. The benediction was delivered by Rev. Owen M. Gallagher, of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

The Borough of Hollidaysburg has long been noted for its outstanding schools and churches. It is to be commended and congratulated on the progress it has made in the past 125 years.

Representative Joseph R. Holliday, now a Member of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, is a fifth generation direct descendent of the founders, Adam and William Holliday; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby commends and congratulates the Borough of Hollidaysburg on its social, political, religious and economic progress in the past 125 years of its existence; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Altoona Mirror, Altoona, to the Hollidaysburg Register, Hollidaysburg, and to Representative Joseph R. Holliday at his home, 521 Hickory Street, Hollidaysburg.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate, entitled:
Weekly Adjournment.

HB 1335 CALLED UP

HB 1335 (Pr. No. 2453)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up, from page 18 of the Second Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 1335 (Pr. No. 2453)—The bill was read.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?
Mr. WADE. Mr. President, at this time, I desire to offer a series of amendments to this bill.
Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have never asked anyone not to offer amendments and I will not stand in the way of anybody offering them. However, I would be less than candid if I did not state that I believe the gentleman desiring to offer amendments was present at the committee meeting when we discussed this measure and I think we agreed, generally,—if I am incorrect, I certainly hope he will correct me—that there would be no amendments, that the bill would be restored to the way it came from the Planning Commission, and that this bill would then, after it was passed by this body, be sent to a Conference Committee where all of these problems would not only be heard, but apparently be ironed out if at all possible. If I am incorrect in this, I wish the gentleman would hasten to correct me on it.
Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think that by and large, since the Majority Leader has asked about an agreement we had in committee, in the first place, we have always agreed that committee arrangements were confidential and not to be exposed on the floor, but that is not important. The second point is this. I think the agreement that was made, if any, was regarding projects. Each and every Member of the Senate, undoubtedly, has one or two projects in his particular area in which he is interested. The amendments I have are not in that connection. They are more in the line of legislative limitations, and so forth. When I offer the amendments, if I have the privilege of doing so, I would like to explain them very briefly. However, I would like to do it when more of the Members are here. I do not think it is fair to the Members of this important committee, who are now away from the Senate holding a committee meeting.
Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not think that I was giving away a confidence. As a matter of fact, I am probably the only one who has not talked about it. This has been general knowledge, I think not only among the Members of the Senate, but the people who visit here occasionally—like every week.
I would just like to point out to the gentleman that I am sure these amendments are very worthy ones, as are the others that we will take up at the Conference Committee Meeting, and I am sure at that time we can put them in and they will still have the same efficiency as they would have by being offered here on the floor.
I believe, in asking the gentleman to withhold these, that if we allow these amendments, we certainly will have to allow all of the others that everybody else is asking for. To deny them and to allow these, I think would not be fair play. Therefore, I would ask that this bill go over in its order until Monday, at which time we can further take up this matter if it becomes that important
Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly would like to accede to the wishes of the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Majority Leader. However, I feel we have reached the place in this Legislature when we should discuss some of the important—very exteremly important—features of this bill, which I propose to amend.
In all due respect to the Majority Leader and the other Members of the Senate, I think since this bill has been on the Second Reading Calendar for a number of legislative days that now the time has arrived when we should write into the bill these amendments, which I believe—and other Members who join me in sponsoring these amendments believe—are vitally important to this very important piece of legislation.
Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?
The PRESIIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.
(The Senate was at ease.)
And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?
Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I again request that House Bill No. 1335 go over in its order.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.
Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.
The bills were as follows:
SB 658, 744, 785, 786, 816, 870, 882, 884, 885, 897, HB 203, 216, 527, 626, 1221, 1248, 1345, 1382, 1383, 1385, 1386, 1421, 1438, 1469, 1486, 1487, 1572, 1619, 1720, 1768, 1774, 1813 and 1814.
And said bills having been read at length for the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. MULLIN, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on State Government, reported, as committed, HB 565.

BIRTHDAY FELICIATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR ALBERT E. MADIGAN

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I would like to make an announcement.

It seems as though I am the official greeter. Earlier in the day, we acknowledged the birthday of the President of the Senate, the Lieutenant Governor. We, on this side of the aisle, have another birthday celebrant today. He is a man who has been in Harrisburg in the General Assembly, between the House and the Senate, since 1944 and in those years he has come to be known as "Mr. Agriculture of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania."

We would like to acknowledge the seventy-second birthday of our dear friend, Senator Albert Madigan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is happy to extend, on behalf of the Members of the Senate and the visitors, birthday anniversary greetings to Senator Madigan.

Mr. MADIGAN. Mr. President, I want to thank my colleague, Senator Van Sant from Lehigh, although I hate to thank him for reminding me of this occasion. As you know, as you have more of these birthdays, you get to the point where you do not celebrate them; you just observe them.

The thing I like to feel thankful for is that if I were not observing my birthday today, I probably would not be alive and here. I really enjoy being here with this group of men. I have been down here for about nineteen years, and every year I seem to like it more. Incidentally, I am just thiryt-nine.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I would like to challenge Senator Madigan's statement and have him clarify the difference between "observe" and "celebrate."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on behalf of myself, and I am sure on behalf of all of the Members of the Democratic Caucus, we, too, would like to join in wishing Senator Madigan a very happy birthday.

I also would like to point out to the Members of the Senate something that I have learned from Senator Madigan in the short time that I have been here. When we take up certain measures with him, he always tells me he is a farmer and does not know too much about them. All I can say is that I have never, since I have been here, seen him vote wrong, but I am trying.

We wish him many happy returns for many, many years to come, and may he always be with us.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I had the pleasure of serving in the House of Representatives with Senator Madigan quite a number of years ago. I feel that if Senator Weiner and I keep working on him, and expressing our platitudes to this gentleman, eventually we might get a vote or two from Al.

GUESTS OF SENATOR GUS YARTON PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. YATRON. Mr. President, we have a group of educators here who are visiting Harrisburg today from Allegheny County, Berks County, Cambria County, Lehigh County, Luzerne County, Mercer County, Schuylkill County and Lebanon County.

These ladies and gentlemen represent the local education associations affiliated with the Pennsylvania State Education Association. I would like to request the Chair to acknowledge their presence here in the Senate today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the group of educators enumerated by the Senator from Berks, Mr. Yatron, please rise?

On behalf of the Members of the Senate, we are happy to welcome you here today to watch the Senate proceedings, and we extend to you an invitation to return. We are happy to have you. Thank you.

BIRTHDAY FELICIATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR LEROY E. CHAPMAN

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, during the last few days, we heard about many birthday anniversaries. However, one of them escaped our attention. The reason why it did is because the person whom I am going to mention is one of those who typifies the expression: "He walked humbly before his God." Mr. President, I am speaking of none other than Senator Chapman. He celebrated a birthday, but he did not make any mention of it.

Therefore, Mr. President, belatedly, I thought we should extend him best wishes for many happy returns of the day.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, extends belated congratulations to Senator Chapman.

STATEMENT CONCERNING HOUSE BILL No. 1707, PRINTERS No. 2522

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, it has just been brought to my attention that House Bill No. 1707 has finally passed the House. This is the omnibus bill. I urge all of the Senators who are here today to read this bill between now and Monday. I would like them to get their amendments ready. I hope to have the bill reported out of committee, as amended, on Tuesday.

This is a very expensive bill to print. It consists of 171 pages. Therefore, please concentrate on it, get your amendments prepared, and we will expect to report it out of committee on Tuesday and perhaps we can have it passed the following week. Of course, that is wishful thinking.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, when Senator Rooney held up the bill, I was impressed by its size. I hope anyone who has amendments will be able to get them ready by next Monday. However, I also hope that Senator Rooney, if he is informed there might be one or two amendments of considerable length, might extend the deadline just a little bit beyond Tuesday, in case some other amendments might be needed. I hope it will not be necessary, but this is a bill which will require considerable inspection, I think, by most of the Members of the Senate.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. RESOLUTION No. 94.

In the House of Representatives, August 7, 1961.

The obnoxious occupational tax is being increasingly used by some local governments in Pennsylvania. The assessments of occupations at the present time bear no relationship to the actual earning capacity of the individuals assessed. This results in financial oppression, partiality and discrimination against large segments of the population.

The occupation tax has been used as a substitute for an earned income or wage tax, to which it bears no real relationship. The result is that certain people in each community are burdened with an unfair share of the community tax load. The occupation tax is a holdover from primitive times, when persons pursuing certain lines of work had high incomes. This is no longer true. Taxes should be assessed, levied and collected from that segment of the population best able to pay; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby condemns the unfair use of occupation taxes by local governments in Pennsylvania, and urges such local governments to refrain from the imposition of such taxes.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY. RESOLUTION No. 95.

In the House of Representatives, August 7, 1961.

Persons making use of migratory farm labor on their farms are being required by the Department of Labor and Industry to treat water used for drinking purposes with chlorine and other chemicals. In many cases, such water is being derived from the same well or pring which the farmers have used for their own drinking purposes for years without any harmful effects. The purchase of required chemicals has placed a financial burden upon farmers, and it is also felt by some that the presence of such chemicals in their water is detrimental to health; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry is hereby urged to remove the requirement that chlorine or other chemicals be placed in drinking water used by migrant laborers on farms when such water is derived from the same well or spring generally used by the farmer, unless it is established that the water is unsafe for human consumption without such treatment; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Labor and Industry.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BRETH, JIM and CURWOOD.

RESOLUTION No. 96.

In the House of Representatives, August 7, 1961.

Whereas Spring Creek in Centre County is internationally famous for its trout fishing and as the site of the renowned "Fisherman's Paradise" and also the location of the State of Pennsylvania's largest and most picturesque fish hatchery; and

Whereas, This grand stream is apparently theatened by a continuing wave of pollution which threatens to destroy its fish life and its ability to attract visitors, sight-seers and fishermen; and

Whereas, This condition has drawn the concern and ire of numerous citizens and civic organizations; and

Whereas, If this condition continues to encroach upon the waters of this fair stream, the "Fisherman's Paradise" and fish hatchery will be abandoned with the resultant economic loss of several million dollars in plant ponds and fishery investments; and

Whereas, This loss will also mean a further economic loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenue from tourists and sightseers in Centre County; and

Whereas, In realization of this serious situation, the House of Representatives, by 1960 House Resolution No. 9, Serial No. 11, empowered the Committee on Fisheries to make a survey and study of conditions causing the pollution of Spring Creek, which study was held and the results thereof reported to the House of Representatives; and

Whereas, In spite of said study and report, it has become apparent that the same conditions still exist; and not only to citizens of Centre County but to Pennsylvania fishermen everywhere; therefore be it

Whereas, This continuing condition is of great concern

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to reopen and continue the survey and study previously conducted by the Committee on Fisheries of conditions causing the pollution of Spring Creek and all matters incidental and related thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the House of Representatives its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect, as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the hall of the House a delegation of men and women who represent educational associations for the aid of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. They represent the following districts: Allegheny, Berks, Mercer, Cambria, Lehigh, Schuylkill, Luzerne and Lebanon. The principal towns represented are Johnstown, Allentown, Reading and Pottsville.

Will the members of that delegation please rise?

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we are probably going to call up one bill before we go to caucus. The request will be made for a one and a half-hour recess for the purpose of a caucus on the education program and the bills, beginning at, roughly, 2 o'clock.

So. Mr. Speaker, if I may, on page 4, call one bill up before the caucus.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong preside?

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Speaker of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. We have present in the hall of the House a former member, and the first woman Democrat to be elected a member of this House.

She has one other unique distinction. She is entitled, if she will, to say a few words from the Speaker's rostrum to the members of this House, because she is an ex-Speaker pro tempore of this House. I think that she is probably the only surviving Speaker pro tem, but she was elected Speaker pro tem to preside over the House until it was organized at the 1935 Session, Anne Brancato, now Mrs. Wood. If she would care to say a few words to the members of this House, I am sure we would be pleased, and the members of this House would be pleased.

Anne was a great member of this House, and it has never been the same since she departed.

Mrs. WOOD. This is unusual. I had not expected to be called upon, but it feels like old times just looking over this great body of men and women. I am so happy to be here. It just makes me feel at home. One of these days I may come back and join you.

Thank you so much, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 4, bills on final passage, I call up Senate bill 294, printer's No. 1115.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 294, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" further providing for the lights and signals to be used in connection with certain vehicles and providing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Merry.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a bill that supposedly is promoted by the safety committee and the majority of the bill will probably be of benefit as far as truck lights are concerned. The thing that I objected to, whether that means too much or not, is on pages 3 and 4. For some reason or other as they started out they amended out the old grandfather clause on the lights, the stop lights and tail lights, of automobiles built prior to 1956. I questioned certain people on this and they said "Well, there are not too many cars that are older than 1956 still on the highways." My first question was, it would be very difficult to go out and find a dual tail lamp or a dual stop lamp for a good many of these motor vehicles. Be that as it may, I do not quite see the reason for eliminating that grandfather clause. In 1956 they told everybody that "Now you must have two tail lights and you must have two stop lights, but on all cars previous to this time you do not have to do that." If you take page 4 of S. B. 294, printer's No. 1115, and look at line 12, maybe you folks in the House will get my question. We say that all these folks who have these old cars have got to go and hunt up the dual tail lamp and dual stop lamp and yet it goes on to say "except as otherwise provided in this subsection, tractors, truck-tractors and towing vehicles in drive away-tow away operations shall carry at least one stop light." Now if it is all right for these people to have one stop light, why penalize everybody in Pennsylvania who has a car built before 1956 who has to go out and put on four stop lights and two tail lights? That is the biggest question I have to raise in this bill. I did not put an amendment in because I was told that it would be turned down. I did not try to. The rest of the bill possibly will be an advantage, although it is a great departure from our present system of truck lights.

The part near the back that is important, and I believe important for safety, is that a motor vehicle getting in trouble would have a way of throwing a third switch to make his turn signals, all four of them, come on at the same time and alternate. Presently you see a car run into a ditch and the man will turn on maybe his left turn signals and let them flash to show that he is in trouble; maybe he is on the opposite side of the road and he turns on the right turn signals to show he is in trouble. This bill primarily arranges for a third type of switch so that when he gets in trouble he can use the third position and both front turn signals and back turn signals alternately flash, and on trucks they have this position to use until they can get out on the highway and put their flags and flares down. I think that part of the bill is good.

There is only one other thing I would like to comment on before you vote on it and that is, on dump trucks, where they were wired for side lamps on the corners years ago, it was impossible to keep those side lamps in operation electrically. The inspection stations were then allowed to put a reflector in place of each one of those lights on a dump truck body. As near as I can figure, this bill cuts that out and they will have to wire them again. I do not think that should have been done because it is almost impossible in dump trucks working in stone or rocks, and something cuts the wires that operate the side lights. Of course, a good many of these dump trucks do not operate after dark and maybe that is one reason they eliminated it.

I am not saying one way or the other what to do. Use your own judgment, but I do think it is unfair in the first part of the bill. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—8

Ashton,	Markley,	Mihm,	Steckel,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask unanimous consent of the House first to make a brief statement? Then I would like to follow that by making an appropriate motion.

The SPEAKER. The floor leaders are always privileged to address the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we are, we hope, at the tail end of this legislative session. The thing that I want to talk about right now is the issue of reapportionment.

When this session started, it was very evident, very apparent, to everybody that the most important issue facing this General Assembly was the question of a fair and reasonable reapportionment bill. Everybody knows, and it is axiomatic, that Pennsylvania, by reason of a loss in population, will have to lose three seats in our Congress. The question was how to fairly and equitably do this job, particularly in view of the fact that we are almost evenly divided in this House, we are evenly divided in the Senate; and the State is practically evenly divided from a political standpoint. What did we Republicans do? We adopted, first, a principle on our side that, No. 1, because of the shrinkage of population in Philadelphia they should lose one seat. Why? Because Philadelphia is entitled to not six seats under the present population, not five, but 4.78. So we thought it would be equitable, fair and just that Philadelphia lose one seat in Congress, which would only be right, and that would be a Democrat, obviously, which would be eliminated.

What would we on the Republican side do then? We would agree to a district throughout the State where we would lose a Republican Congressman. That would make it even. Then we would go along on setting up a district wherein it would be evenly divided and in a fair election either side could pick and win that third seat. Now that was the plan.

We also adopted a principle that we would not carve up a county in order to create a congressional district; we would try to preserve existing county lines as much as possible. Now we are in the minority; the Democrats are in the majority. We realized the only whip we had would be to hold up votes on the non-preferred appropriations. I know you will say that is not a very tenuous hold that you could rely on, because as time goes by time runs out on you. Of course, in other years we did not pass these bills until the session was almost a year and a half gone by, but that is not the subject of my discussion.

What further did the Republicans do? We met with a select committee chosen by Mr. McCann. We sat down with them. Otis Morse and George Bloom agreed, we will sit down and we will agree on a fair and reasonable bill. We have been waiting, oh, so long, so long, for that meeting when we would sit down and fairly and squarely and honestly and in a spirit of good will, because of the State being evenly divided politically, try to equitably resolve this reapportionment problem. We even put in a couple of bills which we felt would reasonably express some of our opinions, although we have a plan in my possession which would be even a fairer plan if we would be willing to sit down and talk about and bargain with. The meetings were never held. Week after week I have asked Mr. McCann, "Are we going to get a reapportionment bill?" "Yes, we will get one. Yes, we will sit down with you people." But, lo and behold, this Monday we finally get a bill, the bill we have long waited for, the fair, reasonable equitable, just bill we were supposed to get, that was supposed to be put in. Mr. McCann on Monday morning unveiled it in his office with a big chart. You must mean business with that bill or you would not have gone to all that trouble.

Now, what does that bill do? If that bill were to pass, it is quite reasonable that six Republican Congressmen would be eliminated in Pennsylvania and you Democrats would not lose a single one. You are going to hang onto your six in Philadelphia and arrogantly reach over into Delaware County and over into Bucks County and take some of those fine people and add them to the county of Philadelphia. People in those counties do not want it. It violates the precepts that we, the Republican Party, have established as to what would be done, one, two, three, four, five steps, in order to have a fair, reasonable and just reapportionment bill.

We have waited, oh, so long and this is the bill we have. It is in committee, and I understand it is going to pop out of committee next week. We know you have the votes to put it over if you want to. There is not a vote on this side, I am sure, for that unfair, unjust bill. I say it is gerrymandering gone mad, this bill that you have. It is a Democratic sham, it is arrogant, and I think it is a fraud on the people of this Commonwealth, that bill, to eliminate deliberately six Republicans and keep every Democrat and preserve Bill Green right there with his machine in the city of Philadelphia. There is no question but that Bill Green drafted this bill, and I think when you passed your tax program in January you made a deal, you Philadelphia Democrats went out and caucused, you came back with some kind of deal, and we have every reason to believe that deal was that Bill Green does not lose any Congressmen. And, lo and behold, the fruition of that plan was expressed on Monday morning when Mr. McCann unveiled his plan for Pennsylvania.

The people of this State are not dumb. They know what you are up to. They know that Philadelphia is not entitled to more than five Congressmen, yet want to keep six and only have about 330,000 to 350,000 people to represent. The people in this State know that.

How about we Republicans? We have been sitting on these non-preferred bills. We thought this week your bill would be out, we could move on non-preferred bills, move on reapportionment and get over with this session and get out of here. Now you say, if you do not give us votes and this bill fails, we will elect Congressmen at Large. That is all right with us. If you want to take the onus of running Congressmen at Large, we will meet you on election day, and I guarantee you we will probably sweep the State, because we will point out the hypocrisy of what you people are doing here today-

The SPEAKER. Did the Chair misunderstand the gentleman? I was under the impression that the gentleman's talk was leading up to a motion.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is true, I said I would be brief. I am nearly through, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The enthusiasm of the moment and the captivation of the audience—

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I will be through in just a minute, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair awaits the motion.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am not in any hurry and I do not think anybody else is because this is the most important thing this session. This is the thing that is keeping us here, and right at this microphone I charge the Democrats with bad faith on this thing. I think we should have all gotten together and had a bill here that we could all agree on and have on the floor and we could do business here. We could fix a time for sine die and end this session. But, no, you have a bill here that we could not possibly vote for and we cannot even negotiate with you hardly because it is so unfair and unjust in our opinion.

But now let me tell you something: Even though we know your plan is bad, we do not see how we are going to solve this matter. There is no use of our sitting on these non-preferred appropriations any more. We think you have shown what you intend to do and there is no use in penalizing the people of Pennsylvania any longer on these non-preferred appropriation bills.

I, therefore, ask you people to turn to page 2 of your calendar.

NON-PREFERRED APPROPRIATION BILLS MADE SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that we make a special order of business immediately of House bill No. 796, which is an appropriation bill on final passage and a non-preferred appropriation. I want to make the same motion on each and every non-preferred appropriation bill on this calendar today. There is no use of our sitting on them any longer, because we are willing to run Congressmen at Large if you people want to and we will go before the country on that issue.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I gather the impression that Mr. Johnson and the minority members of the House are not extremely happy or fond of the reapportionment bill that has been introduced, perhaps not as fond as they are of HB 1777 or 1725 or SB 845, which very nicely would eliminate, we will say, from five to six Democratic Congressmen who now serve in Washington.

I do not care to debate the merits of the bill at this point, and I thank the minority for relinquishing its position on the non-preferred appropriation bills on which it will supply the votes today, which I did not know anything about until now,—all of the non-preferred appropriation bills, if that is so.

I will say that perhaps out of the pages of history, when we debate the reapportionment bill, it will not be difficult to find, which you quite well know, that the Republican national chairman's congressional district is also a division of counties, that in the area of Joe Martin, former Republican Floor Leader of Boston, Massachusetts, there is a division of parts of a county. Also in 41 places in the United States, in Seattle, in San Diego, in Chicago, in Kansas City, in Missouri, in Boston, Massachusetts, Niagara, New York, yes, and also in 1941, I believe, that the governor then was a Republican governor and, if I am correct, a reapportionment bill was passed in this General Assembly in which you saw fit, in your wisdom, to take a part of Allegheny County and add it to Washington County, which I think the record will show, to make a new congressional district. I believe that is the law as you reapportioned the congressional districts in those days, if I read the manual correctly.

Had I known we were going to debate this issue today, we would have brought up the files, because we sure believe we have offered to you and to Pennsylvania a fair and honest reapportionment bill.

I am most pleased also to learn, Mr. Speaker, if I recall Mr. Johnson's remarks correctly, that he has in his possession another reapportionment bill, which I believe he indicated he is going to introduce. If I recall correctly, the Republican State committee introduced a bill in this House, and George Bloom, the chairman, embraced it wholeheartedly and issued a release as to this being a fair and honest bill. Evidently this one that you are going to introduce is going to be a little fairer and a little more honest. We will compare it with the other bills and see which way it may lean.

We are not in a position where we can debate this issue, but we certainly hope that we are coming near the end of the session, at which time we will debate the congressional reapportionment bills.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly favor the motion that the gentleman made, that we proceed with a special order of business, and I hope he meant that all of the non-preferred appropriation bills with the two-thirds vote of this House would then be on their way to the Senate and to the governor's office.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to reply briefly to the story about the fact that there is a history of splitting a county as far as this General Assembly is concerned.

That is true. It was in the special session of 1942. Elmer Kilroy was Speaker. You Democrats were in power in the House and you rammed that bill down our throats in 1942 in order to get reapportionment. It was not signed by the governor until February 5, 1942, almost the day to start circulating petitions to run for Congress. At the next session in 1943 the Republicans were in power and they repealed the bill and set the record straight.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman also indicate that that bill passed the Senate and I think the manual indicated, or the history indicated, that the Republican governor signed it into law? I believe that was correct.

I think if that is so, we will debate those issues at that time, including the 41 other cities in the United States, including the Republican national chairman's own congressional district.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The non-preferred appropriation bills are now a special order. Will the two floor leaders confer as to how they would like these roll calls handled?

Mr. McCANN. I would like to ask the floor leader, Mr. Speaker, if he desires any of the bills to be interrogated on or the amounts indicated, or can we use a fast roll call since I believe we will have a large number left now?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I learned Representative Whittaker would like to offer an amendment to one of these bills, 773 on page 8. And I believe by reason of the fact that these bills have been on the calendar so long that if Mr. Polen has his papers with him, it would be very pleasant if he would tell us what each appropriation does and the amount.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we will be most pleased to follow that pattern and move right through, then.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it would be nice if the gentleman would also state whether it is a new program or an old one.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

APPROPRIATION BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE (NON-PREFERRED)

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 796, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare to reimburse State-aided hospitals and the Philadelphia General Hospital for part of the cost of training nurses in approved schools of nursing and making a deficiency appropriation for the same purpose.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I understood that the chairman of the Appropriations Committee was going to inform us as to the amount involved in these bills and whether or not they involved a present program or a new program.

The SPEAKER. Is there any interrogation, or does the chairman of the Appropriations Committee want to briefly explain each bill as it comes up? What is the procedure desired?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I followed it correctly—

I do not believe the Speaker heard—Mr. Johnson asked that when a bill is called up the chairman of the Appropriations Committee indicate the amount of the appropriation in the bill before the bill is called for a roll call. Is that right?

Mr. TOMPKINS. And whether it is an existing or a new program.

Mr. McCANN. Whether it is an existing or a new program, to also indicate that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, HB 796 is an appropriation for nurses' training for the Department of Public Welfare, $1,745,496. It is not a new program.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Parlante.

Mr. PARLANTE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say that on House bill 1709 I was sitting at my desk and I forgot to push the button.

The SPEAKER. I have done that very frequently. The gentleman is recorded.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as voting "yes" on the last bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

The SPEAKER. The lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, will be so recorded.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on the next bills that we will call up,—we have discussed this procedure and we would like to go to a fast roll call because we have pages 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 to go through on these bills. Except where there may be some particular bills to which there is objection, we wonder if we could agree on the fast roll call system and get a total vote?

The SPEAKER. If there are no negative votes clear through, you can. If there are any negative votes it will take longer. First of all, you want a roll call that shows all of the members who are here to vote, and then you read the first names and ask if there are any negative votes, and if there are not then it is very quickly done. But you would have to take one slow roll call to get the master list.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is exactly what I meant. I wonder if, on page 7, where we start if we could take a roll call on the first bill that would be sure to have everyone on it and then go from there to a fast roll call repeating the sheets without the roll call?

The SPEAKER. Whatever the floor leaders will agree on will be agreeable to the Chair.

I do not think you gain any time by fast roll calls.

Mr. McCANN. There are exactly 40 more bills at this point to be voted on.

The SPEAKER. Can we have all of the members come in so we can get one master list of all the members who are here?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we will call up HB 65 and we will hold it for a minute.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 775, entitled:

An Act making appropriations to the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania for the general maintenance and operation of the University for the School of Medicine and for the School of Veterinary Medicine.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, HB 775 makes an appropriation of $5,522,234 to the University of Pennsylvania. It is not a new program.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, rise?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that HB 775 be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, has made a motion to recommit the bill to the Appropriations Committee. He has every right to make this motion, but I have to ask the membership to support the bill; oppose the motion and vote for the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, the reason I would like to have this bill recommitted is because I think it should be studied further and should be investigated. There are a lot of unanswered questions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I take it that the bill to which the motion was made to recommit is for an appropriation of $3,439,000 to the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is the amount that goes to the University of Pennsylvania for maintenance; it is also the medical school and the school of veterinary medicine included in the amount that I gave.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you. Mr. Speaker, I am through with my interrogation.

Mr. Speaker, those of us who attended the Appropriations Committee's hearings and heard the various State-aided universities, listened to the tremendous job that they are doing, particularly the medical schools in the area of new discoveries, like Salk vaccine and in serious operations, and we learned that this money goes to research in cancer and I cannot see any reason for studying this because I think our universities in this State, Temple, Pitt and Penn, are the outstanding—particularly the medical schools—are outstanding in the Nation. In fact, the University of Pennsylvania Medical School is one of the greatest in the entire universe. Therefore, I want us to vote the bill and go against that motion.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—5

Ashton,	Maxwell,	Mihm,	Mills,
Kamyk,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 795, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Dickinson School of Law Carlisle Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, HB 795 makes an approiation of $54,000 to the Dickinson School of Law. This is not a new program.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has indicated that this is not a new program. Could he tell the membership of the House when it was inaugurated?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not get the question. Will the gentleman repeat it?

Mr. SCHAAF. I say the gentleman has indicated that this is not a new program. Could he tell the membership of the House when it was first inaugurated?

Mr. POLEN. This program for Dickinson Law School was first inaugurated?

Mr. POLEN. This program for Dickinson Law School was first inaugurated in 1959.

Mr. SCHAAF. That was the session preceding this session, was it not?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. I would ask the gentleman whether or not any other law school situated with the Commonwealth is so subsidized by the Commonwealth?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, no other school is so subsidized.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman whether the Commonwealth receives any direct benefit from this appropriation? That is to say, is there any program which the law school undertakes to conduct any surveys, any research work, that is done on behalf of the Commonwealth.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the law school has made certain surveys for the Commonwealth.

Mr. SCHAAF. On a free basis, Mr. Speaker, or could the gentleman inform us if this has been done on a contract basis?

Mr. POLEN. I believe it was on a contract basis, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. So, for these services so rendered they have been previously paid, is that it?

Mr. POLEN. That would be correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman not agree in this particular case, at least, considering we have at least five or six other law schools within the Commonwealth, that this appears to be a somewhat promiscuous appropriation?

Mr. POLEN. Well, I would not want to use the word "promiscuous," Mr. Speaker. I would say that it is the only appropriation made to a law school.

Mr. SCHAAF. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it just seems to me, and I have nothing against Dickinson Law School, believe me, but it just seems to me that this type of an expenditure, this type of appropriation, of State funds where no direct benefit is obtained to the Commonwealth, I am tempted to say that in prior years we saw to the higher education of the secretary of internal affairs, but I will not dwell on that subject. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that this is money misspent. I am going to vote against this appropriation and I would like to ask every other member of this House to vote against this appropriation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, am I incorrect in assuming that the appropriation made, let us say, to Pennsylvania University is not used also for law school purposes?

Mr. POLEN. I believe that is—

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. For building and maintenance?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is only used for maintenance.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. In effect, that is one of the purposes here, is it not, in this bill?

Mr. POLEN. I would say it would be considered that.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. And is it not true that the appropriation to the University of Pittsburgh also includes a portion of the maintenance of the law school?

Mr. POLEN. That would be correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is it not true, as a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, that every non-sectarian law school in Pennsylvania receives directly or indirectly an appropriation and Dickinson was the only one that did not until last year?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not answer that effectively because I do not know if that is correct. I would say that we do make appropriations to the three universities that have law schools. They are not made to the law school particularly as this appropriation is. We do make them to the medical schools and the schools of veterinary medicine, but I do not believe we make any specific appropriation to any law school.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker, I think this appropriation, I know from personal knowledge, is a very necessary one if this law school is to continue. The other law schools are part of the university for the most part and I believe that they all get a direct benefit from the Commonwealth. Dickinson Law School is an entirely separate institution and in that respect is different from the parts of universities which the other law schools are, but I see no inherent difference that would justify not making an appropriation to Dickinson, and I therefore ask all the members to support this bill.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would very briefly like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I did graduate from Dickinson.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAFF. So that the membership of the House understands this, am I not correct, Mr. Speaker, that there are two fully staffed, fully accredited university law schools in this Commonwealth which receive no State subsidy or appropriation whatsoever? Am I not correct?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. If the gentleman is referring to sectarian schools, which, of course, is prohibited by the Constitution from receiving funds, I think the gentleman is correct. Villa Nova University law school of course, could not receive an appropriation under our constitution. I am not sure of the other one, but the gentleman may be correct in that.

Mr. SCHAAF. I would inform the gentleman that it is Duquesne Law School.

Be that as it may, will the gentleman admit that these are fully accredited and fully staffed university law schools?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. If the gentleman is proposing an amendment to the Constitution, that is one thing, but I agree that they are, of course, fully accredited law schools, but I say there is a constitutional prohibition.

Mr. SCHAAF. Will the gentleman agree that in all probability their financial difficulties are no greater or any lesser than those of Dickinson Law School?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I cannot disagree with that. That is probably correct.

Mr. SCHAAF. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—5

Ashton, Kamyk, Maxwell, Mihm, Mills,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take a moment of time to state that we passed over temporarily on page 8, HB 773. This is the Pennsylvania State University bill.

The gentlemen have been here with amendments that they desire to offer and, I believe, if I followed the Select Committee's recommendation correctly, that out of the education package they provided for a certain amount of money if the revenue-raising measure passed, dealing with Pennsylvania State University.

These amendments will be offered now at this point, I will ask the membership to oppose all amendments and defeat every single amendment.

My recommendation to the people who had the amendments to Pennsylvania State University bill 773 was that it should be considered perhaps tomorrow, when the revenue-raising measure will be voted. If it passes, part of the amendments can go in; some of the amendments dealing with a $5 million increase and the other $2 million for instruction, and various other amendments still could not exceed the amount the Select Committee had recommended.

I will abide by their wish on this bill, but should they desire to bring it up at this point, I will oppose the amendments.

At this point I would like to ask the gentlemen who have the amendments, Mr. Fulmer, Centre County, and Mr. Whittaker, if they want to hold the bill over until tomorrow to proceed on these amendments, or if they wish to vote it at this point?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will await the answer from the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, the reason we had asked that HB 773 be passed over is because the president of the Pennsylvania State University had requested that amendments be placed in the bill to increase the university budget to $23.1 million because that is the amount they feel is necessary to carry out the obligations of the land grants of the University of the Commonwealth.

We have tried to contact Dr. Walker to find out what his wishes are today, but we have not been able to contact him. Therefore, we will abide by the wishes of the majority leader to pass it over for today because we are glad to note there was a little bit of optimism in his voice when he asked us to pass it over until tomorrow.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House bill No. 773, printer's No. 846,
was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1707, entitled:

An Act establishing and taking over as State highways certain county highways * * * tunnels bridges * * * and certain streets and bridges in cities of the first class and in cities of the second class * * * and certain township roads and certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns * * * and deleting certain State highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Comer.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, due to the lateness of the hour, I will withhold my remarks and ask every member to support this bill. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ashton,	Kamyk,	Mihm,	Reidenbach,
Dougherty,	Maxwell,	Mills,	Steckel,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 496, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 5, 1927 (P. L. 787), entitled "An act establishing certain public roads as State highways . . ." changing a route and adding a new route in Delaware County.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the chairman of the Highways Committee, Mr. Comer.

The Speaker pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Comer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COMER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he is familiar with the rules of introducing highway bills in the House?

Mr. COMER. I sure am.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Is the gentleman familiar with the custom, or the practice that has been followed here with bills that have been introduced in the Senate when they come to the House?

Mr. COMER. If the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, would read over the book of rules he would find that this bill is not covered by House rules; this is a Senate bill.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, that is not my question. What have the rules been, what has the custom been, with bills that come from the Senate, highway bills?

Mr. COMER. There is no set rule where Senate bills are concerned.

Mr. FARABAUGH. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, many of you here in this House today have had the experience of attempting to introduce bills for specific pieces of roads to be taken over by the Highway.

Early in this session I inquired of some of the leadership of the possibility of introducing a bill for a piece of road in our county, 1.1 miles, which leads to a new school which has been plenty of pressure—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman suspend. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia rise?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the question is shall Senate bill 496 pass finally and, therefore, the discussion has to be made as to the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's point of order is well taken. The question before the House is Senate bill 496, printer's No. 547.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FARABAUGH. That is a very nice way of trying to sidetrack an issue.

Using the past, the procedure that has been conducted with such bills coming from the Senate is that they go to the Highway Committee and are given the same treatment that applications by any member of the House, and, if proper, we put them down in this bill. This Senate bill has come out separately for some peculiar reason that is hard to understand by many members. I understand it. I understand why it was done, but it is not proper. That bill should have had the same treatment as any application by any member of the House who makes application for a piece of road in his district. This bill was put out specifically to attempt to embarrass me because I have told the facts to the people in my county as to why that piece of road I spoke of could not be introduced until the omnibus bill came out. And this bill has—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will suspend. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I think it is improper for any member to question the sincere motives of the chairman of the committee in reporting a bill out of his committee and it is an improper reflection on the chairman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would request the gentleman from Cambria to confine his remarks concerning Senate bill 496, which is the bill before this House.

The question before the House is, shall the bill pass finally.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, if this bill, Senate bill, is permitted to pass by this method, you will then be able to break rules of the House at any time by doing likewise with other bills. This is an improper method, an improper way of passing a piece of legislation of this kind, and I seriously object because of the motive back of it, not that I am particularly concerned with the particlar piece of road that it applies to, and I would ask the members to oppose this bill. If it is a proper piece of road, let it be put in in the other chamber as it should have been done in the first place.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Comer.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I object to the remarks Mr. Farabaugh made about improper. There is nothing improper about this bill being reported out. There is nothing in the rules which state that any Senate highway bill must go into the highway omnibus bill.

Now the reason the this section of proposed road is in a separate bill is due to the fact that neither one of them is dedicated. They are non-existing roads. And that is the reason why they were contained in a single bill.

Now the rules of this House say that no single highway bill will be introduced, but there is nothing in the rules which says that we cannot honor a Senate bill of the same nature that comes over to this House. Therefore, I ask the members on both sides of the House to support this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be shown why that statement is made which, in my opinion, is incorrect. If this is a non-existing piece of road, how do they get the number of the legislative route and identification the same as any other piece of road that is in existence? That is an incorrect statement that it is a non-existing piece of road.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman interrogating the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Yes, Mr. Speaker. I would like for the gentleman to explain to me why he says it is a non-existing piece of road.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COMER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, how did this particular route get a legislative number if it is a non-existing road?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask this first? Is the gentleman questioning my actions in the committee or is he questioning the committee's action as a whole? This bill was reported out of committee by the Committee on Highways, not just by me.

Mr. FARABAUGH. My question is, Mr. Speaker, why does the gentleman say it is a non-existing piece of road and how did it get the legislative route number if it is a non-existing road?

Mr. COMER. If I understand the question rightly, Mr. Speaker, the route numbers are given by the Highway Department on all new proposed roads. These are non-existing numbers.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed that perhaps the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, can properly answer the interrogation.

Will the gentleman permit the gentleman from Delaware to answer his question?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Yes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, this is a new route and, if you read section 1 of the bill, it says a state highway is to be constructed and maintained at the expense of the Commonwealth.

Now this road connects two State highways. It will eliminate the second biggest bottleneck in Delaware County and, in addition to that, it will open up about four or five hundred acres of land for industrial development.

The Island Road which is talked about here is already a State highway and will not have to be constructed. There is one mile and a quarter of a new road connecting two State highways.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Do I understand the gentleman to say that there is no road there now?

Mr. ISAACS. Where this mile and a quarter of road will be built there is no road. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that it is not necessary for an act of the legislature for the Highway Department to build new roads?

Mr. ISAACS. The gentleman probably is correct.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Then why this bill?

Mr. ISAACS. Because it is a needed road and the bill was introduced in the other chamber by my Senator and a Senator from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Has the gentleman finished his interrogation.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Yes, Mr. Speaker. I just want to point out, Mr. Speaker, that there is something else in this bill that is entirely improper.

In the first place, I think the gentleman has admitted that there was no need for this piece of legislation, and in section 3 it says, "The highway established as a State highway under the provisions of this act may be taken over for construction and maintenance at any time subsequent to the final enactment of this act when the same shall become effective and shall be taken over not later than January 1, 1962." Mr. Speaker, since this is a non-existent road, then it is improper to present this type of legislation and is all the more reason why it should be opposed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if I may give a little hearsay testimony on this bill, the question of the bill for a separate road was discussed by myself and the parliamentarian the week before last and that very question was raised. Now there is a rule of the House that no separate bills may be introduced in the House for that purpose. The Senate, however, does not have any counterpart rules. They can introduce separate bills for separate roads in the Senate, and the parliamentarian told me that we, in the House, do not have any right to question the rules of procedure of the Senate.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1656, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of April 29, 1874 (P. L. 73), entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" authorizing the incorporation of pipeline companies for the transportation and storage or distribution furnishing or supplying of a fluid substance known as coal slurry * * *.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is unfortunate that this bill is called up at this late hour, and equally unfortunate that due to illness, I was absent when this bill was debated and voted upon two weeks ago.

However, because of what I, at least, consider to be the importance of this legislation, I would ask the indulgence of the House for just a few minutes while I raise one or two points which, perhaps, were not raised when the bill was previously debated.

First, I would like to mention that I do not know of any single piece of legislation that we have had before us in this session where both sides, by opposing this bill, can do a service to both the miners themselves of Pennsylvania, the employes of the railroads of Pennsylvania, and the respective owners and operators of these two fine industries in Pennsylvania.

I am told, although I was not present at the previous debate, that the proponents were completely silent as to the source of this coal supply and I believe in all sincerity that the source is West Virginia, not Pennsylvania—that is, the source of this slurry is probably West Virginia and it will be brought into Pennsylvania and used, perhaps, in the creation of electrical energy.

I say to each and every one of you that while this may produce some steel production in the erection of the pipe-line, it cannot compare even infinitesimally with the tons of steel that are used by the railroads for the building of gondola cars and other coal cars.

To advocate the passage of this legislation because it is is going to create some steel work, in my opinion, is ridiculous in relation to the harm it will do to the mining industry itself and to the railroad industry in Pennsylvania.

There is one other point that perhaps was not considered, and I would again ask the indulgence of the House on this point, and it goes to the constitution of the Commonwealth, a very little-known point of our constitution. It is Article XVII, section 5. Our forefathers, when they adopted it said that no common carrier could be in the business of producing the goods which they carry. There is a very salient and a very good reason for this provision in our constitution.

Now my question, and apparently this was not answered in debate, is, are the same companies who produce this coal going to be, directly or indirectly, the common carriers through this pipeline of the products of their own manufacture? If so, I say it is an unconstitutional piece of legislation.

Finally, and again I do not want to prolong this matter, but I would call the attention of this House to some tax implications in this legislation.

As I understand it, the gross receipts tax is applicable to common carriers and public utilities in general, and there is grave doubt in my mind that this type of operation would be subject to the gross receipts tax in Pennsylvania. If anyone can tell me with assurance that it would be subject to such tax I would like to hear it. Otherwise, it seems to me there is grave doubt that this same operation of having a slurry brought in through a pipeline would be subject to gross receipts tax in Pennsylvania, thus giving it a tremendous advantage over all public utilities in Pennsylvania.

I urge each and every one of you who is interested in the working man as well as industry in Pennsylvania to oppose this legislation. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, perhaps I did not pay attention to the debate on 1656 on the day it was debated, but I will specifically answer one question raised by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman. I believe he indicated in his remarks that this will benefit the State of West Virginia. I can say as a factual statement that this will benefit the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The coal slurry which will originate and start in the first operation, if this is law, will be in the counties of Greene and Washington in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the holdings of the Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Company. That coal is bituminous coal in this Commonwealth. I say to you that it will benefit a considerable number of people in Pennsylvania.

I know that we are in a very sensitive argument about this situation in this particular field, but may I assure the people who are opposing this that the B. T. U.'s at the delivery point in the usage of bituminous coal, even though those who oppose it because of what they say on transportation, cannot stop the nuclear power that will replace this unless you help to bring about the situation where they can use this material, because eventually they will both be knocked out of that market unless you are willing to support this far-reaching legislation.

Just recently, if I remember correctly, this week, the very same kind of argument took place in the Congress of the United States. I believe one of the men speaking was Congressman Van Zandt on this very subject of nuclear power and bituminous coal B. T. U. units, as to the cost at the delivery point.

I cannot answer the technical question that you have raised about the tax. I do know that it will take another corporation, of which there will probably be far more than one corporation putting their money into it from a $50-, $60-, $70-, or $80-million corporation to build this line. Certainly, that would be true. It would be my honest opinion from these tests that were conducted in Greene County on the test pipeline slurry to try this. That experiment took place not too long ago and, without a doubt, the Texas Transmission Corporation would be a part of it, the Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Company would be a part of it and other major companies would have their money invested in this project.

I also bring to your attention that in the State of Ohio such a coal slurry pipeline is in operation to the power plant near the area of Cleveland, Ohio. If we in Pennsylvania want to face this issue, and we are going to now, I ask that you look at it from the point of view, even those who oppose it, that if we do not accomplish this goal today, we eventually will still face that situation in which both of them may be eliminated because of the other power that will be used, if they do not help to find these answers in the cost of the delivery of this product at its usable point on the east coast of the United States. This is particularly used by the power plants. You know that quite well.

Therefore, I ask that you vote "aye" in support of this measure, because this is the second vote on 1656.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that coal slurry is mixed with water. Is this correct?

Mr. McCANN. Coal slurry is coal ground to a powdered form mixed with water.

Mr. KISTLER. What provision has been made for the disposition of the water that accompanies this slurry?

Mr. McCANN. When the coal slurry comes out of the end of the line, the water and the coal are separated and the water goes through a processing plant in which the water is cleansed and put back into whatever ponds, tanks or streams that they may use.

May I also answer the gentleman, one plant will have evaporation beds, another will have filter beds, but each of these are approved, and the final flow of the water from either the filter bed or the evaporation bed is water that is passed by the Sanitary Water Board as being allowed to go back into the proper stream.

Mr. KISTLER. Mr. Speaker, how much water would be used in the course of a day in passing this coal slurry from the western part of the State to the east? Where would we get this water, may I ask?

Mr. McCANN. I would say that probably their source of water would be the dams that they put in and the water that they use in the area in which they start the pumping station, or at the river, for example, the Monongahela or the Ohio River, as the case may be. As to the amount of water that is used, I could not answer that. It is 60 percent coal and 40 percent water, but I do not know how much 40 percent water amounts to in gallonage.

Mr. KISTLER. Is there any possibility that we will be further contaminating the streams with this waste water?

Mr. McCANN. None whatsoever. This is not a stripping bill, nor does it have the problems that lie with that program. The streams or the rivers will not be contaminated in any way.

Mr. KISTLER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, may I respectfully suggest that I am not at all convinced that we will not further contaminate the streams. I also am not convinced that the water table situation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is such that we should go into this thing at all. I believe that the interest of the people of Pennsylvania is inimical to that represented in this bill. I would ask the members to vote against it. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Miller.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to some of the members talk about the good that this coal slurry bill is going to do for certain industries. I told you two weeks ago what it would mean to the railroad industry and particularly my own community, and I am sincere about it.

The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, said two weeks ago, very seldom has he gotten up on the floor in his career in this House to ask anyone to vote for or against this bill. I can assure you that this is about the third or fourth time that I have ever been up on this floor to ask support against any legislation. I have always voted for legislation from the coal interests to help them get out of their predicament in this State all my years in this House. Today I am here opposing this coal slurry bill because the railroads are now fighting financial ruin. And why is it? Railroads are battling to escape disaster.

Some of these people would make you think that they are going to put a lot of men back to work. Well, I know that in one State a thousand men lost their jobs over a coal slurry bill, and I know that there will be more lose their jobs. If you want to cause unemployment, increase the unemployment rolls in Pennsylvania, just vote for this legislation today. If you want to increase the public assistance appropriations, just vote for this bill today.

I am asking all of you to oppose this legislation. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre. Mr. Fulmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say in reply to the inquiry of the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler, that I too am concerned about the source of the water and the possibility of polluting the water, but I would like to assure him and the rest of the members of the House that some other people have been thinking about this problem. Only last week I discussed this problem with some members of the faculty of Pennsylvania State University, suggesting the possibility that, instead of using water in these pipelines, we might use oil as a flotation process, thereby floating it in oil and building up the B. T. U.'s in the pulverized coal itself when it is shot through the jets at the place where it would be used. If this is the case, we know that we will not only be helping the coal industry, but the oil industry as well. Possibly, the gas people can get into this, too, by supplying the gas to provide the pressure to force the oil and the coal through the slurry.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls attention to the fact that an unusual parliamentary situation has developed with reference to House bill 678. We have received from the Senate the report of the conference committee. The Senate has appointed Messrs. Murray, McMenamin and Wagner as a committee of free-conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee. It seems that the House conferees signed the conference report prior to the time there was any session with the Senate conference committee, and then all the parties interested in the bill discovered there was a vital amendment that should be placed in the measure. Therefore, the Chair would suggest to the majority leader that he move that the present conference committee be discharged with the thanks of the House and that a free-conference committee be appointed by the House to confer with a similar committee of the Senate.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 678 DISCHARGED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the conference committee be discharged with the thanks of the House on H.B. No. 678, and that a free-conference committee be appointed to meet with a similar committee of the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would await the names of the free-conference committee to be appointed.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. STONE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Welfare to meet during the session of the House.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. While the House is at ease, the Chair would like to make a statement.

We think the expedition to New York was a success. We believe there will be funds available for other journeys during the remainder of this year and next year. We would like to send one group of members of the House on an expedition to gain information, to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. That probably would take a week. We would like to send another delegation to Kansas and Nebraska; that would take a week. Nebraska is interesting, it just has one chamber, unless it has changed that recently. Then, another to Wisconsin and Minnesota. Wisconsin presents a very interesting study. We would like to take in North Dakota and South Dakota; Montana and Idaho; Washington and Oregon; California and Arizona.

We could compile a library of useful information and by such an expedition we would have members of the House who could help us utilize that information. Whether or not we will be able to do that we do not know. I think we can. At least we will try.

BIRTHDAYS

The SPEAKER. We have two birthdays today, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. J. A. Sullivan.

Dr. Gengler, I am going to ask you to direct.

Mr. DENGLER. Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen whose birthdays are today are Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Rutherford, so I think we can sing "Happy Birthday, Dear Joe and Gene." How about that?

(Members sang "Happy Birthday," led by Mr. Dengler)

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sullivan.

Mr. J. A. SULLIVAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank everyone here for their kindness, and I am very, very happy to be with such a wonderful group of people. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Rutherford.

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I thank you for the birthday greetings. Also, I take this opportunity to thank them for the very warm way they have received me in my freshman year in the legislature. I might add, Mr. Speaker, that as August 9 is my birthday, I never expected to have the pleasure of celebrating it here among the dignified members of the House. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. On behalf of the House, the Chair accepts the compliment.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CAPANO from the Committee on Welfare, re-reported as amended, House bill No. 1803, entitled:

An Act relating to certain charitable organizations requiring the registration of such organizations regulating the solicitation of moneys and property by or on behalf of charitable organizations establishing a Commission on Charitable Organizations and an Advisory Council on Charitable Organizations and placing duties upon the Department of State.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we are ready to call up bills that will be voted on before we break for lunch and caucus. I request permission, Mr. Speaker, to turn to page 7, Senate bill No. 605.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 605, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 29, 1844 (P. L. 25), entitled "An act supplementary to an act to incorporate the president and directors of the water pipes in Aaronsburg" permitting additional persons to vote for the directors further providing who shall be taxed increasing one tax providing for flat rates and tap on charges requiring approval of rates by the Public Utility Commission and repealing inconsistent legislation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Has this bill been amended in the House?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that Senate bill 605, present printer's No. 1140, has been amended in the House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the only point of my inquiry is a constitutional one. I am very much in favor of the bill, but I would hate to see it go through and find that it would be declared unconstitutional because of some procedural defect.

This is considered as local legislation under the Constitution, and I understand that before the bill was introduced in the Senate it was properly advertised. This bill is on a par with the amendments that were offered on the Berks County prison bill, and I believe the ruling of the Chair at that time was that the amendments would also have to be advertised before the bill could be acted upon. I am only trying to clarify a constitutional question so the bill later might not be tied up in an entanglement. Could we have a ruling of the Chair on that question?

RULING BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair would be of the opinion that the precedent would indicate that the changes in the bill would call for re-advertisement. That is the opinion of the Chair.

Mr. TOMPKINS. If that is the ruling the only question I have is, were the amendments advertised in connection with this bill?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer the question. I wanted this cleared before we voted on the bill. Therefore, if the bill is in proper order we want to vote it. If it is not, we want to make it proper in every way. I asked Mr. Tompkins to bring the question up so we would clear very carefully, so these folks would have the right kind of legislation as per their advertisement.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would not the proper course then be to check the record to find out whether or not these amendments had also been advertised? I know the original proposal introduced was advertised before it was introduced in the Senate.

The SPEAKER. There is proof of publication. Does the amendment in any way change the import of the bill?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that I do not know. I do not have a copy of the bill before me.

The SPEAKER. If the amendment was simply technical, just a typographical error or something like that, in the opinion of the Chair, if it did not change in any way the intent of the bill, the purpose of the bill, it could be acted upon now, but I think the matter is one that should be chceked upon and ascertained.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, after reviewing the amendments to this bill, if the minority whip and the majority leader would listen, they might possibly learn something.

The SPEAKER. From whom?

Mr. McCORMACK. From a Philadelphia lawyer, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. As I said, Mr. Speaker, after a cursory examination of the amendments in this bill, and reading the bill, which indicates that it is local and special legislation and subject to the constitutional provision, and in light of the decision made by this House with respect to House bill, I believe, 850, there is no question in my mind that under the precedent established this bill would truly be unconstitutional, that is, this amendment. It would have to be re-advertised and I agree with the statement made by the Speaker, because in the Berks County Prison Board amendment, that merely provided for a referendum, but in this case it changes the name of the town, the township, and it also includes public utility amendments. So it is my belief, Mr. Speaker, that clearly this would require a re-advertisement, and unless you change the bill to its original form you are flying in the face of the constitution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that—

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate bill 605, printer's No. 1140, be placed upon the final passage postponed calendar until we get this issue clarified.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. STRAUSSER for today.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 318, entitled:

An Act amending the "Third Class County Board Assessment Law," approved June 26, 1931 (P. L. 1379), imposing certain minimum limitations on making assessments.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words about this bill.

If I understand the bill, Mr. Speaker, it means that in all the counties back home the assessment of real estate would have to be at least 30 percent of the fair market value as determined by the proper agency. In other words, I am thinking now of my own county; we are assessed at 25 percent and we are getting along very well. Eventually we may go to 30 percent, but if we do, it is our business. We want to do it; we do not want anybody in Harrisburg telling us we have to do it.

That is the reason I am against this bill for third class counties and I am against it as far as my county is concerned. We will run our own business up there and I do not think this legislature should tell us that we have to assess 30 percent. There will be other penalties put on us if they do. Therefore, I am against the bill and I am asking everybody to vote against the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have permission to speak both on House Bills 318 and 407 together.

Mr. Speaker, H.B. 318 pertains to third class counties' Boards of Assessment only. It provides for a minimum of 30 percent. H.B. 407 pertains to the fourth to eighth class counties and it provides for a minimum of 30 percent.

This would cover all the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania counties. In the Commonwealth at the present time there are only 11 counties that do not have an assessment of 30 percent or more. There is no question that this law would say that this is what you shall do, but the county commissioners have the full right to set the percentage of assessment on the market value of property within their counties. But the school districts of the Commonwealth receive their taxes from the percentage of assessment of the property in their districts.

Now disregarding those 11 counties in Pennsylvania, all others go from 30 percent to as high as 75 percent, which is the maximum under the law. This proposal as first introduced, I believe, called for 60 percent minimum and 75 percent maximum, and the compromise is 30 percent minimum, leaving the maximum as it is today.

The average assessment across the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is 42 percent. Now I realize that what the gentleman stated is correct, that in his county 14 is less than that, and I believe Centre County is less than that. There are 11 counties—I don't have the list—but there are 11 counties that are less than 30 percent.

I believe we should in every way possible try to help the school districts in the Commonwealth by increasing the minimum assessment percentage. Yes, you will say that they have a right to go to court and get additional millage, which they do, but this is also helpful to them in many of these areas in securing some help in securing the revenues that they are seeking. To the other counties, other than the eleven, this piece of legislation does not do a single thing.

Therefore, I ask that the membership vote in favor of this legislation if they believe it is worthy of consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I am just going to take a moment, but I cannot help but make a couple of observations which I think are prompted by the results on these two bills on Monday.

I stand four-square behind the majority leader in what he says, not because he is a member of my side, but because I think he makes sense.

Mr. Speaker, in the brief months, actually, that I have been in this General Assembly this subject of taxation, both local and statewide, has proved certainly the most fascinating and, of course, the most complex that a legislator will ever find whatever his stock in trade may be outside of this General Assembly.

We have had a Governor's Committee report. The Department of Internal Affairs publishes a monthly bulletin which has on occasion some articles of real value. There have been other studies and other comments in the newspaper and otherwise about this subject matter, but the general concensus of opinion, non-partisan, thoughtful opinion, seems to be that the financing of government and education in Pennsylvania is a twofold responsibility, certainly, on the one hand, that of the State itself, and, on the other hand, local government.

Mr. Speaker, I realize the historical background, the reasoning, the theory of over-taxation on a local basis, but for the life of me, Mr. Speaker, in logic I cannot see the reason for, or the sophistry, if you will, of the proportionate or percentage assessment. There is no need for it, Mr. Speaker, but, nevertheless, as I say, I think I do appreciate that there is the fear that there will be overtaxation and local government will gouge the residents too deeply, too strenuously. Consequently, they use this artificial formula.

But, Mr. Speaker, this is, at least in my opinion, nothing less than sophisticated nonsense. Whether a person owns a $10,000 home and if his assessment is on $10,000 and the millage is set at two mills, or whether he receives a tax bill and the assessment is listed at $2,000 and the assessment is 20 percent of the real value and the millage is ten times as much, I do not think makes a particle of difference.

There seems to be a peculiar saving grace in that tax bill or in that assessment notice that we are keeping your assessments low, and so forth, but I do not see where it serves any real advantage.

Mr. Speaker, if we are to have a fair and equitable taxation in this Commonwealth wherein all goods and all properties, irrespective of where they may be situated, are treated identically so that the child, if you will, in Philadelphia receives the same quality and character of education as does, for example, the child in Cameron County, Mr. Tompkins' district, then, certainly there should be some steps taken to put a proper base on local taxation.

Mr. Speaker, if I had my way, I would like to see 100 percent assessment, as I have indicated. I think this is a step in the right direction. I think it should be supported, particularly by you people who reside in the rural areas, where you have so much to gain from the educational program which is presently on this calendar. I think that you people should be vitally interested in this bill because it is a step in the right direction.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, referring to H.B. 318, will the gentleman state when this bill would become effective if passed?

Mr. McCANN. May I have a moment to check whether it says "effective immediately" or not?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I might say that the bill does not have any effective date in it. So would the gentleman agree that it would then become effective September 1, if passed?

Mr. McCANN. That would be correct, and, therefore—I believe I had that corrected—it would be effective September of this year. The program for this year is completed, which means that in 1962 would be the raise to 30 percent, if the county is not now assessed at 30 percent.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does the gentleman realize that in third class counties, to which H.B. 318 is applicable, there is no general reassessment law as there is in fourth to eighth class counties? Is the gentleman aware of that distinction?

Mr. McCANN. I am, and the third class counties use a different system of doing their reassessment program within their counties, that is correct.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Would the gentleman agree then that if a county has less than 30 percent, a third class county, would mean a complete and total reassessment of that county?

Mr. McCANN. Unless it is in a county where they do a third of it a year, I suppose if the county had none of it done, that would be true. If it had a part of it done, then it would be a part of their reassessment program.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the reason I oppose this bill, as Mr. Johnson indicated, is because of the tremendous impact this would have in the third class counties which are not under the fourth to eighth class county assessment law.

I think there probably is merit in increasing the assessments, but in our county, for example, the assessments are about 28.5 percent of market value. The result of this bill would mean a total reassessment for the entire county and, in addition to the expense of that, it would disrupt the gradual increasing and equalizing reassessments that we have been doing for years.

I might also say, in answer to the gentleman's remarks about the school districts, I dare say there are few counties that have a higher percent of local effort for their school districts than our county. It seems to me that in third class counties this is a very bad bill because of the tremendous impact it would have.

I do not take a position one way or the other so far as the other bill is concerned, but we feel very strongly that this would upset our county tremendously, and I ask the members to vote against the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as the majority leader covered both of these bills, I want to speak particularly on H.B. 407.

This bill provides that a floor of 30 percent on the assessment must be placed on the market value of real estate by the county commissioners when they are making the assessment. Now, Mr. Speaker, if they can make it 30 percent, they can also make it 50 percent, they can also make it 100 percent, by mandate from Harrisburg, and when you do that, even at 30 percent, you are taking out of the hands of the people the right to run their own government. It is wrong. For too long we have been shoving the people around, we have been telling them what they can and cannot do.

Up in Cameron County with a 25 percent assessment, and we do not have that, but any county that is operating on a 25 percent assessment of the market value, if they are getting enough money with which to operate their county with that amount of assessment, then I say to you that is their business, not our business. We have no right to tell them how much assessment they have to levy in order to raise the money to operate their government. If they can do it on 20 percent, more power to them, it they can run their own government and be free men in the operation of their government, instead of being sent a lot of mandates and shackles from Harrisburg. It is time we cut out this kind of monkey business. It is time we cut out this kind of power play against our local governments.

Now I come to the schools. If they are not up to the standards provided by the Tax Equalization Board, which was created for the purpose of making the local effort come up to the state contribution, then they lose their state contribution, and that is their sad state of affairs, not ours, and it should not be ours in Harrisburg. We try to set a standard by which they can get subsidies, and, if they do not comply, that is their business; it is not our business. If they see fit to operate in that manner, I say to you we have no business to try and tell them otherwise.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, without getting excited on these two issues, I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Cameron that, first of all, so long as we have representative government in this General Assembly and we each represent legislative districts, we are not going to take anything away from the people because we represent these very people.

Secondly, Mr. Speaker, so long as we are called upon to provide upwards of 50 percent of the money which is spent locally for public education, then I believe we not only have the right but we certainly have the duty to determine what is done locally.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot help but refer back a couple of months to a discussion which took place regarding the State Tax Equalization Board. I cannot help but make the further observation that if we had fair and uniform assessment throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we would not need the State Tax Equalization Board.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is very nice to be able to argue from one point of view, but let us say you sit in office as the elected county commissioner. You have your responsibility and you set the percentage of assessment. When you set it, the law provides that that covers all the townships, the boroughs, the cities and the school districts in that county. Now you sit in the other chair as a school director and you plead and you appeal, and, therefore, your answer is just as the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, stated, we run our local government ourselves, we set the percentage and this is the percentage we set.

In fact, I am proud to say that the gentleman's debate on one point of view is excellent, but his county can speak well because it is assessed at 50 percent of its market value, according to the records. There are only 11 counties in this Commonwealth that are assessed at less than 30 percent, although there are many at 30 percent. In fact, some counties are, in 1961, changing the percentage from, perhaps, 25 to 30, 30 to 35, and some are just completing their appraisement program which will set their percentage when they are done.

It is easy to say we have no responsibility, but I believe when you are the elected representative you also have a responsibility to the school directors, the borough councilmen, the township supervisors and the commissioners of the county. This bill is a very little bill that only tightens the law, where it was from 0 to 75 to a minimum of 30, leaving the maximum at 75. No county can place more than that, as the gentleman is well aware, in the assessment percentage. I know that the county commissioners' organization immediately takes the position, we do not want you telling us what to do. I say to them, they do not want us by one resolution to tell them what to do in this field, but they turn around and ask us in another to set the salaries and do this so they can say to their people back home, "the legislature did it." That I am proud to say I did because I voted for it. What is "good for the goose is good for the gander," and both must stand the responsibility. I stand for that responsibility of saying that this is good legislation and I am voting for it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, there are two items I want to separate in my remarks.

No. 1, the latter statement that the gentleman made about us sitting down and fixing their salaries. Mr. Speaker, that is a matter of constitutional requirement, and, for the information of the members of this House, the present Speaker of this House and myself co-sponsored legislation in 1959, as well as in 1961, to send that responsibility back to the counties and let them fix their own salaries, instead of having it done down here by constitutional mandate.

If they want to correct that situation, we have provided the machinery by which it can be done, and I hope they will go ahead and do it.

No. 2, you are trying to separate a school situation here against all the rights of your county government, just as the majority leader mentioned, in the form of your borough councils, your township supervisors and your counties.

If your argument is going to prevail, and I have tried to point it out, if the Tax Equalization Board in Harrisburg, tries to control a lot of subsidies they get back home based upon the assessments they have, the rest of your county government should have the right to run its own affairs without us down here telling them how much of an assessment they have to levy.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Boies.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, it so happens that I sat in a hearing of the Tax Equalization Board just yesterday, and it seems to me from what I can understand of the proceedings that the assessed valuation of a school district, of a municipality, has a great deal to do with the decision of the Tax Equalization Board in setting the property valuation on which the school subsidy is figured.

It seems to me if this is true that all assessed valuations should be on the same level. Why should one school district have an assessed valuation of three or four times what another one has? I agree with the gentleman from Erie that all assessed valuations should be the same and the millage should be set according to the needs.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kramer.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, all during this week we have been in the throes of deciding in our own hearts and minds what we are going to do about the education program. The newspapers have been filled with articles about education, the need for it and where the money is coming from. Rumors have been flying aplenty in the halls of this House.

I am much interested in the statements of the gentleman from Cameron, that we would like to have the local people pass on these tax measures. Well, Mr. Speaker, speaking for my constituents in Pittsburgh, we would welcome that because we think we would get a fairer shake out of this whole educational program if we could provide for our own education with our own tax dollars.

We in Pittsburgh are supplying the State with about $25.5 million in sales taxes and do you know what we get back under this very unfair subsidy program? We get back a little over $6 million. If we could use all of that $25 million for education in Pittsburgh we would be pretty well off and we would not have had to come to this legislature here two weeks ago and ask you people to help us pass a wage tax on our taxpayers who are already overburdened.

We of Pittsburgh have a school system that dates away back. We have 110 schools and 10 of those 110 have been condemned by the Department of Public Safety. They termed those 10 buildings combustible and told us that if we did not tear them down they would not be responsible for the deaths of any of our little kids in Pittsburgh. Some of our little kids are using not second-hand books but fifth-hand books. Why? Because we do not have enough money. And why do we not have enough money? Part of that problem is what I deem to be the very unfair formula for distributing the tax money.

So, Mr. Speaker, if Mr. Tompkins would like to have the local people decide how their taxes should be raised and how they should be spent, we of Pittsburgh will go for that all the way.

We are not against the general principle of the state subsidy. We belive that all children in this great State should have a wonderful, good education, but what troubles us, Mr. Speaker, is this: We from Pittsburgh drive out into the outskirts and go along some of our county roads and come to a cornfield. There in the middle of that cornfield is a beautiful new edifice dedicated to education. It has air conditioning, television, hi-fi, and football fields with grass. We do not have one football field in the city of Pittsburgh in our high school system that has grass, and I have the scars to prove it. It has auditoriums, music rooms with the auditoriums, cafeteria, buses, tennis courts, swimming pool, the works. One evening for diversion I rode with some of our friends out along the road toward Carlisle. I do not know the name of the school—

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, rise?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I rise to a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The gentleman is not talking on these two bills. They do not even affect the city of Pittsburgh or Allegheny County.

The SPEAKER. That is correct. However, I think the discussion so far as several gentlemen have spoken has been a bit wide of the matter under discussion. The Chair has been very lenient and, while the minority leader is technically right, I hope the gentleman will be permitted to proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I will withdraw my objection and let the gentleman proceed.

The SPEAKER. I would suggest that the gentleman keep within the scope of these particular bills rather than the entire problem which we face.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, the minority leader's statements concerning the things I have been talking about are very interesting. You know, the modern definition of a real good tax is one where I get everything and I do not pay anything. That is a real good tax and, if he says that this State school subsidy formula is not affecting Pittsburgh, then he does not know the facts because we are paying the way.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say that the subsidy formula is not properly a matter for prolonged discussion. The Chair sympathizes with the gentleman but would suggest that he confine himself to these two bills.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, it is part of the overall package that we have been talking about all this week. Now that the door was opened by the gentleman on my right, I think I have a right to continue this subject. If you want to cut me off, then do so and I will save it for a later bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no desire to cut any member off. The Chair, however, does have certain responsibilities to keep the discussion within the range and the purview of the bills pending. If the Chair abdicates that responsibility, we face interminable debate on all sorts of subjects which are not before the House.

The Chair does not want to cut anybody off, but he does like to have the bills that are before the House the subject of discussion.

Mr. KRAMER. Then, Mr. Speaker, I will conclude with this statement: that a vote for this bill is a vote for education in the right direction.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, when I later cast my vote against 1789 I would like to incorporate that speech as the reasons why.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 84, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145), entitled as amended "Local Tax Enabling Law," changing the overall limit of tax revenues for certain taxing districts.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I argued against this bill the last time and I am going to restate a couple of my arguments against this bill.

This bill goes more deeply into the very question we have been debating. This bill changes the formula for the raising of money under the "tax anything" law from a formula of 15 mills against the assessed valuation of property and changes it to a 12-mill formula against the market value of the property. I want to say that in this case the schools are not affected because they already have that formula and this bill goes back into the other elements of your local government which are not involved in your schools, such as your boroughs and your townships and your county government. In effect, you have just passed bills here to authorze a floor of 30-percent assessed values on real estate. A 15-percent value against a 30-percent assessment, or a 15-mill formula against a 30-percent assessment and a 12-mill value against a market value in effect authorizes a tripling of the taxes for other branches of government other than the schools under the provisions of this bill, and I do not think it is right and I think it ought to be defeated for the second time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's explanation on S.B. 84 pertaining to school districts is correct, but in your local townships and your boroughs, under the proposed change here, the amount of the local tax they would be allowed to levy would be based on market value, and let us take the situation that was debated a moment ago.

If you have a minimum of 30 percent, or roughly one-third of the market value, if you had a million-dollar assessment percentage, you would have roughly $3 million market value or a little more. This proposal would be under that situation a triplicate allowance of what they may be able to raise in taxation. But let us take in the situation of Cameron County, it could only be twice as much because it is 50 percent. In the case of Clearfield County it could only be a quarter more because it is 75 percent. In the case of Northampton County it could only, at the maximum, be 40 percent because it is 60 percent now of market value, so the statement that it triples it or would be a triple addition would be correct in that situation. In my own county it would be 35 percent of market value, being the assessed value, and to change it to market value under this proposal would make it, of course, roughly almost three times. But this is allowing them to do it in this field and giving them that right. I believe the legislation is very good because you will be helping the districts.

And who proposes these taxes in the districts? Only three classes of votes—the township commissioners of a first-class township, the borough councilmen of a borough, the supervisors of a second-class township. I believe that is correct because the school district is not affected in them. On that ground I say to you that if you think this bill has merit, which I believe it does, you should know something about your own county, your own district that you represent, and you should vote "aye" if you think it is worthy of consideration in your own county. It is quite all right to vote "no" if you believe you should not give this right to these people to raise the revenues that they properly need. Then I believe you should vote against it. I personally believe that it is good legislation and will vote for it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Polaski.

Mr. POLASKI. I shall yield to the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, if he wishes to answer Mr. McCann.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I want to clarify one more point under this bill.

We had a companion bill when this bill was up the first time which did not pass. It provided that the percentage of borrowing which a municipality could make would be against the market value instead of the assessed value. Some voted for that bill because they thought it was an approach to the control of authorities. Be that as it may, I want to say here that this bill has absolutely nothing to do with anything regarding authorities because such authorities as your borough or your township might set up are only those authorities which are self-liquidating out of their own particular revenue, either for sewer, water, electric or otherwise, so this bill here does not in any way, and will not in any way, affect anything that we might have in mind regarding the control of authorities.

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, S.B. 84, coming on the heels of the consideration of H.B. 318 and H.B. 407, is at a very bad disadvantage. However, let me remind you that in 318 you are mandating an assessment ceiling of 30 percent. Here you are mandating a 12-mills obligation against your market value but you are not mandating the implementation of that entire ceiling. This bill, I agree with Mr. Tompkins, appears to be a very radical bill taxwise because you could actually triple the assessment. Let me tell you this, when it comes to further imposition of real estate taxes in your local communities, this could turn out to be a very conservative bill. In this bill we are giving the opportunity to local communities to resort to Act 481 instead of imposing further real estate tax millage or assessments. From that standpoint I believe this is a very conservative measure in that manner and I think that the members of the House should vote for it.

On the question.

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, just so the members have a chance to refer to the bill we are voting on, it is a conference committee report, page 18, H.B. 990, dealing with the fair trade practices of public distributors.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, rise?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, are there a couple more conference committee reports coming up? I would like to know, and I think the members would like to know, if the conference committee report should be rejected by this House, what is the consequence? Is the bill a dead bill or does it go back to its original form?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that if the conference committee report falls, then the matter is within the province of the House. If the bill falls the conference committee is rejected, and we would then, at once, I imagine, appoint a new conference committee.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The procedure then would be to appoint a new conference committee, is that right?

The SPEAKER. If that is the disposition of the House, and if the other house was so minded.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 3 This act shall take effect, December 31, 1961.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to address myself to S.B. 104, which we have been discussing for the last few weeks.

We are faced today with a minor dilemma. Modern up-to-date truck transportation in Pennsylvania requires that Pennsylvania join the other States of the Union in permitting the much needed 40-foot trailer. The unions of Pennsylvania, the truckers, the trailer manufacturers, the depressed economic areas and the consuming public will all benefit.

It is unfortunate that political maneuvering has forced a compromise in this legislation which will allow for a five year period the existing 15-foot, more or less, tractors to pull these new trailers. However, in the interest of all of Pennsylvania this is vitally needed legislation and should be passed.

Fortunately this compromise will last for only five years. It applies only to those tractors presently registered in Pennsylvania or registered before December 31 of this year. The number of these old tractors will diminish by obsolescence and replacement each year during these five years, and any problems created thereby will, of course, decrease each year for the next five years. Whenever a compromise is drafted to satisfy everyone, as I think this has attempted to do, it seldom does satisfy everyone.

This is the best bill that we could apparently get under these circumstances, and I ask that the members on both sides support it.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, desire to be recognized?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us actually what changes have transpired in this bill since it left the House?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Yes, I will. As I understand it, the bill has been amended by the conference committee to permit 40-foot trailers in Pennsylvania; that is, to permit trailers with an overall length of 480 inches. In addition there has been a provision made so that the entire rig, both the tractor, which is the pulling mechanism, and the trailer, which is what the goods are hauled in, the two together can be of an overall length of 55 feet. That is what the law says: 660 inches overall length. Now as a practical matter I am advised that even with the largest existing tractors in use today, pulling the new 40-foot trailers, the overall length is only approximately 52 feet.

Mr. FILO. I would like to interrogate the gentleman further, Mr. Speaker.

When the bill left here we increased the trailer length by five foot, and now that it has been lengthened another five foot, which would make it 55 feet with the trailer and tractor, are there any provisions made as to the safety of operating it or their angle on the highways of Pennsylvania?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. I think the only answer I can give the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, is that Mr. O. D. Shipley, who is the recognized expert on safety matters on the highways of Pennsylvania, has made a statement which appears in the Pittsburgh papers today and which has appeared in the local Harrisburg papers saying that he has been able to find no violation of any safety rules in this new proposal. I would say that we all know the people behind this compromise version. There are people in the trucking industry who own 15-foot tractors and we know that those tractors will have a useful life of say 3, or 4 or 5 years, and they simply want the chance to use those tractors with the new trailers for the next five years, and five years from now this problem will be solved and we will be back to the overall 50-foot limit for the entire rig, both tractor and trailer. I think in the interim you will find that there are fewer and fewer of these oversized rigs each day as the old tractors become obsolescent.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I appeared on the floor of the House before when this same legislation was considered. I did mention to the members of the House that I would vote for such legislation if there was a safety angle provided along with increased length of these tractors and trailers. I say to you that since this has not transpired, you are going to find such carnage on the highways of Pennsylvania that you will think a third war has started.

I want to bring to your attention an item in the Pittsburgh Press, of Wednesday, August 2: "One Killed, Two Hurt on Parkway". And I predict, Mr. Speaker, that if this bill passes, you are going to have daily headlines in the newspapers throughout the State of Pennsylvania because of the safety angle.

If you want to do something for the State of Pennsylvania, we have been going along with the Governor's program adding safety to the State of Pennsylvania, giving your children and my children a safer place to walk to drive in. I want to say this about O. D. Shipley: There is a man who has been preaching safety in Pennsylvania. When he comes out with a statement that this does not hinder the safety of Pennsylvanians, he is a crackpot. I think you all agree with me.

Mr. SPEAKER, I earnestly hope the members will heed some of the statements that I have made, and vote against this legislation. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I was one of the constitutional majority which voted for this bill on its initial passage, allowing 40-foot trailers to be used on our highways. I do not think I need to remind anyone here that at that time the overall length of the rig remained at its present limitation of 50 feet.

From all that I have been able to discover from safety reports, from informed people, from industry and safety engineers, by and large it is the overall length of the rig that determines the safety factor.

I regret to state that I cannot vote for this Conference Committee Report before us. I was convinced then, as I am now, that the use of 40-foot trailers in Pennsylvania would be beneficial to our economy, and that restricting the trailer to 35 feet, as before, was outmoded. By the same token, I am firmly convinced that the overall limitation of 50 feet is realistic and particularly in view of the increasing truck traffic on our highways, the increase to 55 feet is outright dangerous.

This has been presented to us as a compromise. I suggest to the members of the House that this is not a compromise; this represents an abject surrender when you consider it from the standpoint of the people who have to use these highways in conjunction with these trucks.

I ask the members on both sides of the aisle to oppose this Conference Committee Report.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the report of the Committee of Conference was adopted.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to have it spread upon the record that I would have voted "aye" on S.B. 104 if I had not been detained on other business which kept me from my seat.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

EDUCATION BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1789, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for educationl purposes by imposing an excise tax on rents royalties interest dividends and capital gains from investment capital as defined of individual residents of the Commonwealth and of estates and trusts fixing the rates of tax thereon providing for the reporting and payment of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews, appeals, refunds and penalties and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue fiduciaries, partnerships, associations and individuals.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate either the majority leader or the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this HB 1789 is a tax measure designed to raise moneys for the educational program, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, from time to time we have had circulated and given to us information that this measure would raise approximately $28 million, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, this measure, as amended, would raise approximately $25.6 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. They have given us a breakdown sheet as to how it would be allocated. I believe $18 million for subsidies and so much for other items.

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would any portion of this revenue from this particular measure, if it should pass, be used for any other educational program?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the bill earmarks the entire revenue in 1789 for education. If I understand the gentleman's question, would it be used for other than school subsidies?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I will pinpoint this specifically. The Governor, when he submitted the education program to this Assembly, stated that there were certain portions of the education committee's report that could be implemented by executive order. I have a letter from the Governor, under date of June 5, wherein I inquired as to what particular portions of the Governor's committee report would be implemented by executive order. He lists about seven different items specifically, which they are presently working on, but he does not list the entire package that can be taken care of, nor does he state what other items he can take care of, with the exception that he has the committee working on that to look into it. The point of my inquiry is this: How much money is it going to take to finance whatever the Governor might put into effect by executive decree?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that there will be no additional costs on the items he will put in by executive decree.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, have those items, does the gentleman know, already been taken care of in the budget? I am going to mention specifically some of the things he has mentioned in his letter.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that anything that would be changed by executive order would be from funds that are presently included in the budget for the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Are they set forth as such in the budget?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, in the budget the majority of those would be under general governmental operations and there is no breakdown.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Let us find out a thing or two here. For instance, a state committee has been established to develop a state program in educational television. Has any money been provided for such a program? If so, where?

Mr. POLEN. Nothing specifically, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not get that answer, I am sorry.

Mr. POLEN. Nothing specifically to that item.

Mr. TOMPKINS. He states that the department has completed a study for regional film libraries. How much will they cost?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no information as to what that particular item would cost. It would be out of the general governmental operations.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It is not specified in the general fund operation that this particular money is in there for this particular purpose, is it?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe what the gentleman is trying to get at is how will this $25.6 million be spent, and if that is what he is trying to find out I will be glad to give it to him right now.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The reason I am interrogating, Mr. Speaker, is the fact that I do not find any of these items mentioned in the Governor's letter contained in the report which has been submitted to us as to the breakdown of this $25 million or $28 million.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have the specific items that are covered in this $25.6 million which is an amendment to the General Appropriations bill, HB 1841, and I would be glad to read them off for the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I should be very happy to hear them.

Mr. POLEN. One item would be, for community colleges, $1 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What was that item?

Mr. POLEN. Community colleges.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Very well.

Mr. POLEN. The increase in salaries for the State college faculty, $620,000; for the interim subsidies as contained in HB 1807, $18,600,000; for the increase in the school construction subsidy, $2,600,000; an increase for Penn State University expansion, $1.5; for higher education bureau and revamping of the Department of Public Instruction, $700,000; and all of that amounts to $25,020,000, and we also have included in the general appropriations bill supplement, that is HB 1841, $600,000 for the administration and the cost of collection of HB 1789. That makes a total of $25,620,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to get at is this, and this is something which we forever and perpetually have difficulties on in this General Assembly in Pennsylvania, and I want to tell you it is one of the things that impressed me with the New York budget. When we asked a question of this kind, we could turn to the budget and find out how much was provided for it, but here is a list of seven different items which the Governor has said he is going to implement by executive order. In my letter of request to the Governor I asked him to tell me how much each program is going to cost but he avoided that subject. He has not said how much any of this is going to cost and there is a lot in here that is going to cost a lot of money. Now either there is a lot of fat in the budget that is going to cover these programs, or they are going to try to cover it out of the program of some of this tax measure. I say to you it is time we had the privilege of being informed where our money is being spent, how it is being spent, whether it be by appropriation from this General Assembly or whether the Governor does it by executive order. He cannot do anything by executive order unless he has the money. Where is he going to get the money to do the things that he himself says he is going to do, let alone to do the things that are in the program that is before this General Assembly? I say to you that we do not have a full, well-rounded picture today of any part or portion of what this whole program is going to cost for the next year. I want a full picture before I am forced to vote for a tax measure to provide a lot of money for a program that we do not know what it is all about yet. I furthermore want to serve notice here and now, two years ago I voted for a 4 percent sales tax, which, at the time I voted for it, was supposed to include $28 million for education, but due to misinformation which was given to us which we later found out, after we had voted for the tax, they found they had made a miscalculation, and we found that we had a phantom on our hands so far as $28 million for education was concerned.

Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to stand here today and vote for a tax program or a tax measure that they say is going to raise so much money without knowing where it is going to be spent and how it is going to be spent, and as of now we do not know the answer to that question.

Should this tax measure pass and the educational program fails, I say to you the Governor would have a big smile on his face that we would have given him enough money to wipe out the deficit which now exists.

What kind of a scheme is going on here? What kind of a program are you trying to put across? When are you going to stop trying to kid the members of this General Assembly and the public? It is high time we know what we are going to spend this money for before we are asked to vote for it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there are others who are also going to debate either for or against the measure, but I certainly take exception to the situation in which a committee composed of Republican and Democratic House members specifically outlined what the $25.6 million would be yielded by HB 1789 was going to be spent for.

You are now at the crossroads where you cannot any longer say you are for education and you run around the Commonwealth and you plead and tell the people for what you stand, because if this is what you stand for, you have to agree that you have to pay for it, and when you do that you have to provide the revenue-raising measures, either this one or some other bill that will pay for the program you stand for.

I have no objection to HB 1807 which will provide $18.6 million additional for the public school system for the coming year. I am in favor of the community college plan as outlined in the Select Committee's Education Report. I am in favor of the additional revenue for Penn State University, even though I am not extremely happy with the letter sent to the members of the General Assembly by Dr. Walker. I am in full agreement with the program they have outlined to spend $25.6 million and I will vote for the tax measure that will provide that revenue.

Now, if you have other programs and you have other amendments to bills that will provide further additional money for education, we also must raise the revenue to pay for them. I see no objection to that because here in 1961, when we talk about education and its needs, we certainly are starting to move in another world in which our children will be faced with much different problems than we were in our generation. I do not say that this will make the greatest system on earth, and I do not say that this revenue-raising measure will be the final goal of education. There will be others in other years. This program will be here to face you and me and others who may be in this House and in the Senate, and the constitution says that all revenue-raising measures shall originate in the House of Representatives and this is where HB 1789 started.

We have not debated the merits of the bill. I guess it has been rather well discussed in caucuses and in private conferences: it has been argued pro and con in many fields, but I will say to you that I ask you to vote on a bipartisan basis, that if you believe in this education program, vote for this revenue-raising measure. If you do not want to do anything for education, if you are saying flatly, no, or if you have another proposition to present as to how to pay for it, then vote against it, but make sure that you stand up and take one position or the other; do not carry water on both shoulders, today, tomorrow, next month or next year in this situation.

I know quite well, as you do, that it is difficult to find any compromise. I know quite well that people are sincere and members on this committee and members of the House are extremely unhappy in not being able to do everything they want to do, or in not being able to do some of the things they think should be done, but this is the interim program outlined in that report.

If you believe in that report, if you believe in this program, I ask you to vote "aye" on this revenue-raising measure.

The SPEAKER. Of course, there is a parliamentary way of the House, if it is so minded, to get an immediate vote, and I think that is ever the position on the part of the House. It is the way it should be employed. Otherwise, we should extend the courtesy to members on both sides of the House who desire to be heard until the House itself terminates debate. The Chair will never do so voluntarily on his own.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, it is with great reluctance that I advise the House that I am going to vote against this tax bill. Ordinarily members get up, I know, and say with great reluctance they are going to vote for tax measures. That is because nobody likes to vote for tax measures.

Mr. Speaker, so my position may be absolutely clear, I want to show on the record that I would vote for this tax bill provided it supported the program with which I agreed. I want to assure the members of this House also that should this bill pass, with my vote in opposition, that I will not vote for the program. I do not want to be in the position of voting against tax bills and for appropriations. I think this has been a false position, one which I have never adhered to and I do not intend to begin it now.

The gentleman from Cameron has discussed certain aspects of this program which this bill is supposed to pay for. The bill itself specifically states that it is for education. I think, under the circumstances, therefore, it would not be out of order for me, without going into any detail, to discuss very briefly the program this tax measure supports.

It is going to grieve me very deeply to vote against aid to community colleges—I am a firm believer in that program—and against increased aid for Pennsylvania State University and to increase teachers' salaries; but I believe just as deeply that the present subsidy formula under which this State operates is inequitable and discriminatory in the very highest degree. I am further convinced that until this subsidy formula is changed, we are never to have the kind of educational program here in Pennsylvania which the people of this Commonwealth deserve and I think want.

It is my further feeling that so long as we continue to operate under the present subsidy schedule there is going to be no basic change in our State laws with regard to education, and I suggest to the members of the House here that when we vote today, if we do vote on these bills that this tax bill measure is designed to support, including House bill, I believe it is, 1807, the extension of the subsidy program, that when we do that we are going to see go out of the window any chance within the next few years for a logical and constructive change in our State laws insofar as they apply to subsidies to our local school districts.

I suggest to the members of this House that, should this program be passed, we are also going to see go out the window the other education bills mandating much needed changes in the organization of school districts.

I suggest to the members of the House further that to vote for the program that this tax bill supports, and it seems to me in order to vote for the program you must vote for the tax bill, represents surrender to the status quo. Pennsylvania will go along with the same sort of program in the same old—I was going to say, rut; it is not quite that bad—the same old track that we have been following for the last decade. I think only until we ourselves make up our minds that our educational laws need to be overhauled and done in a constructive manner and done, quite frankly, basically along the lines suggested by the governor's committee on education, until such time I will not vote for taxes to support the present program. I think, as I said previously, to do so represents surrender to the status quo. It is a status quo that we cannot very much longer afford to continue with. I think the need is great and we may gain time in getting out of this session by voting for this tax measure and these bills, but I suggest that the changes in our school laws which must come in the future are going to be long delayed by voting for it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mullen.

Mr. MULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the particular program that is now before us for various reasons. Primarily I oppose it because I think the education program, as submitted to us by the Governor's committee and by our own committee of the House and Senate, is very unjust and unfair.

First of all, they begin with the premise that we are going to take care of all the children of Pennsylvania. We are going to try to see that every child is given an equal opportunity to have a very fine education. Then what do they do? They immediately confine their report to the public school children. They exclude almost 30 percent of our children of school age, those children who attend our private schools. That may not be a serious problem in certain areas of the State, especially the rural areas, where you have few private schools. On the other hand, where you have a large urban area, such as Philadelphia, where 39 per cent of the children of school age are attending private and parochial schools, I think it is basically unfair because, first of all, the private and parochial schools have the same problems that the public schools face moneywise. They need the schools, they need the facilities, they need the teachers. What are we going to do about those people? For example, starting next month in the metropolitan area of Philadelphia consisting of Philadelphia, Bucks, Delaware and Montgomery and Chester Counties, we have an enrollment in the Catholic schools alone of 262,700 students. No provisions have been made for them, nor have we ever considered any provisions for them.

I respectfully suggest to the members of the Assembly that any program that is supposed to take care of all the children of the State certainly must take into consideration the problems that we face in the large urban areas with the private and parochial school students. Now, of course, I realize we have a constitutional prohibition which seems to be the bugaboo whenever this problem is brought up, but I do not think it is a problem that cannot be licked constitutional-wise.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heavey, rise?

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, we cannot hear the gentleman in the back of the House there is so much confusion and noise.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the members of the House could expedite the proceedings by listening to whomever happens to have the floor rather than listening to their companions sitting next to them. The Chair hopes that the members will be given the attention.

I have been informed that the Chair is in error. It is the guests who are causing the noise. If that is the fact I would like to know what our Sergeant-at-Arms are doing. The Chair cannot police the rear of the House from the rostrum.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. MULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I was discussing the constitutional question that seems to be raised every time this subject is considered.

I feel that basically we can overcome that constitutional prohibition in one of two ways. First of all, I think we can provide school construction for the private and parochial schools, especially for the colleges, through the medium which we have employed in the last ten years which has been very beneficial to our colleges, that is, through the General State Authority.

The SPEAKER. The Chair must remind the gentleman that we are now discussing the revenue measures, not the way the revenues will be spent.

Mr. MULLEN. I think, Mr. Speaker, that we are discussing the education problem as a whole, and we are trying to confine our remarks to that as well as the revenue-raising measure which is necessary to finance it. I will try to abide by the Chair's decision.

The SPEAKER. I think we should discuss how the money is spent after we have raised it.

Mr. MULLEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, I do feel that before we adopt any educational program in this House, aid to private and parochial schools certainly should be given very serious consideration. Now it may be that we may not be able to assist them, but, at the same time we must recognize the fact that they also have monetary problems and that we, in all justice to the taxpayers, certainly ought to give them some consideration.

I might say that in the city of Philadelphia alone, 39 percent of the students in the coming months will be in private and parochial schools. We anticipate that within the next ten years there will be a 75 percent increase, within the next ten years over a 50 percent increase in the city of Philadelphia alone, in those who will be attending private schools.

Therefore I suggest to the members of the General Assembly that before they adopt any program at all that some consideration be given to the private and parochial schools.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I want to address a few very brief remarks to my colleagues on the other side of the House.

I cannot help but observe the spirit of bipartisanship and perhaps non-partisanship which has permeated not only this particular item of revenue-raising legislation, but certainly the whole educational package program. We are all aware of the fact that the program received its start, its impetus, from the General Assembly in 1959. Thereafter the Governor appointed a bipartisan citizens' committee and subsequent to the issuance of its report, we here in the House and the leadership of the other body also appointed a bipartisan select committee to grind out, if you will, the very bills which are before us at the present time.

Mr. Speaker, I am also reminded that it is those fourth class school districts about which our minority leader spoke so ably and so forcefully at times which will, in all probability, benefit most by the program that is before us now.

I hope that this same spirit of bipartisanship, or if you will, non-partisanship, is reflected here this afternoon. I feel that it should be brought home quite clearly that we here on our side of the House have not been dunned, have not been pressured. We are reflecting, I thing in all cases, irrespective of which way we might vote, whether we vote in the manner requested by the gentleman from York or as requested by the gentleman from Philadelphia, or whether we vote in a different direction, we here on our side of the House are reflecting our respective convictions on this issue. I trust that the other side, whom I believe have much more to gain and a greater benefit to obtain, will likewise reflect their convictions on this measure. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion also that the program, the bill before us, 1789, implements the spirit of the bipartisan Governor's Committee. That committee worked for more than a year and spent a great deal of time, effort and money in developing the program that is before us. I also, as did the last speaker, urge everyone on both sides of the House to continue that bipartisan spirit by voting for HB 1789.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We realize that this is an important day, that this is an important measure.

Do not think the question before us today is whether we are for this program or whether we are not for it, or whether we on this side have to join with everybody else and vote for something that we do not want to vote for, perhaps, just in the spirit of bipartisanship, or nonpartisanship, or whatever you want to call it. The question before us today is not whether we favor this education program; the question is, do we favor this particular tax?

I was listening around the House here as everybody was speaking. I personally and a good many here, have probably voted for more taxes—there is a group of us here that has voted for more taxes on the people of Pennsylvania than anybody else in the House. Those of us who have been here since 1947 have seen our budget jump from $200-some million a biennium to almost $2 billion in a biennium. So do not ever say that the minority leader or any of the members on this side have not been willing to stand up and vote for a tax program to finance this great Commonwealth of ours.

I know we were down on the sales tax, you people were in 1953, and made us drag in people to vote for it on stretchers, but that is not what I am going to argue here today. That tax has gone up to $800 million every two years and the State of Pennsylvania would be in frightful shape today if we on this side had not stood up and had the guts to put on a broad-base tax which this Commonwealth had to have at that time and still must have.

Now here we are with a tax bill today. The question is not whether we favor this education program or not. There probably is not a person in this House who is going to vote against the program, except maybe the reorganization plan, and the cuts across school district lines and cuts right into the very heart of your school districts and your school directors, and that is probably the most critical thing on this calendar. The question is, do we want to vote for this particular tax program?

I joined with Mr. Tompkins, and eighteen of us joined with you, in the '59 Session and gave you votes for a broadening of the base of the sales tax. I grant you it did not hurt me politically, apparently. The people realized we had to have the money and we are back here. I do not think any of use were defeated on this side of the House, at least, because we gave votes for that tax program.

The question is, do we want to give votes for this one today? I am not saying that there will never be any votes on this side for taxes for education, because we in the past have shown you people that we have the courage to stand up and vote for taxes at the proper time for a proper purpose.

Now what about this tax bill? Education today—the spirit of education—is equal opportunity for education for all, equality of education, and that means equality of payment.

Now I want to get down to this bill. There is no equality of payment in this bill. You have cleverly singled out one small segment of the population of this State who by thrift, and by economy, and by good judgment and business acumen have been able to accumulate a little something and you are saying they are the ones who are going to finance this education program. That is not equality of payment nor a broadening of equality of educational opportunities as I see it. I could be wrong.

Now last week in my home county there was a business manufacturer who had been here two or three years, came in across the line and put up a big plant in my county. He said, "What are you doing to us in Harrisburg? We were enticed to come into Pennsylvania because of your favorable business climate. What have you done to us? You have accelerated our corporate net income tax; you have accelerated what capital stock tax we have to pay on our non-manufacturing assets; you have increased our unemployment compensation; you have passed a lot of bills in the House down there which, if they become law, would practically put industry on its knees in Pennsylvania." And now if we, after paying the CNI and all those other taxes, happen to make a little money and pay a dividend, you want to single us out and take two percent of that. We say that is not treating us very fair.

I think that makes a lot of sense if we are trying to have a favorable business climate in Pennsylvania, if we are going to put a classified income tax on that limited group of people in this State.

Here is another thing about this tax bill. There is some question as to whether it is constitutional and whether it will be stricken down by the courts now that you have ripped interest out of it, because of lack of reasonableness of an exemption. Why would you exempt interest as return on investment income and tax rents and royalties and dividends and then the fruits or gains from investment of capital, yet you deduct interest from it and that makes an unreasonable classification where the courts could well say that it is unconstitutional.

Now in the sales tax I grant you we have made exemptions down to ten cents, and things like that, but under the theory of de minimis, that the courts will not look for trifles, you can make certain small exemptions in a tax law. But here you are exempting three or four million dollars worth of tax items out of a tax bill, out of returns from investment income, which is patently a violation of reasonableness as to a classification in the law.

I could go on and on about this tax bill. I think personally that it is an unfair bill and I am saying again, repeating, we have not asked our caucus to be against taxes as such and I do not want an atmosphere created here today where if we vote against this tax bill the press and you people will go out of here and say the Republicans are against this education program. That is not true. The only issue before us right this minute is, do we favor this particular tax? It has nothing to do with the education program whatsoever. I want that definitely understood. There are many on this side who are going to vote against this tax because they feel that it is eminently an unfair piece of taxation to ask this particular class of people to pay for an education program and, therefore, we think it is not a fair tax to put on the people. Therefore, many of us on this side are going to vote "no" on this particular tax.

The SPEAKER. One other member of the House who had listed himself as one of those who desire to speak, in fact, he was the first, the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Piper. Does he desire to be recognized? He was the first person in the House to list himself as desiring the floor.

Mr. PIPER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I want it distinctly understood that I am not opposed to our educational needs, but I think inadequate time has been taken to study the implications of the education bills, the sponsors of which claims to be more economical for the educational districts. But in the same breath they state that anywhere from $50 million to $500 million a year for the next ten years will be needed to put this program into effect.

It does seem to me that before such a massive program is enacted, committing the legislature to automatically increase appropriations for education, that more time should be taken to study the individual merits of all sections of the bill. The benefits are broad. Therefore, the expenses of the bill should probably be broad based.

HB 1789 taxes only a small segment of our people for the benefit of all the people. This bill would impose a 2 percent tax on returns from investments, which are defined to be interest, dividends, royalties and rentals. It would be payable by individual residents of the Commonwealth and by estates and trusts consisting of the property of the persons domiciled in the Commonwealth when the trust was created or who were domiciled at the time of their death.

This act is objectionable in many particulars.

In the first place, it taxes income of some individuals depending upon invested capital and not the income of others depending on wages. Furthermore, because the tax is tied into the income returned to the Federal Government, it would exempt investments in state and municipal securities, but would tax the income from all other types of investment. There is very serious doubt as to the constitutionality of this three-fold classification under the uniformity clause of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

In the second place, the tax would be most burdensome on those persons of very moderate means who rent rooms, converted apartments, or who take back mortgages in the sale of properties, a very common situation among retired persons. Furthermore, and in this connection, the tax would have a tendency to dry up individual sources of mortgage money, which are quite important in the economy of non-urban areas.

In the third place, the whole act is of questionable constitutionality under the 14th Amendment, because it taxes the privilege of residing and owning property in the Commonwealth.

This bill would also be detrimental to the trust business in Pennsylvania.

I, therefore, am not opposed to voting for a tax bill for educational needs, but I am opposed to voting for this tax which only taxes a certain few of our people. I urge everybody to vote against bill 1789. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I tried to obtain recognition on the previous bill before the roll call but failed to do so. Mr. Speaker, I would like to file my reasons for voting "no" on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's reasons will be filed.

The Chair very loudly asked if there was anyone else who desired recognition and no one rose.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. ADAMS filed the following reasons for his vote on House bill No. 1789:

This bill, House bill 1789, is grossly unfair and discriminatory as it singles out a class of people which includes widows and aged pensioners and social security recipients who live on fixed and limitted and many times inadequate income, and attempts to place the entire new tax burden upon them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I overlooked rerequesting a leave of absence just after caucus, before the vote on this last bill, and would like to do so now.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. BOWMAN for the remainder of the day.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, REV. PETER VROOM, Pastor of Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Our God and our Father, we pause now for a moment before the opening of this, another Session of the Pennsylvania State Senate. We do thank Thee for every Member who is here. We pray that we may realize the tremendous task we have before us. We know there is a heavy order of business today.

Help us each to realize our responsibility to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; to the Members and the people who make up this great State of Pennsylvania. Also, Lord, help us to realize our responsibility to Thee. Help us to see that we live in difficult times. Help us to realize there is not a problem facing us which is beyond solution, and that we have within our grasp the opportunity to do big things. Help us to recognize the part God wants to play in our activities. We are frail individuals and we make mistakes. However, Thou hast the answer.

So, we pray Thy divine blessing and guidance upon every Member of this Senate. Help them to realize that God stands ready. Make us sensitive to Thy will and to Thy leadership. Then, Lord, help us in all things to give Thee the praise, for we do pray in Thy holy name. Amen.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 353—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 375 (Pr. No. 1154)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to make an appeal to the Membership of the Senate to favor this bill with its passage. This bill has had a long odyssey in the Senate of Pennsylvania. In the beginning, it was knocked with curses and now it is being blessed by most of the members of the industry. I am speaking of the so-called Collection Agency Bill.

I enjoyed the signal good fortune of having the opponents of this bill come to a public hearing, which was conducted by Senator Donolow, and then leave as friends and offer amendments which improved the bill. Of course, we owe a debt of gratitude to Senator Seyler who made it possible, because he is the Senator representing this group from York. It was Mr. Connoly and a few other citizens of fine repute and respect, throughout Pennsylvania, who came to help with the passage of this bill.

Out of fifty States, thirty-three States regulate collection agencies. In Pennsylvania, which is bordered by Ohio and New Jersey where this has been regulated, some shady elements have come across the Delaware to Philadelphia to conduct collection agencies. They then engage in disputed and shady practices. The main purpose of this bill is to regulate these people.

This is one of the finest bills prepared. What I used as a base—the Wisconsin law—has been improved to such an extent that the proposed bill is far superior to any other in the United States. I believe this is a very timely measure and will be of great service to the citizenry of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, Senator Stiefel, in his discussion of this bill, adverted to the fact that at one stage in the bill's progress, he had the cooperation of some people from my own county. I would like to say that the people with whom he conferred are people who have been in the forefront of the collection agency business. They are people who have had many, many years of experience and who have held important positions in the State organization.

It is now my opinion, Mr. President, as a result of the excellent work done by the Senator and the conferees on this bill, that we have an outstanding bill. It is a bill which, if passed, will serve as a model I believe for all of the States in the Union. I believe it will be the best bill in the Country. I think this opinion is held not only by those legitimate collection people, who are members of the State association and who are 100 per cent for it, but also in the eyes of the Banking Department, the Insurance Commission and others, who have found occasion to examine the bill and who have referred to it as being a model bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would hope that my colleagues would join Senator Stiefel in supporting this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31

Bell,	Fleming,	McCreesh,	Seyler,
Berger,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Shafer,
Camiel,	Hawbaker,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Chapman,	Hays,	Murray,	Stiefel,
Confair,	Kalman,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Devlin,	Keller,	Rooney,	Van Sant,
DiSilvestro,	Lane,	Sarraf,	Ware, III,
Donolow,	Mahady,	Sesler,

NAYS—17

Ehrgood,	Mallery,	Silvert,	Wagner,
Flack,	McMenamin,	Stevenson,	Weiner,
Kessler,	Propert,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Kromer,	Scott,	Wade,	Ripp,
Madigan,			Presiding Officer

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye", the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 413 (Pr. No. 1169)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. WEINER, SARRAF and DEVLIN, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

> Amend second line of title page 1 by striking out the word "amending" and inserting "Repealing Section 5.1 of".
> Amend title page 2 by striking out in the ninth line the words "changing the number of signatures required on a petition" and all of the following lines of title and inserting "Relating to the dissolution of a withdrawal from certain departments of health".
> Amend Section 1, page 2, line 3, by striking out the words "amended to read" and inserting "repealed".
> Amend Section 1, page 2, lines 4 and 5 by striking out said lines.
> Amend Section 1, pages 3 and 4, by striking out both of said pages.
> Amend Section 1, page 5, by striking out lines 1 to 17 inclusive.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, from a hasty reading of these amendments, it would appear that striking out all of the material on pages 3 and page 4 would remove all of the referendum features from the bill. This, Mr. President, would be the same form of the bill that we defeated here some time ago.

Consquently, Mr. President, I believe the insertion of these amendments would simply strike out the one per cent referendum and leave no referendum whatsoever. Wheras, this bill now provides for a ten per cent referendum, which I believe was the original intent when the gentlemen who introduced the bill had it drawn. Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that this bill, Senate Bill No. 413, remains as a ripper to the county health plan in the sense that you can get ten per cent of the electorate to put this on the ballot and then campaign against it. Usually those campaigns, where they have taken place, have been pretty well financed and have usually been successful.

I believe the gentleman here who probably knows more about it than anyone else is Senator Pechan, as this happened in Butler County. After a county health program was set up, the question of whether to retain it was put on the ballot. There was a campaign that operated with real drive—the same as a political campaign—and the program was ripped out.

The same type situation never came to fruition in a county that is closer to Philadelphia—in Montgomery County. This tore the county asunder and the program never even went into effect, I think much of the county's detriment. However, I think the people there will have to make up their own minds about that, as they were the losers by this.

These amendments simply bring this bill back to where House Bill No. 1496 was, which would not permit a ripper to take place. We feel that is more to be desired because of the money spent, both by the State and the local area, in setting up this type of program. When you need so few people to rip it out, I think you can gain a number of persons who would come to a primary election and do real damage to the public health program, which is really preventive medicine operating for the general good.

I would think my colleagues would want to follow along the line of protecting this type of a situation rather than doing anything to hinder it. Therefore, I would suggest to them that if they feel these are bad amendments and do not want to go along with this bill, I will agree with them that we recommit it to committee. They can then bring back House Bill No. 1496,—which they can very easily do—and we will be glad to give them the same twenty-five votes that we did before to help pass it. That is our position in this matter, and I wanted to make it perfectly clear for the record.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not remember that the gentleman gave twenty-five votes to help pass that bill, because it was defeated. However, Mr. President, I can hardly agree that this bill is a ripper bill in its present form, when you provide that a petition of ten per cent of the highest total vote cast for any county office at the last municipal election shall place it on the ballot for a referendum.

Mr. President, that is not a ripper bill. It is a referendum bill, and it makes the referendum more difficult by requiring ten times more than the present law requires.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, in this referendum feature, it is important to note that it does provide for ten per cent of the highest vote cast. I would merely draw to the attention of this Chamber the fact that, by analogy, in providing for the referendum for the Sunday sale of liquor in hotels in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the proponents of that bill, after a great deal of crying to the Members of the Legislature, had the 1959 bill amended to provide that only 25,000 votes would be needed to get the question on the ballot.

This provides for a great many more signatures to get it on the ballot. I would state that undoubtedly in Philadelphia, for example, out of 800,000 to 1,000,000 votes, we can easily see the differentiation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can see where the confusion arises in the gentleman's mind in trying to equate a liquor measure with a health measure. I want to dispel that confusion immediately. There is no expenditure on the part of the State or the local government whatsoever in setting up a license for the sale of liquor on Sunday and letting the electorate decide on that. I think it is certainly infinitely more complex and certainly more expensive, after you have set up a county health program, to have the people rip it out. There is no comparison, because in one case you have an individual who expends his own funds and he may or may not do well in the business. On the other hand, you have the county expending the money and you have the State expending the money. After you have had this program set up, and possibly even flourishing and moving at a good rate, to have a small number of people rip it out or have the ability to rip it out I think is something to be abhorred.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President I just cannot go along with the thinking of the Majority Leader. You will all recall that just two years ago, the city of Philadelphia had its own health unit. They did not want to have a thing to do with the State until they had gotten into such a situation that they needed money. If you will recall, the Commonwealth gave the city of Philadelphia three and one-half millions of dollars, and they became a county health unit.

I cannot quite understand how in two years this county health unit business has become such a wonderful thing. I would like everyone of you to come to the County of Butler and talk to a majority of the people. They will tell you that some $214,000 a year was spent foolishly. I do not say that we do not need a health unit. I think if they are set up properly and if they are administered properly, the people will, in the long run, get something for their money.

I hate to repeat myself, Mr. President. However, you will recall that Butler County—in fact, throughout the Commonwealth—was used as a pilot. A foundation gave Butler County $50,000 to start a county health unit. They did such a good job on the $50,000 that the county adopted the plan, but, in last year's budget, they spent some $214,000 and they got nothing but a bunch of statistics. When you went to see the head of the health department, you could not get to see him. He set himself up as a little dictator. I do not say that the man did not have the ability. He is now, I think, in the State of New Jersey. In any event, the majority of the people of Butler County—the vote was 19,000 to 14,000—voted to throw the health department out.

Certainly, there are many, many good reasons why we should have some restrictions; for instance, on sewage. However, I want to say to you that I can show you letters I received from people who were having open sewage going through their homes. This was done before we had the county health unit. When they had the county health unit, the county health unit told them there was nothing they could do about it.

I think if we want to do a real job, we would give power to the State Department of Health so they could go into these areas and make some changes and remedy some of these nasty conditions which exist. It is my understanding that the township supervisors can come into an area and restrict some of this bad sewerage that is going on and the cesspools that are inadequate and misplaced. However, the Department of Health, under Doctor Wilbar, does not have that authority. It does not make sense to me.

When the Department of Health can come up and show us that the county health units are a good thing—for instance, take Allegheny County. I want to commend Allegheny County for the very, very fine job that they do. If I lived in Allegheny County, I would not vote against their present setup. Certainly, if I lived in Butler County, I would have voted against the unit, as most of the people did.

It seems to me that one of the great lures of the two big counties is the seventy-five cents per capita subsidy if they have a county health unit. In so far as doing a good job in Butler County, they did not do it. It can be done probably when the State sets up regulations which will make this thing workable. It must not only be workable, but it must give the people something for their money, when they spent some one-quarter of a million dollars in a little county like Butler.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, certainly not by the wildest stretch of the imagination can this be designated as a ripper bill. This is dealing entirely with the problem of a referendum. I, along with my several Democratic colleagues from Allegheny County, introduced this bill some months ago, and, for reasons best known to themselves, several of my colleagues from Allegheny County decided to be against this bill.

I merely want to draw to the attention of the Members of this Senate that the two Democratic Commissioners of Allegheny County, Doctor McClelland and Mr. McGrady, under whose supervision the county health department operates, just on Thursday of this last week came out in favor of this bill. I may not be quoting correctly, but the fact is this: Doctor McClelland said in a newspaper article that he could see nothing wrong with a referendum vote, and further that certainly when you were requiring ten per cent of the highest number of voters who voted in the last election to sign a petition to place it before the people, he could see nothing wrong with such a procedure. Also, he felt that if the county health unit was doing a good job, it had nothing to fear from a referendum vote, but would be getting a vote of confidence from the people. With that statement, I completely concur.

Senator Pechan and I offered amendments last week which materially strengthened this bill. We provide in the amendments—if any Member will look at them—that the referendum cannot be repeated more often than once in five years.

I think this is a good bill as it is now. I would certainly join with my colleague, the Minority Leader, Senator Berger, in asking the Members of this Senate to vote against these amendments.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion too much. However, Senator Fleming brought out the fact that under the amendments which he and I offered last week, a referendum cannot be brought up more than once every five years.

As I stated here on the floor last week, a Mr. Broughton, who is very much interested in this health business, wrote to me two years ago, when, through my committee, this phase of the county health referendum was placed in a bill, allowing Philadelphia to receive three and one-half million dollars. I think I quoted from Mr. Broughton's letter in which he stated that he had no fear that if a county health unit were in effect for five years, the people would vote it down. I, at his insistence, offered that amendment. It was his amendment which I put into the bill, in 1959. As you will recall, that bill passed the Senate by a vote of 50-0.

It is hard for me to understand, when I look at the sponsors of this bill—namely, Senator Sarraf, Senator Devlin, Senator Ripp, Senator Staisey, Senator McGinnis and Senator Fleming—how they can vote against a bill which they introduced. I surely did not ask them to introduce it. Why they now have a change of heart, I do not know.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, just to make a few further remarks on the subject, I think possibly why Mr. Broughton has changed his position, as Senator Pechan reports it to have been two years ago, is because of the matter which he conveyed to Senator Sarraf, myself and the other sponsors of Senate Bill No. 413, originally. After we introduced the bill, he said that despite this increase in the percentage from one to ten, it is impossible to acquire or maintain a good staff, without giving them the tenure which is not threatened by the possibility of a referendum either next year, five years or every five years. That is the reason why we asked for and advocated House Bill No. 1496, and that is the reason why these amendments are being offered. We are inserting these amendments in order to confirm their position and to agree with their position that they will not be able to keep or acquire the necessary staff to give us a good health program, unless we can guarantee them that there will be no referendum to jeopardize them every five years.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I belive the gentleman was delving back into ancient history and, therefore, he must be aware of the fact that this was the only way we could get the bill—by going along with this minimal amendment. At that time, the votes were on the other side of the aisle and there was no other way for us to get it. In other words, if we did not take that bill, we would have had no bill whatsoever. Therefore, we went along with the best possible minimum we could get.

I also would like to point out that this is the only type of legislation that I know of, especially dealing with such a complex subject as this, which has a ripper provision right inside the legislation itself. As the gentleman from Lebanon previously pointed out, regarding the minimum number needed to get the electorate to vote on a situation under the Liquor Control Code, I think there was no ripper in that. The referendum was in there in order to install it. Even then it is no ripper, once the people have put it in. In this legislation, we have the county putting it in, but we also have a ripper which can tear it out after it has been installed by the people and the money is spent.

I would also like to point out to the Senator that the county health program is enforced in the city of Philadelphia and has been working very well for a number of years. It was working very well before the Commonwealth gave them any money at all. Finally, when the State condescended to do so, it is even working better than before.

I have no fear that this will ever happen to upset the program as we have it in Philadelphia, because preventive medicine, as the good Doctor knows, is necessary. I think he should be one who would advocate that these professional people who come in be allowed to work on this program and be allowed to participate in it, without having the fear that they are being jeopardized every day they are there because somebody is going to get a number of signatures and start a campaign to destroy it.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. Senator Pechan, did you say that in Butler County they appointed an incompetent health board and, subsequently, they were voted out because of that reason?

Mr. PECHAN. I did not say that it was because of incompetency. I said that the head of the department set himself up as a dictator and would not allow the people to come in. I mean, you could not get in to see him. He just set himself up as a dictator.

Mr. MULLIN. Would you say that a person who sets himself up as a dictator is competent?

Mr. PECHAN. Did you ask whether he would be incompetent?

Mr. MULLIN. Is he competent or incompetent?

Mr. PECHAN. I guess there are some dictators who are pretty competent.

Mr. MULLIN. If he is incompetent, he would not be competent to do his work. You stated that the person who was appointed refused to solve any of the health problems in the county and, subsequently, was voted out.

Mr. PECHAN. I did not say that he did not solve any of them. The people with health problems did not have their problems solved, and whether it was because of his personality or whether it was because of his incompetency, I do not know. However, the people of Butler were not satisfied with what they were receiving for their money.

Mr. MULLIN. Are the Butler County Commissioners controlled by the Republican Party or the Democratic Party?

Mr. PECHAN. I want to tell you something very peculiar about Butler County. It is a Republican county, but the President of the Board of Commissioners is a very fine, competent, young Democrat by the name of Jim Green. No doubt you know him. He is an associate of Miss Genevieve Blatt. They are so democratic in Butler County that they made this minority Commissioner the President of the Board of Commissioners. That is a peculiar situation, is it not?

Mr. MULLIN. It is not peculiar in some upstate counties where you cannot tell the minority commissioner from the majority commissioner. However, certainly the board itself, which was appointed, if they did not do their work and did not do it properly, would you not admit that they were incompetent?

Mr. PECHAN. The board had nothing to do with it.

Mr. MULLIN. I am referring to the health board.

Mr. PECHAN. We had one man as the Director of Health, but his name escapes me. I never met the man. I do not know how long he was there. We had a Republican doctor who took over. Since you are bringing in politics, let me say to you that this doctor was a practicing physician in Butler County and he did a tremendous job. The people were satisfied. For some reason or other, when the Administration changed in Harrisburg, mind you, they let this Republican physician go and brought in somebody—I do not know where he came from—and made him head of this department of health. The day they brought him in, the county health unit in Butler County went "kerplunk."

Mr. MULLIN. Thank you, Senator Pechan.

I just want to say that there is one way of defeating a county health unit and that is to put incompetents in charge, deliberately, and then have them not do the work for which they are appointed to do. That can happen, especially where the people control the appointment of them. They put this type of person in office for the very purpose of sabotaging the health program.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have one more statement and then I promise all forty-nine of the Members that I shall quit.

Senator Devlin brought out the fact that if these amendments are not accepted and we do not pass House Bill No. 1496, then physicians who become directors of the county health units will shy away from those counties where they are employed. I want to say to you that I happen to be a dentist and I do not shy away from elections every four years. I have no tenure that I am going to be a Senator. I do not mind it at all. If I do a good job, I feel that I am going to stay here. I am sure that if this man had done a good job, the county health unit in Butler County would not have failed.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on these amendments.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and Mr. FLEMING, and were as follows, viz.:

YEAS—24

Camiel,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Devlin,	Lane,	Murray,	Stalsey,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Rooney,	Stiefel,

Fleming,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now request that Senate Bill No. 413 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to the bill going over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 413 go over in its order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on this motion.

And the question recurring,

Flack,	Mallery,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Fleming,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on Senate Bill No. 413, Printer's No. 1169 for the reasons that we have stated. We favor the other measure and we would like our colleagues to think very seriously about it, tomorrow being the last day to reconsider the other measure which was defeated—House Bill No. 1496.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I cannot understand the reasoning of the Majority Leader. Assuming that his argument is correct, the fact still remains that this bill now raises the necessary number of signatures from one per cent to ten per cent. It also inserts in it the provision that this question cannot be voted upon more often than once in five years.

I would suggest to the Majority Leader that if this bill is defeated and if he has succeeded in having my colleagues from Allegheny County on his side of the aisle, who are co-sponsors of this measure, vote against it, then he has done a distinct disservice to the very cause which he espouses, because this will be the last time, I am afraid, that you will have the opportunity of doing what you say—namely, making a bad situation a little better—and doing what we on this side of the aisle believe is a good thing in preserving for the people the right of referendum.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I feel there is hope, as long as the gentleman says that he has a bad situation and he is trying to make it a little bit better. We want to make it a lot better, and we hope that he will reconsider his action on the other bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, in 1959, we had an investigation of the Department of Welfare, and there were some statistics and some figures that came out at that time, along with some recommendations that we made. There has been some controversy not only in New York State, but in our own State and all over the Nation about people who are on public assistance who may be chiseling and not entitled to the benefits they are receiving. For instance, we found that thirty-seven per cent of the children in the city of Philadelphia whose parents are receiving aid-for-dependent children are illegitimate. We found that twenty-three per cent all over the Commonwealth are illegitimate.

Therefore, I am offering this resolution and request that it be placed in the appropriate committee. I hope it will be reported out very, very soon.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE BUDGET AND FINANCE COMMITTEE TO MAKE AN INTENSIVE SURVEY OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Mr. PECHAN offered the following resolution (Serial No. 127), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 14, 1961.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the present fiscal period, will spend an estimated $224,786,552 in Federal and State funds on its Public Assistance program, and

Whereas, There is no assurance that this amount of money will be sufficient and that in 1962, as in 1961, the General Assembly will be required to appropriate millions in deficiency appropriations, as it has in every fiscal period in recent years, and

Whereas, There is a growing belief on the part of the general public that some way must be found to check this enormous drain on the resources of our Commonwealth, and

Whereas, Repeated investigations and studies have confirmed reports of lax administration that fails to uncover and halt relief chiseling, and

Whereas, A Committee of the Senate, charged with surveying the Department of Public Welfare and its administration in 1959, recomended an extended examination be made of the area of Public Assistance administration, and

Whereas, The Committee reported that of the 114,000 on the aid-to-dependent children rolls in 1959, 23 per cent were of illegitimate birth, and

Whereas, The Public Assistance Law of Pennsylvania provides for work projects for able-bodied persons on public assistance; therefore be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee be directed to make an intensive survey of public assistance and the reasons for the recurring deficiency appropriations that have been requested in the past, and be it

Resolved, That the Budget and Finance Committee determine how many of the illegitimate children now on the public assistance rolls were born at a time when their mothers were recipients of Public Assistance grants, and how much those grants have been increased as a result of such births, and be it

Resolved, That the Budget and Finance Committee determine how many of the persons now on public assistance rolls have been continuously on the rolls for one year, for two years, for three years and so forth, to and including the longest of such periods, and be it further

Resolved, That the Budget and Finance Committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly in January of 1962, and include therein recommendations for a program to implement and put into effect work relief projects on which able-bodied persons on Public Assistance can reduce their obligation to the Commonwealth and remove the stigma of public charity from the grants they receive.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I realize that it has been requested that this resolution be referred to committee, and I think that is a good thing.

However, I would also like the gentleman to give pause for some thought to the question of what is so sacred about two illegitimate children that makes the third illegitimate child a crime, or puts these people onto a lesser category so that we no longer have to do anything about them. I think there is nothing magic about these numbers. I think the problem is a very basic problem and ought to be dealt with as basic problems are dealt with by the people themselves.

Illegitimate children just do not result by someone thinking these things out or deliberately doing them. It is a state of mind and a state of confusion. This Senate is not at the moment equipped to deal with some of the low moral values of some of these people, based on socio-economic factors.

I am not so sure these studies and these other approaches are going to solve it until we get to the very heart of the matter, which is, I think, a little different moral climate than we are living in at the moment.

The Senator might be thinking of Newburgh, New York, where this problem came up. I am not sure they have the entire solution to the problem. All they are doing at this point is discriminating against people who happen to find themselves in a bad social position or a bad economic position. I do not think this ever solves anything, without first dealing with the basic problem.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I cannot help but agree with the Majority Leader that there is nothing magic about two illegitimate children. I think that the causes might be attributed more to mundane and well-known factors. However, in so far as Newburgh is concerned, I think this proposition originally came or, at least, was seriously advanced by one of the more intelligent and capable gentlemen from Philadelphia who, at one time, was District Attorney; namely, presently Judge Blanc. He is now on the Bench in Philadelphia. He very, very seriously proposed and had bills drawn to do this very thing.

Mr. President, I want to say that I do believe some study should be given to the subject. I believe that some serious consideration should be given to the uncontrolled distribution of public funds in this area.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not think the complaint is about uncontrolled distribution of funds. I think the compaint is about the uncontrolled distribution of the children.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senator Weiner mentioned something about my having Newburgh in mind. If he will recall, here in the Senate two years ago I sponsored legislation which would make it an unfit home where a girl would have more than two illegitimate children. We took that action two years ago and the bill passed the Senate by a vote of 50-0, but it died in the House.

This resolution does not mention two or more illegitimate children. I think the gentleman is thinking about the other bill that I have in committee and which I would like to have reported out. I very strongly believe that a mother who has more than two illegitimate children is unfit to raise more. She is not even fit to raise the two children. I think, therefore, those children should be taken from her and placed in a foster home, such as my bill provides. I do not remember the number of the bill, but I do hope that before this Session adjourns we will have this bill favorably acted upon.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I have just a brief comment.

In so far as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania refusing to grant public assistance to a woman who has more than one, two, three, four or even five illegitimate children is concerned, we would jeopardize our Federal matching funds. If we are to do that, we will not receive any Federal matching funds from the Federal Government.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would think that the gentleman would also be well-advised to check on the cost to keep a youngster at home with the mother—albeit, she might not be completely fit in the sense that we think of the term of mother or someone handling that type of household—and the cost of keeping these same youngsters in a foster home or institutionalizing them. You will see that the money we pay out for these youngsters is infinitely less than we would have to pay to institutionalize them.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the other day I received a letter from somebody and it almost made sense. It said that the Federal Government pays the farmers a subsidy for not growing wheat and similar products. He thought it would be wise if we would introduce some sort of legislation whereby these girls would not raise their children and they would be paid for not doing so. It makes just about as much sense.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think the gentleman might devote himself to investigating that very problem and then report back to us. We all would be happy to hear how he made out.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

O God, we pray that Thou wilt open our eyes that we may see the pitfalls before us, that Thou wilt remove the scales which blind us because of selfish passion to discern Thy way, and that Thou wilt enable us to catch a glimpse of the real challenges which confront us in life: through Jesus Christ, Thy Son our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, One God, world without end. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 300

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Governor's Office, Harrisburg

August 8, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House bill No. 300, printer's No. 329, entitled "An act amending the act of May 11, 1921 (P. L. 522), entitled as amended 'An act relating to dogs and the protection of live stock poultry and game birds raised in captivity from damage by dogs providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors regulating the keeping of dogs and authorizing their destruction in certain cases providing for the protection of licensed dogs and for dogs temporarily imported for trial show and breeding purposes prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock poultry and game birds by dogs and for live stock killed by or dying from rabies and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth imposing powers and duties on certain State county city borough town and township officers and employes directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury and providing penalties' requiring informations to be brought before the nearest available magistrate or justice of the peace."

Experiences with similar provisions inserted during recent years in the Fish and Game Laws have been highly unsatisfactory. One of the greatest problems is that of determining which magistrate is the nearest. This is true equally in sparsely settled areas, where the boundaries of communities are not visibly defined, and in built-up sections, where there are so many magistrates in a small area that it is almost impossible to determine which is nearest. This situation is further complicated by the fact that some magistrates are employed and hence only available in the evenings or at irregular hours. In addition, there are many magistrates who have no knowledge of or interest in the law governing these cases, with the result that they refuse to handle them or give them inadequate consideration. It is further noted that the effect of legislation such as this is to narrow the historic county-wide jurisdiction of the justice of the peace.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1206.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Governor's Office, Harrisburg

August 12, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House bill No. 1206, printer's No. 1378, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled 'An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined' providing that enlisted members of the Pennsylvania State Police shall not be dismissed from service or reduced in rank except by action of a court martial board held upon the recommendation of the Commissioner and the Governor."

This bill amends the Administrative Code by prohibiting the dismissal or reduction in rank of enlisted personnel except by a court martial board.

I have this day vetoed the companion bill that would have set up the court martial mechanics. Therefore, the procedure that would be outlawed by this bill must remain so that effect can be given to General Order No. 18 of the Pennsylvania State Police which provides for courts-martial.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1232.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg
August 8, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House bill No. 1232, printer's No. 1406, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled 'An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code, the Tractor Code, the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership, possession and use of vehicles and tractors' requiring the notice of conviction for violations in other states to contain a certified record of the conviction and requiring the same to be made available."

This bill would amend Section 618 (e) of the Act of April 29, 1959, P. L. 58, known as The Vehicle Code, to further provide that a notice of a conviction of a motor vehicle violation from another state must be sent by the motor vehicle or tractor administrator of that state and also to contain a certified record of the conviction in such other state and that the notice shall be made available to the Pennsylvania operator or his representative.

In Witsch Motor Vehicle Operator License Case, 194 Pa. Super. 384, 387-388 (1961), we have:

> "The officers of other states who notify the secretary of convictions in their states and the forms which they use must be expected to vary materially from state to state. . . . However, we are not concerned here with what is an ideal notice, . . ."
> The Court said at page 387:
> ". . . It is an official notice in that it is the report of the magistrate who imposed the fine and the policeman who made the arrest."
> The Court then stated at page 389:
> "We said in Commonwealth v. Halteman, supra, 192 Pa. Superior Ct. 379, 385, 162 A. 2d 251 (1960), the notice had to be an 'official' notice. What we meant by 'official' was not that the notice had to be in any particular form, but that the secretary could not act upon a notice received from one not in an official position. . . ."

It is obvious from the foregoing that under some of the various state laws there are no motor vehicle or tractor administrators but that the police and the court magistrates process the notice of the conviction. Therefore, by our proposed enactment of this bill we would be either imposing upon another state to mandate that they have an administrator to process the notice of conviction, or to refuse to honor their notice of conviction because they have no administrator as required by this bill.

The requirement that the notice of conviction contain a certified record of the conviction is an onerous imposition of a duty on the official of another state by our mandate or a refusal to recognize their acts as complying with our demands. The customary procedure is to forward to us a copy of the conviction from the other state as the notice of the conviction which has upon it all the minute details required to show a violation, a proper arrest and a valid conviction. To further require that the notice of conviction shall itself contain a certified record of the conviction is to mandate to all the states without exception to discard all their present forms and have new ones to comply with our requirements. This would necessitate two forms to be used by the other states, one, the form now in use for its local residents, and two, another form to contain a space for a certification of the conviction on forms used for out-of-state violators.

The Department of Revenue has no objection to furnishing a copy of the notice of conviction to the Pennsylvania operator or his representative.

This bill would create a tremendous administrative burden on officials of other states in the performance of their duties and in the method of what forms are used in such performance, all of which is certainly not conducive to good comity between the states.

Since there can be no compulsion by our legislation to have a compliance with our law by other states there would be a futility in the enactment of the proposed amendment.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1284.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg
July 28, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House bill No. 1284, printer's No. 1481, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), entitled 'An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs' authorizing ordinances and certain resolutions to be in force after attachment to the borough ordinance book and validating certain borough records."

This bill would amend Sections 1008 and 1009 of the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), as amended, known as the "Borough Code." Its purpose is to permit ordinances or resolutions of a legislative character to be attached to the ordinance book by stapling or by glue or any other adhesive substance before such legislative action would be considered in force. Presently, the Borough Code requires that such ordinances or resolutions be recorded in the ordinance book.

This bill in effect seeks to ease the task of borough secretaries who are required to record such ordinances in an ordinance book. With the advent of voluminous codes such as zoning codes and building codes, the physical copying thereof may seem impractical and inefficient.

However, the very existence of such codes and a multitude of other councilmanic enactments is indicative of the growth in the home rule philosophy of government and while all means to effect more efficient operations on the local level are desirable, it becomes imperative more than ever, that a permanent record of such enactments be scrupulously maintained for the benefit of the public.

It must be pointed out that the choice is not between this bill and recordation in longhand since the law presently provides that the records may be "typewritten, printed, photostated or microfilmed."

Because of the risk of loss of the basic law of the community through the deterioration of adhesive materials and the impermanence of stapled entries, it is not in the public interest to permit the compilation of ordinance books as provided for in this bill.

This bill would go further and validate all past actions performed in the new manner prescribed in the bill. To condone such illegal actions on the part of borough officials is unthinkable.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1207.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg

August 12, 1961.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House bill No. 1207, printer's No. 1379, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled 'An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards and commissions, defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions and officrs fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined', regulating the dismissal, suspension, demotion and reenlistment of enlisted members of the Pennsylvania State Police."

This bill amends the Administrative Code by providing for court martial procedures for the dismissal, demotion or refusal of reenlistment of enlisted members of the Pennsylvania State Police Force.

This bill establishes an operating rigidity which is neither beneficial to the affected officer nor to the Commonwealth. The requirements of this bill are such that even though a trooper may accede to a type of disciplinary action, it would be necessary to go through a court martial procedure.

While the organizational structure of the Pennsylvania State Police is quasi-military, we must not lose sight of the fact that this Force is the enforcement arm of the civil government of the sovereign, and as such is a civil instrumentality. The sovereign must have the flexibility to deal immediately, particularly in times of crises and disaster, with whatever disciplinary measures may be appropriate for the protection of the health, welfare and safety of the people.

The most fervent advocates of this legislation have not questioned the fairness and reasonableness of any recent disciplinary actions of the Department.

General Order No. 18, promulgated on November 19, 1957, provides adequate due process for disciplinary action as contemplated by this bill. I hasten to add that said General Order was approved by the previous elected Chief Executive of this State, has not been changed by this Administration, and cannot be changed without my approval.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

(Members joined in singing "Happy Birthday")

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, it is very kind of you to sing "Happy birthday" to me today. I was born in 1900 so I travel along with the year and it is not hard to tell how old I am.

I came to the House of Representatives in 1943 and I want to say to you that I have spent many enjoyable years in this House of Representatives. Thank you very much.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mrs. REIBMAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today some local governments are using the occupation tax to soak the poor. Wealthy persons in some local areas have been able to influence school administrators and even county commissioners to attempt to assess this unfair occupation tax upon the people so that the wealthy can dodge the inevitable income tax.

In 1947, I voted against the Tax Anything Law that gave local governments the power to tax almost anything they pleased. Here is what the Legislative Reference Bureau says about my record on that issue:

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
August 14, 1961

Honorable Francis Worley
House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
Dear Mr. Worley:

In response to your inquiry concerning your voting record at the time of 1947 Act No. 481, I submit the following information:

The Legislative Journal for June 9, 1947, on page 4240, records you as having voted against House Bill 800 on its final passage in the House of Representatives, House Bill 800 became Act No. 481, commonly referred to as the 'Local Tax Enabling Act." The total vote on this bill on final passage in the House was—yeas 130, nays 66—not voting 9.

In answer to your additional question, counties have no authority to levy taxes under the aforementioned act.

Sincerely yours,
(signed) Clifton H. Franks

CHF:mk

First, I knew then that the 1947 Act would break down equality of educational opportunity in that a child in a poor area could not have the same educational opportunity under the 1947 Act as a child born in a more wealthy area since this wealthy area would have greater sources to tax, and, second, I knew then as I can see now that this taxing power would be used to press thorns of taxes upon the bleeding heads of the poor.

But county after county and school district after school district are being forced to abandon the occupation tax by the protests from the people of Pennsylvania. I recommend that the people form a 'Fair Tax Association" in every township and county of Pennsylvania that has this soak-the-poor program of occupation taxes.

As the State Representative from Adams County, I stand firmly opposed to the unfair occupation tax.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. PARLANTE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Banking and Building and Loan Associations to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, rise?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was pausing here to get a clarification of the amendments that Mr. McCann seeks to offer to House bill 640 which is a bill that denies school districts $200 for each closed school.

As I understand these amendments of Mr. McCann's, if there has been a mortgage issued by a school district on record for three years, that particular school district can retain the $200 per closed school for the duration of the bond issue.

Now Representative Adam of Berks County has amendments which he would like to offer which would preserve the $200 for a closed school, but the three-year limitation would be eliminated in his amendments. In other words, his amendments would mean that a school would get the $200, the closed school, for the duration of its bond issue, irrespective of when it was put on as a lien, that is, previous to today.

As I understand the agreement between Mr. McCann and Representative Adams, Mr. McCann seeks to offer his amendments today, put them in with the bill and have the bill in print, and then Mr. Adams from Berks will offer his amendments tomorrow. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I take it, Mr. Adams, that is agreeable to you?

Mr. ADAMS. Yes.

Mr. McCANN. I told the gentleman from Berks that I will make a motion for reconsideration so he may offer his amendments.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Tomorrow?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then Mr. Adams will have to prepare new amendments to a new printer's number and maybe also the lines will be different that he will be amending. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. Should he have to, absolutely, and I certainly will see that he is given every right to do that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. If that is the agreement between Mr. McCann and Mr. Adams, I do not object to his offering the amendments. Of course, it will be up to the House whether it wants to accept the gentleman's amendments or not.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 6, bills on final passage postponed, I request permission to call up House bill No. 1789 for the purpose of amendment, and said amendment will remove rents and royalties from the bill.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1789, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for educational purposes by imposing an excise tax on rents royalties interest dividends and capital gains from investment capital as defined of individual residents and nonresidents of the Commonwealth and of estates and trusts fixing the rates of tax thereon providing for the reporting and payment of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews appeals refunds and penalties and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue fiduciaries partnerships associations and individuals.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, second line of Title, by striking out "rents".

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 3, by inserting after "dividends": and.

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 3, by striking out "and rentals".

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 5, by striking out "Real estate and all" and inserting: All.

Amend Sec. 201, page 5, line 13, by striking out "or of owning property situate".

Amend Sec. 202, page 6, line 1, by striking out "real or".

Amend Sec. 205, page 7, line 16, by striking out "rents and" where it appears the first time.

Amend Sec. 205, page 7, line 16, by striking out "rents and" where it appears the second time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we have already taken "interest" out of the bill and I understand that took $3 million out of it.

I would like to interrogate the majority leader with respect to these amendments.

The Speaker pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, how much will this take out of the bill with respect to revenue?

Mr. McCANN. I believe it is $2.5 of $2.6 million of revenue yield.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What will the so-called education package on our calendar cost this year?

Mr. McCANN. I believe the education package as it was on the calendar was around $25 billion, $25.6 million, I beg your pardon.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the present House bill 1789 would just bring in the $25 billion?

Mr. McCANN. It brings in $25 and $25.6 million or $25.7 million, estimated revenue, as it was on the calendar.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman know where it is expected to get the additional $2.6 if the education bill should happen to pass?

Mr. McCANN. There will be some changes made in the bills on the calendar dealing with the amount of money to be appropriated for certain specific items.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman at liberty to disclose to the House what write-downs will be made on bills on the calendar in order to save $2.6 million?

Mr. McCANN. I will tomorrow. I do have the figures on each change that will occur in community college construction subsidies, and so forth and so on.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. This is the tax bill which was defeated last week and put back on the calendar for reconsideration. Now, should these amendments prevail and the bill be defeated again in its amended form, would that constitute the second run which would kill the bill definitely, or would it merely constitute another first defeat?

Mr. McCANN. The second run.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That would definitely kill the bill. It is the second vote on the same bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Irrespective of the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the Chair.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the chief clerk see that this bill is printed and ready tomorrow.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will so order the chief clerk.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 469, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 26, 1949 (P. L. 1828), entitled "Fiduciaries Investment Act of 1949" making further provisions concerning authorized investments in corporate bonds and stock.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1697, entitled:

An Act amending "The County Code" approved August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323), authorizing the creation of county historical commissions to promote places of historical interest within the county.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill in its original form I thought was a very good piece of legislation. It was amended to provide that the members of the commission shall be registered electors of the Democratic Party and the Republican Party and shall be equally divided. Now they have striken out that clause or phraseology and said that the members of the committee shall be equally divided in number between the two major political parties. If that is not a super-duper piece of semantics, or phraseology, or what-not, to accomplish the same purpose, I do not know of one. Why they have to throw a historical society into a political convention is more than I can figure out.

I would like to vote for this bill, but so far as I am concerned I think the bill is still bad by making it a political football instead of making it a historical society. I think that amendment should be stricken out as well and leave the bill in its original form. For that reason I personally am going to vote against the bill. This is not a party position, it is my own personal views on it, and for that reason I am going to vote against it.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, this bill would allow counties to set up county historical commissions. It ties in, I think, very well with the present administration's program of improving and encouraging the growth of the tourist industry in Pennsylvania.

I, too, agree with Mr. Tompkins that this would be a better bill without the amendment he refers to. However, this House has seen many compromises and this, obviously, is a compromise. It is an attempt to insure that these historical commissions are bipartisan in nature. I do not think this is too much of a burden to place upon such commissions and I think it is at least a step forward. If in the future we find that what Mr. Tompkins has said does take place, we can, of course, amend this legislation.

I would appreciate the support of both sides.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 842, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1959 (P. L. 392), entitled "State Employes' Retirement Code of 1959" changing certain fiscal provisions to conform to the fiscal period and changing provisions providing for contributions and administrative expenses.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this bill changes from a biennial to an annual basis the contributions that must be made to the retirement fund by the various departments of the Commonwealth, is that right.

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, Mr. Speaker, I note in here that they have stricken out the Motor License Fund and they have substituted the phrase "fund and special operating funds." Does the phrase "special operating funds," include the motor license fund?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, it includes the motor license, the game fund and other special funds.

Yes, Mr. Speaker, in addition to changing the fiscal year, this also makes corrections.

As you will note on page 2, it formerly read, "Motor License and General Funds." It made no reference to the special funds. It has now been corrected to bring it properly, as it should be, out of the General Fund and special operating funds. The act previously did not cover—though it was done, it did not actually cover—the other funds. This is to bring it into conformity with the practice that we have for the game fund, the fish fund and the other special funds that the same recommendation was made.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then the intended interpretation of the "special operating funds" would take in all of the departments, separate departments, that heretofore have made contributions to the fund, such as the motor fund, game fund, fish fund, and what have you?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same wihout amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1317, entitled:

An Act amending "The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act" approved June 2, 1915 (P. L. 736), providing for the payment of compensation to the spouse or certain dependents of deceased employes dying prior to receiving payment to total benefits in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1317, is an amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act which has to do with a specific loss or permanent loss, such as the loss of a hand or an eye or a limb and where the number of weeks is fixed when an individual gets an award for the specific loss. In the event that person dies from an unrelated condition, immediately the compensation ceases. Nothing more is paid to the widow or the dependent children.

We feel that in the case of a permanent loss, a specific loss, where a person loses an arm or a leg, just as in a negligence case, the balance for the period remaining unpaid should be paid to the widow. That is the purpose of this bill and, although there are not many cases of this nature, yet there are some where they have died shortly after the period of compensation becomes payable, and, of cours, the widow is left with no income. So we feel that in cases of that nature, payment should be continued to the widow if, of course, she is a dependent widow and was living with her husband. In the event that the wife has died, then, of course, it should be payable to the dependent children for the remaining period only.

I have experienced it personally as a compensation referee where I have seen this situation happen, especially some years ago, when all income was cut off to the widow. I feel that this is necessary to clear up that particular situation.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the explanation of the gentleman is correct as to what the bill does. In other words, if a workman who is on workmen's compensation should happen to die of causes that have no relation to his injury, if he had $10,000 more coming as the result of an award, it would go to his widow or his dependent children or his dependent parents. That in a way is changing the theory of workmen's compensation which is compensation to a worker during his working lifetime for injuries he has sustained, the theory being that the payment to him will make up for any loss in earning power by reason of his injuries. Now, if you pass these bills you are changing the theory of workmen's compensation to one of indemnity, to one of life insurance, or to one of guaranteed payments irrespective of whether the death was occasioned by industry, and that is, of course, projecting workmen's compensation into a field hitherto not contemplated by the early planners of the workmen's compensation law. Of course, if you want to make a state welfare bill out of workmen's compensation, that is your business.

Many of us backed raising the weekly stipend to $47.50 because of inflation and other factors. Increasing it to $47.50 a week from $42.50 was a reasonable thing to do, but you were not satisfied, apparently, with getting those bills and now you want to make a welfare bill out of this, a life insurance indemnity out of it, and that is really extending workmen's compensation into hitherto unexplored fields.

Here again you are saying to industry which wants to come into Pennsylvania, we are going to do everything we can this session to make it as tough as we possibly can for you and this is just another instance of it.

The bill that you did pass with a lot of gimmicks in it raising it to $47.50 was a pretty far departure, I would say, for this session. Therefore, I am asking those who can to vote against an item like this. Not that we are against widows and orphans—they should be taken care of through life insurance and the ordinary means of a worker protecting his family in case of his death by reason of causes that had no reasonable relation to his employment.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, this does not change the theory of workmen's compensation. In the act itself there are two categories, one which is considered disability and one which is considered a permanent loss. This affects permanent loss. It is not considered a disability because an employe who loses an arm or a leg or an eye can return to work and get his full waegs and still receive the specific loss, the compensation to which he is entitled for the loss of an eye or arm or leg or whatever it happens to be. The only difference here, as I said a while ago, is where a person dies after the payments begin from another condition which is not related to his injury. Of course, an employe who receives a specific loss and compensation for a fixed number of weeks, or years, that employe can come in with a commutation petition and get the amount payable to him immediately. Therefore, in some instances where they need the money and it is allowable, they get it immediately by commutation, whereas an individual who has no particular need at the time and allows it to run for the period for which it is fixed, he may find himself without anything because he may die from some other condition before the period has been exhausted.

I feel it is a good bill, it is a just bill, because it would give to those who lose an arm or a leg, because they will never get that back, some compensation for that specific loss.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1318, entitled:

An Act amending "The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act" approved June 21, 1939 (P. L. 566), providing for the payment of compensation to the spouse or certain dependents of deceased employes dying prior to receiving payment of total benefits in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1318 is a companion bill to 1317. House bill 1318 deals with the same type of a condition except that the condition develops from an occupational disease whereas House bill 1317 deals with a disability which develops from an injury. I ask that you support House bill 1318 so they will run together since House bill 1317 has been passed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, my amendments merely insert the word "tire" throughout the bill after the words brake lining. That is, that tires would also be subject to the same standards and approval by the department as brake lining. The reason for this is that there are many places in the Commonwealth where two-ply tires are being sold at various tire sales, not indicating in the advertisements that they are two-ply as distinguished from the ordinary four-ply that we drive on. That is why I would like to have tires inserted into the bill.

The SPEAKER. Are these amendments controversial?

Mr. McCANN. These are the amendments on Senate bill No. 101, Mr. Speaker. One set of amendments is on tires; one set of amendments is on safety brakes.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize the gentleman explained his amendments, but I do not believe we were listening attentively. There was quite a lot of noise. I wonder if he would repeat what he said and talk slowly so that we can understand what he says and so we will know what his amendments do.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 101 proposes to set up the brake lining—the handling of brake lining. Mr. Murphy's amendments include the word "tires," and I believe his amendments include all kinds of tires in putting it into the bill. Therefore, if the amendment was in the bill it would cover both brake lining and tires.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. MURPHY and McCANN and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SCHUSTER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by inserting after "fees": requiring certain vehicles and combinations of vehicles equipped with air brakes to be equipped with emergency brakes
Amend Bill, page 7, by inserting after line 20:
Section 2. Section 816 of the act is amended by adding after subsection (e), a new subsection to read:
Section 816. Brakes.—

(f) Every commercial motor vehicle, motor bus, motor omnibus, truck tractor or combination of a commercial motor vehicle and trailer or truck tractor and semi-trailer equipped with air brakes conforming to other requirements of this section shall, in addition thereto, be equipped with an automatic emergency braking system, applicable by means of manual control at the discretion of the driver and also by automatically controlled application when the operating air pressure falls to a predetermined level. Such emergency braking system shall be separate and independent from the regular air brakes and shall not interfere with the functioning of the regular air brakes with which the vehicle is equipped. Such emergency braking application shall be made by mechanical means capable of exerting a braking torque for each wheel equivalent to fifteen per cent (15%) of the gross weight of the vehicle.

Penalty.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this section, shall, upon summary conviction before a magistrate, be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and costs of prosecution, and, in default of the payment thereof, shall undergo imprisonment for not more than five (5) days.

Amend Sec. 2, page 8, line 1 by striking out "2" and inserting: 3

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schuster.

Mr. SCHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House, these amendments that I offer to Senate bill 101 are identical to House bill 1744, which would put an emergency brake on a tractor-trailer. Now here a week or so ago, we put a bill in for a longer trailer, a bigger trailer. This is only to add to the safety of those longer trailers we put on.

If this amendment is enacted, we can never have an air trailer on a tractor trailer. There are many concerns producing these that have no sale for them and I think that if we want a bigger trailer, let us make a safer trailer. I would like all the members in the House to vote for these amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments. This is the same bill as 1744, which we voted down the other day. I cannot see that these safety brakes are going to be a bit of help the way the bill is written and the way these amendments are written. I therefore ask the House to vote down the amendments, and I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, all of us, at one time or another, have been made aware of the terrible specter of a runaway truck. I am certain that there is not a neighborhood throughout the Commonwealth that, at one time or another, has not felt disaster because of a runaway truck.

Mr. Speaker, when you take the time to make an investigation and ask the driver of that truck what happened, his answer invariably is, "I was coming down the hill and my brakes let go. I pumped, I pumped, and I pumped, but there was no air pressure and I could not stop the truck."

Mr. Speaker, it is the intent of these amendments to so equip commercial trucks, trailers and buses, that no longer will there be this answer. It is the intent of this bill to provide that where a braking system fails on a truck because of a lack or a loss of air pressure, this secondary, or dual brake, will come into being and it will stop the truck.

It is the intent of this amendment, and of the braking system which this amendment favors and sponsors, that it will come into being when there is a loss of air. This dual braking system does not depend upon air pressure, but contrary, when there is a loss of air, the brake will come into being. That, we expect and hope, Mr. Speaker, and are sure will be enough force, enough braking force to stop any runaway truck under any conditions.

I would ask the members of the House, realizing the potential danger and the potential loss of life that could result because of runaway trucks, to consider this seriously, to realize that there are available to put on trucks, this system. I think that it is definitely one of the major points. We talk about highway safety. It is seldom the praises of highway safety are announced loud and clear throughout the Commonwealth. I think this is one field, and one area, that has been neglected and I think that there is something that can be done and I feel that those who offered these amendments have that in mind. This, I think, is the answer.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAMB. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, is there any estimate of the cost that would be entailed for the installation of this brake on each truck?

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I have made an investigation and I have learned that the cost of this would be less than 20 cents a day.

Now, what does this operation entail? It is fairly estimated that the application of a dual braking system would cost in the neighborhood of $250 to $275.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, have there been any tests run on this brake to be sure that it will work and that it will be effective?

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I have seen several tests on one type brake.

Mr. FOOR. How long have they been testing it?

Mr. LAMB. The brake that I am familiar with has been under test, I would say, for four to five years.

Mr. FOOR. What is the make and name of the brake, please?

Mr. LAMB. I am aware of a braking system. Now, I do not want to take the floor of this House and in any way create the impression that I am trying to advertise a braking system. That is not true. If the gentleman does want the name of the braking system that I am aware of, I would be glad to tell it to the members of the House.

Mr. FOOR. I would be very glad to hear it, sir.

Mr. LAMB. The braking system that I am familiar with is called the "Sentinel."

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, how long has this device been manufactured?

Mr. LAMB. It is my understanding that it has been tested and under manufacture for over five years.

Mr. FOOR. Has it been approved by any safety experts or any department of safety, do you know?

Mr. LAMB. It is my understanding, and I know it is a fact, that the Commissioner of Highway Safety, Mr. Shippley, and others, were out in Pittsburgh to witness the test of the brake with which I am familiar.

I want to set the gentleman straight. I understand there are a multitude of dual braking systems. I am familiar with one.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he knows whether or not this auxiliary brake would work if the brake lining suddenly became overheated or tore off? Does it depend on the brake linings that are in the truck, that are installed in them?

Mr. LAMB. It is my understanding—well, let me preface my remarks this way: I believe, but I may be wrong, that all braking systems to one extent or another depend upon brake linings. I might also say that brake linings, of course, are inspected regularly, so I am to assume from the start that the brake lining is in good condition. I do feel that the effectiveness of the dual braking system is connected with, and would be a necessary component or tied up inexplicably with, the brake linings.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman what size truck this would be applicable to? Every truck or just the heavier trucks?

Mr. LAMB. The amendment states that it would apply to those trucks that use air brakes.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that any member of this House would not readily vote for some type of brake that would assure us that trucks would not run away and destroy property and human lives. There does not seem to have been much promotion done on this, and a lot of us do not understand how the thing works. I certainly do not like to vote against something that is certain to be safe, but I understand that this was a braking device that was made by a special company. I think the bill was put in by request of this company and I, for one, would like to know more about it and know whether or not it could be expected to always work.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Holliday.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb, permit himself to be further interrogted?

Mr. LAMB. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny said that this additional brake is not operated by air. Can he tell me what does actuate the brake?

Mr. LAMB. The brake goes into operation when there is an air failure. Now again I would like to preface my remarks by saying that I have seen one system that I was very much impressed with.

To answer the gentleman's question, the brakes that I saw operated—I should say there was a spring tension that kept the brake off, and then when the pressure was gone the spring expanded and that applied the brake.

Actually, the brake was off while there was air pressure, but, upon a lack of air pressure, the tension was released and, of course, then the brake applied itself.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. What is to prevent that spring from breaking?

Mr. LAMB. Well, I would be willing to say that there are all possibilities of certain failures. The bill, of course, calls for the installation of a dual brake system. The gentleman might say, "Well, what is to keep anything from happening?" I would have to say that there is always that possibility of something unexpected happening.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, I believe I am correct in saying that the great majority of tractor-trailers operating throughout the country today have two sets of brakes. They have a set of air brakes possibly, or BK/vacuum booster brakes which operate sometimes both the truck and the trailer. Then on the trailer there is a separate hand control under the steering gear which controls the trailer brakes alone, so that in case your foot brakes, the air brakes, on the tractor would fail you would still have brakes on the trailer which would operate. Now we are putting on still another brake.

Mr. LAMB. I might say to the gentleman, if that were effective why do we have runaway tractors and why do we have runaway trailers? There must be something wrong that it does not stop them.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made the assertion a few minutes ago that there is always the danger of failure. I was reading, not long ago, about a Pennsylvania Railroad train, I believe it was, that the brakes failed and it went into the station at Washington, D. C., and went down through the Concourse. That was a failure of air brakes, evidently. You can always have a failure of something, but are we going to be asked to put another brake on to protect this new brake? Where is it going to stop?

Mr. LAMB. The only thing I can say to the gentleman is this: We do what we feel we can do to minimize accidents.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, I agree with him and I think everybody here is interested in safety. But I believe that I am safe in saying that the majority of trucks that get away on a hill are caused by the drivers not doing what the State asks them to—shifting into a lower gear at the top of the hill—and going down they get to running away, they apply their brakes and the first thing their brakes are burnt out and they have no brakes.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Crawford wish to be recognized?

Mr. MERRY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that we put down the other day after quite a long discourse on government interference with industry in the production of automobiles and equipment. We have had a letter in the meantime saying that brake lining is identical to brake hose and could be just as easily enforced.

I want to tell you that a piece of hose can easily be marked on the outside as to whether it is L 2 or something or other like that so you can identify it. The brake lining has an area that could use about 3/16 of an inch. I am just making the comparison as to how you could find out whether it is legal or not, so we say that all brake lining that is inspected will have some kind of coloring, or is it going to be printed on 3/16 of an inch, "This is State-approved brake lining?"

So, okay, we go ahead on something like this and we are going to prove that the fellow has illegal linings on it. The garage man refuses to inspect the car because he thinks there is illegal lining on it. I want to know when he calls the police, brings them in to find out whether it is illegal lining or not, what happens? Who pays for taking the wheels off; who pays for taking the drums off; who pays for taking the brake shoe off, cuts the lining off, and then when he does get in he finds that it is lining approved by the State because maybe it was put on the back side of it before it was riveted on? Take the brake lining that is glued on. He is going to take that off to find that this is legal lining or not. I do not think it could be enforced very easily if we do put something like this on our law books.

We decided the other day, and I think most of those in the House agreed on it that brakes are inspected first, last and always by the inspection stations. If I would have the permission of the House I would say that a moment ago on another bill it was remarked that brakes were inspected before the trucks go out and that is very true.

Now lining is only one of the many things that affect the operation of a braking system. There are other things like drums, cylinders in which the rubber has deteriorated. There is fluid that maybe has leaked out. There are not only brake hose, but brake lines made out of copper tubing. This copper tubing leaked, the brakes failed. Also we have brakes that are controlled by cable. Lining is only one small item in the brake system we have today.

I want to tell you another thing that could happen. It seems that people who are after this legislation say that there are bad boys who sell cheap lining and we want to put them out of business and we want to say what kind of lining they are going to sell. Is that price fixing? Is it restraint of trade? I ask you.

Okay. We know there are very few people who line their own brakes who could go to an accessory store and maybe buy a low-priced set of brake linings. Today with our present setup, the garage man has the alternative to explain to his customer that we have a brake lining that is good for three or four months in case you have only got $10 or $15. You do not have $50 to put on the high priced lining. He can put it on with the explanation that it will not last as long. He maybe has another grade in between for $20. With this brake lining you can go along for maybe two years with pretty decent brakes. Then he has another lining at $40. We had a bill here a while ago, if I may refer again on what you are going to do if a cop orders a car off the road for repairs. They give you 48 hours to come up with the money to fix it. If you do not have the money we say lay the car up. What happens? The same thing. I go downtown and do not have the money for a high priced lining that is supposed to be okayed by the State, I have $20. I cannot buy it. Well, a fellow in the back room maybe has some that he did not know whether it passed or not, I could take a chance on it and put it on myself. That is great.

To go a little further on. Do you think that the mail order houses are out of business since they cannot buy postage? So we pass a law in Pennsylvania that you can buy only this one particular lining that comes up to their specifications, then you send through the mail to get it. Is anybody going to stop you from sending through the mail? Or if you wanted to drive anywhere around the perimeter of the State you come into our inspection stations and they say, "Look, we only have $40 lining." Well, if I am in Philadelphia, I will go over to New Jersey. I can get cheap lining over there. If I am in Sharon I can go over to Ohio.

Gentlemen, this is a bad bill and I ask you all to vote against it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. McNally.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I have read the bill in question here. I quite agree with the gentleman who previously spoke on it. It is a bad bill and the reason it is a bad bill, it cannot be policed. It is almost impossible to police this piece of legislation before us now.

I believe the sponsors of the bill, Mr. Speaker, had in mind the stopping of brake lining coming into our Commonwealth that went on with clamps, which is a very dangerous thing, I will agree with them. However, once brake lining is put on a brake shoe, 99 percent of the cars running today are running on internal brakes. The brand name is erased. Now, if this bill read, the sale in the Commonwealth of lining that would be approved by the bureau of standards in the Commonwealth, it could be policed for the sale of it, but it cannot be policed on the used cars that come from every state, and the tri-state area, that go on our auction blocks. It is just impossible to police the bill. That is why I am going to vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. POLEN and ANDREWS.

RESOLUTION No. 99.

In the House of Representatives, August 14, 1961.

Although the highway safety record in the Commonwealth is commendably superior to that of many states having comparable highway traffic patterns, continuous efforts must be made to reduce the frequency and severity of traffic accidents and the attendant human suffering and property losses

All of the factors contributing to highway accidents—highway design, traffic volume, vehicle characteristics, and driver characteristics—should be critically reviewed. Similarly, statutory and administrative programs calculated to prevent or reduce highway accidents, such as driver qualificatons, driver examinations and penalties including suspension and revocation of drivers' privileges should be objectively evaluated with reference to both their effectiveness as preventive measures and the costs and inconvenience which they impose upon the public; therefore be it

Resolved. That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to evaluate the effectiveness of the rules, regulations and administrative practices of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Highway Safety upon the frequency and severity of traffic accidents, and the costs which the rules and regulations impose upon the taxpayer and the motoring public, and report its findings and recommendations to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson. The gentleman desires to interrogate the majority leader.

Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, coming down in my car yesterday and hearing the Harrisburg news, it said the legislature was coming back to town and there would be an adjournment sine die either Friday night or Saturday night of this current week, and that the floor leaders on the Democratic side had so stated for publication.

Now, I want to ask the majority leader, are we going to adjourn sine die Friday night or Saturday night of this week?

Mr. McCANN. Let the gentleman show me, Mr. Speaker, where this floor leader said that and I will answer his question. I never made a statement of any kind, public or private, that this House would adjourn sine die either Friday or Saturday of this week.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then it must have been the floor leader in another house, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. I would like to say for the information of the gentleman that one of the major problems confronting this session is Congressional reapportionment. I believe at this point he has received his invitation from the Governor for the meeting Wednesday night to which the Republican State Chairman, the Democratic State Chairman, the Republican secretary of the State Committee, the Democratic secretary of the State Committee, the floor leaders of the House, both Democratic and Republican, the floor leaders of the Senate, both Democratic and Republican, three Republican Congressmen chosen by the Republican State Chairman and three Democratic Congressmen chosen by the Democratic State Chairman have been invited. The meeting will be held in the Governor's office at 8 p. m., daylight saving time, Wednesday night, for the purpose of discussing Congressional reapportionment.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as long as we are on that subject, if, by any strange stroke of fate, that committee should agree on a reapportionment bill, could we not release a reapportionment bill to the floor, say, on Thursday and have it read for the first time and then offer amendments on Monday on second reading, which would place a bill like that in shape for final passage next Tuesday in the House. That would be possible, would it not?

Mr. McCANN. That would be possible, Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman explains it, and I hope he would be right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then if we would do that and pass it, it would be possible, would it not, to adojurn sine die the following week, not this week, but next week?

Mr. McCANN. May I state to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, that there are the following major pieces of legislation:

Congressional reapportionment, the amended education program, the backfill mine stripping bills that are now being amended, or whatever they are doing to them in the Senate, the General State Authority bill and 12 conference committee reports, in addition to the judges for the new courts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Those are all a part of it, although the two major ones we talk about are Congressional reapportionment and the education program. But that could be done and completed as the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, clearly indicated, the following week.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman intends to have us stay here four days this week, I take it? That would be because of the reapportionment meeting Wednesday night, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. I do. Although following that meeting we would determine, you and I would determine, the course of the action of the House, whether we would be in session the next day, even though this meeting is late at night.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, again commenting on that, many of the members, if they were going to leave here on Wednesday, would want to check out of their hotels on Wednesday. Your plan would mean they would have to stay overnight. If they have to stay overnight, we might as well have a session on Thursday.

Mr. McCANN. That is right, we could still have the session and the members would have to stay. I ask that they bear with us during these crucial weeks while we are coming to this point. We hope that the answers will be favorable in the meetings in which you will participate, that we might complete this action this week and next week, and the House would be in session Thursday.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask another question: What is the rationale, or what is the motivating factor, that caused you today to eliminate rents and royalties from House bill 1789?

Mr. McCANN. I believe it would be a fair and honest answer to say, in an effort to secure votes to pass it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then, is the rumor correct that has been floating around here today that you were able to get the Philadelphia delegation because you are ripping rents and royalties out of the bill?

Mr. McCANN. I think the record shows that every Republican voted against it but two, and 29 Democrats voted against it, although three of those were changes for reconsideration. I am seeking every means of trying to find that magic number of 106 Republican and Democratic votes to pass that bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then your answer is that, in order to appease Philadelphia, you did rip rents and royalties out of the bill?

Mr. McCANN. Perhaps I could say, to appease the Republican members.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. You are not answering my question. Did you not do it to appease the Philadelphia delegation following their caucus today?

Mr. McCANN. I did not.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I will accept your explanation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, rise?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. To make an observation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me, we get more facts and results in an empty House.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. ESLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, August 15, 1961 at 12 o'clock noon, e. s. t.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:19 p. m., e. s. t.) the House adjourned.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PETER VROOM, Pastor of Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Our Father and our God, again we thank Thee for this beautiful day. We thank Thee for our night's rest and today, once again, we pray for Thy divine wisdom and guidance as another Session of the Pennsylvania State Senate is about to be opened. We thank Thee that in our Country we may still open such a meeting as this with prayer to Thee. We thank Thee that we are still a people under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

O Lord, we do humbly pray that it may not be just a mere formality which looks good in print. May our faith in Thee have a sincere meaning, may it be practical, and may we, in our judgments and dicisions, be guided by our relationship to Thee. Help us to realize that Thou dost hold us responsible to use the talents and the abilities with which Thou hast endowed us to bring honor to Thy name and blessing to the people of our wonderful Commonwealth. We pray for Governor Lawrence and his advisers as they face their many pressing problems and duties this day. O Lord, be very much in evidence as the Members of this Senate wait before Thee.

We humbly pray that Thou wilt forgive us where we sin and where we fail and where we fall short. Help us, O Lord, in all things to give Thee praise. We pray humbly in Thy name. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am about to introduce another bill which deals with congressional reapportionment. I would like to say a few words about this bill because it represents an additional approach to the problem of trying to solve our reapportionment problem.

The most important problem, of course, as one approaches the process of reapportionment, is to try to seek equal districts so that the people of the Commonwealth can be represented equally in Congress. The Governor put that very well in a recent statement he made, when he said that the most important problem in reapportionment was trying to get districts which are as near as possible to the ratio of 419,000 people per district. With that, you would have an ideal representation.

Now it is obviously impossible to arrive at districts which equal 419,000 people exactly because you are dealing with blocks of population in the form of counties and, if you break down counties in the form of other municipalities, it will not add up to even numbers.

Therefore, in setting the goal for making a good reapportionment, I think we can safely say that if the reapportionment results in districts which are within ten per cent of the ideal ratio, then certainly we have come up with a proposal which is fair. Of course, in addition to having equal representation, districts should be contiguous; that is, they must all be in one piece. They should also be compact, in that the territory, in so far as possible, should be one which is not strung out all over the map.

In considering the problem of reapportioning Pennsylvania, there are two districts which immediately strike one as the main problem in trying to get equal reapportionment. Those are the counties of Delaware and Montgomery. The reason I refer to these counties as the chief problem is because each has a population in themselves which is beyond the ten per cent ratio.

We said that 419,000 was our goal. Four hundred and nineteen thousand, plus ten per cent, would be 461,000. Four hundred and nineteen thousand, minus ten per cent, would be 377,000. Between those limits, we are trying to fall. Yet, here we have two counties, Delaware and Montgomery, one of which, Delaware, has 553,000 people, and Montgomery has 516,000 people. There are obviously several things we can do. We can break off a piece of that county and attach it to another county. Or, we can break off a piece of another county and attach it to each of those counties in order to make it big enough to have two. The third approach, which is the one this bill attempts,—I think it has some merit and, at least, I would like to offer it for your consideration—is to survey the map to find out how we can join counties without breaking down parts of counties.

I think Senator Bell expressed very well the sentiment which prevails in his section in that they do not like the idea of breaking down pieces of counties. The only other alternative is to do as follows:

We look at Delaware County and see if we can attach it to Chester County and get the kind of a result which would lead to two equal districts. We find this is impossible. By adding Delaware and Chester, we would still get districts which do not fall within our ten per cent.

Then we try Montgomery County, which also touches Delaware. We find by adding those two counties, we get a district which would be too large for two, obviously, since each of them is more than a district, and would not total enough population for three counties. Therefore, if we wish to avoid breaking up counties and still wish to get equal districts, then the only place to attach Delaware County is to the city of Philadelphia. This is not with the idea of breaking off pieces, but simply adding the two. The two added together give a total population of 2,555,000. That makes six districts of 425,000 each. In other words, the proposal outlined in this bill would set up those two counties as a district, with six members elected at-large.

Now when we come to Montgomery County, we take the same sort of survey. We find there that the only place where we can make a jointure, without breaking down pieces of counties, is with Bucks County. By adding Montgomery and Bucks County, we get 824,000, or two districts of about 412,000 each, which falls well within our ten per cent limit.

Going from those two, we go into the rest of the Commonwealth and we find that we have no problem in constructing districts which fall within the limitation of ten per cent larger or ten per cent smaller than the ideal number, with one exception. That exception is when we come to Lancaster County. Lancaster County has 278,000 people. We try every county around it. We try adding it to York County and we find that there the result is much over our ten per cent limit. We try adding it to Dauphin County and we find the same thing. Added to Lebanon County, it becomes too small. Added to Berks County, it become much too large. Added to Chester County, it becomes too large, but adding it to Chester County becomes the nearest approach to our ten per cent, although it does not quite satisfy our ten per cent limit. However, we find this is the best combination whereby we can obtain the desired result.

Therefore, we come out with a plan of reapportionment in which every district would fall within ten per cent larger or ten per cent smaller than the ideal amount, with the exception of Lancaster and Chester Counties. That is the best result we can get, taking all the districts that are possible to combine and trying every combination possible. We also find that what results are districts which are contiguous; that is to say, they are all in one piece. They are also districts which are as compact as is possible. We have no problem with compactness in the districts formed by, say, Delaware and Philadelphia, or Montgomery and Bucks, or most of the districts. When we get up into the part of the Commonwealth which has the smaller counties, then obviously we get larger districts, less compact than could be desired, but perfectly contiguous and as compact as possible.

There may be some problem arise, Mr. President, as to whether the approach outlined here—namely, of creating districts with a number of Senators elected at-large—is constitutional or legal. Research reveals the following: The 1911 law, passed by Congress and dealing with reapportionment, forbids what this is proposing. However, the 1929 law did not forbid it nor did it mention it. Since that time, the 1941 law, which amended the 1929 law, also does not forbid it. The Supreme Court has twice decided that the 1929 law repealed the 1911 law. For that reason, there is absolutely nothing constitutional or legal to prevent this approach. There may be political reasons or other reasons opposed to it, but, legally and constitutionally, Mr. President, I am convinced there is no problem.

I think this solution, from the standpoint of equality of districts, compactness and contiguity, is as good an approach as is likely to be reached. Of course, I am not sure that, for political reasons, people will desire to have this solution. If we were looking for a solution which was quite independent of politics, and which only sought fair and equal representation, it is my present conviction, in default of someone else showing me a better plan, that this plan would be ideal and would result in the sort of reapportionment we want.

Therefore, Mr. President, I submit this as another approach. I understand there will be a conference on congressional reapportionment and I hope, at that time, this approach will be considered along with those which have been previously offered.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am introducing the following bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SEYLER presented to the Chair SB 918, entitled:

An Act to apportion the Commonwealth into congressional districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Reapportionment.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to address its remarks to the people who are in this room today and who are here for most of the Sessions.

The President pro tempore of the Senate, Senator DiSilvestro, has requested the Chair to tell you that a number of Senators have complained to the President pro tempore that the people who come to the Senate, and who are interested in bills, are disturbing the Senators during the Sessions.

The Chair has been advised by the President pro tempore to instruct the Sergeant-at-Arms that no one is to approach the rail enclosure during the Sessions to call a Senator from his seat. It is not that the Senators want to be discourteous, but there is business being conducted on the floor, and it is important business. We would like them to follow the Calendar and concentrate on what is going on.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I sat here and was absolutely dumfounded by the proposal of Senator Seyler to include all of the county of Delaware in the six Philadelphia Congressional Districts. I have not seen his bill, but that is what I gathered from listening to his remarks.

Senator Seyler overlooks two things. The first is that he has taken an arbitrary figure of ten per cent. I do not know where he got that figure, and I do not know how he can ever justify that to the people of my county.

Secondly, Senator Seyler is playing the numbers game. He is treating the people of my county, and he is treating the people of Pennsylvania, just the same as a contractor treats sacks of concrete. Gentlemen, you do not treat people that way. We, in this Commonwealth, have a heritage of freedom. We have a heritage of self-government.

I condemn this bill and—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair just made a statement that no one is to approach the rail enclosure. Please, we will have no more disturbances of this sort.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, Pennsylvania's heritage, from the time of William Penn, has been to get away from the type of thinking that sublimates the individual, sublimates freedom, and sublimates the community of interest to the numbers game. I condem this approach as something that is odious to my county.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimaus consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I simply wish to say that we are trying to count people so that they get equal representation. I do not known what other procedure we can use but numbers. I think the main purpose in reapportioning is to try to get as equal representation as possible for the people of the Commonwealth.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HALUSKA, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Local Government, reported, as amended HB 1771.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER, Mr. President, I request a one-hour recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding both a Democratic and a Republican Caucus, to be held in the respective Caucus Rooms. I would suggest that the Senators take their bills with them to Caucus as there may not be a sufficient number of bills and Calendars there.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a one-hour recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Joseph D. Ripp) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SEYLER, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Reapportionment, reported, as amended, SB 761.

MR. DIETER HEIMER, FROM GUTERSLOH, GERMANY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We have a guest in our midst, a gentleman from Germany. It has been suggested that the Chair introduce this gentleman to the Senate and to the audience in the Senate Chamber.

The gentleman's name is Dieter Heimer. Mr. Heimar is here through the "Experiment in International Living," an organization founded with the thought of showing Europeans how American boys and girls live. This is an exchange arrangement, and Americans are in Europe on the same basis.

Those European young people visiting in this County are the guests of American families.

Mr. Heimer is the guest of the Middletown Rotary Club, and is accompanied by Mr. Donald Craig of the Middletown Rotary Club. Mr. Heimer spends a week with each of its members. He came to America in the middle of June and will be in this Country until about the middle of September. He has spent some time in New York, and expects to spend a few days in Washington, D. C.

It gives me honor and pleasure to introduce to the Members of the Senate, and those in the Chamber, Mr. Dieter Heimer, of Gutersloh, Germany.

Mr. HEIMER. Thank you very much. I am very glad to be here. I have been the guest of American families now for about four weeks, and I have seen a lot of the Ameri-

Kessler,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

HB 621 (Pr. No. 2446)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill because it requires a guard at a manhole, and it does not state that this manhole must be located on a public highway. In other words, some of our municipalities have manholes in their sewage disposal plants that go across open fields. I cannot see the necessity of putting a traffic guard on a manhole in an open field.

I think this bill could have been much better written, and, therefore, I am going to vote against it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe anyone who has come across an open manhole, and who might have had the opportunity of falling in, certainly would feel kindly disposed toward this measure.

I believe perhaps the Senator has led a very sheltered life and possibly has not had the opportunity of coming across a manhole where he might have fallen in. Therefore, in that vein, he feels less disposed toward this measure.

I think this is a safety measure and, as such, we should help people who may be in the vicinity of an open manhole. You also have the other facet of it, where you might have an escape of gas in these manholes which contain not only electrical lines, but also other pipelines going through them. Sometimes it is a deadly gas, and a man could pass out without anyone being aware that he is there. This would provide the added feature of having someone available, who is in condition, to aid in bringing out an injured person. Sometimes there are two or three persons working at the same time down there, due to the expertise that one or more of these people might have in working in one of these areas with a helper.

As a result, I think it is not an undue burden to have someone present. They can even alternate or change the people working there in order to keep a watch on this open manhole.

I know the Senator very well and I am certain that he would not want to jeopardize anyone's life by not having a guard to help, should anyone fall in. There have been many instances—and very recently—where persons have been injured not only by falling into a manhole, but also by having objects fall on the persons working in the manholes, when no one was aware of their presence there.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I yield to the Majority Leader's superior experience in falling into manholes. I have never fallen into one.

However, this is a prime example of poorly written legislation. If the Majority Leader wants to protect the traveling public from falling into manholes that would contain gases, why does he not say so in the bill? You do not hit specific dangers by striking at a very broad class of items which, in this case, would create quite a burden on our municipalities and on our water companies, in addition to telephone and electric companies.

I again say that the reason I am voting against this is because it is a poorly written piece of legislation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if that is the difficulty the gentleman is having with the bill, I would respectfully suggest to him that he could amend this to make it a better drawn bill and, possibly, take out the parts to which he objects.

One of the problems mentioned by the gentleman was that the bill is not more specific. Suppose we mentioned five, six or seven specific things and left out the eighth one or the other possibility, and then you would have no regulation or no way to regulate it. Like this bill, if you give them the whole class to regulate, they can properly do so without it being a specific or class legislation.

I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this measure.

Shall the bill pass finally?

SB 882—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 884 (Pr. No. 1201)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to bring the Act into statutory line with the recent decisions of the Supreme Court. I think we need this legislation very badly in order to have a standard with which people can comply.

This deals with the definition of the word "obscenity" or "obscene." It follows along with the position taken by the court, so that no one will be in doubt as to what standard they must conform with. The Supreme Court, about which I am speaking, is the Supreme Court of the United States. I think this will make it easier for the law enforcement agencies to deal with this problem.

COMMITTEES OF CONFERENCE APPOINTED ON SB 111 AND SB 698

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of Committees of Conference on the part of the Senate to confer with similar committees of the House (if the House shall appoint such committees) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 111—Messrs. SILVERT, DONOLOW and SCOTT;

Senate Bill No. 698—Messrs. HAYS, SEYLER and BELL.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, today there was circulated throughout the Senate the most vicious piece of untruth that I have seen circulated in this Hall since I have been a Member of this august Body.

To show the type of people who are opposing a certain bill, there is an agenda—perhaps it is not an agenda—and on the last page of this brochure, or whatever you may call it, which I understand came from the office of Senator Mahady, the Chairman of the Insurance Committee—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman rose to a question of personal privilege. I do not think that gives him the right to heap abuse on any other Member of the Senate. I think he should—

Mr. PECHAN. I am not abusing any other Member; I was abused.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Please address the Chair, if you care to be recognized. Senator Weiner has the floor.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe if the Senator is being abused, he should state the point of abuse before he moves into another area and accuses someone else. I think the proper way would be for him to present his case and let us take if from there, rather than begin by an accusation.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am making no accusations. I talked to the gentleman and he told me himself that it came out of his office.

INTERROGATION

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Mahady.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mahady, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHADY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am not accusing Senator Mahady of anything which is untrue. Is it not true, Senator Mahady, that these circulars came from your office?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I will answer that question in this way, as I explained to Senator Pechan. I understood it was a factual presentation; I had not read it. I asked the Page to distribute them because I was asked to see that all the Senators were informed of the arguments contained therein. The minute I found out, when it was shown to me, that it referred to Senator Pechan, I had them all picked up again. All except two were picked up. Senator Pechan and Senator Berger said they wanted to keep their copies.

In answer to the gentleman's question, I will state that the facts contained on the last page were not only in bad taste, but they were, I would say, completely untrue. I have known Senator Pechan since I have been here and I knew him before I came here. Senator Pechan, I would say, is the type of a man who, if his best friend asked him to be for a bill and he did not believe in the bill, would not be for it.

I can humbly say that I have been guilty of what is one of the cardinal sins; that is, the sin of laziness. I did not read it before I agreed to seeing that all of the Members received it. If there has been any harm done and if anyone else saw it besides those whose desks it was put on,—it was only there for a few minutes—I say that my sin of negligence in not reading it, I am guilty of. I humbly apologize from the bottom of my heart.

I would also say that at no time in this Senate have I ever attempted to be anything but courteous. However, this was beyond courtesy. This was a matter which should not have happened. As I said, the fault of laziness on my part in not reading if beforehand, I admit. I thought I would cover it before the bill came up. I am at fault and I apologize to everyone for it.

Mr. PECHAN. I want you to know—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Did you want to say something, Senator Pechan?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That was an expression by the Senator which will go into the record. I am sure that all those concerned will be able to see for themselves in the record the issue concerned.

Has that matter been taken care of, Senator Pechan?

Mr. PECHAN. No, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is all right; just take your time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to thank Senator Mahady and I accept his apology. I feel badly that I am such a weak sister, but the gentleman's apology so moved me. Forgive me.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Take your time, Senator Pechan, and relax.

Mr. PECHAN. I know Senator Mahady did not do it maliciously and I agree that he did not know it was there or he would not have done it.

However, Mr. President, I just wondered to what length some people will go—and I am not speaking about Senator Mahady—to get across a point or an untruth. As Senator Mahady said, there is not one word of truth appearing on the page which refers to Senator Pechan.

It mentions a person's name who is a very dear friend of mine. I have known him many, many years. I presume that I have gone out to dinner with him many times. I, perhaps, have picked up the check more often than he has because I can afford it just as well as he can. I enjoy his company, and he happens to be a patient of mine. He also happens to visit in my home.

I am not the sponsor of this bill. The bill came over from the House. In the past, I have sponsored legislation which covered the small loan people. Four or five years ago, I sponsored a bill, raising the limit from $300 to $600, which in the same sense reduced the amount of interest to the consumer.

I do not know what connection I have with this bill. I do not know who the person is who got this thing together. I think perhaps, as Senator Mahady explained it, he was a little lax. However, I will forgive him and I am going to forget it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, in 1959, I was elected to serve in this great deliberative Body. I believe one of the first encounters I ever had on the floor of this Senate was with my dear friend and colleague, Senator Pechan.

From time to time, Senator Pechan and I have not seen eye to eye on our political philosophy. However, I read the letter and I do not know of any statement that could be further from the truth than the untrue statement which the letter contained. I have been out with Senator Pechan on numerous occasions. He is a great fellow. I know he was deeply touched here by the apology which was extended to him by my colleague, Senator Mahady. It is unfortunate that these things exist, but we, in political life,—and I would like to remind the newspapermen of this—are subjected to great criticism from time to time.

Last Saturday evening, there appeared an article in one of my local newspapers, stating that a contractor went out of business because of political payoffs to politicians and to people who are employed by the Department of Highways. On Monday morning, I called the Attorney General in and at 4:55 p.m., yesterday afternoon, that contractor signed a sworn statement to the fact that he never made the statement. However, I believe he did make the statement. I believe the people who wrote this letter, and who are responsible for it, are trying to cause animosity among the Members of this Senate.

I hope to be around here for a long time and I hope that I will never again see a recurrence of such a vicious and scandalous letter as was sent to my office this afternoon.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SESLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I do not wish to belabor this issue, but I do think this is an opportune time to bring up a point which has bothered me from time to time. I regret the incident, because I agree with all the other Members of this Senate that the two Senators who are involved here are personal friends of all of us. I am sure we have the highest regard for their integrity and ability.

However, Mr. President, I would like to say something to the men who sit around the outside of this rail enclosure. I am one of the younger Members, but I do expect to be here for a few years. From time to time, when they give us information, they provide a good function for us. Oftentimes, they explain the position of a particular industry or a particular group of people who are affected by legislation which we are considering.

I would like to say to them, however, and I hope I speak for all the Senators: "Gentlemen, it is all right to build your case, but, in building your case, make sure that you are scrupulously accurate and that you, at no time, impringe on anyone's reputation."

Unfortunately, from time to time, I have checked on some of the so-called facts given to me in support of various pieces of legislation. I have found them not to be completely true. Sometimes, the sins were mostly of omission; sometimes, they were of commission. However, in either case, I think you gentlemen owe a duty to we Legislators, who are representing the 11,000,000 people of Pennsylvania, to give us only facts.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a twenty minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a twenty minute recess of the Senate.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 330

Messrs. M. H. GOLDSTEIN and McCORMACK offered a resolution which was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 9, 1961.

Resolved, That House bill No. 330, printer's No. 359, entitled "An act defining and regulating the conduct and activities of officers and employes of the Commonwealth and firms, partnerships, associations and corporations in which such persons are members or stockholders, forbidding certain situations which may involve a conflict of interest between the discharge of official duties and private business or professional activity, providing for the keeping of records, authorizing the issuance of rules and regulations hereunder and providing penalties for the violation hereof," having been referred to the Committee on Judiciary on February 1, 1961, and the committee not having reported the same to the House for a period of over fifteen days, the committee is discharged from further consideration thereof.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, House bill No. 330, for the information of the membership, is entitled the conflict of interest act. It was one of the early pieces of legislation introduced by four members of the House, all of whom are members of the Democratic Party. This piece of legislation, of great import, has been in the Judiciary Committee since February 1, 1961. It provides that for state employes there would be a prohibition from their practicing before any state body or for a state employe to engage in any business in a contractual relationship with the State. We are not permitted to debate the merits of the bill in a discharge resolution, but I would call to the attention of the majority party that in its 1958 platform one of the planks was as follows: "Legislation setting ethical standards for public employes."

House bill No. 330, the conflict of interest act, implements the 1958 Democratic Party platform and we now ask all members of the House, both Democrats and Republicans, in this late stage to vote in favor of this discharge resolution so this important legislation may be considered upon its merits on the floor of the House of Representatives. I ask for a roll call.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership on this side of the House to vote "no" on the roll call to discharge the Judiciary Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. I rise to support this discharge resolution. I think this bill, if it comes to the floor, will promote ethics in government.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. M. H. GOLDSTEIN and McCANN and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to make a comment upon an article that I have seen in today's Evening News. There is a picture showing O. D. Shipley and the Governor checking over a Speedminder car fitted to assist at accidents, and the statement reads:

> The new equipment includes an asbestos fire-fighting suit, a fire extinguisher, a first aid kit, road flares and reflectors, a crash bar and wool blankets.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to commend the safety department for the action they are taking. The only thing I see that they have left out, and I might say that they could add, are lassos or lariats to catch the runaway trucks that are going to be so prominent on our highways from now on, the 55-foot ones.

BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been told that we neglected to note the fact that the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, had a birthday, maybe it was yesterday. Is he still in the hall of the House? He had a birthday this week but we did not notice it. Dr. Dengler, will you lead the singing of Happy Birthday in memory of the gentleman from Washington?

Mr. DENGLER. I think the gentleman from Washington has done a wonderful job as the chairman of the Appropriations Committee. We should sing "Happy Birthday" with a lot of zest. Let's sing, "Happy Birthday, Dear Dean."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, who takes the microphone to defend himself. The charge is that he did a good job on appropriations by cutting down most of them.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not certain that I heard you correctly but I thought that you said, "In memory of the gentleman from Washington."

The SPEAKER. That is a nominal truth.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it has certainly been a very happy experience for me to serve in this House. The happiest days of my life have been spent here, and I only hope that if I reach the ripe old age attained by the gentleman from Cambria, the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, that I will be one-half as alert mentally as he is, and in as good physical condition.

I want to thank all those who wished me a happy birthday and hope that in the years to come all of you will have many, many happy birthdays. Thank you.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 401, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Code" authorizing increase in the number of meetings for which supervisors may be paid without the prior approval of the auditors further providing for the attendance of supervisors or employes at road meetings and conventions imposing duties on township secretaries changing the time which may be expended by auditors in the completion of audits authorizing managers to attend meetings of county associations of township officers further providing for the parties who may protest a change in zoning and providing for review of township ordinances and regulations adversely affecting public utility service.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FLYNN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend title, page 2, 5th to 7th lines of title, by striking out the words "and providing for review of township ordinances and regulations adversely affecting public utility service"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

NOT VOTING—6

Lee, K. B.,	Mihm,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1828, entitled:

An Act amending the "1937 Magistrates' Court Act" approved June 15, 1937 (P. L. 1743), providing for election of the chief magistrate by the board of magistrates.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1828 would change the method of the selection of the chief magistrate in the city of Philadelphia. Under present law the chief magistrate is designated by the Governor of the Commonwealth. This bill would permit the board of magistrates in Philadelphia to elect the chief magistrate. In my opinion, the present system has worked well over the years it has been in operation, and I, therefore, ask all the members of the House to vote against this legislation. I do not think it is necessary. It is not needed, and we should continue the present system.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it is always interesting to observe the operations of the majority party when they have 107 votes in their seats. They accumulate these bills that they know we Republicans are against from week to week, and finally comes the day when the majority leader has the votes and they roll them. It is a steamroller and there is nothing we can do about it.

But, what does this mean? It means this: You have House bill 1789 on the calendar, a tax bill which you people like, and you have 107 votes over there. So why do you not call up 1789, lay your 107 votes on the line, pass that bill today and say to the people of Pennsylvania, we, the Democratic Party that ran on a campaign last year that we are the party of responsibility, we will do this, we will stand up and be counted. Why ask the minority to always pull your chestnuts out of the fire? Call up 1789 and lay your 107 votes on the line for it and then pass the rest of your education program.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. This may sound a little bit funny, your applauding today on this situation. You will get the chance tomorrow to vote. The Republican Party can stand as it pleases, whether it is for education or not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that it does not make any difference to the Chair, but this is hardly the method that a parliamentary body should employ. You could not do it in the Congress. It is a matter of indifference to the Chair as to how the House conducts itself, really—personally.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I say publicly what I said to them in Rules Committee privately today? If I had 107 Democratic votes for that measure, I would never have pleaded with you for 10 Republican votes to pass an education bill. I am not asking for 95, I am not asking for 50—only a measly 10. I say to you that you will make the decision, because I ask you publicly for your support to pass that education program tomorrow afternoon when you vote for it.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1141, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58) further providing for the establishing of prima facie evidence by the use of registration numbers and providing for the liability of bailors for hire of motor vehicles.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Motor Vehicles.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Frascella.

Mr. FRASCELLA. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion to recommit and I would like to ask all of the members, if they possibly can, to vote against the recommittal and to let this bill go to a vote. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, just briefly in support of my motion, House bill 1141 would impose the responsibility for traffic violations upon the bailors of motor vehicles. In other words, the car rental agency when it rented a car would be responsible for any violation of the Vehicle Code which the operator of the car incurred and, if the operator of the car failed to pay the ticket or the fine or whatever it was, this would require the car rental agency to produce that person in court or they, the car rental agency, would be responsible.

Now I am sympathetic to the problem that this bill tries to correct, but, on the other hand, I feel it is a wholly improper way to go about it. Therefore, I feel that this bill should be recommitted for the purpose of additional study and perhaps coming up with a solution to this problem.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the last gentleman who spoke, Mr. Lee from Philadelphia, went into the merits of the bill and I was tempted, frankly, to rise to a point of order, but out of courtesy I did not do so.

I think in reply we should be permitted to refer to the very problem that Mr. Lee mentioned. In Philadelphia we have every year thousands of persons who rent cars, who negligently or deliberately commit traffic violations and leave the city of Philadelphia, and we have no way of bringing those people to justice. We think that there is a very real problem, that the motion to recommit this bill should be defeated and, following that, we ask everyone to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. A. M. LEE and FRASCELLA and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman who spoke on this bill on the motion to recommit did not cover the entire content of this bill, and I would like to call the attention of the House to one additional feature of this bill which changes, radically changes, in my opinion, the existing law.

Now, Mr. Speaker, quite apart from this question of bailors for hire and their responsibility with respect to traffic violations of bailed vehicles, if you will examine the bill, it also changes the burden on you, as an individual owner of an automobile, as to what you must do in the event your car is involved in a traffic violation and you are not the driver of the car.

Under the present law you are only required to submit a statement, an affidavit, that you were not the driver of the car and, if you knew the operator of the car, to submit the name of the driver to the proper authorities. This bill attempts to change that radically. This bill says that you must not only submit yourself but any and all persons having knowledge of the facts. In other words, you must not only submit yourself, but you must find and bring before the authorities, making you a quasi police officer, so to speak, the person who was driving your car.

Now it has been my experience in many of these cases, particularly where the police mis-read the license plate, it puts the burden on you to prove that it was not even your car that was involved. Now they want you to not only deny it was your car that was involved, they want you to not only submit yourself, but also the person who did drive the car and committed the traffic violation. That is ridiculous, in my opinion, and therefore this bill is ridiculous.

Just one more point, and that is on this bailor-for-hire situation: Perhaps Philadelphia does have a problem, perhaps the rental car agencies do rent many cars that are involved in violations, but this is certainly not the way to approach the problem. I do not see that that problem is any different than an out-of-State motorist in Philadelphia violating the traffic code. What do they do with him? They have procedures to cite him and they have procedures under the reciprocal laws to enforce traffic violations even though they happen in another State or another part of Pennsylvania. The procedure is available to obtain the license number, the name and the address of the person who actually operated the car and to prosecute him. They do not want to do that; they want to make it simple. They just want to make the bailor responsible without regard to whom the car is bailed.

I see no difference in this problem of bailed vehicles from that which is also true of out-of-city drivers in general, and I certainly do not think this is the way to approach that problem. It they want to enforce the law, they have means to enforce it.

I, therefore, oppose this bill and request all others to do so.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Frascella.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Frascella, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FRASCELLA. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill states that it applies to any proceedings for violation of the Motor Vehicle Code. I wonder if the gentleman will state whether this would apply, for example, to a person who leaves the scene of an accident. Would it make the owner of the car responsible in the event that the operator left the scene of the accident and could not be found?

Mr. FRASCELLA. The way I look at the bill it says that they use the registration plates as a prima facie case on the basis of accidents, so draw your own conclusions.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. So the man who owned this car and leased it might be sent to jail for a year, which I believe could be the penalty, even though he was not operating it, is that right?

Mr. FRASCELLA. No, I do not believe so.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. That is a misdemeanor, I believe, and I think that is what the penalty is. Does that mean that he could be sentenced to that imprisonment?

Mr. FRASCELLA. I do not think the person would go to jail for a year.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Suppose a $500 fine is put on. Does that mean that the owner of the car would have to pay it even though he was not operating it?

Mr. FRASCELLA. If the gentleman would read the bill—far be it from me to try to compete with you lawyers.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I am just trying to read the language. It says, "In any proceeding for a violation of the provisions of this act."

I would like to ask the gentleman, for example, if the operator of the car was under the influence of intoxicating liquor, would that make the owner responsible?

Mr. FRASCELLA. Again I direct the gentleman to section 1212, where it says registration is the status of the prima facie case. Now whether a person is drunk or not, I could not answer.

In this particular section it is making reference to registration of license plates.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, another example: Suppose a truck was leased, and that is quite a growing business—as a matter of fact some corporations lease to other companies and so on—and a very serious overweight violation occurred, and I think the gentleman knows the tremendous penalties that are imposed for overweight violations, would this make the owner of the truck, for example, subject to a $4,000 or $5,000 fine as some truck owners have had to pay, if the operator overloads it?

Mr. FRASCELLA. Well, not being familiar with the truck lanes as you people are, probably; but I understand that the driver is held for being overweight.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. This would be in violation of the Vehicle Code, though, would it not, as this act provides? Is that right?

Mr. FRASCELLA. It would be in violation, but I believe the driver is held. He is the one who was driving the vehicle at that time. They have that person, right there.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to point out very briefly some of the absurd things that I think could result from this bill as it is drawn. Maybe you could draw one that would limit it to summary offenses, or perhaps you could put a limitation on the penalties, but I think the way this bill is now, it could result in a very chaotic situation. As Mr. Bowman said, it seems to me under the powers in first class cities that are already in existence, for example, an out-of-State operator who would commit this violation could be taken before a magistrate forthwith. In other words, arrested on view, and we have just passed a bill that covers the rest of the State so far as arrest on view is concerned, which I think would take care of this situation.

I think it is a bad bill and should be defeated.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Frascella.

Mr. FRASCELLA. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to comment on this bill. However, I would like to clear up a few things as probably a layman sees this bill.

First of all, let's deal with section 1212 of the Motor Vehicle Code. If anyone would take time out to read the present section 1212, the language is almost identical, other than being changed to the bill and adding different sections B and C. Let me assure everyone, if this vehicle were a privately owned car with someone else driving it, the same provisions that are allowed in the code are still being allowed. You bring that driver's name to the information of that owner and the driver is the one held responsible. It is in the present code now.

Secondly, in respect to stolen vehicles, as someone was saying to me, not here but other places, you are not held responsible in that respect. That provision of protection is still in the bill.

This bill is primarily drawn up to have bailors for hire held responsible for traffic violations. In doing so we want to bring to them the fact that we have numerous violations, not only in the city of Philadelphia, but also throughout the Commonwealth. Some justices of the peace may have the same trouble as our magistrates have in the city of Philadelphia. I know for a fact that they are trying to work out an agreement, but they have not come to any agreement at all with agencies of this type. But this does not just say a person who hires a vehicle for a day or two. There are violations created by vehicles that are hired year around by these agencies—year around on the contract basis and drive all through our cities. We want the people who hire these for a profit to assume some of the responsibility. That is the only thing we are asking, and if they can cooperate by assuming some of the responsibility, then maybe we can get some better laws enacted. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask all of the membership to vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. PIPER, MANBECK, KNECHT and BACKENSTOE. RESOLUTION No. 100.

In the House of Representatives, August 14, 1961.

The dismissal on August 11, 1961 of Samuel Braid of Philadelphia as Director of Procurement in the Department of Public Welfare on charges of attempting to defraud the Commonwealth marks the third dismissal of a high-ranking member of the Lawrence administration in the past month.

The pattern of corruption in Harrisburg, which these dismissals indicate, was clearly connected with disclosures of corruption in Philadelphia by the dismissal July 6, 1961, of William J. Kilroy of Philadelphia as chief administrative officer in the Bureau of Professional Licensing.

The question immediately arises in the public mind: how widespread is this pattern of graft and corruption in Harrisburg? Has the public been given the full story?

In the case of the dismissal of Samuel Braid, several facts concerning Braid's alleged attempt to defraud the Commonwealth were made public, and it was announced that facts uncovered by the Department of Justice will be turned over to the proper authorities for possible legal action.

In the case of the dismissal of William J. Kilroy, and of George W. Schroeck as Deputy Attorney General assigned to the Bureau of Professional Licensing, the public has been given no facts, and the Justice Department has not reported that it has turned over information it has uncovered in those cases to the proper authorities for possible legal action.

On July 10, 1961, a resolution was introduced in the House (Resolution No. 89) calling for a bipartisan investigation by a special House-Senate commission into political influences upon the Board of Professional Licensing.

Thus far the Democratic party leadership in the House has held that resolution in Rules Committee, despite widespread editorial support in the press for such an investigation.

The Attorney General, commenting on this House Resolution, promised to make a full disclosure of facts involving wrongdoing in the Bureau of Professional Licensing. The promise was made a month ago, but thus far there have been no disclosures by the Justice Department; now therefore be it

Resolved, that the House of Representatives call upon the Attorney General to make public all information uncovered involving corruption within the Bureau of Professional Licensing and of any political influence exerted upon it; and be it further

Resolved, that the Attorney General make public all facts involving corruption within the Department of Public Welfare, or in any other department of state government of which it has information; and be it further

Resolved, that such facts and information be turned over to proper authorities for appropriate legal action; and be it further

Resolved, that the Department of Justice recommend to the General Assembly any legislation it deems adviseable to insure the integrity of the various administrative departments of state government.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 640, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), known as the "Public School Code of 1949" placing certain restrictions on payments on account of closed schools.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to yield the floor to the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, yields to the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, is it my understanding that House bill No. 640 is on third reading and final passage now?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill is definitely on third reading.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to speak against the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are not voting on the bill. The Chair understood the gentleman desired to offer amendments to the bill.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to oppose the bill and then to make a motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. What is the pleasure of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I yielded to Mr. Worley so that he could make a motion to recommit. If that fails, I want the floor back so I can make amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it was my understanding from yesterday, rather clearly I thought, Mr. Johnson asked me that the gentleman be given an opportunity; I would make a motion for reconsideration so that he could offer his amendments so they could be printed and be before the members with the amendments in the bill to be considered. Is that not correct?

Mr. ADAMS. I talked to the minority leader since and I am following his instructions.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ADAMS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Johnson informs me the gentleman from Adams is going to offer his amendments which were agreed to be placed in the bill, is that correct?

Mr. ADAMS. I am not the gentleman from Adams.

Mr. McCANN. I beg your pardon, sir. Mr. Adams, from Berks.

Mr. ADAMS. That is correct.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will offer his amendments.

Mr. ADAMS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last two lines of title, by striking out "placing certain restrictions on" and inserting: "further providing for"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2511), page 2, lines 15 to 19; page 3, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "provided that the two hundred dollars" in line 15, all of lines 16 to 19, page 2; and both of lines 1 and 2, page 3, and inserting: Such payments shall be made until the final payment is made on account of indebtedness incurred by the district for alterations, additions or construction which was necessitated by the closing or contemplated closing of schools.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Before we get into any further business, the Chair would like to make a very important announcement for the members of the House.

Mr. McCANN. I would also like to have the announcement of tomorrow's schedule and the time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

I am sure that the members of this House will be interested in the following announcement, at least many of them will:

Miss Esther Feiser, nurse for the General Assembly, has arranged for members of the House and Senate to be included with other State employes in the diabetes test program, conducted by the Department of Health, under the direction of Dr. William Kraus, director of the division of chronic diseases.

These tests will be conducted in the nurse's office, Room 100, Main Capitol, on Wednesday, tomorrow, August 16, between the hours of 1:30 and 4 p. m.

The diabetes test will be given to the members of the House and Senate during those hours. I have been informed that it takes a very brief time and is not painful.

VISITOR WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to welcome at this time a guest we have present with us in the hall of the House. We have with us visiting our session today Miss Agneta Herlin from Stockholm, Sweden. In the fall she will be a college senior where she majors in languages and music. In addition to her native Swedish, she speaks English, French, German, Latin and Russian. She is a summer visitor under the auspices of the "Experiment in International Living" sponsored by the Hershey Rotary Club.

The Chair thanks the young lady and hopes that she enjoys her visit with us.

I see another Swede desiring recognition.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Jog ságar válkommen. I am glad to say to you, welcome.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PETER VROOM, Pastor of Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me; bless His holy name.

We thank Thee, our Father, for bringing us to this hour. We thank Thee for the strength to do the work of this day. Help us to be very conscious of our need of Thee.

The headlines give us cause for great concern, but, O Father, help us not to fear. Help us to keep our eyes upon Thee as we attempt to solve the problems which are before us. We are truly helpless apart from Thee. Thou knowest the bills that need to be passed by this Body. Thou knowest, also, those which need to be defeated. May we be sensitive to Thy voice so that we, too, may know exactly what Thy will is.

We know that the responsibilities of every Member of this Body are great. We thank and praise Thee that Thou wilt give to each one the benefit of the still small voice of God, so that they may know Thy will and Thy plan.

We pray for our great Nation, we pray for our President and we pray for the Congress. O God, the problems are tremendous. However, they have in Thee the very source of strength and wisdom that they need. We also pray for our Governor and for those who work so earnestly with him. They, too, Lord, can tap this source in order that their problems also may find the right solution. How wonderful it is that we have Thee to whom we can go. O God, help each one of us to be on Thy side, and then we know that we have the end in sight and our problems will be worked out.

Again, we pray that Thou wilt forgive us where we have failed. Help us to be cleansed and help us to know the mercy of the grace of God. For all this, we give Thee praise in the name of our heavenly Father. Amen.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MULLIN, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported, as committed, SB 440 and 872; as amended, HB 1541.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MULLIN presented to the Chair SB 921, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "Liquor Code," increasing the compensation of certain employes of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

Which was committed to the Committe on Law and Order.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO APPOINT A TASK FORCE TO STUDY THE FAILURE OF THE LOCAL HEALTH ADMINISTRATION LAW

Messrs. PECHAN, EHRGOOD, SARRAF, DEVLIN and FLEMING offered the following resolution (Serial No. 1a), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 16, 1961.

It is obvious that the Local Health Administration Law has been a failure. It was originally enacted with high hopes but during its ten years of existence, few counties have created county departments of health and part of those have later abolished them.

There have been no charges of fault in any person or any agency of the government and none is apparent. Nevertheless, the law has failed and we must know why; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to appoint a task force to study the entire matter, with particular reference to the question of the use of the law, and in its study to endeavor to find answers for these questions: Why is the law not used? Why have some counties abandoned it after use? Can the Department of Health promulgate regulations which would make its use more attractive to counties and their people? Has the administration of the laws affected its use? Do the county units or does the Department of Health need more power or less? Is it possible for the Department of Health to perform the same functions? If so, is that course desirable? Is there a better system of administration and if there is, what is it?; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission make a report of its findings to the next General Assembly, and if further legislation is required to have the same prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau for early introduction.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that Senator Sarraf would like to add his name to this resolution. I believe the sponsors have agreed to that.

However, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution and ask that it be sent to the appropriate committee. I believe the Committee on Public Health and Welfare would be the appropriate committee for this type of resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The names of the gentlemen from Allegheny, Senator Sarraf, Senator Devlin and Senator Fleming, will be added to this resolution.

There being objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution, it is referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like the record to show that the reason why we are asking that this resolution go to committee, and the reason why we objected to its immediate consideration, is that today is the last day for the prevailing side—which happens to be Members sitting on the other side of the aisle who voted down the bill—to reconsider the vote on House Bill No. 1496. This bill would remove the ripper provisions. However, before we adjourn today, the bill could be reconsidered. If the bill does come back, we will not need this resolution whatsoever.

I am hopeful that the gentleman might heed a word of advice from us. If he would please bring this bill back, we will still supply twenty-five votes, as we did before, in favor of this measure and pass it. If we do that, we will not need to look into this problem or even cope with it, and I think all of us will have a better operation of the county health program.

Of course, if this fails, the members of the committee may then give this resolution some consideration. That would be up to the Committee Chairman. I have nothing to do with that. We would give some consideration to this type of a resolution if the Chairman deemed it necessary. However, we are hopeful that the gentlemen on the other side will try to do the correct thing and try to bring back House Bill No. 1496. It is within their power to do so.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to correct the Majority Leader in his statement when he said that today it is still possible to move for the reconsideration of House Bill No. 1496. The five-day period elapsed yesterday. It is not possible to move for reconsideration today. The bill is definitely dead for this Session.

I have no objection to the resolution going to the proper committee. That is perfectly all right. However, the Majority Leader's reason for so doing is in error.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the Majority Leader that I think they still have enough time to resurrect Senate Bill No. 413. We will be only too happy to vote for that bill.

As Senator Fleming pointed out, it is too late for House Bill No. 1496. However, if they are sincere about any of this, we still can get Senate Bill No. 413 back and we will be glad to furnish enough votes for its passage.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if one day is the problem, I am sure we can get the gentlemen on this side to join with the gentlemen on the other side in suspending the rules so that we can bring the bill back today or any other day they so desire. I do not think we would ever stand on a formality like that, in order to take care of appropriate legislation. If that becomes a serious problem, then if they will sponsor a bill, I will see that it is introduced today. We will bring it out of committee today and vote on it early next week.

If that is what the gentlemen would like us to do and they will assure us of their support, I will do that immediately. I will have a bill prepared and introduced. If they want us to suspend the rules, we will also work on that so they can bring this bill back, if that is their problem. We will do it anyway they wish to do it. We are merely interested in passing this legislation. We do not want a legal technicality or a rule technicality to prevent this from happening.

Mr. FLEMING, I must apologize. I did not quite hear all of the Majority Leader's statement. However, I want to assure him there is no intention on anyone's part, on this side of the Senate, to ask that the rule be suspended. We have no intention of bringing back for reconsideration House Bill No. 1496. Whatever action the Democratic side cares to take on Senate Bill No. 413 is certainly a matter for their own judgment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman, and I would assume he is speaking on behalf of the gentlemen on the other side. I believe then that he has made what is the policy decision and I think people can take that to mean exactly what he stated on this matter. I do not think we have to go into it or that I have to interpret it. I think it stands very clearly on its own two feet.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now request a forty-five minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding both a Democratic and a Republican Caucus, to be held in the respective Caucus Rooms.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objection? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a forty-five minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

CALENDAR

SB 867 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

SB 867 (Pr. No. 1122)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 3 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

EDUCATION BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED, OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

SB 867 (Pr. No. 1122)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 867 go over in its order.

Mr. President, in connection with my request that this bill go over in its order, I would like to explain that this is one of the bills that is under a special category of bills on our Calendar, "Education Bills on Third Reading." There are several bills which appear under that category, Mr. President, that should have moved, in my opinion. Right above this one is House Bill No. 810, which, although it is connected with education, is not necessarily a bill which needs to be under the category of "Education Bills on Third Reading."

This present bill is one of the so-called package of education bills, which has been reported by the Select Committee on Education and which does not meet with the unanimous approval, to say the least, of all of the people in the various school districts, especially in the rural areas.

Now, Mr. President, I believe something ought to be worked out which would make this commendable objective more acceptable to those who feel they are adversely affected by it. It might be done by certain amendments which, I understand, are presently in the process of study and preparation.

That, Mr. President, I feel is an adequate and proper reason for this bill to go over in its order until it can be made thoroughly acceptable to those people who feel they are quite adversely affected by its provisions. If this can be done, we will have accomplished something which is desirable in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the field of education and, at the same time, we will have preserved the rights of certain school districts, and the people of those districts, which they feel are being taken away from them under the provisions of this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to object to this bill going over in its order. My reason for doing so is that out of the entire education package, this is the one bill that will not cost money.

I would like to very succinctly explain the Governor's program or the study that was made. It consists of a reorganization measure, plus a number of bills which provide, or will require, that money be spent to work in various areas of the education program.

I think it is essential that we vote on this measure and get it under way. If we are serious and we mean business on this thing, I think we ought to do this. If we pass this measure, we will show our sincerity and that we are interested in the program. This is not the bill as we would like to have it, because it is not up to the Governor's full program. However, it is the best that can be hammered out by the Members of the Legislature and by the citizens' committee that worked on it, and we are willing to go along with this measure.

We are, therefore, asking, Mr. President, that we bring this measure up today so that we can vote on it and get it over to the House where they can act on this and the tax measures that go with it.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I should like to supplement the statement that has been made by Senator Berger concerning the request for this bill to go over in its order, for a more specific and particular reason.

I am in the process of preparing amendments which I believe might be acceptable to a goodly number of the Senators and, therefore, might save this reorganization bill, as it presently stands. If it were voted upon right now, as requested by the Majority Leader, it is in dire danger of not passing.

I think with a matter so important as reorganization of our public school districts in the Commonwealth, we should at least give some consideration to changing the provisions of Senate Bill No. 867, so there would be enough votes in this Chamber to enact a portion of it, at least, into law.

For that reason, I request of the Majority Leader—supplementing the request of Senator Berger—that this bill go over in its order until I can get those amendments. I do not have them at the present time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would change my original request at the present time and now request that the bill go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to the bill going over in order, request has now been made that it go over in order temporarily. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would normally not object and I have never had any objection to such a request since this Session began. However, unfortunately, we have a number of other measures that are vitally important, and this bill is also vitally important. Time is of the essence on this matter. We do want to show the House that we mean business on this thing. They are going into Session to vote on the tax program, and I would like to either pass this bill or let it fall. Whichever way it will happen will happen here now. It will not change anyone's vote. The people who feel they are having some twinge or want some amending done to the bill can have that taken care of over in the House. These are Senate Bills and the amending can be done in the House. I am sure that Senator Stroup knows some Members over there, with whom he has some casual influence, who will introduce his amendments if that happens to be the problem.

I would, therefore, reiterate my objection to what Senator Berger has requested, only for the reasons that I have stated. I am not acceding to the request that it go over in order temporarily because the House Members want to act today and they are waiting for us to take some action.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is very unusual that a request for a bill to go over temporarily would be objected to. As the Majority Leader said, he has not ordinarily made such an objection. However, if I gather correctly what his remarks imply, he wants the vote taken on this bill—time being of the essence—to use it as bait so they can get some votes over in the House for what might otherwise be a defeated tax bill.

Mr. President, I do not think that is a very desirable way to do business. If this bill is good, it will pass now or it will pass at a later time or a later date. It should not be used as bait in order to get somebody to vote for another bill. If this bill has merit, certainly we are going to pass it. If it can be improved, certainly we want to wait to improve it.

That, Mr. President, is the basis for my request; that we can improve the bill so it can receive substantial support on both sides and accomplish what the proponents of this program wish to accomplish.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, there seems to be a strange about-face here in so far as the reorganization bill is concerned as compared with the tax bill.

All through our conferences on education, the Administration has insisted that taxation should have first consideration, and that it should move first. When that was accomplished, then we would go further. Now, the Majority Leader asks to move reorganization first. I am only asking, however, that this bill go over until I can get certain amendments, which I would like to present to this Chamber and which I think a number of the Senators would find acceptable.

I would like also to have sufficient time to submit these amendments to Senator Hays, Senator Seyler, Senator Silvert and the other Members of the Select Committee on Education so they might have an opportunity beforehand to look into this particular phase of the problem.

I, therefore, Mr. President, ask the Majority Leader to permit this bill to go over in its order temporarily.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman's argument and position are probably about as old as any legislative body in existence. In other words, which comes first, the chicken or the egg? Do we vote the taxes first and then the program behind it, or do we vote the program and then the taxes to take care of it?

I think the gentleman, who is an advocate of good business procedure, would be well-advised and would agree with me that once you see how much money you have in the till to spend, then you decide what you want to spend it on and what you want to do.

This bill does not cost any money. This bill does not have any appropriation that goes with it. This is purely an organizational matter. This is purely taking care of a situation that should have been taken care of many, many years ago in this State. This is part of the extension of the jointure program, which the school districts would not do for themselves. They are now being given until 1965 in which to do something about it. That is all this measure encompasses. That is all we are asking them to do.

Suppose you do not pass this measure and do not do anything. Where is that going to leave you as far as your taxes are concerned? You are going to have this money and where are you going to spend it? How are you going to do anything with it? You will not know that until you have other measures to go with it.

Let us pass this, Senator. If you are sincere about education and you have some difficulty with this problem, I am sure you can take care of that when it gets over to the House. When the tax measure comes to us, you can even incorporate in that your amendments to cover this bill. This has been done here with many other measures that were of less importance than this one.

I think all we are doing is just wasting a lot more time on a problem that needs action now.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am always happy when I find a way in which I can help someone. I believe that I can make a suggestion to the Majority Leader which will immediately solve his problem, in so far as the subject of this bill is concerned.

House Bill No. 1836 is presently on Third Reading in the House of Representatives, where they are going to deal with this tax problem, according to Senator Weiner. On Third Reading, that bill can be called up and passed this afternoon in much less time than it will take for us to pass this bill in the Senate and send it over to the House.

Mr. President, when that bill comes over from the House, we can then deal with it by way of amendment, if necessary, or we can wait here this afternoon until Senator Stroup gets his amendments and treat our own bill with the same amendments. However, they can pass House Bill No. 1836 in the House of Representatives this afternoon without waiting for the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not think I am violating any confidence when I advise the gentleman that it is essential that we pass this measure over to the House Members in order to show that we, here in the Senate—which is an equally divided Body—are sincere about this education problem.

If you are not even willing to take this kind of a step, I think it is asking much too much of any of these Members to put their heads on the block to vote for additional taxes. We are not asking anybody here to do anything except vote for a reorganization bill.

I can understand the lack of desire on the part of the Members here to take any action or to work on this measure, because they will be faced with another problem here when the tax measure is passed. Of course, unfortunately, education has now become a political football, and I am unhappy and sorry about that because it does not belong in that area.

I do think that since this is a reorganization matter and does not cost any money, we can pass it here in just about two seconds if everybody will just stand aside and let the roll call be taken. It will be decided in one way or another. It will either go down or it will pass.

This measure has been on our Calendar for quite a long time and the Select Committee had it for awhile. I think even the agreement of the Select Committee was that this bill would be run in the Senate and the taxes would be run in the House, along with the other measures providing for the reimbursement and the subsidies that go with it. Today is as good a day as any to do it. We have been talking about this for some time. It has been with us, and why do we not act on it today?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I have very great difficulty in following the logic of the Majority Leader's reasoning. He argues first for taxation as a necessary instrument to carry through this program and then, in the second place, he asks to have reorganization run co instanti, without any delay whatsoever. He is not willing even to wait until we can get some amendments, which we believe would help to pass this reorganization bill, so that he can look at them. This is a strange procedure. I would like to know what he is up to. What is going on anyway?

Here is a matter that has been before us and which we have worked on for months. In one brief period of two seconds, he insists that the bill be considered now, although he knows there is a very good likelihood that it will fail. This does not make any sense at all.

If the Majority Leader, representing the Administration, is in favor of reorganization of public school districts, then he could not possibly, in all validity, stand and take the position he does at the present time.

We are asking that the bill go over in its order temporarily so that we can submit amendments for the consideration of the Senate. It comes in poor grace, indeed, that he makes the insistence that he does.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman is confused about what is going on and what we are doing here, I will state it very simply. All we are trying to do is get a vote on Senate Bill No. 867. It is as simple as that, and I think all we have to do is be recorded as voting "aye" or "no" and that will solve the problem.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, Senator Stroup has mentioned that I was a Member of the Select Committee, along with him. We had a great many meetings, and it was the concensus of the committee and it is the concensus of the people of Pennsylvania that if we accomplish nothing else but we do get reorganization through in this Session, the purpose of the Select Committee on Education will have been fulfilled.

Senator Berger suggests that we wait on House Bill No. 1836. Now Senator Stroup knows that the Select Committee on Education agreed that the reorganization bill would be handled and passed by the Senate. This bill already represents a compromise from the majority report of the Governor's Education Committee. It represents a compromise in that the maximum pupil district will be 4,000 as against a maximum of 5,000, provided for in the majority report.

This bill has been on the Calendar now, to the best of my recollection, for at least four weeks. If Senator Stroup had any amendments or desired to offer amendments, he has had ample time. Now the time has arrived for action, and I believe we should act.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I think Senator Silvert is well aware that we have been trying to muster enough strength to pass Senate Bill No. 867 all during this period of time, and it does appear that as it presently stands before us, there is not enough strength.

Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert, if he will permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STROUP. Senator Silvert, are you in favor of Senate Bill No. 867 as it is presently drafted with this ceiling or goal of 4,000 pupils in a district?

Mr. SILVERT. My answer, Senator Stroup, is this. I preferred a district of 5,000. However, inasmuch as 4,000 is apparently the best we can get, I am in favor of having a 4,000 pupil district, with possibly 400 to 450 school districts as against the 2,200 school districts that we have today, and I intend to vote for this bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, is it not true that Senate Bill No. 867 does not affect the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, it is true that the city of Philadelphia has one school district, comprising over 2,000,000 people. We, in Philadelphia, feel very strongly that a great deal of money is wasted throughout the State—and we have to pay our share of it—because of the great number of school districts that exist in Pennsylvania.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, is it not true that Senate Bill No. 867 does not affect the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am not fully familiar with the situation in Pittsburgh. However, I understand their position is similar to that of Philadelphia.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair advises the Senator from Bedford that this is a request for the bill to go over in its order temporarily, and such a request is not debatable. However, the Chair will permit you to ask one question so that we can go on. The bill itself is debatable, but the request is not.

Mr. STROUP. I will discontinue my interrogation then, Mr. President, and I will ask permission to make a statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, we, in rural Pennsylvania, have a very definite problem in reorganization when we go to 4,000 pupils. It is for that reason that many of us, who represent rural Pennsylvania, have been trying to do something with this particular legislation.

I believe, Mr. President, that I have just been handed my amendments. We have, therefore, successfully delayed long enough to get these amendments for consideration.

If we may just be at ease for a moment, Mr. President, I will have time to—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, are those the amendments that the Senator has? Is that what he stated?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He said he just received the amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I must say that the efficiency of the Legislative Reference Bureau is to be commended, in that they were able to get these over so quickly.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, they are very efficient. The amendments just came from the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, just so I may know exactly the status of the record, there has been a request that the bill go over in its order and an objection. Is that correct?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct, sir. There has only been a request, but there is an objection to the request.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 867, Printer's No. 1122, go over in its order.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to the bill going over in order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This is a motion, sir. There will be a roll call on the motion.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, if I may have a couple of minutes, I would just like to set forth a little of the philosophy of this bill and its history.

I do not think there is anybody on the floor who would disagree with me that this bill did not have a Chinaman's chance a month ago, three weeks ago, or two weeks ago.

I think the philosophy of large school units, with increased efficiency and enriched services, is accepted by educators throughout the State. There is a great deal of disturbance—wisely or otherwise—about the matter of mandating this size district. In the Select Committee, careful consideration was given to the recommenadtion of the Governor's Committee that the unit be 10,000. I think the members of that Committee know that we could not even get the Select Committee to agree on that figure of 10,000, nor could we get agreement on a figure of 5,000. Finally, so far as the Select Committee was concerned, it was sold on the basis of rationalization when it came down to 4,000, with a floor of 3,000.

Now, Mr. President, I do not know how this vote is coming out today. If I knew for a certainty, I might not have taken the floor. However, I suggested to Senator Hays and some other Members that we should not run the bill last week because its chances were very bleak. I suggested on Monday that we should not run it this week because its chances were not sufficiently better. I have a feeling that whether or not this bill is amended, time is in our favor and slowly perhaps, but at least with some encouragement, there is some acceptance of the fact that these units must be mandated.

Mr. President, we are never going to please those districts back home which say they are in favor of mandating units as long as you do not make them compulsory—however that could be done. That is the only thing that would satisfy many districts.

I would certainly be very reluctant to see this bill run one day instead of another when it is still a couple of votes short of what it requires. I do not know what Senator Stroup was planning. I rather gathered the fact that there may be a slight adjustment in the figure of the mandated unit in the final analysis. If that is the case, then I believe that the bill would gain strength and gain favor if there were time for the folks back home to know what happened.

No matter what amendment is offered today, if the bill comes up for action, people back home will only know that we voted for or against this and, apparently in many cases, regardless of their expressed wishes and their expressed requests.

For that reason, regardless of the amendments and when they may be offered, I certainly very sincerely believe,—all politics aside—as one who is interested in education, there is wisdom in letting this bill go over in its order. For that raeson, I support the motion.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to delay this unduly. I know the Senator has been very much interested in education and concerned about it. However, I think there comes a time when you must take a stand and a position on this matter. Unfortunately, today is that day.

I would say to the Senator that if the sponsors of this measure would vote for it, I would say it has a very good chance of passing this Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,

Lane,			Presiding Officer

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted

"aye," the question was determined in the negative and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STROUP, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6, line 6, by striking out "three thousand (3,000)" and inserting: two thousand five hundred (2,500)

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments while we look at this amendment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. PROPERT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 13 and 14:

Section 285 Approval of Plans by Electorate (a) When a plan of organization of administrative units for a county is approved by the State Council of Education the question of the approval or disapproval of the plan shall be submitted to the electors of proposed administrative unit in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the municipal election to be held in 1963 and if approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question the plan shall be deemed the approved plan of organization of administrative units for the county

(b) If the plan of organization is not approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question at the municipal election held in 1963 it shall be returned to the county board of school directors which submitted the plan for reconsideration amendment resubmission and approval in accordance with sections 282 and 283 of this act When the plan of organization as resubmitted is approved by the State Council of Education the question of approval or disapproval of the plan shall be submitted to the electors of the proposed administrative unit in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the general primary to be held in 1964 and if approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question the plan shall be deemed the approved plan of organization of administrative units for the county

(c) In the event that the resubmitted plan is not approved by the electorate the Department of Public Instruction shall prepare a plan for the approval of the State Council of Education in accordance with section 286 of this act

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 285), page 6, line 14 by striking out "285" and inserting: 286

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 285), page 6, line 16 by striking out "State Council of Education" and inserting: electors

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 285), page 6, lines 16 and 17 by striking out "January" and inserting: July

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 285), page 6, line 17 by inserting after "Instruction": in consultation with representatives of the electorate

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 286), page 7, line 3 by striking out "286" and inserting: 287

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, for the benefit of the Members, these amendments will provide for a referendum on school district organization plans. In other words, once a plan is approved by the State Council of Education, it would then be submitted to the electorate for approval.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on the amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

This is taking and passing on to the people the problem that we, as Legislators, must face, as we are the people who levy the taxes and the people who operate this program. I have great confidence in the people in deciding many of these issues. However, I feel this is a plan that professional people must deal with. After a year of study by some professional people and other interested citizenry of a bipartisan nature, and further study by the Members of the Senate—many of whom are in this field and know a great deal about it—we are now further passing the matter to the people. This is merely passing the buck. I do not feel this adds anything to the program. It only delays it.

I, therefore, ask all of my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendments.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I was interested in Senator Weiner's remark that he has great confidence in the people. Yet, by his asking his colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments, he illustrates that he is not willing to let the people decide.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would be very happy to present this matter to the people at any time if it can be presented in an intelligent manner and if professional people, who know a great deal about the matter, do it.

This matter has been with us for quite some time. No less an authority than Doctor Conant, President Emeritus of Harvard University, who has been studying this problem now for about six years, has come up with a program which says that any school unit that runs less than 1,000 pupils is not only a waste of the money being spent by the community, but it certainly turns out youngsters who cannot cope with the present problems with which we are dealing.

When you think about the time being spent fooling around with these amendments and fooling around with this bill at a time when the world is moving in such vast and fast directions, and when the Russians are able to put a man into space and into orbit and we are still talking about what kind of a system of schools we are going to have and how we are going to hold back and keep the status quo instead of moving ahead into new areas, I certainly think that we are wasting our time here fooling with this kind of a problem and dickering back and forth.

Suppose that in our school system we had, at one time, persons who were not willing to take the position that they would deal with this problem of a free, public school system. Where would we be today? What kind of a school system would we have? Suppose only the people who were going to school or had children going to school would pay for the school system. What kind of a school system would we have? How many of the Members sitting in this room would have ever had an education?

Here we are dragging along, still wanting to keep the same system we had before and still wanting to maintain the status quo when we realize and are aware every time we pick up a newspaper, or any other periodical, that we are fast being left behind.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Majority Leader if he believes in local control of our schools.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator, are you asking the Majority Leader whether he will permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PROPERT. I certainly am, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. I will allow myself to be interrogated, Mr. President.

Mr. PROPERT. Senator Weiner, do you believe in local control of the schools versus State control?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not think that is involved here at all. However, it is not a question which lends itself to an easy answer. There are some areas where I would favor local control completely. There are other areas where I think the State must take control; for example, when you deal with such problems as curricula, when you deal with such problems as teachers' salaries, and when you deal with such problems as retirement. Those problems come before us every Session, and I know, Senator, that you voted on these bills along with me. Now is that State control or local control in handling that?

When you talk about hiring or firing a teacher in a local area, I certainly do not want the people up here to decide it, but I do want them to decide the standards under which they are to be hired. However, I certainly would not want the people here to be the personnel bureau for every little community. You have helped to decide that as well as I have, so that you have answered the question as well as I have. I can show you on the record that most of us have voted equally on this problem.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, this debate has evolved itself, with respect to these amendments, between the gentlman who comes from an area having 2,000,000 people in it, with one school district—a tremendous school district—and another gentleman who, like myself, represents a county with local school districts, where we have many of our local citizens involved in public school work as school directors who serve without pay.

I think that instead of making everything bigger in government—where you do not give the people the right to decide whether they should be given these big districts or not and where you take away the right of the people to decide—you should look at the product of some of these schools. It comes down to this point. You have school districts of the smallest size that turn out a wonderful product, and the cost—despite what the educators on a high level say—is not outrageous. You are destroying local control of our schools when you take away the will of the people.

I say we should do more to let the people decide items like this. It is their children they are deciding for, and no one in Harrisburg can tell the people in my county that they know what is better for the children in my county than the parents who are raising those children. I speak strongly in favor of home rule to support Senator Propert's amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to state, so that we understand the issue at hand here, that we are not talking about eliminating school districts and we are not talking about State control or home rule. I do not even know how this got into the argument or discussion.

All we are talking about here are the amendments offered by Senator Propert, which state very simply: "Approval of Plans by Electorate."

Now I would not like to embarrass anyone in this room by asking how many read the Report of the Governor's Committee on Education. However, I think if we went around this room, it would be less than one-half of one per cent of the Membership here. It is not because they are not interested. It is not because they are not interested in finding out what is going on or in handling this problem. They are just too busy to take the time. Therefore, how are you going to ask the people who live in the local community, and who have less time than we do to deal with this problem, to go into it in quite some detail and vote intelligently on it? How are you going to split up this question in order to ask them to vote on it in an intelligent manner?

Second of all, I think that what Senator Bell is talking about is comparing the old system where pencils were used as opposed to typewriters. Each has its place, each has its program, and each belongs in a certain area. I think that is exactly what is before us today.

We have arrived at a certain stage where there must be progress. I am sure if you polled every Member in this Chamber today, they would all tell you that this has to come about. However, none of them are very anxious to get involved in it because they are afraid they are going to hurt somebody's feelings. Well, if you are going to make any progress, you are bound to hurt somebody's feelings. You cannot have everybody love you.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am sorry the Majority Leader misunderstood my position.

I say that here we have a difference in philosophy between the proponents of big government, who do not trust the people—the parents of these children—to make the right decisions, and Senator Propert, who believes that the parents of these children who are receiving the education are the best qualified people in Pennsylvania to make the decision.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PROPERT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Stevenson,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Stroup,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Propert,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Madigan,	Scott,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Mallery,	Shafer,	Wolfe,
Fleming,

NAYS—25

Camiel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
Devlin,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Staisey,

Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Donolow,
Lane,			Presiding Officer

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. PROPERT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Bill, page 7, by inserting between lines 7 and 8:

Section 4 Notwithstanding any of the foregoing provisions any existing school district which offers an educational program of proven quality which meets community needs which has the willingness and ability to support its program financially without unduly increasing State appropriations as determined by a State accrediting agency comparable to the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools shall not be subject to the provisions of this act

Amend Sec. 4, page 7, line 8, by striking out "4" and inserting: 5

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, for the benefit of the Members of the Senate, these amendments would provide that any district which is presently furnishing an adequate program shall not become subject to the conditions of this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on the question of the amendments, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

The amendments which Senator Propert is asking for in this are like the old story about the man who was fired from his job by his employer. The next day he showed up for work, and the owner asked: "Why are you here? I told you that you were fired." The man said: "You did not say positively."

This is the same thing here. If these amendments are adopted, we will be telling the districts to reorganize, but if they do not reorganize, the bill would provide: "You did not say positively."

I am asking my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not so understand the amendments. The amendments undoubtedly provide that if the State Council of Education finds that a district is giving an adequate program of education, that district need not be governed by the provisions of this bill, increasing the size of the district.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Stroup,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Van Sant,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wade,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

Amend Sec. 8, page 18, line 6, by striking out "8" and inserting: 7

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for one moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments. It is very obvious what they are trying to do by these amendments. They would eliminate the sum and substance of this bill; namely, to provide the money to take care of these problems that exist in this measure. They would also eliminate some of the amendments we have just placed in the bill.

Mr. President, you cannot have your cake and eat it, too. You are either going to take this, or we will just have no bill at all.

We have already put in amendments. We have made concessions in order to help some of the industry which has been very hard hit in the State and some of the industry that is having difficulty staying above water. I think that the gentlemen on the other side ought to take this in good grace and go along with this measure.

I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, first of all, Section 6 of this bill does not belong in House Bill No. 1663. We have had on our Calendar, for seven or eight months, House Bill No. 95. Many times this Chamber has had enough people here that House Bill No. 95 should have been acted upon. However, the Majority Leader insisted upon the bill going over and over and over. When he finally discovered there were not enough votes for House Bill No. 95, they sneaked it into House Bill No. 1663. These are two entirely different subjects. This material does not belong in House Bill No. 1663.

I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on the adoption of these amendments.

I would like to say further, Mr. President, if I may, that I just received from the State of Ohio a report that was made by the Professor of Business Research and the Associate Director of the Bureau of Business Research of Ohio State University, who made a study of the collection cost of the sales tax in the State of Ohio. It costs 7.93 per cent. I want to be fair, however, and state that four per cent of that cost was accumulated by the issuance of sales tax stamps. You are probably all aware that in 1962, they are going to discontinue the issuance of sales tax stamps. Therefore, the cost to the consumer is 3.93 per cent.

When we inaugurated the sales tax in Pennsylvania, we told the business people that we would give them two per cent for collecting the tax. We have beat them over the head often and we have raised the cost to them for collecting the sales tax. Now you want to sneak it away from them in a bill where this material does not belong.

I say that you should call up House Bill No. 95, just as you called up Senate Bill No. 867, and let it fall or pass on its merits.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as to the position the gentleman has taken about this matter not being germane to the bill, I would like to refer him to his own general counsel, Senator Scott. Senator Scott and I have had this matter out on a number of occasions. If you want an opinion from the Attorney General, I think Senator Scott can provide you with that, and you will find that this is not only germane, but it is part of the bill.

If you read the record, you will find that I have taken this position on other matters that were a little further removed than this, and we had to go along with the provisions of the bill.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman that I will be very happy, after this bill either passes or fails, to call up House Bill No. 95. If the gentleman would like the pleasure of doing so, I will be very happy to let him do so.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I would merely like to comment that for a fee, I would be delighted to give both of the gentlemen proper legal advice.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I think that if I were closeted alone with Senator Scott, he would say: "Well, Al, I will do it for you for nothing." However, he knows that it has been the Philadelphia lawyers on the other side with whom I have had to contend. I have had no trouble with my lawyers on this side.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to support these amendments, and I will do so very briefly.

In this case, you have two bills. One bill is to give relief to the manufacturers and the other bill was to take away the fee paid to the retailers who collect the sales tax. They are two separate and distinct issues.

Today, because of an amendment placed into this bill, we are faced with the proposition of robbing Peter to pay Paul. Unless these amendments succeed, the relief to the industrialists will come from the pockets of the retailers.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, may I state, as a preface to this introduction, that this is a resolution which will ask the Joint State Government Commission—if the resolution passes the Senate and the House—to further study a list of all historical sites in Pennsylvania.

We published a list in 1947, a list under the auspices of the Joint State Government Commission, as a result of the efforts of that great Senator from Erie, Senator Blass. However, this list is now antiquated. The purpose of this resolution is to engage in the preparation of a new list.

I would appreciate it if this resolution would be adopted immediately, since it has to go to the House for concurrence. Therefore, I offer the following resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

INSTRUCTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION, WITH THE COOPERATION OF THE PENNSYLVANIA HISTORICAL AND MUSEUM COMMISSION, TO MAKE A RESURVEY AND PREPARE A REVISED CATALOG OF CERTAIN HISTORICAL DATA

Messrs. STIEFEL and CHAPMAN, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 128), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, August 16, 1961.

WHEREAS, The Joint State Government Commission was instructed by the General Assembly, in 1947, to make a survey and prepare a list of all the historic buildings and sites and archaeological sites which it deemed to be of distinctive significance and value to the history of archaeology of Pennsylvania and to report this list to the General Assembly at its next regular session with recommendations for appropriate legislation to assure the safety and preservation of such buildings and sites; and

WHEREAS, The Joint State Government Commission completed this original survey and presented its report in March, 1949, as a Catalog of Historical Buildings, Sites and Remains in Pennsylvania, which catalog has been of great value in providing criteria and standards for legislation and for local action with respect to the preservation of historic sites and buildings; and

WHEREAS, In the fourteen years since this report was presented a number of historic buildings have been razed or destroyed, and historical research has also brought to light some additional buildings and sites which may be worthy of consideration; and

WHEREAS, There is grave danger of the further destruction of buildings and sites which are the tangible remains of Pennsylvania's rich and inspiring historic past unless their importance is again emphasized by a restudy and resurvey of the important buildings and sites; therefore be it

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby instruct the Joint State Government Commission, with the cooperation of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, to make a resurvey and prepare a revised catalog of all the historic buildings and sites and archaeological remains which it deems to be of distinctive significance and value to the history of archaeology of this Commonwealth, and to report this revised catalog to the General Assembly at its next regular session with further recommendations for appropriate legislation to assure the safety and preservation of such buildings and sites; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the printing of ten thousand copies of the revised Catalog of Historical Buildings, Sites and Remains in Pennsylvania for the use of the members of the General Assembly and the information of the public.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERSONAL PRIVELEGE

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. McMenamin, will state it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I want to go on record as objecting to the procedure here at the moment. About ten or twelve of us are trying to get together to work out a satisfactory agreement on the strip mine bills, which is very important legislation for the people of Pennsylvania. As a result of that, we have been meeting in the office of the President pro tempore, and in the meantime, we have gone through the Third Reading Calendar.

I think either we ought to meet and try to work on legislation, or stay out here and vote on bills that are on the Calendar. In three instances, I want the record corrected and I understand it has been. I certainly did not want to vote for Senate Bill No. 835 and Senate Bill No. 836. I think those are much too important bills to have them decided here by a twenty-five to twenty-five vote.

The one bill imposes absolute liability—as I read it—on every house owner and every real estate owner in Pennsylvania. If he hired a painting contractor and anything fell off the scaffold and hurt someone else, the house owner could be sued as a result, with no question of negligence at all.

Secondly, we did not get a chance to fully discuss the very important school reorganization bill.

As for my part, I am very anxious to work out a strip mining bill which is very much needed in my county. However, I cannot do that and vote here. Therefore, I am going to stay and vote on legislation. I will work at some future date on the strip mine legislation, and I hope we get it worked out this Session.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Scott, will state it.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I wonder if I might interrogate Senator McMenamin at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. McMenamin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McMENAMIN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SCOTT. Senator McMenamin, I listened with a great deal of interest to the remarks which you just made, and I agree wholeheartedly with them. However, am I to gather from what you just said that there will be no action today on any strip mine legislation?

Mr. McMENAMIN. I could not prophesy that, Senator Scott. A half a dozen of the Members are still working primarily on the bituminous bill, and whether or not they will reach an agreement on that bill today, I do not know for sure. I think they were fairly close to it. They are much less close on the anthracite bill, I believe.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I wish to thank the Senator.

SB 670 CALLED UP

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I now call up, from page 5 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 670, Printer's No. 1219, which previously went over in order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe this bill was passed over in order at my request. I will withdraw the request, however, and yield to Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. Thank you very much, Senator Berger. It was my error. I should have asked the gentleman to withdraw his request.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 670 is called up, from page 5 of the Third Reading Calendar, for consideration.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 670 (Pr. No. 1219)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 670, Printer's No. 1219, in my opinion, certainly is a step forward when it comes to the problem of domestic relations. This creates a Family Court for the county of Allegheny. It is legislation which has been studied over the years by the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh Law School. It has been studied by members of the Pennsylvania Joint State Government Commission, and now we are one step closer to a reality as far as family courts are concerned.

Senate Bill No. 670 will combine the Juvenile Court, the Domestic Relations Court, the adoption proceedings which are now in Common Pleas Court, and other courts into one court. It is going to be a great advantage for all of the people of Allegheny County. I hope someday that we will have the opportunity to have such legislation passed for Philadelphia and the other surrounding areas.

I might also say, Mr. President,—this is just a little personal note —that I do not reside in Allegheny County, but I think at this time I am going to explain to the Senate the reason why I have such a great interest in Senate Bill No. 670. As most of you know, about three years ago, Mrs. Lane and I lost our son, who was in law school. This was one of his projects. That is the reason I have been so strong for Senate Bill No. 670.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to express my hope that this is not going to open the door for a change in our divorce laws. It may be that the next step, after we pass this bill, will be to vest the power in divorce cases in the Family Court. This would be dangerous. I am just expressing this with the thought in mind that we should be apprehensive lest this may occur.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence HB 1796, which was referred to the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Rules, to be held in Senator Berger's office at the rear of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Rules, reported, as committed, HB 382.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I know it is late and I will assure you that I will take but a moment.

Mr. President, for a long time I have understood that when we take action known as "over in order", then action on that bill is completed for the day and no further action can be expected. In other words, if a Member of the Senate wishes to leave the floor on other legislative business, that would be his privilege, and he would not need to worry about further action on a certain bill.

Today, Senator Weiner called up, from page 3 of the Calendar, House Bill No. 810 and also House Bill No. 1377 after these bills had gone over in order.

I call your attention to the different action he requested on House Bill No. 522, on page 5, House Bill No. 1438 on page 7, and House Bill No. 1663 on page 7. Those bills were requested to go over temporarily.

I think we had a demonstration of action on Senate Bill No. 867 in a statement by Senator McMenamin, who stated —if I understood him correctly—that he did not know how he would cast his vote on that bill. However, the bill, Mr. President,—I remind you—passed by only one vote.

I think we should have in this Body a clear-cut understanding that when a bill goes over in order, that is the last action which will be taken on that bill for the legislative day. Contrarily, if a bill goes over temporarily, then we can expect additional action later in the day. I think we should have that definite understanding.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would explain to the gentleman from Cumberland that, as I understand it, the person who made the request that the bills go over in order subsequently withdrew such request. Since there was no objection, the bills then were acted upon.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, that is not correct. It is partially correct on House Bill No. 522. On Senate Bill No. 670, the bill was called up by Senator Lane, after which Senator Berger, who had requested the bill to go over in order, withdrew his request that the bill go over for the day.

On the other bills, the person requesting them to go over for the day did not change his original request.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it was my understanding that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, is the one who had asked that House Bill No. 810 and House Bill No. 1377 go over in order. Is that incorrect?

Mr. WADE. I think that is right.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, if that is correct, then I can tell the gentleman that it is true, as a matter of my personal experience sitting here and hearing it, that it was Senator Weiner who did withdraw his request that the bills go over in order. So, the same person who made the request subsequently withdrew the request.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, that is the point I am bringing out. For the information of the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, I have maintained that for many years this Body has had the understanding that once a bill goes over in order, that is the complete action which will be taken on the bill for that legislative day.

However, if a Member of this Body requests that a bill goes over temporarily, we are on notice that the bill will be called up for further action on the same legislative day.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not have the same understanding of the rules as the gentleman from Cumberland. I have assumed that the matter of putting a bill over in order or the matter of withdrawing the request to have it go over in order is a matter of unanimous consent, and in either case, if unanimous consent is given, that either action is in order.

If I am correct in that assumption, then certainly the gentleman from Cumberland was incorrect in saying there was anything wrong with the action taken either by Senator Weiner or by the Chair in having those bills acted upon after the request to go over in order had been withdrawn.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that if the gentleman will just think about this for one moment, he will come to the same conclusion that we have come to. If you are the moving party in asking for a bill to go over in order and you subsequently call up the bill, it is implicit that you are removing your previous objection to the bill being passed.

On these two bills that you were speaking of, Senator, they were not called up without anybody being aware of it. Secondly, if you will look at the vote by which these two measures passed, you will see that everyone was under notice or aware of it. If there is any desire on your part to be recorded as voting "no", or any desire on your part to have extended remarks in the record, I think both of those problems can be taken care of without any difficulty at all. If it is your desire to have the vote on the final passage of these bills reconsidered, I think we can even do that. If that will take care of some particular problem that you have or if you feel that in some way we have been slighting you in your desire to deal with this legislation, I am certain that those three problems can be taken care of.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the Majority Leader now has completely confused the situation.

My point originally—and I am not complaining—is that once a bill goes over in order, we should understand that no further action will be taken on that bill regardless, and then Members who are otherwise occupied in committee or on the study of certaian legislation would be free to do that.

Senator McMenamin, I repeat, brought that very forcibly to our attention today when he said that Senate Bill No. 867 was acted upon and had he been on the floor, he might have cast his vote other than the way in which he was recorded.

If I may, Mr. President,—and I certainly do not want to prolong this discussion—I should like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman from York to explain to this Body—after his statement—the difference between "over in order" and "over temporarily"?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, either one of these requests, it seems to me, requires unanimous consent. I think if a person asks for "over temporarily," it is an indication that within a short time he expects to call the bill up again. If they ask for it to go "over in order," their expectation at the time of asking is probably that they do not want it to come up that given day. However, subsequently, if they decide they no longer have an objection to it being considered that day and they remove the request to go over in ordr and there is unanimous consent given, then I think there is no problem, Senator.

In other words, I think either of those actions, both of which are requests,—one is a request to put it over in order and one is a withdrawal request—depends upon unanimous consent, and if there is no objection it seems to me there is no problem.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for his rather lengthy answer. However, I say that he has further confused the situation.

I might say now—and again—that I think it would be a very excellent arrangement for us all if we understood that when a bill goes over in order, there would be no further legislative action on it on that legislative day.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe if the gentleman from Cumberland will search the record, he will find that this matter was presented to us this Session—the very same matter—and the Lieutenant Governor ruled that unless a bill is requestetd to go over until a date certain, then anytime during that day it can be called up. This was a ruling made by the Chair when this very thing came up.

A bill had been requested to go over with no date certain, and I later on called up the bill. Someone objected to it, and the Lieutenant Governor ruled that unless the bill had been passed over to a date certain, anytime during that day it could be called up.

The general practice here has been, Senator, that once a bill goes over, it goes over. However, actually we do not usually call it back that day. You will find that most of the time when we do call a bill up, after it has gone over, it is usually by agreement with a majority of the Members on both sides of the aisle, so that no one is taken unaware.

Mr. WADE. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, if I may have the floor, I think we should have a definite understanding then that when a bill is put over, it should be over for the day, rather than just over. Therefore, the Members would know what to expect; whether or not there is to be further action in that legislative day on the bill.

"Over temporarily" certainly means to me that the bill must have further action. Before we close the legislative day and adjourn for that day, then we should take additional action on such a bill. We are all on notice, in other words.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am a little bit surprised by the Senator from Cumberland taking this position because, as a young man,—and I consider him a very young man—this would take some of the excitement out of being a legislator. You never know which bill is going to be called up next, after it has gone over in order. This would sort of take away some of the excitement and some of the things that you can look forward to that might happen. It might even be happening to you at the same time, Senator. I am sure that you would not want us to agree to it so that we take away this little bit of excitement or little bit of interest that we have here in some of these measures.

Mr. President, may we be at ease just for one moment? I have additional Petitions and Remonstrances.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, a rather interesting column appeared this week in the Sunday Bulletin, and it is interesting in this regard. They were talking about congressional reapportionment in the left-hand corner of the paper and at the bottom of the paper, there was an article entitled "Eastern Seaboard Fast Becoming a Super-Metropolis".

They had a map in this article, showing a darkened area. I think many of the people here who have been criticizing, notably, one of the Congressmen from Philadelphia, —and I think he is probably one of the most astute political leaders we have had for sometime—might be interested in reading this article and might even come to the same conclusion that he has come to, along with others who have had an opportunity to read this.

Of interest to the Members here in the Senate, they include, as a part of the metropolis, the Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Reading and York areas as being a community or a single community. When you look at it, they discuss the areas running from thirty-two metropolitan areas, beginning in Lawrence and Haverhill, in Massachusetts, and running all of the way down ot Maryland and Virginia. The whole area—and I know it is kind of small—is all darkened in to show how this is becoming a super-metropolitan area in the sense that all of these people are bound up as a single unit. All of their problems are basic probleme necessary to each other and they must learn to live with each other in regard to the problems of transportation and in regard to the problems of health, of sewage, water disposal and things of that nature.

It is most intetresting that here we are speaking in terms of Philadelphia, Delaware County, Montgomery County and the surrounding areas as being separate entities, when in fact this map here—and certainly I do not think anybody can accuse the Evening Bulletin of being an organ of the Democratic Party—goes on to point out that these communities are all bound together, with areas as far away as Harrisburg and York being bound in the Philadelphia area.

I would suggest, gentlemen, as part of your reading, that you might take a look at this article—I will be glad to let you look at it and peruse it—and give it some further thought. So, when we speak of reapportionment or Congressmen representing areas, we can no longer think in the prosaic terms of a man representing perhaps five or six city blocks as opposed to five or six country miles. I think we are now talking about people who represent vast areas and communities of common interest.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, that is all very interesting and it was an excellent article written in The Philadelphia Bulletin. Of course, the gentleman has just made an excellent argument for the proposition of having Congressmen run at-large.

However, at this time, Mr. President, I do not think it is apropos due to the fact that we are on the eve of having a meeting, and I am sure he would not want to influence the thinking of anyone going into that meeting.

My present proposition, Mr. President, is to call attention to the fact that it is 7:00 p.m. right now, and there does not seem to be any indication of anything going to happen around here.

The bills we thought we would act upon some time ago are not before us. I do not know if it is going to be possible at all to get anything done with the amendments to the strip mine bills, which I understand are being worked upon.

I also have some doubt that we are going to get very far with the other bills that have been before us. I do not see any reason why it is necessary to stay here tonight to work on these bills, which can just as well be worked on at a subsequent legislative day. These are House Bills which are before us and if they are going to be amended and worked upon, well and good. If they are not, then let the gentleman make the usual motion and we will go to our various destinations.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will advise the gentleman that I agree that the hour is getting late, and there are certain physical things that neither I nor anybody else in this Chamber can do anything about. However, I am advised that these bills will be on our desks within the next fifteen minutes. I was advised some time ago—at about 6:30 p.m.—that the bills were coming off the press, that someone was going down to get them, and they would be here within the next fifteen or twenty minutes. I think we ought to dispose of these matters. They are both important matters. They involve the very bills that we have passed here today up to Final Passage.

I can understand the concern of people to go home. However, by the same token, I think these are important enough measures for us to work on them this evening.

I assure the gentleman that the moment we have worked on these measures and disposed of them, I will not keep anybody here a minute longer.

You must remember, gentleman, that I am also in the same category as all of you are here. I am also here with you. It is not as if I am somewhere else, and that you gentlemen are hidebound here. I feel I have one or two things to do and one or two obligations as well as everybody else. I am just as anxious to get out of this room and go wherever I have to go as you are.

I have not done this very often in this Session, and I think you might allow me once in awhile to slip up and take a little more of your time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if we were in the final days of the Session, I would certainly expect that we would have some night Sessions, and we would be prepared for them. Today's procedure, however, has been most unusual. Several Senators have told me this was the most confused day in the history of their lives, and I agree with them wholeheartedly.

We were about to do some work on these bills some time ago. There is no reason that I can see why that work cannot be done at a proper time, and I do not regard tonight as being a proper time.

I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, does the Majority Leader expect to be able to act upon the amendments to the strip mining bills tonight?

Mr. WEINER. As a matter of fact, Mr. President, I have been advised by one of the gentlemen sitting on your side that he hoped to have these things ready very shortly. I think they just walked out of the room to complete them.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, have the amendments been sent to the printer?

Mr. WEINER. The amendments to which bill, sir?

Mr. BERGER. The strip mine bills.

Mr. WEINER. No sir. They cannot be sent to the printer until they are introduced here in the Senate and adopted.

Mr. BERGER. Have the amendments been agreed upon, Mr. President?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the amendments have been prepared and they are in the process of being agreed upon. I believe one of the gentlemen on your own side is now meeting with the Members who are working on it to agree to certain amendments that have been added to the bill.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, we think we have agreement. They are writing them up at the present moment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Let us do this orderly.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to inquire whether, after the amendments are introduced, they will have to be sent to the printer and will that not take a minimum of an hour and a half or two hours?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it is not my intention, if the gentleman does not wish to work on these amendments, to work on the bill. We want to at least introduce these amendments and work on them this evening. If the gentleman does not want to remain here until the bill is printed, we can certainly do this on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, is that true of any other bills?

Mr. WEINER. Sir?

Mr. BERGER. Would that be true of the other bills?

Mr. WEINER. The only bills it would be true of are the two bills that we are awaiting now from the printer, which should be here in a few minutes. Once we have worked on those, that will be the end of it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, would the gentleman care to define the number of seconds that are contained in the minutes that he is referring to?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can only answer that by the advice which I am receiving from the people who are in charge of the technical operations of the Senate. I have nothing to do with that. I was advised that those bills would be here in thirty-some minutes, or as long as it would take for someone to pick them up. That was at 6:30 p.m. I am sure all of us can be indulgent for just another ten minutes or so, and those bills probably will then be here.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, we have been in Session, supposedly, since 10:30 a.m. I have been here since 8:30 this morning. I have two hundred and some miles to drive home sometime tonight.

I think the Majority Leader is waiting on House Bill No. 1663 and House Bill No. 1664. We were told before we went to Caucus—and I think that was three hours ago—that the bills would be here within an hour. Now even though those bills come here printed, they are important bills and certainly we are going to have some debate on them. Therefore, we could not possibly get out of here in a reasonably short time. It is going to be 7:30 p.m. before the bills get here, and it will require another hour or two for us to debate them.

Mr. President, I move that this Senate do now adjourn until next Monday, August 13, at 1:30 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There has been a motion by Senator Pechan that the Senate do now adjourn until next Monday. May we just be at ease a moment?

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to correct that to August 21.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There has been a motion by Senator Pechan that the Senate do now adjourn until August 21.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion has been duly seconded by Senator Kromer.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For what reason does the gentleman rise?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, a motion to adjourn is not debatable. I ask for a roll call, sir.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman ought to state a time when we should come back here, or just not come back here on Monday, because I would hate to be here at 8:30 in the morning when he gets up on Monday, the 21st. Is he going to give us a reasonable time?

If he wants to confer with his attorney, I will be happy to let him do so.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There has been a motion to adjourn, which is not debatable.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the motion to adjourn was defeated.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I request a roll call and I move that we have a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Just a moment. Let us do this is an orderly manner. There has been a request for a roll call.

Senator Weiner, for what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman is out of order. There has been a roll call taken by a voice vote.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate do adjourn until next Monday, August 21, at 1:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I second the motion and ask for a roll call vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion is out of order. You cannot have two consecutive motions for adjournment. It is out of order.

Are there any further Petitions and Remonstrances?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I would like to vote on that motion because this is the first time, I think, since my election to the Senate that I would like to cross party lines.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any additional Petitions and Remonstrances?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for one moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, am I in order to ask for a point of information while we are at ease?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will come to order.

Senator Bell, you may proceed with your point of information.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, would the Chair kindly advise the Body when it would be in order to move to adjourn this Body?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We are now under Petitions and Remonstrances, and as soon as we finish with that we will go to the next order of business.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. BELL. Well, then, Mr. President, since we are on Petitions and Remonstrances, I understand that a motion to adjourn is in order, and I do so move that we now adjourn until Monday, August 21, at 1:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I second the motion and ask for a roll call.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It has been moved by Senator Bell, and seconded by Senator Kromer, that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, August 21, at 1:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senators will please take their seats so that we can have a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Chair why the delay in the roll call.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Majority Leader has asked that the Senate be at ease.

Mr. KROMER. I believe he is out of order in view of this question of adjournment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It was just a request that we be at ease. We are at ease for a moment, until he confers with his Caucus.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President—

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I object to any business other than the voting.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For what reason does Senator Mullin rise?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I would like to make a committee report.

Mr. BELL. I object, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is a question on the floor. You will withhold your committee report, please.

May the Chair request that we remain at ease? Some of the Members of the Senate are in the back room in a conference, and they will return in a few minutes so they can vote on this motion. Members of both parties are in conference and we have asked them to return. We will remain at ease until they return to the floor.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will come to order.

Senator Mullin will make a committee report at this time.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell.

Mr. BELL. Senator Bell will yield to Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will Senator Pechan permit Senator Mullin to report one bill from committee?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senator Mullin and I for some reason or other like each other. I will let him do it.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I have been directed by the Committee on State Government to report House Bill No. 1219, as committed.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, he has to ask for unanimous consent.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I do request unanimous consent to make a committee report at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there any objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May we just have this report from committee presented?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I suggest to the Chair that the Chair is completely out of order, sir.

There was a motion for adjournment. It was seconded, and the seconder requested a roll call, which the maker of the motion also requested. I would suggest, under the rules of the Senate, there is nothing in order except the calling of the roll on the motion to adjourn.

Mr. BELL. That is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Fleming, you would be correct under usual circumstances. However, some of the Members from both sides of this Senate are temporarily in a meeting. I think in all deference and respect to them, we should hold off the roll call until they come back on the floor.

Mr. FLEMING. I certainly respect your wish to hold it off until they return. However, I do object to any other business being transacted until that motion is acted upon.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask that we be at ease until those Members return to the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May this report be presented?

Mr. FLEMING. I object, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, is the Senate at ease?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We are at ease. Senator Mullin, come and get your bill.

Mr. BERGER. Very well, Mr. President.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Senators please take their seats?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have nothing to say because there is nothing in order except the calling of the roll.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will call the roll on the motion to adjourn. Those voting "aye" vote to adjourn. Those voting "no" vote against adjourning.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, reluctantly, having voted under a misapprehension, I wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KROMER and Mr. BELL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Bell,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Stroup,
Berger,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MULLIN, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on State Government, reported, as committed, HB 1219.

CALENDAR

HB 1221 CALLED UP

HB 1221 (Pr. No. 2585)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 6 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, may we be at ease for about thirty seconds?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease for thirty seconds.

(The Senate was at ease.)

HB 1221 (Pr. No. 2585—Read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to present certain amendments to House Bill No. 1221, Printer's No. 2585.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Clerk will read the first amendment to Section 2 of the bill.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec.3), page 5, by inserting between lines 2 and 3:
"Degree" when used in this act shall mean from the horizontal and in each case shall be subject to a tolerance of five (5) degrees

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, since I do not have the faintest idea of what I am voting on, I must go out into the anteroom. Therefore, I do not want to be recorded under any circumstances.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the amendment was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will continue with the reading of the amendments.

The following amendment was then read by the Clerk:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 3), page 5, line 9 by inserting after "banks":
and that occupied by the spoil banks

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a minute on this amendment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was defeatd.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will proceed with the reading of the next amendment.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, let us be at ease for just a moment. What is going on around here?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to second that motion of Bill Lane's. This is the first time this year that such a thing has occurred. I do not think anybody knows what is going on here today.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I would like to remind this assemblage that in 1955 when we were half insane, five Members suffered heart attacks. We are going to have a lot more if we do not use some sanity and know what we are doing. My pulse is being taken now. It is pretty good.

However, I want to say that I think we are insane to do things like this. We are all tired and have not eaten anything. The Clerk is about to read another amendment and I do not know what he will be reading. I think it is ridiculous. I think it is silly. I think we ought to do this when we come in here on Monday when we are fresh, and know what we are doing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I now request that the remaining amendments be laid on the table and that House Bill No. 1221 go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Hearing no objection, the remaining amendments will be laid on the table and the bill will go over in its order on third reading, as amended.

HB 1438 CALLED UP

HB 1438 (Pr. No. 2587)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order, was called up from page 7 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 1438 (Pr. No. 2587)—Read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 1438 now go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I have seen a couple of things done here today. I would like to know now from the Majority Leader when he asks for this bill to go over in order, is it over in order until a definite date or is there a possibility of the bill being called up later in today's Session?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I was misinformed. I operated in error, and I ask that the gentleman excuse me. I did not realize that the amendments to House Bill No. 1438 were prepared. They want to offer them now so that they will be printed and the bill will appear on our Calendar with these amendments included on Monday.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, do I understand now that it is proposed to offer amendments to House Bill No. 1438 in the same fashion as we have gone through on House Bill No. 1221?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir, Mr. President. What we are doing is offering these amendments so that they might be printed in the bill and be before us on Monday when we act on this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, that is all very well. However, am I to understand that we will have to amend the bill again on Monday if the amendments that are proposed now should not prove acceptable?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it is always the prerogative of any Senator in this Chamber to offer any amendments at any time to any bill if he deems that the amendments do not suit him or if he feels that they are not in a form which he can vote on them.

On Monday, if anyone wishes to offer further amendments, or delete these amendments or take any action on these amendments, I am sure that the usual rule which pertains in this Chamber will pertain then.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, would it not be advisable to allow House Bill No. 1438 to go over in order with House Bill No. 1221, as I am definitely given to understand that they are to travel together?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we had planned—as a matter of fact, I had agreed to this—that the bills would travel together. However, we have the amendments prepared for House Bill No. 1438, and I would like to offer them. Of course, then the bill will be in print. We will hold it over on Monday or Tuesday until the other bill is in order. Both then will travel together.

I might say that the reason I am quite anxious to offer these amendments, Mr. President, is because I have had a hassle for quite a number of weeks on the bituminous strip mining legislation. The amendments that we are offering are not the amendments I would like to offer. I would like to be in a position to restore the bill to its present form. However, due to the circumstances and the lack of votes, I would like to offer these amendments, and, of course, I will have to be satisfied with them.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I believe I had the floor, and suddenly I lost it.

I believe the record will show that the Majority Leader asked for the bill to go over in its order. I then made an inquiry of the Chair if that meant it was over in order to a date definite, or whether there was a possibility of it being called up again. I have not yet had the answer to that question.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe I answered the gentleman by stating that my impression was that this bill would go over until Monday. I was then advised that we had amendments to this bill which we would like to insert so that the bill could be printed and we could intelligently discuss these amendments on Monday. If anybody has any further amendments, they could so offer them.

I would like the gentleman to advise me if he is against any amendments going into this bill at this time and is that the problem, so that we do not have to delay any longer on this matter?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I am very happy that he asked me that question. I have on my desk amendments that I would love to offer to House Bill No. 1438. Very briefly, my amendments will restore the bill to the shape in which it came to the Senate from the House.

If you are calling the bill up now, sir, Mr. President, I want to offer these amendments to House Bill No. 1438.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, what is the status of the bill at this stage of the game?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is no status to the bill at this time. There was an indication that amendments would be offered, but no amendments have been forthcoming as yet.

Mr. SCOTT. Is it not true, Mr. President, that Senator WEINER requested that the bill go over in its order?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is true, sir. He then stood up and said that he now understood that the amendments are prepared, and there was some indication to the Chair that the amendments would be offered. However, up to this time, the amendments have not been offered.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, my understanding was exactly the same as Senator Weiner's; that this bill would go over in order until Monday. Now if there are to be amendments offered this afternoon, I think that none of us are in a position to know what those amendments are and to analyze them or study them.

I would like to suggest that the Majority Party defer until Monday. Nothing can be done today that cannot be done on Monday. I would like to request that they defer until Monday, and then offer their amendments at that time. Senator Fleming can also offer his amendments. We can then study the amendments, analyze them, and then vote intelligently on those amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There has been a request by Senator Scott that the bill go over in order. Is there any objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I object at this particular time.

Mr. President, I believe Senator Scott is well aware of the fact that the only way we can intelligently review these amendments that I am about to offer—and which I would like to offer, by the way—would be to have the amendments printed in the bill. If we do not have the amendments printed in the bill, we will be in the same quandary on Monday as we are in right now. That is one of the reasons—the principal reason—that I would like to have the opportunity to offer these amendments. I would like to have them incorporated into the bill and have them printed, because, after all, after the amendments are submitted, I may not be in favor of them on Monday. I am not sure, However, I want to take a look at the bill, as amended. The only way I can do that is to have the bill in print.

I believe Senator Scott will agree that in most cases, we must do that. These are rather complicated amendments. I do not think we could do any better on Monday than we could today.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I agree that the amendments Senator Lane intends to offer are probably complicated. I would rather on Monday be in a position to have those amendments explained to me on the floor of this Senate by Senator Lane than I would be at this stage of the game.

I think we all recognize that it is much easier to put amendments into a bill than to take them out. To be on the safe side, again I would like to suggest that Senator Lane, on Monday, can offer his amendments. He can explain those amendments to the Membership of this Senate very thoroughly, to the point where we can comprehend what they do, and then we can vote intelligently on them.

If we are to vote blindly tonight on these amendments, and then we on this side find we are not satisfied with those amendments, it will be very difficult for us on Monday to get them out of the bill after they have once been put in.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, for the information of Senator Scott, this actually is not a partisan measure. As a matter of fact, I found that out several weeks ago. I do not believe there is going to be a partisan vote for or against these amendments.

I said yesterday, when I agreed that the bill would go up to Third Reading, that I would request the privilege of offering my amendments on Third Reading.

Mr. President, I insist that I have the privilege of offering these amendments so that they can be in print. I will guarantee the other side, or Senator Scott or anyone else in the anthracite area, that I will not make any effort and I will fight any effort to move the bill until the anthracite bill is in proper shape, and they will move together. Therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to House Bill No. 1438, Printer's No. 2587.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is a request by Senator Lane for unanimous consent to offer amendments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the only remarks I want to make in that connection—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Berger, are you objecting to Senator Lane offering amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I will not at this time refuse unanimous consent. However, I ask leave to make this statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, will proceed.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this measure is one of the most important measures that we have had all year, and it has excited greater public interest than any other bill that I can recall.

Let me say, Mr. President, that Senator Lane has said that his amendments are going to be complicated. We do not know what they are going to do. He wants to put them in and have them printed in the bill.

My suggestion is this, and it has been done before upon request. I suggest that the amendments be mimeographed and furnished to each Senator so that he may know what is going into that bill when the time comes to offer them, and he can then vote intelligently upon the amendments as they are offered.

We have just seen a demonstration here tonight of how difficult it is to understand amendments to a bill of this character. Consequently, Mr. President, I would suggest that this might be the best course. Then the amendments could be offered and there would be not as much loss of time in handling this measure as there would be if the amendments are printed, other amendments are offered which would change those amendments, and it would be a long time before the bill could be acted upon finally.

That is merely my suggestion, Mr. President, for the attention of the gentleman, Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, may I have the privilege of interrogating the Minority Leader?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Berger, do you anticipate there will be any other amendments offered to House Bill No. 1438 beside the amendments I now have in my hand?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I cannot answer that. However, by the grapevine, I am sure there will be, yes.

Mr. LANE. All right then. Senator Berger, do you anticipate or would you request that the other amendments also be mimeographed for the benefit of the Members of the Senate?

Mr. BERGER. Very definitely, Mr. President. I would be very glad to make that suggestion.

Mr. LANE. Senator Berger, would you agree also that any amendments which are submitted to the anthracite bill should also be mimeographed and supplied to the Members of the Senate?

Mr. BERGER. I have no objection to that, Sir.

Mr. LANE. All right. If that is the case, Mr. President, I will defer offering the amendments at this particular time, with the understanding that all of the amendments submitted to either bill are going to be mimeographed in detail for the Membership of this Senate.

Mr. BERGER. That is very good, Mr. Prseident, and I thank the gentleman.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This has been agreed upon. May the Chair instruct the Members of the Senate who wish to offer amendments to this bill, or both bills, to have them in the office of the Secretary of the Senate no later than tomorrow so that he may have them mimeographed for next week? He will send them out through the mail to every Senator.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I never realized that I made so little impression on the Members of the Senate as was just brought home to me today. I think the record will clearly show that I asked if the Majority Leader had called up the bill, and if he had called up the bill, then I certainly had amendments that I desired to offer to it.

Seemingly, that has been swept completely aside by everyone who has spoken since. I want to assure every Member of the Senate that I have amendments to offer. If the plan is—as suggested by the Minority Leader, Senator Berger, and agreed to by Senator Lane—that any amendments be mimeographed and sent to all Members of the Senate, I want to assure the Membership, and those of you who did not hear me when I attempted to offer them a few moments ago, that I definitely have amendments that I will offer with every hope of having them adopted and which will restore the bill to the same shape it was in when it came from the House of Representatives.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Fleming has that privilege. If he offers amendments to restore the bill to its original form, I will vote for the amendments.

I am sick and tired of this hocus-pocus going on with regard to these two bills. I hope that we can clarify them on Monday and Tuesday and get down to the business of properly legislating as we should, with no more deals.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

HB 1663 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I call from the table for consideration House Bill No. 1663, Printer's No. 2634, which previously went over in its order temporarily on final passage.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection, and we will proceed with the consideration of House Bill No. 1663.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE DEFEATED

HB 1663 (Pr. No. 2634—And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, as has been rather fully pointed out earlier today, this bill is very, very important. The hour is late, and the fact that it is late is not my fault. I tried to terminate the proceedings earlier, but I was not successful.

This bill has two facets. One is to give relief to manufacturers, and I think that is most justifiable. However, the way that the relief is given is something that I condemn because in one bill we are taking away the two per cent privilege of the retailers and, at the same time, we are giving relief to the manufacturers. As I said earlier, it is robbing Peter to pay Paul.

I have heard here on this floor during the past few months the sad stories about the lack of money in the State coffers. I want to call the attention of the State of Pennsylvania to one fact, and that is that these revenue esimates which were given to the Senate of Pennsylvania earlier this year are as phony as a three dollar bill. I say this for the reason that these revenue estimates—and I have not heard them officially changed—were given to us in February or March. That means they must have been made some time during the winter.

During the last month, unfortunately, the United States has seen a limited national emergency proclaimed by our President, and we have seen in Washington a tremendous plan for the expenditure of moneys of the United States for national defense. When you purchase the sinews of war,—whether it be ships, tanks, ammunition or guns—you have to buy steel. I say that Pennsylvania produces twenty-five per cent of all the steel that is produced in the United States, and when we have our steel mills in full production, we are going to have a much better condition in employment in Pennsylvania. With full or increased employment in Pennsylvania, you will have the immediate lowering of the relief rolls. You will have increased corporate profits and you will have increased retail spending. By retail spending, I point to automobiles. If automobiles, as it has always been in the past, are purchased with increased retail spending, these automobiles provide great sales tax revenue.

Our tax structure in Pennsylvania is very closely tied to the national economy. We have gone through a recession, and we know that during a recession, the revenues dry up. However, if we have full or almost full employment, we are going to have a flash flood of pennies coming in from the State sales tax and the other consumer taxes.

What faces us with business conditions? I am an average person, such as the other Senators, and I do read the newspapers as they do. We see news articles. Last week, there was an article that there was a drop in unemployment in Pennsylvania. You can watch the stock market. It is going up. I say this. I would like very much to have the opportunity to buy stocks today at the prices at which they sold last February and March when these figures were given to us. The Wall Street Journal, last Friday, called the attention of the Country to the great business activity.

Before the prophets of gloom proclaim more poor mouth talk in Pennsylvania, I demand that our revenues in Pennsylvania—the revenue forecasts—be re-examined.

I think the financial wizards of Pennsylvania should really study the prospective taxes coming to the State, not based on the economy of last winter and last spring, but on the economy of this fall and this winter.

I say this, gentlemen. If the economists and the news and business analysts are correct, we are going to have plenty of money coming into this State during the next fiscal year. It is for this reason that I say before anybody votes to take these pennies away from the merchants, you should first of all reanalyze the tax revenues that are coming into the State of Pennsylvania, not based on last spring or last winter, but based on this fall.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, there is one thing about Senator Bell's statement that does bother me. I seem to buy the wrong stocks. Mine go down.

Very seriously, Mr. President, with respect to House Bill No. 1663, Printer's No. 2634, as I understand it, House Bill No. 573, in effect, was amended into this bill, which would provide for acceleration of the sales tax. I wonder, for the purpose of acquiring some information, whether the Majority Leader will allow himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Weiner, would you be able to tell me exactly how this acceleration of the sales tax works?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it would be stepped up or work in the same fashion as the bills that we passed earlier in the Session stepping up the payment of other taxes, which have already been enacted, so that the State would have the benefit of that money rather than lending the State's credit for these businesses to use.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Weiner, therefore, in effect, you would be accelerating the sales tax collection in 1962, which would normally be collected and returned to the State in July of 1962, and that would be accelerated under this bill so that it would be collected in June of 1962, prior to the end of the fiscal year. Is that correct, sir?

Mr. WEINER. Senator, I am having some difficulty following you. What we are saying primarily is that this is money they already would have at hand, but we are stepping up the time of payment.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Yes, sir. Now, Senator Weiner, when you say that we are stepping up the time of payment, therefore, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962, we would be collecting revenue which would not ordinarily have been collected in that fiscal year. Is that correct, sir?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Weiner, could you tell me how much the sales tax is bringing in on a monthly basis at this time?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not have that information, because you are asking for current data. However, I believe the information that was available to all of us was made available to the Senator.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Could you possibly confer with Doctor Kurtzman over there, who is an expert, I am sure, and who could possibly give you that information right off hand?

Mr. WEINER. If you want the latest data, I will not only ask Doctor Kurtzman, but the Budget Secretary, as well, who happens to be present.

Mr. President, rather than pull a figure out of the air or guess at it, I would rather get the exact figure. Doctor Kurtzman will obtain that for me. If you will just indulge me, or go on to your next question and hold that in abeyance, I will be glad to answer that in just a moment when we have the exact figure.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, perhaps Senator Silvert has a pretty good round figure, and I would be happy to allow him to answer the question, if he so desires.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is Senator Silvert rising for the purpose of answering the question that Senator Ehrgood has proposed to Senator Weiner?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I think I have the information to answer the questions raised by Senator Ehrgood.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Ehrgood, House Bill No. 573 provides for two phases. One requires the collection of the sales tax made during the month of May 1962, and annually thereafter, to be transmitted on or before the 20th day of June next following. This phase of the bill is estimated to yield $17.6 million. The meaning of that is that instead of coming in in July of 1962, it will come in during the present fiscal period.

The other part of this bill provides that in the case of the quarterly sales tax returns, the collections made in April or May shall be transmitted on the 15th day of June next following. This phase is rather in excess of $11,000,000.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, if Senator Silvert would be willing to answer some further questions, I would be happy to interrogate him.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I stepped into it, and I will stay awhile. Go ahead, Senator Ehrgood.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Silvert, could you tell me how much the sales tax has brought in during the past biennium?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, that is a big figure. However, I understand the yield of the sales tax is approximately four hundred and some twenty million dollars for the biennium. I may be off a few million, but that is close to it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is that per year, Senator Silvert?

Mr. SILVERT. That is for two years, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Per year, I believe.

Mr. SILVERT. Oh, yes. I gave you the biennium.

Mr. EHRGOOD. No, you are wrong.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, it is on a—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is for one year, Senator.

Mr. SILVERT. On a one-year basis. I stand corrected.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, how much was that figure on a one-year basis? I am not sure now.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, it is somewhat over $400,000,000.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, that is for a twelve-month period. Is that correct, Senator Silvert?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I believe that is right, yes.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Silvert, twelve into $420,000,000 is how much per month?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, that would be close to $35,000,000.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Now, Senator Silvert, if the sales tax in this period of depression is bringing in $35,000,000 per month, is it not true then, sir, that the acceleration phase under House Bill No. 1663 will bring in the $35,000,000 figure, or even more, rather than the figure of $17,000,000 that you were previously talking about?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I must say to you that I believe the four hundred and some odd million figure refers to a biennium, as I originally stated, because the figure of $17.6 million that is estimated to come in by the prepayment of the month of July would figure on the basis of yearly receipts from the sales tax, a little over $200,000,000. I may be wrong, but it is my impression that is approximately the monthly return. Therefore, twelve times that would be roughly a little over $200,000,000.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Thank you, Senator Silvert.

Mr. President, there seems to be a great deal of difference as to how much money this bill will bring in. I think there is no doubt, Mr. President, that the $420,000,000 figure per year is the correct amount.

I further think it is important that Senator Silvert be correct on his figures so that at least the Administration and at least the public will know how much money this accelerated phase will bring in. It does make a great deal of difference, Mr. President, as to what money is available for various things that we desire and think desirable for the people of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, I would say, Mr. President, that although they are figuring—and when I say "they," I mean the people on the other side of the aisle—and stating that this bill is only bringing in a little over $17,000,000 by its accelerated figure, I believe the fact is, however, that it is actually in the neighborhood of $35,000,000 and more that is going to be brought into the coffers of the State of Pennsylvania by this bill.

My only reasoning for the questioning is so the people of Pennsylvania know what is occurring and so the gentlemen of this Senate know what is occurring.

It may well be, Mr. President, that we can pass some educational bills—for example, the bill to increase the subsidy to local school districts—without any increased taxes since this money may well be available under this bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I should be the last person to get up and talk on this bill because I have been ready to go home since 6:00 o'clock. Of course, at 6:00 o'clock, I was told that the bill would be over in a half an hour. It is now 8:30, and we are not anywhere near getting through with this thing.

I want to say, Mr. President, that I wanted to vote for House Bill No. 1663 and House Bill No. 1664, and I would have voted for them had they left the bills as they came over from the House, without the two per cent commission taken away from the merchants.

Mr. President, this Administration has many sales tax inspectors going around all over the State, and they have insisted on the merchants buying certain types of cash registers so that their businesses could be audited much easier. Many of these stores have spent thousands and thousands of dollars to comply with the Sales Tax Bureau and the Revenue Department so there would not be any cheating going on, and most of the merchants do make an honest return.

I think when we first introduced the sales tax measure, we promised the merchant that he would get two per cent for his trouble in acting as a tax collector for the State of Pennsylvania. I think inserting that feature in this bill to take away this commission is in bad taste. You will recall that this afternoon, Senator Propert, Senator Wade and myself offered an amendment to take this feature out of the bill.

The other side saw fit not to pay any attention to the fact that we had a bill on the Calendar which could have been acted upon on its own, and would have risen or fallen on its own merits. However, after that bill had been on the Calendar for months, the other side saw fit to recommit it to committee. I am sure they are not going to resurrect it now. For that reason, Mr. President, I am going to vote against House Bill No. 1663.

I want to say this to you. I want to tell you what you are doing. I had a manufacturer from my area, in Zelienople, call me today. He is a man who wants to expand his plant. He told me that until he knows what we are doing down here, he is not going to make that expansion, and if it is not right, he is going to move into Ohio. It is going to be much easier for him to operate there because the tax climate is a lot better.

For that reason, Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to make two remarks, and that will be the end of it.

I think Senator Bell stated that this is robbing Peter to pay Paul. I think the simile is well-taken, and I think everybody knows who Peter is who is being robbed. That is one of the things we are trying to correct in this bill.

The other thing I would like to mention is that we issued a revised estimate in June of 1961, and we included the amounts of money that the gentleman mentioned which had come from the upturn in the economy. How long that will last or how long it will go on, nobody knows. If the Senator does know, I wish he would talk to me and a few others. We will give up being in the Senate and do other things that I think wil prove not only more profitable. but certainly more interesting.

I would like to address myself for a moment to Senator Pechan. You must admit, Senator, that I have learned from you, and I am sure you would like me to learn from a man who has been well-schooled in legislative procedure.

I remember earlier in the Session another bill that passed the Senate, went over to the House, and came back to the Senate with a whole new provision in it on which we had never voted. As I remember, you were one of the people who advocated on this measure with this whole new problem in it.

If I have learned nothing from that, I would certainly be a very poor student and be a very poor Legislator. I have learned this from you, and we have taken this method and adopted it to this particular means which we feel is certainly more important than the other measure on which this was done.

I also think it is quite gracious of you to have been willing to have voted for House Bill No. 1663 and House Bill No. 1664 in their original form, in which we were giving something away. However, I think it ill-behooves you to say that you were interested in voting for these bills originally when they gave something away, but you will not do anything to provide the means for obtaining this in order for the State to be in a position to give something away.

I want to give the figures which Senator Ehrgood wanted. If you will just indulge me for a moment, I will get the information for you.

Mr. President, I am advised that the collection on the tax—and I believe Senator Ehrgood asked that—for the present, in July 1961, was $31,962,000. I believe that is the latest figure that you were requesting. I can give you the June figure, if you would like that as well. In June of 1961, the money actually collected was $27,563,000. That was the monthly collection, Senator.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, would the Majority Floor Leader repeat how much has been collected from the sales tax during the past biennium?

Mr. WEINER. The figures I gave, Senator, were just the monthly figures for July and June. In June, it was $27,563,000, and in July it was $31,000,000. We are about $1,000,000 behind so far.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I believe it must have been Senator Silvert who stated it was approximately $400,000,000, and some other Senator said $420,000,000.

Mr. President, would Senator Silvert inform the Senate as to how much was paid to the merchants and businessmen—just an estimated amount?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the authority on the sales tax, Senator Silvert, answer the question?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, if my arithmetic serves me right, two per cent of $400,000,000 would be $8,000,000, and if it is a little over $400,000,000, the figure would be a little over $8,000,000 for a period of thirteen months.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, of course I knew the answer, and I think everyone can multiply $400,000,000 by two per cent.

I want to say that this comes closer to slave labor than anything that has happened in the Commonwealth since the Civil War. Taking from the merchants $8,000,000 seems to be the most iniquitous action that I have ever heard tell of in all of the time that I have been in the Senate of Pennsylvania, which is going on twenty-eight years.

I think if they persist in doing this, they are going to bring about—whether they like it or not—an uprising over Pennsylvania, and some party is going to be hurt. That is my prediction.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I will be very frank at the outset and tell you that I am not about to talk in order to change anyone's vote. I am about to ask that the Senate give me five minutes of its time for my own satisfaction. I have given hours of mine today to the convenience of other people. So, perhaps I am entitled to it.

No matter how I vote on this bill, I am going to have dozens of explanations to make on the one hand, or hundreds to make on the other hand.

We have three propositions involved. We have the proposal of House Bill No. 95 to take away the commission of the retailers, we have the exemption of certain forms of manufacturing from the sales tax, and we have the acceleration of the collection.

I have no quarrel with the acceleration of the collection. I am satisfied that the Administration should have the money if they use it to advantage and they have the need for it in conducting the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

However, it must be all of five or six months ago that, I would say, over 100 at least of my friends, who were retailers, merchants and storekeepers, asked me to support the continuance of their commission for the collection of the sales tax. Because I thought it was fair and because I felt, as Senator Mallery, that it is a pittance to pay for the labor that is expected on behalf of the Commonwealth, I repeatedly said that I would vote to maintain that commission.

Subsequently, some of my even better friends and closer associates came to me for support of the proposals contained in House Bill No. 1663. Again, I promised them that I certainly thought that was fair, and would vote for House Bill No. 1663.

I do not know whether I will get home before the newspapers tomorrow or not, but you can see what is going to happen to my telephone, my disposition, and my reputation for integrity—which is rather fair in Schuylkill County—no matter how I am recorded.

I would like what I am saying tonight to be somewhere in the Legislative Journal so that I can get a couple hundred copies and defend myself.

Through no fault of my own. I am put in a position where I must either violate my promise on House Bill No. 95 or violate my promise on House Bill No. 1663. I shall prayerfully, tonight, hope that a man will be forgiven for breaking his word if he is helpless in the matter. I have only the choice left to maintain the promise which I made first, because that is my first obligation. Therefore, I shall be obliged to vote "no" on House Bill No. 1663.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no".

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no". I thought that Senator Pechan was going to vote with us. However, thaat was a misapprehension.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Your misapprehension will be noted.

HB 1664 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now call from the table House Bill No. 1664, Printer's No. 2635, which previously went over in its order temporarily on final passage, and ask that the Senate proceed to the consideration of this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, House Bill No. 1664 is now before the Senate for consideration.

RECONSIDERATION OF HB 1663

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 1663, Printer's No. 2634, failed of final passage at today's Session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have called this bill up for the second time. Under our rules, if this bill fails to pass at this time, there is no way to revive it because it will have been defeated twice.

I want to serve notice on the Members of the Senate—especially the Members who voted against this bill—that the bills we have on our Third Reading Calendar, which will appear there on Monday, and the list that we voted in regard to the nonpreferred appropriations, everyone of those measures will be cut or vetoed by the Governor. I will insist that he do this, because one of the things that we have gone along with is to make sure that the items we pass requiring money will have tax bills following along behind them to provide the money.

Therefore, these measures will not pass. House Bill No. 1663 provides relief for the merchants and some of the people who are in declining industries. I am advising the Members of the Senate that if this bill fails, there will be no other measure passed this Session—there will be no votes on this side for it—unless there is an accompanying tax measure to go with it.

I believe that here this evening the gentlemen who are responsible Members, and who make up the board of directors of this corporation know as the State of Pennsylvania, have an opportunity to act on these provisions and to take the entire measure as it stands. If they defeat this measure, this is the end of it. This is the final opportunity for doing anything about either one of these problems.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know why the Majority Leader mentioned the various appropriations. The bill very specifically says that the income from this bill shall be spent for education.

I want to tell him and I want him to tell the front office that they are not putting a gun to my head to vote for something that is not germane. We are talking about two different subjects.

I am going to continue to vote "no". You may perhaps get somebody else over on this side, but you are not going to change my vote.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, we have been told or threatened—whichever choice you care to make—what will happen to the nonpreferred appropriation bills in the event this bill is defeated. I would reiterate something that some of us said at the outset of this Session; namely, there are other means of economizing if it be the will of the Administration to economize I will point to but one of them, and that is that in the last seven and one-half years, the number of employees on the State payroll has increased by forty per cent.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate my very dear friend, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, we are going steady again. Let us go.

Mr. ROONEY. Senator Pechan, you just made the statement that you would not vote for a bill that did not have the same language that the previous bill had, as far as the germane language of the bill is concerned. Is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, no, I did not say that.

Mr. ROONEY. How did you say it, sir?

Mr. PECHAN. I do not know. Do you want the stenographer to read it back? Will you read it back, please? At this moment, I do not know what I am saying. However, I do know just partly what I am doing. Let me say this to you. I am not going to vote for this bill.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, will the stenographer read the statement?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I said that I would not vote for House Bill No. 1663 as long as the contents of House Bill No. 95 were contained in it. It is just that simple.

Mr. ROONEY. That was not the way you stated it or answered the question. However, you voted for Senate Bill No. 104.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, what was Senate Bill No. 104?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 104 was a bill that would give the Secretary of Highways the right to establish speed limits in certain areas in Pennsylvania. The bill went over to the House and it was amended to include the forty-foot trailer. It came back for concurrence in the Senate, and you voted for the bill despite the fact that it did not have the same germane language.

Mr. PECHAN. I want to say this to you, Senator Rooney.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There will be no cross-firing. Are you finished with your interrogation, Senator Rooney?

Mr. ROONEY. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, may I now interrogate the Majority Leader?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May I ask you, Senator Weiner, when you said you learned from me how to do this, were you referring to Senate Bill No. 104?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir, and also that you were so anxious to vote on the bill that you would not even wait a second to have it done.

Now you are talking about it not being germane language. I did not want to get into this Senator. That is why I addressed it to you. I knew you would know what I was talking about and I did not want to go any further on it.

This has happened as well with one or two other measures; to wit., House Bill No. 1082 which was brought up and I—

Mr. PECHAN. Are you going to make a speech or are you going to listen to my argument?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May we have order? Senator Weiner is answering your question. He may proceed.

Mr. WEINER. One of the other problems, Senator, was on House Bill No. 1082. That is why I asked you to see Senator Scott for some further legal advice on this matter. Concerning House Bill No. 1082, the Attorney General had ruled on this matter and you were most anxious to go along. You have been doing this all Session.

Now today you find yourself in this position, where I am following you and wanting to do what you have been doing and you suddenly are leaving me.

Mr. PECHAN. I hope you are still under my control.

Mr. WEINER. I am, sir.

Mr. PECHAN. I want you to know, my friend, that I had nothing to do with Senate Bill No. 104. When I voted for that bill, I did it with a great deal of reluctance because I was informed there was a deal—Senator Lane used the word "deal"—and believe you me, I will have no deals with anybody. I like the word "compromise".

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we are getting into an area that has nothing to do with this bill. It is not germane to what we are talking about. I think the Senator is talking about things that are not germane. Senate Bill No. 104 is not the bill under discussion here.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Pechan may proceed.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the two gentlemen brought up Senate Bill No. 104. I voted for Senate Bill No. 104 with a great deal of reluctance. I want you to know that the original bill was in the Highways Committee, and I am not a Member of the Highways Committee. All of a sudden, I get to be very important. Yesterday, I was on Banking and Insurance. What an influential guy this guy Pechan is. Believe you me, I am going to go home like this.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will both Senator Weiner and Senator Pechan speak on the motion at hand?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, let us talk about House Bill No. 1663.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion before the Senate is for reconsideration of the vote upon which House Bill No. 1663 was defeated. Let us speak on the motion. Please proceed, Senator Pechan.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I will go around the back door. I will be near House Bill No. 1663, but I will wind up again with Senate Bill No. 104.

I was accused of having something to do with Senate Bill No. 104. Believe you me, I had nothing to do with it. I just want the record to show that I voted for that bill with a great deal of reluctance. That was maneuvered somehow in the Highways Committee or the bill would have never gotten out.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, with all of the unintentional red herrings that went on here, let us come back to this bill.

I know the Majority Leader did not mean what he said, because he said, in effect, that based on estimates of revenue,—which I believe he said were made in June or July—the Governor is going to cut back on the nonpreferred appropriations.

Now, gentlemen, the people of Pennsylvania will judge the wisdom of the majority party if the Governor dares to do that. He is going to cut back on the money to the hospitals, to our non-State-owned universities and other nonpreferred appropriations, based on faulty revenue figures because the limited national emergency arose in the middle of July. I say this: Before the Governor dares to cut back on the money to the hospitals of Pennsylvania, he owes a duty to the people of Pennsylvania to re-examine the revenue forecasts, and to have a realistic revenue forecast before he cuts back on the money to those people and those hospitals.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman stated his position very correctly, but he did not go far enough. If the Governor of Pennsylvania owes the people of Pennsylvania a duty, I think the Senator from Delaware County also owes the people of Pennyslvania an equal duty. He also owes a duty to the people of his community.

Nobody stated that money to the hospitals or any other place would be cut back. I stated that the revenues would be cut in these nonpreferred bills to fit the amount of money the Governor has at hand. If he does not have the money at hand, he is not going to sign these or any bills that come to him that do not fit in with the revenue.

If you feel you do not owe the people of Pennsylvania the duty to vote this money for them, then the Governor certainly has the same obligation to follow the lead that you, as a member of the board of directors, have directed him to take as the president of the corporation.

He is only our employee to that point.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I find myself in a position similar to that which was extemporized to you here by my good friend, Senator Wagner.

Many, many months ago,—in fact, almost a year ago—I made a pledge to my constituents that when the opportunity came to vote for funds for public education, I would seize that opportunity and vote accordingly.

Now I find that we are called upon, unfortunately, to vote for a measure incorporated in this bill to which I have heretofore been opposed, and that is, of course, House Bill No. 95. I am, therefore, in a quandary. I am faced with a cul-de-sac. I cannot break my word to my constituents, gentlemen. I ran upon that pledge, and I must keep that pledge.

This money is for public education. Down in Fulton County, which I represent, my constituents were ready to march on the Capitol for relief. I have, Mr. President, over 6,500 accurately signed petitions, requesting relief from the real estate taxes that must be imposed upon them in order to maintain public education.

The same is true in other counties that I represent. I have fought for the last six years for some relief for rural education in Pennsylvania, and no relief has come nor have there been any increased subsidies for these situations or for our fourth class school districts.

Therefore, Mr. President, by reason of a prior pledge and promise which I made, I now, by reason of the situation in which we find ourselves in this particular measure, will cast my vote for House Bill No. 1663.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Camiel,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Devlin,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a statement, very brief. I notice by the press that Governor Lawrence today blasted the continuing pattern of legislative inertia.

Now, as a matter of fact, the governor did not do anything of the kind. However, he did make some comments to the effect that we have not been exactly businesslike and so forth and so on. Because we are going to adjourn today and need your time I am not going to reply to what His Excellency the Governor said. However, on Monday I will crave your indulgence and address the House.

Maybe the Governor does not know what has been going on. Anyhow, I think most of us have spent more time here than he has. I will, in kindly fashion, point out some of the handicaps under which we have labored and with which you are acquainted, some of the things that have held us back, the measure to which the various departments have stopped the wheels of progress. Anyhow, we will have something to say on Monday. I thank you.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the Speaker of the House, we had also—on this side of the House—today planned on having considerable to say about the fact that the session should only run three months, and so forth. But, if on Monday the Speaker is going to talk on that subject, we will then defer our remarks until next Monday and we will also have something to say on that very subject. If you want the session over with today and do not want protracted debate on it today, we will defer until Monday also.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would appreciate that. It would be better all around because maybe what I will have to say will arouse some debate and comment, so we had better put it off.

Mr. HAMILTON IN THE CHAIR

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, in our caucus we marked this report for an "aye" vote.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The conference committee report has made a few alterations in the bill as it passed the House and it deals with the elimination of institution districts in fourth, fifth and sixth class counties and it is an implementation of the Kerr-Mills program, as I understand it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 65

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 65.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask for a recess of one hour and 15 minutes for the purpose of a Democratic caucus. When I make the motion I am going to ask the members of the Democratic caucus to proceed immediately to the new House caucus room and bring with them their House calendars.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, a number of our members, during this interim period, have some things they would like to do around the Capitol and we will not caucus, although we would like to say to the members on the Republican side that we would like to have them look over the bills on concurrence in Senate amendments which are on our calendar, and also the conference report, because we will be calling them up from the microphone and they will be explained from the microphone without benefit of a caucus. So, we will not caucus today.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, could I ask the gentleman if he is also in position to discuss Senate bill 469 on page 12, House bill 1838 on page 12, which we desire to vote; House bill 1796 on page 11; and, of course, on page 8, Senate bill 401 it is agreed, whenever it arrives in print here, to vote on it, and House bill 1803 on page 7, on which Mr. Bowman will offer amendments that we will debate.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. With respect to House bill 1796, we would like to have that passed over until Monday. There is a dispute which has arisen with respect to that bill and we are not ready to caucus on it until early next Monday.

With respect to the prudent man rule, Senate bill 469, I believe that bill can be explained from the microphone and we will be ready to vote on it on an explanation of what the prudent man rule does to fiduciary investments. The other bills we have covered.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman very kindly, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mrs. REIBMAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the Chair now declares a recess for one hour and 15 minutes.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

Mr. TOMPKINS. A week ago on Monday the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Irvis, and I made a verbal report on a visitation we made to Albany, New York, in connection with legislative procedure. We have reduced our observations and recommendations to writing and I wish at this time to submit that written report for the Journal record and also, in doing so, I would like to commend to the Governor of Pennsylvania that he read it very carefully and find out why we cannot adjourn in three months' time in Pennsylvania.

REPORT OF VISITATION COMMITTEE

The following report was submitted for the record:

WE WENT—WE SAW—WE REPORT

To the Honorable H. G. Andrews, Speaker, and the Members of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives:

At the suggestion of Speaker Andrews, the Honorable K. LeRoy Irvis, and Edwin W. Tompkins, accompanied by John Scotzin of the Newspaper Correspondents Association and the Harrisburg Evening News paid an official visit to the Capitol of New York on the banks of the Hudson, at Albany on August 1 and 2. This we learned by observation, visiting and interrogation:

1. As compared to what we call Capitol Hill in Pennsylvania, the main Capitol Building in Albany is located on a mountain.

2. The Capitol structure is an impressive edifice, first used in 1879, but lacking in the glitter and lustre of the Pennsylvania Main Capitol. The building is large, but apparently built in its day as a show place instead of for effective utilization.

3. The only occupants still left in the Main Capitol Building are—The Governor's office and staff—The Budget office and staff—The Law Department (corresponding to our Justice) and staff—The General Assembly and staff. The State Police were relocated since the first of the year.

4. The General Assembly (Referred to in New York as the Legislature) consists of a House (Referred to in New York as Assembly) consisting of 150 members elected for a term of 2 years; and the Senate consisting of 58 members, all of whom are elected every 2 years.

5. Legislative pay is $7500.00 per year. This has been raised to $10,000.00 effective in 1963. Members have had a $1,000.00 expense allowance, voted each year. This year, 1961, they voted themselves $2,500.00 instead of the $1,000.00 which brought a reaction in New York State similar to that in Pennsylvania. If they get any expense allowance in 1962, they must vote it in that year. If they get any expense allowance in 1963 in addition to the $10,000.00 salary, they must vote it in 1963 and every year thereafter unless they should perchance make it permanent. They receive in addition actual travel costs, whether train or plane and regardless of class of accomodation they choose. If they travel by automobile they receive 8 cents per circular mile.

6. The House in space is only about one third the size of the Pennsylvania House. They have no general public address system. The Speaker and the Reading Clerk have a mike. There are two podiums with mikes in the well of the House in case any member wishes to debate a bill.

The Senate Chamber comparable in size to the Pennsylvania Senate has no public address system.

In each chamber the press is accomodated by chairs at the foot of the Rostrum that have arm rests on them. There are no telephone connections at these locations. The Press however have the privilege of the Floor. It was reported by all we talked to that such an arrangement is satisfactory and there is little or no complaint.

7. The Speaker is elected by the members. The Speaker in turn appoints the Majority Leader and members of Committees, and the Minority members elect their Leader, who generally is the runner-up for Speaker. Neither House nor Senate has a Whip, nor assistant Floor Leader.

In the Senate the members elect the Majority Leader, who also doubles as Temporary President of the Senate.

The last Speaker of the House, Oswald D. Beck, served continuously as Speaker for 22 years from 1937-1959.

There have been 16 Majority Leaders and 17 Minority Leaders of the House since 1901.

8. The House and Senate meet the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January each year.

They meet every Monday night thereafter at 8 p.m. Tuesday mornings at 11 a.m. until February. In February they start stretching out their number of days of meeting weekly until about March when they begin 5 day per week Sessions until adjournment. There is no fixed time for daily adjournment.

They have no trouble with absenteeism because they do not hesitate to enforce a Quorum Roll Call.

9. The House has 36 Standing Committees. Each member is assigned to 3 or 4 committees. Committee size varies in number similar to Pennsylvania.

All standing Committees are assigned permanent quarters.

Major Committees have adequate qualified research and clerical staff.

For instance the Ways and Means Committee corresponding to our Appropriations Committee has a permanent staff of 2 lawyers skilled in budget and finance and government contractual matters, 1 runner, 2 stenographers, a secretary to the committee who is a budget and finance analyst and specialist; and 4 clerks. During the Session the number of clerks is increased to 8 or 9.

The Governor's Budget Staff consists of about 150 people.

Every Committee has a Clerk to organize the work of the Committee.

In 1955, when Harriman became Governor, the Majority Party of the Legislature (Republican) because of the inability to obtain information from the Executive Departments, organized a Research staff for service to the Majority Party. They have 5 research people on the staff with salaries beginning at $21,000.00 per year and scaling down to $12,000.00 per year. They also have 4 to 6 clerical staff. Their duty and function is to dig out and prepare facts, statistics and information for use of the Majority party in Committee meetings, Conferences, Caucuses and for interim Committees and for the Majority candidates for campaign use.

Within the past year the Minority (Democrat) Legislative members started such a staff of their own.

Expenses of both staffs are paid for out of General Fund appropriation.

Legislative Committees do initiate public hearings on proposed legislation of general public interest.

Standing Committees meet in closed session, and their meetings are not open to the Press. However the Committee Secretary Book, showing what action was taken on Bills, and the vote of each member on a bill is filed at the end of the Session with the Journal Clerk, and at that time, after adjournment, the Book of the Secretary is available for public inspection.

The work load of Major Standing Committees are relieved by Joint interim Committees. This is an interesting and apparently effective procedure and will be given separate treatment later in this report. It is the opinion of the Visitation Committee that this is one of the major keys in the ability of the Legislature to adjourn by April 1 each year.

Committee Chairmen do have a quorum problem because of conflict of meeting time where their members are attending other Committee meetings, although I gained the impression that this was minimized by the Secretary of the various Committee trying to coordinate meeting time. This same secretary also acts as Secretary to the Committee Chairman.

It is permissible to call a Committee meeting off from the floor during Session, but under arrangements with the Speaker and Assembly Leaders similar to the Pennsylvania House.

When the date for final adjournment is fixed, about two weeks prior to the date fixed, all Committees cease to function, and all unreported Bills then in their possession are transferred to the Rules Committee. By this method Rules has complete charge of winding up the Session.

There is a cut off date on the introduction of administration Bills only, usually about March 1. This compels Departments to have their work prepared and ready and is another reason contributing to short Sessions. This date is rigidly enforced.

10. In the 1961 Session there were 4993 bills introduced in the House and 3843 bills introduced in the Senate or a grand overall total of 8836 bills. Of this number 970 were approved by the Governor and 306 were vetoed. The balance died in Rules Committee.

In addition there were 179 Resolutions introduced in the House and 148 in the Senate or a grand overall total of 327. There is no consolidated total as to what disposition was finally made of the Resolutions.

Three years ago they initiated the pre-session filing of bills. Beginning on November 15, bills may be filed. It is reported this procedure helps to expedite the business of the Session, although about 75% of the pre-filing bills are repeats from previous sessions, and are what they refer to in New York as "Pigeons," in Pennsylvania referred to by the Press as "Turkeys."

The General Assembly in New York does not publish a weekly History of Bills such as we do in Pennsylvania.

Instead a private organization publishes a weekly cumulative list on bills in both branches of the Legislature. It is known as New York Legislative Index. A consolidated bound report is made at the end of the Session. The subscription price is $150.00 per Session. The Legislature makes an appropriation to obtain this service for use of all the members of the Legislature. Organizations, lobbyists and others outside the Legislature to get the service must pay the subscription price.

Items such as copies of bills, daily calendars, etc. are available to organizations and lobbyists on a quantity basis for free as in Pennsylvania.

11. Laws are available for distribution in book form about 3 months after the close of the Session.

12. There is no orientation of Freshman members.

13. Each Senator has a secretary and a clerk.

Each House member has a desk of his own. Senior members are usually assigned 3 desks to a room, some rooms of which are divided by portable partitions. Junior members are bunched 5 and 7 desks to a room. On the outside of the door of such rooms is a roster of the members occupying that room. A secretary is assigned to each such room.

Committee rooms, other than House Ways and Means and Senate Finance are comparable in size to our Committee Rooms on the "E" and 3rd Floor. We saw several instances where 2 and 3 committees were assigned to the same room.

14. One of the major keys to their short sessions is the manner and time of the preparation of the budget. Beginning about the middle of September, the Budget Office starts calling upon departments to submit their budget for the following year. Their fiscal year begins April 1. Their constitution requires the Governor to submit his budget to the Legislature not later than February 1. In addition to submission of their requests to the budget office, a copy is also required to be furnished to the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee. Beginning about the middle of October, the Budget Office starts departmental hearings on the budget. At said hearings the Chairman of the House Ways and Means and as many members as so desire, and the Committees Budget Analyst; together with their counterparts of the Senate Finance Committee sit in on said hearings with full voice. By the time February 1 rolls around and the Governor submits his budget, all of this time-consuming work is finished. After the Budget is submitted the House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance jointly hold one or two public hearings on the budget in order to give taxpayer groups, Chambers of Commerce and all other interested persons an opportunity to express their views.

The 1961 Pennsylvania General Appropriation Bill—

House 808—was a document consisting of 71 pages. The New York General Appropriation Bill for 1961 is a document of 688 pages, it being a comprehensive line budget. For instance on Page 62, line 20, it provides under Department of Agriculture and Markets:

"Supervising Veterinarian (SG 20) 24	$192,298.00
On page 63, line 20, same Department:
"File Clerk (SG 3) 8	$27,740.00
On page 231, line 20, Education Department:
Board of Pharmacy,
"Pharmacy Inspector (SG 17) 13	$86,418.00
On page 263, line 16, Education Department:
College of Education at Brockport,
"Professor I (P 20) 10	$87,225.00

And so throughout 688 pages, the total number of employees in every Branch and Department of the Government is listed. The Legislature at all times knows just exactly what is going on and what is contemplated in the government, the cost thereof and where and how the money is being spent, an objective very much to be desired in Pennsylvania.

When the budget is submitted by the Governor on February 1, the joint work of the Ways and Means Committee and the Finance Committee is confined to a line by line comparison with the previous budget, and when an item shows an increase or decrease, then the departments are called in to explain. There is no long list of scheduled departmental hearings. The Committee staffs have everything analyzed and prepared for the use of the members.

Copies of all agreements executed by the state, such as the Thruway agreement with the State, are filed with the Ways and Means and Finance Committee. (Perhaps in Pennsylvania this could be a legitimate function of our Budget and Finance Committee "Watchdog").

Ways and Means get copies of all shifting of funds from one project to another. (Perhaps another function for the Watchdog Committee instead of leaving everything to the Governor and the Budget office).

They also set up an emergency fund that may be used when money runs short in a particular spot or an emergency arises. This money can be spent only on the approval of the Governor and the Chairman of the Ways and Means and Chairman of Finance. (Perhaps another function of the Watchdog.)

There are supplemental budgets to the General Budget, but further detail about them in this report is considered not necessary.

15. There is a large Legislative Library for the use of the members. It contains all the Court Reports of the State, the Decisions and Rulings of all Administrative Agencies such as the Public Service Commission: Workmen's and Unemployment Compensation Boards, etc. It has financial Digests such as Moody's, Business, Governmental and General Encyclopedias and Digests; and current magazines and newspapers. It also serves as a lounging room for the members. Any extensive research is referred to the Research Staff previously mentioned. Such a readily accessible library for Pennsylvanis is strongly recommended. More detail could be obtained by contacting New York. What they have in other states might also be of interest. The New York library also contains a complete record of what we call our Legislative Journal and all proceedings of the Legislature.

SUMMARY

The main object and purpose of our visitation was to try and unlock the secret as to how New York can finish its legislative business each year in 3 months' time. In the past 12 years the latest they adjourned was April 2. This year they adjourned on March 25.

We gained a very emphatic impresison that the New York Legislature is truly a coordinate and not a subservient branch of the government. They cooperate, consult and advise with the Governor, but they are not dominated by him.

Contrary to a general belief that their three month sessions are controlled either by the Constitution or by statute, we very quickly found out that this was not so. We attribute much of their success to:

1. Pre-planning and the use of interim study committee. (Because of annual general sessions the use of this devise in New York is more effective than it might be in Pennsylvania. Instead of our biennial general session, and annual fiscal sessions in even numbered years, we believe that serious consideration should be given to passage by this session and the 1963 sesion of House bill No. 391, which would remove these shackles). Because of annual general sessions in New York, when a knotty problem arises such as our educational program, they would appoint an interim legislative committee to study the Governor's Report, tour the state and obtain grass roots opinion and then report back at the next session with proposed legislation. Much of it could be pre-filed. Such a committee would be given both money and staff with which to do a good job, instead of the method of a select committee on education which we had with neither money, staff, nor time. In New York the report would be before the Assembly in 9 months, instead of a year and 9 months in Pennsylvania, or by keeping us in session for 9 months to try to solve the problem by outside pressures instead of by a good study and review method to which such important and revolutionary legislation is entitled.

2. No new investigation and study committees are permitted during the session. All interim committees must report by March 1.

3. The pre-filing of bills is considered of some advantage. In 1961 there were 867 Senate and 1275 House bills pre-filed.

4. The cut-off date for introduction of administrative and departmental bills contribute to a short session. It stops a lot of dilly-dallying by the administration. If the administration drags its feet, then its requests are made the subject of an interim study committee.

5. The pre-session budget hearings are a very distinctive time-saving device.

6. A detail line budget is also a time-saver and in our opinion is one of the main reasons for the legislature being able to maintain its coordinate instead of subservient roll in government. We strongly urge such a procedure in Pennsylvania.

7. The legislative leaders are powerful officers. The Majority Leaders and the Speaker really run the session.

8. During the session the House has about 450 to 500 employes and the Senate also a like number. New York is certainly not penurious in having help, qualified help that is, to expedite the work of the session. Upon adjournment these staffs are reduced to from 50 to 100 employes.

Session employes are paid by the session. There are no per diem employes. Names, addresses and pay of all employes are at all times available for public information.

We believe a little more money spent in Pennsylvania for good qualified employes during a session, would save the Commonwealth much money, and pay for itself by shortening the time of the session.

9. How exhilirating it would be for the Pennsylvania General Assembly in its "Right to Know," if copies of contracts of G.S.A.; State Education Authority; Highway and Brideg Authority; contracts of Welfare Department for hospital care, and on and on throughout the several agencies of the State Government, to have to file copies of such contracts when they are made with the watchdog committee, instead of copies going to the Auditor General only when the bill is presented for payment.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWIN W. TOMPKINS

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I, too, at the time that this bill passed the House, opposed this bill as a land grab in my county. However, the Senate has seen fit to remove from this bill 71, almost 72, acres of land which is prime commercial industrial land in Bucks County, which I am reliably informed is worth just under half a million dollars—$435,000. At a time when this General Assembly is looking around desperately for money for education I would submit that we, in Bucks County, would be most happy if the Governor instructs the Department of Property and Supplies to see if these 72 acres of land is sold, and we would be most happy if this money would be forwarded for educational purposes in our county. I would ask all members to concur in the concurrence report.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have explained exactly what changes were made by the conference committee in this bill, the so-called dirty license bill. I was wondering what changes the committee made in it and whether Mr. Fineman, Mr. Guesman or Mr. Guthrie could explain them.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill, with one small exception, is now in the same form it was in when it was approved by this chamber. When the bill went over to the Senate, they had increased the amount of the fine from the $10 that the House had inserted to the original language, which was $50. The House and Senate conference committee agreed to once again delete the $50 and put back the $10, so that it is in the same form as it was in when it passed the House.

The only other change the Senate made, which I certainly am agreeable to, has to do with the imprisonment in default of payment of the fine. That was reduced from ten days to three days.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 469, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 26, 1949 (P. L. 1828), entitled "Fiduciaries Investment Act of 1949," making further provisions concerning authorized investments in corporate bonds and stock.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to Senate bill 469.

I feel, Mr. Speaker, that the function of the fiduciary is one of protection and one of production, protecting the funds that happen to be in its care and then doing what it can to produce income from those funds. This legislature realized that some time ago when they passed the fiduciary investment act and, in order to protect the funds of the estate that the fiduciary happened to be managing, the legislature set certain restrictions.

With respect to corporate bonds, this legislature said that a fiduciary could not invest in a corporate bond where the corporation had not produced a net profit in the last eight of ten years and where there had been a default in interest in eight of the last ten years.

This legislature also laid down the "prudent man" rule at that time, so we had two considerations, No. 1, the "prudent man" rule, which this bill would seek to establish, and, also, two restrictions with respect to corporate bonds.

With respect to corporate stocks, this legislature also incorporated the "prudent man" rule, but went on to say that before a fiduciary could invest in preferred stocks that the company would have to have made a profit in eight of ten years and, also, had to pay a dividend on its corporate stock in that ten years, and, with respect to common stock, the company had to make a profit in the last 16 years and pay a dividend on its common stock in 12 of the last 16 years.

So with respect to stock then, the legislature, as I said, included the "prudent man" rule and also certain restrictions, but with respect to stock they went two steps further and said only one-third of a trust estate could be invested in common stock and that that stock had to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange or on an exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking.

Now, Mr. Speaker, it is the intent of this bill to take away all of those restrictions and just say, in effect, that if the fiduciary has acted as a prudent man, if he approached the investment in the same sense that he would in protecting his own funds, then he could not be held responsible for any diminution in the estate.

I wish to say right at the outset, Mr. Speaker, that I have all the faith in the world in our corporate fiduciaries, in our banks and our trust companies. I feel certain that they have the technicians and they have the men of knowledge who know how and where and when to invest corporate funds. But, Mr. Speaker, I am speaking today on behalf of or for the fiduciary who is not a corporate fiduciary, the individual like myself, or any member of the House, or any relative of the decedent who has been appointed under a will or under a trust instrument to act as a fiduciary. This man does not and may not have the knowledge and the technique and the know-how to invest funds, and so the Fiduciaries Investment Act was a guide to this person and told him how to invest his funds. Now, if we take that away, if we take away the restrictions that this act has set up and just say to that man, "Go out and act as a prudent man, handle these investments as you would your own," then you are opening up the whole field, you are opening up this fiduciary to poor advice by any number of stock brokers or any number of financial investment counselors, and there is no recourse for the beneficiaries of the estate that this person happens to be administering.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, that the answer to this problem is this: Where a decedent wishes to relieve his fiduciary, whether it is a corporate fiduciary or an individual fiduciary, of any obligation, he can say in the will, "I release the man, or release the fiduciary, from investing in only legals." That is all he has to do.

For those reasons, Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Clarke.

Mr. CLARKE. Mr. Speaker, it grieves me to rise and take a position opposite to that of my close friend and colleague, Mr. Lamb, but I feel compelled to do so under the circumstances.

Mr. Lamb began his remarks by referring to the duties as he sees them that a fiduciary has, and he labels those duties as, first, protection and, second, production. The amendment that we have before us for consideration today was designed to aid the fiduciary in his exercise of those very duties.

Removing the qualifications with regard to corporate bonds, preferred stocks and common stocks will give the fiduciary a greater opportunity to produce income from the fund that he is handling for the benefit of the beneficiary of those funds.

I might say in that connection that the legal list, or the list of "legals" as Mr. Lamb referred to it, is still retained in the law despite this amendment. The amendment deals only with two sections of the Fiduciaries Investment Act, section 6 and section 9, those relating to the purchase and retention of corporate bonds, preferred stocks and common stocks.

The further point made by Mr. Lamb was with regard to the removal of the one-third limitation. Presently the Fiduciaries Investment Act says that the investments made by a fiduciary in common stocks shall be limited to one-third of the market value of the estate. The imposition or the retention of this limitation limits the fiduciary in the exercise of his duties, as Mr. Lamb wants to see him perform them, with regard, not only to the protection of the capital but the production of income. It deprives him of the chance to diversify the investments which he may be able to make and thereby render greater profit or income to the beneficiary, and also secure to a greater extent his investments.

Now insofar as the small fiduciary is concerned, as he referred to them, I believe he makes this point, that if we regard the larger banks and bank and trust companies when we think of fiduciaries, there is no problem. They are competently staffed with trained technical personnel. What of the other group, the smaller group of corporate fiduciaries and some individuals? We all know that the practical matter is that these men, if they are not competent and do not have the staff or technical assistance available, seek the advice of counsel learned in these matters, or of larger and more competently staffed corporate fiduciaries.

Of course, we must also keep in mind that in the greater number of these cases the trustee, if he is an individual or a smaller fiduciary, is selected by the testator or the settlor himself and is a person in whom this man reposes confidence and trust evidenced by the very fact that he has selected him.

I want to point out to the members of the House, in urging support for the adoption of this amendment, that the "prudent man" rule is part of our present law and I would like to preface the last part of my remarks by reading this language which delineates or sets forth the standard of care which the trustee or fiduciary must exercise. That language is like this: It authorizes fiduciaries to purchase or retain these securities that we have talked about both in the exercise of that degree of judgement and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence, discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs, not in regard to speculation, but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds, considering the probable safety of their capital.

The "prudent man" rule, as it is called, has been in force and effect in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for over 100 years. Since it was adopted there it has been adopted by 32 other States. It is a matter of record that no jurisdiction or State which has adopted this rule has ever abandoned it. Information is available which indicates that surcharge suits filed against fiduciaries are fewer in number in those jurisdictions and States which have adopted that rule than in those which have not.

I might say that perhaps the adoption of this amendment would make our law even clearer. It would still give the cautious or conservative fiduciary who simply wants to go through a perfunctory performance of his duties, the right to consult the legal list and make those investments and feel safe about it, and at the same time it will encourage the energetic and capable fiduciary and trustee to invest in a larger field and produce a greater income and thereby render a greater service. I urge all members to support the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of a fiduciary is to protect the investment, not to speculate. We can recall back in 1929 and 1930 when the investment funds of minors and banks were lost due to unfortunate conditions. We say it is better to have a four or five percent guaranteed investment for a minor, especially, than to take a chance for a good profit in a speculative enterprise.

I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb, that we are giving too much power, especially to indivdiual fiduciaries. I can think of a case where the fiduciary would want to invest in a family corporation which he thought was a good investment. It might turn out to be o. k. or it might turn out to be a disaster, and when the minor reaches the age of 21 he has no inheritance. Let us protect these minors, not speculate with their inheritance.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I just want briefly to back up my good colleagues, Mr. Goldstein and Mr. Lamb.

These provisions were originally put in the act for a good purpose and I have seen nothing develop in the economic life of this country or of this State that should change that purpose. They were based on hard experience through the 20's and the 30's, and I have seen nothing, as I say, develop in the economic life of our State or of our Nation that should move us to remove these vital restrictions on the investments of widows' funds, incompetents' funds and childrens' funds. They should and rightly ought to have every protection around these funds that we can possibly give them. It would be a mistake, in my estimation, to remove these restrictions that are now in the present law for the investment of trust funds, and I ask all my friends on both sides of the aisle to vote against this bill in its present form.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Perry.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, may I call the members' attention that the "prudent man" law in fiduciary funds has been in existence in the State of Massachusetts for, perhaps, a hundred years. Benjamin Franklin left equal sized trust funds to the city of Boston and the city of Philadelphia. Across the years the returns from the trust fund in the city of Boston is about double what the return is in the city of Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill. I am particularly impressed with the argument with reference to charities, charitable trusts, fiduciaries holding money which is intended for charitable purposes, that these particular funds will be able to enlarge themselves much better than they can under existing laws. Because of this particular point of view, I ask the members on both sides of the aisle to vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1838, entitled:

An Act amending "The General Assessment Law," approved May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853), providing that reproduction costs shall be considered in arriving at value and providing that factors taken into consideration in arriving at the value of real property and valuations so determined by certain counties under a permanent system of records may continue to be a valid basis for assessments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an amendment to the general county assessment law providing that reproduction costs be taken into consideration as a factor in levying assessments. Now we have had a lot of bills before this General Assembly seeking to redefine assessments to make them market values and raising the general level of assessments, putting floors under the 30 percent and everything else.

Apparently they have a situation down in Bucks County that is peculiar unto themselves in connection with some interpretations which have been placed upon certain phases of the re-assessment program on the question of using reproduction costs as factors in determining an assessment.

Now I am perfectly willing to help out Bucks County, but this applies to the entire State, and when we do, I wonder if this step is not a device to really take the taxpayers into space and orbit, to think that you can levy assessments by using reproduction costs as a basis of assessments instead of the actual value of the properties involved. As I say, I am perfectly willing to help out Bucks County, but I am not willing to help them out to the extent of imposing this basis of assessments and valuations upon the entire Commonwealth. I think we are really going haywire and clearly out in left field on this question in trying to establish assessments in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think it is wrong and, therefore, I am going to vote against the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Perry.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I want to concur in what the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, said about this bill. If this bill were to become law, property owners in the State of Pennsylvania who have properties that are 30 years or older could be penalized tremendously in assessments.

To give an example: I own a building; is is a four-story block building in Philadelphia, built in 1876. It is appraised and assessed today at $30,000. To reproduce that building today with 24-inch walls would cost over a million dollars. And if the assessment were made on that building on a reproduction cost, I would give them the building as a gift. And that applies to any building, particularly in rural areas, the old farm buildings with their big wide, thick stone walls. If they are appraised or assessed at reproduction cost, their assessment would multiply at least eight or ten times.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, rise?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have my vote recorded as "aye" before the roll call is announced. Apparently something was wrong with my button.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Did the gentleman vote before the roll call had been locked?

Mr. SHERMAN. I wish to vote "aye."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's remarks will be spread upon the record.

Mr. SHERMAN. I think, Mr. Speaker, if I am correct, before the vote is announced that I have a right to have my vote recorded as "aye."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. After the roll call has been locked, no one can be recorded.

Mr. SHERMAN. I understand, Mr. Speaker, that is was not announced. Cannot my vote be recorded as among those who voted "aye" since there had been no announcement of the vote?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. After the Speaker has cleared with the respective floor leaders and announced that the clerk will record the vote, it is impossible for a member to be recorded. The remarks of the gentleman—

Mr. SHERMAN. Even so, Mr. Speaker, as far as the official roll call, my name should be in the "ayes," and I ask for a consultation with the parliamentarian on whether my vote should be recorded with the "aye" votes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, we are voting by the electric roll call system, and it is impossible for the gentleman to be recorded after the roll has been locked.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let it be known that if my vote had been recorded, I would have voted "aye."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to reiterate that statement, inasmuch as the recording machine had been locked before I was able to get to the toggle switch, that if I were in my seat and able to vote, I would have voted "aye" on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have just been informed that the Senate passed the reorganization bill a few minutes ago, 26 to 23, so it is on its way to the House.

I do not have 106 votes on the Democratic side for House bill 1789. I certainly have mighty close to it, but I am going to ask that when I release the House it will only be for a recess and that the Education Committee will stay. As soon as the reorganization bill arrives from the Senate, it will be referred by the Speaker to the Education Committee and I hope it will be acted upon favorably and reported to the floor of the House and I will ask for a first reading today.

We will not vote on the tax measure today even though we have made good progress since the vote last week when there were at the high point 81 votes and on the final vote 78 on the tax measure. We will debate the issue of the taxes when we call the bill up for a vote. Of course, we will attempt, as we have attempted today, to get all of our members here. We certainly have done an outstanding job in asking them for their support of this tax measure.

Mr. Speaker, I will at this point, if it is proper to do so, let the members know that they may leave for the day. We will convene Monday at 3 o'clock fast time, but we ask the Education Committee to stay in recess. We will be at ease in the House until the bill arrives and the Education Committee acts upon the bill and reports it on the calendar.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe I will withhold any comments on the tax bill, whether we are for or against education. I mean there is rankling on our side concerning the statement made yesterday by the majority leader that we would have a chance to show whether we were for or against education or not. That statement was not, of course, a true statement as to whether we will vote for or against the tax bill.

The members want to go home. We could open up an hour's debate here, but I believe there is another week here to have the reorganization bill on the calendar and we will all have an opportunity to be heard. I have about eight or ten people on this side of the House who want to make speeches on it and we will therefore stand on the record this week and we will meet you here next Monday.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 716

Mr. IRVIS. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 716.

AMENDED SENATE BILL NONCONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has nonconcurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 111.

An Act revising the procedure to be allowed concerning arrest detention and bail substituting criminal summons for warrant of arrest in certain criminal cases and fixing penalties.

and has appointed Messrs. SILVERT, DONOLOW and SCOTT a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 111 and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 111

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has appointed as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House, Messrs. GAILEY, IRVIS and J. H. GOLDSTEIN.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, before we finish today I, of course, have to check with the Senate. They asked me to wait for a minute.

I guess it has been announced and is official about the Secretary of our House, Mr. Philip Lopresti.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I do not believe it has been announced officially, but I believe it would be more appropriate to make such an announcement at a time when we had a full House.

Mr. McCANN. Well, I think it would be embarrassing to some people if the information goes out this week. I would have been glad to say it when we had a full House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order to say it, if he so desires, at this time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the record, Mr. Philip Lopresti, on September 1st, will become the executive director of the legislative Budget and Finance Committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair congratulates the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, as I am sure the members of the House do.

The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I too want to join in the congratulations to Phil. I have watched him go up the ladder. I suppose some day he may be governor, you never can tell.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. He says he is not a candidate.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. He is not a candidate? O.K. I will say this, however, I am not on the watchdog committee and I was not a part of the maneuvering, shall we say, that made such a splendid choice. I know it was done wisely and well, and I am sure that Phil will do the job. The watchdog committee, I take it, will proceed to be staffed and do the job that was expected of it when we set it up. It takes somebody who has been around here and knows legislation, knows our procedure, knows budgets, knows where the money has been going and knows what we in the legislature had in mind in setting up the legislative watchdog committee. In that respect I think Phil is a splendid choice and I am sure that he will have the backing of the entire General Assembly and we will expect him to do the job for us that we anticipated would be done when the act was passed. Thank you.

SENATE MESSAGE

and has appointed Messrs. HAYS, SEYLER and BELL a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such a committee) on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 698 and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE, OVER IN ORDER

SB 845—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. SILVERT.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE DEFEATED

HB 1082 (Pr. No. 1199)—On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I merely want to make one statement here so that everybody will understand the real purport of this bill.

This bill would permit the polls to be open one extra hour on election day. The purpose for that is because there are many people who work odd hours. There are some who work very early hours and there are those who work very late hours. This bill would provide an extra hour for those people to come to the pools and vote.

In the General Election and the Presidential Election, we have found that perhaps where there is a great deal of to-do about it and it reaches national headlines, then you may get sixty per cent of the people voting. We feel this would bring a number of additional people out. We also feel that the majority of the people would have an opportunity to vote.

I think we should not disenfranchise people, but rather enfranchise them and give them an opportunity to vote at these elections, which are vital to us and which will elect people to office who will guide the destinies not only of our cities and State, but the Nation as well. We feel this extra hour will give some of these people an opportunity to do so. I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would agree that it would be desirable to have more people come to the polls and vote. However, I do not believe—and I believe I am right—that having the polls open an extra hour in the day is going to answer the problem. It is a matter of education, information and interest in government, which would be reflected at the polls by the people going to them whether they are open six, eight, ten or fifteen hours a day. It does not make any difference, because those who are going to go and vote are going to go and vote. Those who are disenfranchised by having the polls open one hour less than eleven hours is hardly a consideration at all in this matter.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would just like to make one remark, and that is that at the present time, the polls are open for thirteen hours. You have one group of election officials who are there for the entire thirteen hours. Then, in some of the areas, it takes them another twelve hours, at least, to count those votes. I do not think it is fair to them. It is not only unfair to them, but they are so tired that it invites the mistakes which are very often made when the official count is taken.

I do not think this bill will help one bit. In thirteen hours, the people certainly have enough time to get to the polls and vote.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Miller,

A constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

HB 795 (Pr. No. 2642)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constituion,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, we are considering House Bill No. 795, Printer's No. 2642.

I think this carries an appropriation for the Dickinson School of Law in the amount of $135,000. A few weeks ago, I voted in opposition to a salary judge bill. When I finish with these remarks, I will be afraid to appear before any court in Pennsylvania, I suppose. I got myself in wrong with all the judges, and now I suppose I will clear up most of the attorneys.

However, before we vote on this measure, I want to put a couple of facts before you. As I recall, two years ago, we appropriated $50,000 to this institution. I believe this represented something like forty per cent, I was told, of their budget. This year, by this legislation, we are appropriating $135,000. I want to show you what that means. As I understand it, there are 197 students there. We are giving each of those students a scholarship of about $750 a year. Of those students, twenty-eight of them are nonresidents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I want you to contrast with that the fact that of the thousands of high school boys and girls who graduate each year from the high schools and private secondary schools of Pennsylvania, the State awards eighty scholarships, valued at $200 a year. Here, with one simple bill, we are awarding scholarships to approximately 200 law students, at about $750 a year, and twenty-eight of these students are not residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In the light of these facts, Mr. President, I choose to vote "no" on this legislation. I hope many of my colleagues will join me.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, with reference to Senator Hayes' remarks, I would also like to remind him that down through the years, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has awarded scholarships to all of the medical schools in Pennsylvania. This year, I understand that the scholarship is $2,400 a year for each medical student in every medical school in the Commonwealth. I have no figures, however, as to the nonresidents. I imagine there are quite a number of them. We have gotten into this practice and I do not think there is much we can do about it.

It was my understanding that Dickinson Law School had financial difficulties and that is the reason there was an increase in the appropriation. This is the reason why I intend to vote for the bill, unless someone can inform me otherwise.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, for many years, we have debated in the Committee on Appropriations about this bogus issue of students from outside of Pennsylvania. It is true enough that the Commonwealth supports the students in the medical schools and now in the law schools. However, on the other side, if start examining the number of students from Pennsylvania who are attending institutions in other sister States, you will find that the matter balances itself.

I feel this is a faulty approach to the entire problem. I hail from a city district, but I feel that the rural sections have many students who are unable to attend institutions of higher learning if they have to go to Pittsburgh or to Philadelphia in order to obtain their higher education. For this reason, I believe this is a good measure to help the rural sections of Pennsylvania send their sons to a law school such as the Dickinson Law School.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I can understand the concern of some of my colleagues about this measure. By the same token, if in the State of Pennsylvania one of our more illustrious law schools—and we have many in this State—were to turn out one young man, who happens to be an American citizen despite the fact that he did not use wisdom in choosing Pennsylvania as his home base, we can all be proud if that man is one who might serve in one of the departments of State or serve the State wherever he goes. Our population today is very mobile, as you can see from the latest census figures. People are on the move. Where a man may be born does not necessarily mean that is where he is going to serve and that is where he is going to live. As a matter of fact, in government today, you find many people who were born in various States who may be serving in some capacity somewhere else and may be doing a good job.

I would not want to restrict it. I do not think we ought to be that provincial that we cannot open our schools, our education and our learning to all people from wherever they might be. People have trailed all over the world to come to the schools of Pennsylvania—our medical schools, our law schools and our colleges—because the training they get here is the finest.

I urge my colleagues to vote "aye" on this measure.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I intend to vote for this measure because all of the good judges— and most of the judges— come from Dickinson. Therefore, they ought to get a little more.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I have no objection to the generosity shown by the House—and possibly it will also be shown by this body—in approving this increase to Dickinson from $50,000 to $135,000.

However, I cannot satisfy in my own mind, as I sit here the comparison and the actions taken by the House—which probably will be adopted by this Body—when they take a hospital like Children's Hospital, in Philadelphia, which is one of the finest institutions in Pennsylvania, and cut that hospital from $90,000 to $81,000. I hope the generosity that is shown toward Dickinson will be approved when I introduce my amendments later on today for Children's Hospital.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I happen to agree very heartily with Senator Donolow on the matter of Children's Hospital. However, I believe this Body should have one fact straightened out in their minds. In the biennium of 1959-1961, the appropriation was $250,000. The appropriation asked for in House Bill No. 795 is $135,000 for a thirteen-month period, which if you will examine the figures, is the pro rata share without any increase or any cut in the previous figure.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I just want to thank the alumnus of the Dickinson School of Law for bringing me the correct facts. Thank you very much.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

APPROPRIATION BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 1709 (Pr. No. 2501)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DONOLOW, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

> Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 2, 3 and 4, by striking out all of lines 2 and 3, "TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS ($17,259,125)" and inserting: seventeen million three hundred three thousand one hundred twenty-five dollars ($17,303,125)
> Amend Sec. 1, page 4, line 17, by striking out "81,000" and inserting: 125,000

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, these amendments would increase the appropriation for Children's Hospital in Philadelphia.

Children's Hospital of Philadelphia has the rare distinction of being one of the outstanding hospitals in the United States in dealing with children's diseases. I do not believe there is a county in the State of Pennsylvania that does not have children sent to this hospital at one time or another.

There is not a pediatrician in our Commonwealth who has not taken some course or done some work at Children's Hospital. There is not a pediatrician in the counties of the Commonwealth who at one time or another has not submitted or sent a child to Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Not only is it a wonderful hospital for the care of children, but the research division of Children's Hospital for rare diseases is an outstanding example of progress in our Commonwealth.

Mr. President, this money is needed badly by Children's Hospital to continue the work they are carrying on in the care and research of children's diseases.

You cannot put Children's Hospital, Mr. President, in the same category as you would other hospitals. The care of children necessitates care around the clock and it necessitates nurses almost continuously to feed the children and to take care of their every need. They have children in this hospital who came there right at birth, and some remain there as long as three, four and five years.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to support this need because it is a crying need in our day.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Donolow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Donolow, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DONOLOW. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, do I understand that the appropriation in this bill is a decrease from the prior appropriation?

Mr. DONOLOW. Yes, sir; from $90,000 to $81,000.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I certainly concur in the remarks made by Senator Donolow, and would ask my colleagues to vote in favor of these amendments.

There are some reductions in hospital appropriations from the prior appropriation bill. However, these I understand were made because of the availability of Kerr-Mills funds. This would not be true in the case of this hospital, and, therefore, I think these are very salutary amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, without taking a great deal of time, as a co-sponsor of these amendments, I would ask my colleagues to vote for them.

I have had a personal experience, as far as this hospital is concerned. I will not bore anybody with that, or go into any detail or burden anybody with that problem. However, I think this is a worthy institution and it needs all of the help it possibly can get. I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. DONOLOW.

HB 1438 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 1438 (Pr. No. 2587)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 15 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 1438 (Pr. No. 2587)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to House Bill No. 1438, Printer's No. 2587.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before presenting these amendments, I would like to make a brief statement to the Membership of the Senate and to the people of southwestern Pennsylvania with reference to this strip mining legislation.

The amendments that I am offering, Mr. President and Member of the Senate, are compromise amendments. They will not restore the bill to the form in which it passed the House of Representatives. However, due to the fact that there is always a question of votes on the floor of the Senate, I was prevailed upon to agree to this compromise. That I have done.

I do not wish to review all of the things that have gone on before with reference to this legislation. However, Mr. President, I believe that the time has come when we must pass strip mining legislation which is strict and which is in the public interest.

This legislation, in my opinion, will accomplish that purpose. I do not feel that the bill is one hundred per cent. However, I do feel, Mr. President, that we have probably eighty-five or ninety per cent of the regulations, which appeared in the original bill, incorporated in these amendments.

I realize this is a highly controversial piece of legislation, and I hope the Membership on both sides will support my position on this bill.

What we have done, Mr. President, is reduce the bond in the bill from $500 to $400. We have also compromised, Mr. President, with reference to highways. I want everyone to know that by a recent agreement, I have agreed—after discussing it with a number of the Members of the Senate—to delete highways from the bill. I have it scratched out in ink. It is deleted in two places in the bill and I want the record made clear.

Mr. President, this legislation provides a number of features. I have an analysis, which will go over very briefly and which, I believe, will cover most of the salient parts of this legislation.

I believe this legislation will not put anyone out of business. I have heard this statement ever since we have tried to regulate any particular group. They always have the story that they are going to be put out of business.

Mr. President, a few Members who were present at some of the hearings heard some of the testimony whereby backfilling was going to cost anywhere from $.50 to $1.50 a ton. Then the Secretary of Mines came up with a proposal that he would do the backfilling for $.15 a ton. Of course, that was rejected also.

It seems to me that probably there is a lot of opposition to stricter regulations. However, in viewing the hills and valleys of southwestern Pennsylvania, I believe the public demands that we have regulations which will force strip mine operators to backfill, to fill up these mud holes, these acid mine holes, and to backfill the contour, if you please. This is not in the bill. Under the present law, they re-cover by the amount of three feet. This will increase it to five feet, and this is one step in the right direction.

We also have a prohibition here with reference to public buildings and to dwellings in populated areas, all of which are reasonable, Mr. President.

I feel this legislation, if accepted by the Senate, will be accomplishing something which we have tried to do for a number of years.

I do not know of any other way to do the job. I would like to have had the bill restored to its original form. However, I do not think that can be done. If any Member of the Senate has amendments which he will offer that will return the bill to its original form, as it passed the House, I will vote for the amendments because I feel it is an absolute necessity.

I want the public to know, also, Mr. President, that I am not affiliated with any group of sportsmen. I am not affiliated with any particular group at all with reference to this legislation. This is my position and my position alone. I am not influenced by anyone, and I do not intend to be. I am working for the best interests of the public, and I believe that this legislation is good legislation. I imagine, in years to come, the strip miners will agree that this is good legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I offer the following amendments and if the amendments are adopted, I request that the bill go over in its order, as amended, because there may be some further amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 14, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: four hundred dollars ($400.00)

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 19, by striking out "THREE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS ($3600)" and inserting:four thousand dollars ($4000.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 8), page 14, line 3, by striking out "THREE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS ($3600)" and inserting: four thousand dollars ($4000.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 15, lines 13 to 17, by striking out "THE EXPOSED PORTION OF THE" in line 13, all of lines 14 to 16 and "DEGREES" in line 17.

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 15, line 17, by inserting brackets before and after "for" where it appears the first time, and inserting immediately thereafter: The exposed portion of the high wall of the last cut in any operation which is more than seven hundred (700) feet from any group of five (5) dwellings units any public building school church community or institutional building cemetery or public recreational area after backfilling in accordance with the terms of this act shall not exceed an angle of seventy (70) degrees For

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 16, lines 6 and 7, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: four hundred dollars ($400.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 16, line 13, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($300)" and inserting three hundred forty dollars ($340.00)

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, at the outset, I would like to say that in no way, shape or form do I question the sincerity of Senator Lane. I know he is an ardent advocate of rigid control of strip mining in the bituminous field. I am only sorry that I did not secure the floor before he did. I do have amendments in my hand which I hope to have unanimous consent to offer after these are acted upon.

My amendments will do exactly that which Senator Lane suggested; that is, restore House Bill No. 1438 to the form in which it came from the House. I certainly believe that is the bill which should be enacted by this Body and by the General Assembly, as a whole. I do not believe that bill would, in any way, affect either the strip mining industry in Pennsylvania or would it, in any way, cause unemployment to the miners so employed.

I am absolutely satisfied that the bill, as it came over from the House, is fully operative. I am absolutely satisfied that various operators in the bituminous field have proven conclusively that the provisions of House Bill No. 1438, as originally presented to the Senate and passed by the House, can be carried out and that the operators can operate properly. I firmly believe that the natural resources of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be, as much as possible, protected for future generations. I do not believe that the financial gain of a few strip mining operators should be put above the preservation of our natural resources of our countryside.

I only want the Senate to know that at the completion of the roll call or the vote—whichever it may be—on these amendments of Senator Lane's, I intend to offer amendments which will restore the bill to its original form.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent to offer amendments to House Bill No. 1438 at this time, and I also request permission to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, without belaboring the point on the issue of amendments, I want my colleagues to know that the purpose and intent of these amendments is to restore House Bill No. 1438 to the form in which the House sent it to the Senate. I know there are others who share this sentiment with me.

Mr. President, there has been considerable controversy surrounding the issue of strip mining and its regulation. Yet, if you address yourself to the essential issue involved, it becomes apparent and clear the kind of action which is necessitated by the problem itself.

The first question I asked myself is this: Whether or not this industry, as presently conducted, is in need of regulation in the public interest. By the great well of public opinion and by testimony which has been gathered, I think it is clear that there is here a need for regulation. I am speaking of regulation not in the sense that you are going to alter the way strip miners strip, but in the sense that you will now begin to get them to do what they have not been doing.

The second question which occurs to me, Mr. President, is this: Whether or not these regulations or any set of regulations are the most appropriate in facilitating this activity and in preserving the public interest. Here is where the differences arise and this is where the question comes, in so far as these amendments are concerned.

On the side of those who support the restoration of the bill, this must be said: These amendments and the original bill are not based on speculation or any estimates or any guesses. They are based on experience. They are based on the best informed people we have in the Department of Mines. These are the people upon whom we have called, traditionally and by law, to regulate and to care for this particular activity in our Commonwealth. As I said, Mr. President, these amendments have been designed by men who are informed in this field and who are conversant with the problem. I certainly would never subscribe to any legislation wherein I would knowingly cause people to become unemployed or to destroy a legitimate activity.

The bill, Mr. President, as it presently stands, compels me to say that I have never seen a legislative bird so featherless. The real needs and the needs felt by the people whom we are called upon to satisfy are not answered by the bill in its present form.

The other question which occurs to me in regard to these amendments is simply that I am convinced that experience is going to dictate that a good bill, which the bill was when it was forwarded to us from the House of Representatives, will not only promote this industry, but it will also promote the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. You see, the great difficulty which has arisen, as far as this issue has been concerned, has been a predisposition on the part of some to try to determine what is necessary to satisfy the requirements of the strip miners. The real issue is what is necessary to satisfy the needs and the requirements of the people of Pennsylvania?

Mr. President, these amendments, I submit, while they might be demanding, are not destructive. Over the long haul, these amendments are going to preserve this industry and are going to protect the public's interest.

I call upon my colleagues to support me and others in these amendments. Right now, Mr. President, I have one vote down and I have twenty-five to go for a good piece of legislation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Staisey.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 14 by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: five hundred dollars ($500.00)

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 19 by striking out "THREE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS ($3600)" and inserting: five thousand ($5000.00)

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 5), page 11, lines 5 and 6 by striking out "OCCUPIED DWELLING HOUSE UNLESS RELEASED BY THE OWNER THEREOF OR" and inserting: dwelling unit

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 8), page 13, line 3 by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: five hundred dollars ($500.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 8), page 13, line 18 by striking out all of said line and inserting: five thousand dollars ($5000.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 8), page 14, line 3 by striking out "THREE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS ($3600)" and inserting: five thousand dollars ($5000.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 14, lines 16 to 18 by striking out "which shall begin at least [three]" in line 16, all of line 17 and "shall extend" in line 18 and inserting: [which shall begin at least three feet above the top of the coal and shall extend] from the top of the highwall

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 14, line 19; page 15, lines 1 to 8 by striking out"] PROVIDED THAT WHERE THE LAND" in line 19, page 14; all of lines 1 to 7 and "FURTHER THAT" in line 8, page 15.

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 15, line 10 by inserting a bracket after "thereof."

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 15, lines 13 to 17 by striking out "THE EXPOSED PORTION OF THE" in line 13, all of lines 14 to 16 and "DEGREES" in line 17.

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 15, line 17 by inserting brackets before and after "for" where it appears the first time and inserting immediately thereafter: For

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 16, lines 6 and 7 by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: five hundred dollars ($500.00)

Amend Sec. 4 (Sec. 10), page 16, line 13 by striking out "THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($300)" and inserting: four hundred forty dollars ($440.00)

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Staisey.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Staisey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAISEY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator whether his amendments would restore House Bill No. 1438 to the exact form in which it reached the Senate from the House?

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I should like to say "yes" quickly to that question, but caution tells me I ought not to.

The bill was sent from the House in one form, it went to committee, it came out of committee in another form, and it has just been amended on the floor. I would suggest, very respectfully, Mr. President, to my very fine colleague from Allegheny County, if he will join me and vote with me and we win, we will see it in print tomorrow and then we will know.

Mr. FLEMING. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

I am certainly in complete accord with what Senator Staisey is attempting to do. I had previously said that I would offer amendments to do that. I have the amendments here and I have had them since last week. They seem to be a little different than those of Senator Staisey's. However, I am certainly willing to accept Senator Staisey's statement that these amendments do return the bill to the form in which it came from the House.

I would, therefore, request that all my colleagues in the Senate vote in favor of these amendments in order to give this bill the proper terminology and to make the restrictions as rigid as possible on strip mining in Pennsylvania.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I believe, in my answer to my distinguished colleague from Allegheny County, I said that to the best of my knowledge and as I ordered the amendments, they were to restore the bill as it was when it came from the House. However, since then, a number of things have happened to that bill.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I hate scars. I feel that the bill, as amended, will prevent the kind of scars which it is supposed to effect. In public education, we have a theory about individual differences. My reason for voting "no" on the amendments of my colleague, Senator Staisey, is the fact that these amendments do not take into consideration some previous individual differences in regard to strip mining in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I would call your attention to the fact that the bill, as amended by the Lane amendments, recognizes, as does the State of West Virginia, that there are two types of terrain where strip mining takes place; namely, agricultural and more mountainous. Senator Staisey's amendments will not recognize this fact.

It seems to me that in the second place, the width of the seam is well-known. In some sections of Pennsylvania, the coal seam is forty-eight to sixty inches. In other places, it is twenty to thirty inches. The same regulation is being applied in these amendments in both areas.

I think, this morning, I just received from Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting the semi-monthly report on public assistance. This covers the sixty-seven counties. I want to give you the percentages of the population on public assistance, alphabetically, by counties. According to Mrs. Horting, the State average for the last two weeks in July 1961 was 3.7 per cent. I shall not read the names of the counties; you can follow it alphabetically. The county averages were 2.3 per cent, 4.7 per cent, 4.9 per cent, 2.2 per cent, 5.3 per cent, 1.7 per cent, 3.9 per cent, 5.4 per cent, 0.6 per cent, 2.1 per cent, 6.1 per cent, 1.8 per cent, 2.8 per cent, 2.1 per cent, 1.4 per cent, and 4.0 per cent. Then we come to Clearfield County, which is 6.4 per cent, having the highest percentage of people on public assistance.

I remind you that the stripping industry in Clearfield County employs approximately 1,900 or 2,000 people, directly, and many more people are indirectly affected by this industry.

Therefore, Mr. President, while I do not like to look at scars, I feel that the bill, as it has been amended, will take care of the physical scars in Pennsylvania. However, I do not want to vote for anything which might increase the scars of public assistance and unemployment in any section of the Commonwealth.

Those of you who live in counties with public assistance rates of 0.6, I think should keep in mind that there are some counties with people on public assistance with a percentage of 6, plus.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I request a roll call vote on these amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. LANE.

HB 1221 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 1221 (Pr. No. 2643)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 13 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 1221 (Pr. No. 2643)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent to offer certain amendments to House Bill No. 1221, on behalf of Senator Murray and myself.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, briefly, I am about to offer amendments which have the effect of increasing the stripping bond per acre to $400 in order to bring this bill into conformity with the Bituminous Act, which has just been amended in a similar fashion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 6), page 6, lines 12 and 13, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: four hundred dollars ($400)

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 8), page 9, lines 17 and 18, by striking out "THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS ($3600)" and inserting: four thousand dollars ($4000)

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 9), page 10, lines 12 and 13, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: four hundred dollars ($400)

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 9), page 11, lines 5 and 6, by striking out "THREE HUNDRED SIXTY DOLLARS ($360)" and inserting: four hundred dollars ($400)

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 9), page 11, lines 7 and 8, by striking out "THREE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS ($3600)" and inserting: four thousand dollars ($4000)

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 9), page 11, line 15, by striking out all of said line and inserting: four thousand dollars ($4000)

Amend Sec. 10 (Sec. 16), page 16, line 12, by striking out all of said line and inserting: three hundred sixty dollars ($360)

Amend Sec. 11 (Sec. 17), page 17, lines 16 and 17, by inserting a bracket before "and" in line 16 and after "operator" in line 17.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I have another amendment which would restore the enforcement provisions of the act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 13 (Sec. 21), page 19, line 16, by inserting after "both:" or undergo imprisonment not exceeding three (3) months or both

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I offer a further amendment which would increase the backfilling requirements to within 700 feet of homes and highways, at an angle.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 12), page 13, line 5, by inserting the following: The operator shall be required within one (1) year after a strip mine operation is abandoned to backfill all stripping pits which are not more than seventy-five (75) feet in depth and within seven hundred (700) feet of the right-of-way of any public highway or within seven hundred (700) feet of any dwelling unit public building school church commercial or institutional building on an angle of forty-five (45) degrees from the top of the highwall to the bottom of the stripping pit

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, incidentally, I want to again mention that all of these amendments—there are five in number and this is the fourth—are offered not only on my behalf, but also on behalf of Senator Murray.

I now offer another amendment which would require backfilling in the very deep pits which are, apparently, peculiar to the anthracite region.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease a moment.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will proceed to read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 12), page 13, line 5, by inserting the following: In all stripping pits which are more than seventy-five (75) feet in depth and are within seven hundred (700) feet of the right-of-way of any public highway or within seven hundred (700) feet of any dwelling unit public building school church commercial or institutional building the operator shall be required to backfill the pits on an angle of forty-five (45) degrees from a point on the highwall not less than seventy-five (75) feet above the bottom of the pit

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, all of the amendments which Senator McMenamin has or will offer here this afternoon to this particular measure have been worked out in the compromise except the present amendment—the one that is under consideration—and this is the amendment that I must rise and oppose.

This is the amendment which would be very difficult for the anthracite operators to fulfill and continue to stay in business. This is merely a question of economics in my mind, and I do not think they can comply with the provisions of this amendment and stay in business.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the last amendment which I am about to offer has the effect of restoring the present provision of the law which requires that all stripping, regardless of where it might be situated, be filled to five feet to cover outcroppings of coal to prevent underground mine fires.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 12), page 13, line 5, by inserting the following: In all stripping pits which are more than seven hundred (700) feet from the right-of-way of any public highway or more than seven hundred (700) feet beyond any dwelling unit school church commercial or institutional building the operator shall be required to cover the exposed surface of the coal seams to a depth of five (5) feet

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to also offer amendments to House Bill No. 1221, on behalf of Senator McMenamin and myself.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, these are restorative amendments to restore the bill to its original form.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease for just a moment.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will now read the amendments.

Amend Sec. 14, page 19, lines 17 to 19, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call vote on these amendments.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I rise to oppose these amendments.

These amendments, as pointed out by the sponsor, would restore this measure to the original form in which it came from the House of Representatives.

I would like to read into the record, Mr. President, from an advertisement which appeared in a number of newspapers throughout Pennsylvania today. Here is the context of this advertisement:

"Ninety-two million dollars will be lost to the economy of the six-county anthracite area if stripping bill No. 1221, in its original form, becomes law."

Mr. President, anyone who lives in the anthracite area, or anyone who has had an opportunity to visit the huge strippings in that area, certainly knows that if the provisions of these amendments become law, there is no question whatsoever that the anthracite stripping industry will fade into oblivion and go out of business completely in the State of Pennsylvania.

When you talk about $92,000,000 to the economy of a six-county area and the importance of that money to the citizens of that area, I would like to request all of my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as I am informed,—and I do not pretend to have any peculiar knowledge of this problem at all—the problem in anthracite is different than that in the bituminous strip mining field.

There is not a great deal of strip mining in my own area. However, I have been informed that because of seepage from bituminous strip mines, there is a danger that the impoundment of water in the proposed Kinzua Dam may become acid through seepage from strip mines.

Understanding that and similar situations in western Pennsylvania, I supported the amendments which would restore the bituminous strip mine bill to its original form.

However, Mr. President, being informed as I am that this problem is not the same in the anthracite region, and that economically it is an impossibility to carry out the provisions of House Bill No. 1221 and have the operators remain in business, I intend to oppose these amendments which would restore this bill to its original form.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MURRAY and were as follows, viz:

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 1335 (Pr. No. 2453)—Read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, as all of the Members of the Senate are well aware, this is the perennial bill which treats with the General State Authority, an Authority which was created some time back, and involves funds of the taxpayers of the Commonwealth over which this Legislative Body—including both the House and the Senate—loses control once the measure is passed or once the amount of borrowing power is increased.

I think it would be in order to have a very brief history of that agency and of the—might I call it—Frankenstein which we are creating as we increase the borrowing power of this agency.

I heard, on the Senate floor the other day, statements by two young and distinguished Members of this Chamber in which they announced that they hoped to serve in the Senate of Pennsylvania for many years to come.

Also, some few weeks ago when we were debating an amendment that would provide for a new Constitution in Pennsylvania, I heard the distinguished Member from Westmoreland County, Senator Mahady,—if I recall his statement correctly—say that this was an agency with which, because of the limited borrowing power under our present Constitution, we would have to live. I agree with Senator Mahady that this is a matter paralleled by others where we lose the legislative control, and I question very much the advisability in some instances.

Now for the brief history. During Governor Earle's Administration, this legislative monstrosity was created. Then when General Martin became Governor, he abolished and paid off the outstanding bonds at that time. Later, when Senator Duff became Governor, he asked for the sum of $175,000,000 to be granted as borrowing power for a revival of the General State Authority. During the four years of the Administration of Governor Fine, who succeeded Governor Duff, he asked for an increase of $155,000,000 in borrowing power. Then following Governor George Leader's four years and he asked for another increase of $150,000,000 in borrowing power. This you will recognize as a total borrowing power of almost a half-million dollars; to be more accurate, $480,000,000.

During the first two years of the present Administration, Governor David Lawrence asked for an increase of $141,000,000, bringing the total up to $621,000,000. Now this bill, House Bill No. 1335, if enacted in its present form, would increase the total borrowing power to $865,000,000, fast approaching a billion dollars.

To these young Members who stated that is was their hope and desire to be Members of this Body for a long time in the future,—and I hope they are Members—let me remind them, together with the oldsters of us who are here, that we are creating an obligation, Mr. President, in excess of $52,620,000 annually, and not biannually, to meet this obligation if the money were all loaned. So far, however, the agency has paid off a small fraction of its indebtedness, amounting to $68,000,000.

They have, for the information of the other Members of the Senate, unallocated borrowing power of $10,000,000, which is created from a reserve which they set up in the form of doing business. That reserve on each project amounts to architects' fees, six per cent; administration, five per cent; contingency, ten per cent; interest, four per cent; and load factor, one per cent. That adds to each project the sum of twenty-six per cent, which is a very liberal allowance. I think we would all agree on that.

This agency has been in existence—as I pointed out—for eleven years, and they have gone ahead with projects averaging some $30,000,000 for each year of their existence.

The amendments which I am about to offer, on behalf of Senator Kessler, Senator Propert, Senator Stevenson and myself, do not add any new projects to those included in House Bill No. 1335. They propose to set up certain legislative restrictions or legislative limitations, or landmarks or guideposts to go by. We firmly believe—and I am sure that it is the unanimous opinion of many of my colleagues—that certain legislative restrictions should surround this agency. It should not just go ahead or plunge ahead into the future without certain restrictions being placed upon it.

Therefore, Mr. President, if I may offer the first amendment—as I stated before, this is a series of amendments—and if I may have unanimous consent to make a brief statement in explanation of each of the amendments, I would appreciate it.

The first amendment would delete the driver examination points that are involved in House Bill No. 1335. About three weeks ago, these same Senators—Senator Kessler, Senator Propert, Senator Stevenson and myself—introduced a bill, Senate Bill No. 888, which was referred to the Committee on Highways. Senate Bill No. 888 would permit the Highway and Bridge Authority, which derives all of its rental money from the Motor License Fund, to set up these different points for driver examinations.

I think this is an important function in highway safety. However, if we deleted this from House Bill No. 1335,—and I sincerely hope that we will and I hope that the Members of this Senate will join in this request to delete it from House Bill No. 1335—Senate Bill No. 888 should then be passed. This would give the Highway and Bridge Authority the privilege of setting up these driver examination points.

Mr. President, on behalf of the Senators enumerated before, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman may proceed.

Messrs. WADE, PROPERT, KESSLER and STEVENSON offered the following amendments:

> Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 16 to 18, by striking out all of lines 16 and 17, and "201)" in line 18, and inserting: eight hundred sixty-four million one hundred eleven thousand thirteen dollars ($864,111,013)
> Amend Sec. 2, page 39, lines 5 to 19; page 40, lines 1 to 13, by striking out all of said lines.
> Amend Sec. 2, page 40, line 14, by striking out "XI" and inserting: X
> Amend Sec. 2, page 41, line 6, by striking out "XII" and inserting: XI
> Amend Sec. 2, page 42, last line on page, by striking out "XIII" and inserting: XII
> Amend Sec. 2, page 45, line 13, by striking out "XIV" and inserting: XIII
> Amend Sec. 2, page 45, line 15, by striking out "12,178,540" and inserting: 12,133,981

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I now yield to Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman, and I now move that the amendments which I have offered be laid on the table.

The reason for this request, as I stated at the outset, is that we have a series of amendments for this bill. It is rather late in the day, but most important of all is this House Bill No. 1335. This bill is a very extensive bill and one which is pretty costly to reprint. Therefore, I think all amendments offered to it should be offered on the same day.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the gentleman's motion for the amendments to be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

HB 778 CALLED UP

HB 778 (Pr. No. 851)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 4 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. LANE.

APPROPRIATION BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

HB 778 (Pr. No. 851)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to House Bill No. 778.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I expect to offer amendments to House Bill No. 778, House Bill No. 779, House Bill No. 780 and House Bill No. 781. Since the principle involved is the same, I will speak briefly about all four of these bills. I will also say that the same thing would apply to certain bills on page 3 of the Calendar, which we have already passed.

Therefore, Mr. President, I now offer to the Chair amendments to House Bill No. 778, Printer's No. 851, and after the amendments are read, I would like to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 3 by inserting after "appropriated:" subject to the limitations of section 2
> Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting after line 3:
> Section 2 Out of the appropriation made in section 1 hereof no more than is necessary and no more than the sum of two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) per Pennsylvania resident student plus an additional ten percent of that total for nonresident students shall be paid to the college

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, earlier in the day, I got myself in serious trouble with all the lawyers and judges of the Commonwealth. I will now make it a clean sweep by getting in the doghouse with the medical profession.

The thing that I am presenting is not peanuts, at least in my opinion. If the amendments to the four bills should be passed, I think it might mean a saving of $1,000,000 a year. That is how excessive this matter is.

Now I shall explain the amendments, and they are the same for the four institutions. These four institutions, of course, are medical schools. This amendment would provide that for each and every Pennsylvanian enrolled in these medical schools, the school would earn a scholarship of $2,400. Then we would add ten per cent to that so that this question of provincialism might be overcome, at least in part. This would permit each of these institutions to be paid for every Pennsylvania, qualified student enrolled, and ten per cent of that number, in addition.

One school has 69 per cent Pennsylvanians, which would be 31 per cent non-Pennsylvanians. Another school has 71 per cent; another, 62 per cent; and another, 50.9 per cent. Since the scholarship, shall I say, per year is about $2,400, you will observe, if you compute it, that this amounts to approximately $1,000,000 a year.

I am offering this amendment because I have a feeling —while I do not have the breakdown—that a great percentage of these nonresidents come from our neighboring States of Delaware and New Jersey. Delaware has no medical school and I think New Jersey has but limited medical schools. When I observe that New Jersey is stealing schoolteachers from Pennsylvania by means of higher salaries and I think the same thing is happening in Delaware, and when I observe that the per capita tax rate in New Jersey is less than in Pennsylvania, and when I observe that all the major unemployment pockets in the East are not in New Jersey and in Delaware, but instead in Pennsylvania, then I think that while it is very fine and high and noble to provide this kind of medical education, and it is medical education of the highest order and they are world-wide known institutions, it seems to me, as we scrouge around here to try to vote for enough tax measures to pay our bills,—I think I voted for everyone that has come over here—that we should look as to the kind of a free ride we are giving certain of our student guests, particularly from Delaware and New Jersey.

If we would bring this matter to a head, it seems to me that the States of New Jersey and Delaware might easily be persuaded to award scholarships. I recognize that Delaware is probably too small a State for a medical school to award scholarships to ten, twenty, thirty or forty members of the student body from the State of Delaware. However, Mr. President, I say to you that the economic condition in Pennsylvania is such that we should put a limit on the number of nonresidents we educate at the rate of $2,400 a year. I am not saying anything critical about any of these four institutions or the other medical schools which might be involved in this. I am simply saying that I think the economic condition of Pennsylvania is such that we should not spend $1,000,000 in this way.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote for these amendments. They would allow each school to earn $2,400, multiplied by the number of Pennsylvanians enrolled, plus ten per cent to care for a reasonable number of out-of-State students, because, as I have told you, some schools have as high as forty-nine per cent and others have thirty per cent in nonresident students.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to be heard on the amendments to House Bill No. 778, relating to the appropriation to Women's Medical College.

As I understand these amendments, Women's Medical College would be limited to ten per cent of its enrollment for students outside of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Mr. President, the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania, located in East Falls, Philadelphia, is perhaps the most unique medical school in the world. Here is a medical school which has no duplication in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or in the United States. I understand there is no other purely women's medical college perhaps in the entire world.

To limit this Women's Medical College—with the great distinction it now possesses of being the only women's medical college in the world—to ten per cent of students from outside of Pennsylvania would mean that not only the forty-nine States and the State of Pennsylvania would be included in that ten per cent, but also students from all over the world who now attend Women's Medical College. I understand they have students from the Far East and they have students from India. The damage which an amendment of this kind would do to the reputation and distinction of this school could not possibly be measured in money.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask that the amendments be defeated.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there is a certain facet of this entire problem which escapes the attention of the gentleman who proposed the amendment.

There is always talk about importing medical doctors and exporting medical doctors. There are many students who come from New Jersey, Delaware or Ohio. I do not know why the proponent forgot to mention Ohio, whose medical students come to the Medical School of the University of Pittsburgh. Many of them graduate from the schools and then settle in Pennsylvania and render their services to the people of Pennsylvania. Many of our Pennsylvanians who graduate leave Pennsylvania and go to other places.

For this reason, Mr. President, the time is at hand when we have to stop drawing these lines. It appears as though a person from New Jersey is a foreigner. Here in Pennsylvania, if you do not hail from the rural sections, you are nobody.

I have said time and again—and Senator McMenamin always picks me up on it—that it is about time we stop thinking in terms of the Nineteenth Century. We are now one Nation and one State and, to me, any institution—and this applies to Pennsylvania State University—is of great interest to me and I will support it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I oppose the gentleman's proposal to decrease the appropriation to these medical colleges. By indirection he is endeavoring to do what he is not doing by direction. In other words, if he wants to restrict our medical schools in Pennsylvania to Pennsylvanians, let him put a bill in to that effect.

What is going to be the effect on these medical colleges? You are going to take the lifeblood away from them. This is going to hurt the education given to all medical students in those colleges. You are not only going to get the doctors angry with you, Senator, but you are also going to get all the patients mad at you. In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I think the great majority of our people, at one time or another, depend on the medical care given by the graduates of these wonderful medical colleges.

I want to back up Senator Stiefel. In my community, we have even had people from Korea who have gone to the great medical schools in Philadelphia and who have settled in our community and have become great Pennsylvanians. I say that this move would shackle the medical schools of Pennsylvania and it would create, as Senator Stiefel has stated, a backward step. Let us also see what would happen in other States. If we start this, where we preclude non-Pennsylvanians from attending our medical schools, we will find retaliation throughout the United States.

Mr. President, I therefore, rise to oppose this move. It is not for the best interest of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Very reluctantly, Mr. President, I, too, must oppose Senator Hayes' amendments.

I recall a few years ago when we had quite a hassle with reference to the Teachers' Colleges in Pennsylvania. At that time, a great number of the authorities claimed that a number of the teachers were leaving Pennsylvania. A proposal was then made whereby any teacher who was educated in our Teachers' Colleges should pay back a certain portion of their tuition in the event they left Pennsylvania to teach in another State. That actually is peonage, and it did not work out. I am very happy about that.

As Senator Bell has stated, naturally these other States are going to retaliate. While Senator Hays was talking, I was thinking about the number of medical students from my area who are now in New York, Chicago or other States in other medical schools. The result would be that there would be a denial there.

On the other hand, Mr. President, we cannot forget the fact that we are one great nation. We should provide these facilities for every student because we are badly in need of members of the medical profession.

I think this is a backward step. I can see Senator Hays' intent as far as the legislation is concerned. However, I am very sorry, Senator Hays, but I cannot support the amendment.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I just want to say one word, and that is to dispel what I believe might be an erroneous impression created by the remarks of Senator Hays.

These appropriations to the various medical colleges are not, in any sense, intended to provide scholarships. His statement that we would provide a $2,400 scholarship for each Pennsylvania student in the medical colleges is to all purposes completely wrong. This money is appropriated to these medical colleges for the purpose of assisting them in their programs of education, and it is not confined to payment for scholarships to the students who may be in attendance.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have been busy milling around the floor and I have not followed all of this debate. However, it is my understanding that at the present time the medical schools do receive something in excess of $2,000 for each medical student. I know some few years ago they were getting $2,000 for every medical student, and I understand that it has since been raised to $3,000 for each medical student. I do not know what bookkeeping they have or how it is done, but the medical schools are subsidized to the extent of $3,000 for every medical student.

The reason I know that is because at one time I wanted to see the same thing done for dental students. It costs as much almost to be a student in a dental school as it does in a medical school. However, I was told to bide my time until a better day and until something else happened.

If I understand the situation correctly, at the present time each medical school that is State-supported is getting something like $3,000 for each medical student.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I would not deny Senator Berger's contention that officially this is not a scholarship. However, I would contend that if these medical schools did not get the amount of money they do receive, the tuition would have to be raised to about $2,400. Therefore, indirectly, this is a kind of scholarship, it seems to me.

I am at a loss to understand how the State of Delaware, which has no medical schools, or the State of New Jersey, which hardly has a medical school, could retaliate as far as Pennsylvania is concerned.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call vote on these amendments.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAYS and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—1

Hays,

NAYS—47

Bell,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Berger,	Keller,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Camiel,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Propert,	Stroup,
Confair,	Lane,	Ripp,	Taylor,
Devlin,	Madigan,	Rooney,	Van Sant,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Sarraf,	Wade,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order temporarily at the request of Mr. HAYS.

EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent, a motion was made by Mr. DEVLIN and Mr. LANE, and agreed to, that the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session for the purpose of considering a nomination made by the Governor.

NOMINATION TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I call from the table for consideration the nomination of Anne X. Alpern for appointment as Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, which was reported from committee on August 15, 1961 and laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the nomination.

The nomination was read by the Clerk as follows:

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA

July 31, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Anne X. Alpern, 3441 Beechwood Boulevard, Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, for appointment as Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, until the first Monday of January 1962, vice Hon. Charles Alvin Jones, resigned.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am voting against Miss Alpern for confirmation as a Justice of the State Supreme Court because I do not believe she has the proper judicial temperament for that position. Miss Alpern has announced some very fixed opinions on many, many subjects. However, the remark she made to three of her former fellow jurists from Allegheny County recently is the one that sticks in my mind. According to the newspapers, what she said when she was requested to have her photograph taken with these fine, outstanding Judges was something to the effect that: "Some people would shake hands with Khrushchev, but I would not."

What did she mean by this? Was she saying, in effect, that to have her picture taken with Allegheny County Judges would be something like shaking hands with the Red dictator? I had not noticed previously that she ever was reluctant to be photographed. Whatever was the meaning of this remark, this alone has not convinced me that Miss Alpern does not have the judicial temperament required of a Supreme Court Justice.

I can think of nothing more illuminating than the arbitrary stand she is taking as Attorney General in only asserting her authority when it does not involve her in a dispute with powerful members of her own party. Again and again she has sent her deputies and her investigators into Republican counties upon the first complaint of wrongdoing. However, when she is asked to investigate open gambling in Allegheny County or to intervene in the investigation of payola in the city administration in Philadelphia, Miss Alpern does nothing.

Recent, when requested to name a special prosecutor to investigate the Philadelphia scandal, she expressed the highest admiration for the appointed District Attorney, Mr. Crumlish, but said for the record that if she found he was not doing the job, she would intervene. Now look what has happened.

A few weeks ago, Mr. Crumlish, the Philadelphia District Attorney—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the matter before the Senate is the nomination of Anne X. Alpern for Justice of the Supreme Court. I do not mind listening to a political speech. If that is in order, I think we ought to get to that business.

However, I think this is completely out of order—this discussion of the District Attorney of Philadelphia. Mr.

Crumlish is not here for confirmation; only Miss Alpern. I think the gentleman ought to confine his remarks to that matter. If he wants to make a political speech, I will be happy to listen to him under Petitions and Remonstrances.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have not yielded the floor.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Weiner, I might point out to you, rose to a point of order, and Senator Fleming rose on that point of order, I believe.

Mr. FLEMING. That is correct, sir.

Mr. PECHAN. I was going to defend myself. However, go ahead.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would suggest to the Chair that the point of order is not well taken. The Senator from Armstrong County is laying the groundwork for his opposition to the confirmation of this nominee of the Governor. Certainly, he has every right to lay before the Senate his reasons for asking the Senate not to confirm Miss Alpern.

Mr. PECHAN. Thank you very much. May I continue, Mr. President?

Mr. LANE. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

Mr. PECHAN. Because you are such a gentleman, I will.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I think that Senator Pechan should eliminate the political speeches and put the facts before us, because I am ready and willing to answer him on this particular subject. I wish he would proceed with the facts and not all of the gingerbread. Let us forget about this delay—there appears to be a delay, anyway—in confirming this lady for this position.

I think Senator Pechan is part and parcel to a political campaign to commence right on the floor of this Senate. We should not have politics now. Let us have it after the confirmation.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would just like to ask the gentleman what he is doing now. I am not making a political speech. I am trying to tell you why I am not going to vote for her.

Mr. LANE. Tell us in short words, will you?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am going to do it my way. Senator, I have listened to a lot of your hooey, believe me.

Mr. LANE. I have listened to your hooey for months, too.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will address the Chair, please.

Mr. PECHAN. I am sorry, Mr. President. I am awfully sorry. I do respect the Chair and I do respect you. I would pray, though, that you will let me continue without these interruptions. I will be through in just a moment.

The PRESIDENT. On the basis of that, Senator Pechan, the Chair will be glad to allow you to continue.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not even know where I left off.

Mr. President, a few weeks ago, Mr. Crumlish, the Philadelphia District Attorney, issued a long statement in which he said that City Councilman Victor Moore had violated the State Election Laws by soliciting a $3,000 cash contribution from a city contractor and then failing to report it, but he then added immediately that he would not prosecute.

Has Miss Alpern intervened in this situation? Has she kept her pledge that she would? Of course not. That might jeopardize the support she hopes to get from Congressman Bill Green in the November election for this self-same place on the State Supreme Court.

I do not ask you to take my view on this matter. Here is what the Americans for Democratic Action had to say over the week end about the refusal of Mr. Crumlish to act in the Moore case:

"This position by the District Attorney may be a nullification of the judicial system."

I say to you that Miss Alpern's silence in a matter of such grave importance definitely demonstrates to me, and to the people generally, that she does not have the impartiality and the judicial temperament to be a Supreme Court Justice.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the only thing I can say is the voice is that of Senator Pechan, but the writing sounds like the Republican State Committee. They have opened the campaign a little bit early this year. I believe, at the moment, it is not an issue whether Mr. Crumlish did or did not take this position or that position.

The most important things that we have to discuss are this lady's qualifications to serve; here qualifications as a lawyer, as a person who is learned in the law and who can handle the situation, and whether she is the type of person who is qualified to take this seat.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us whether he was a Member of the Senate when the Lawrence Administration took office?

Mr. PECHAN. I was, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, was the gentleman present at the time when Miss Alpern's name was submitted here in nomination for the office of Attorney General?

Mr. PECHAN. I was, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advice us whether he voted for her at that time?

Mr. PECHAN. I did, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman also advise us whether he thought she was qualified to assume the office of Attorney General of Pennsylvania?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I took the word of the Governor. I felt that the Governor was entitled to his own Attorney General. I think some of you fellows on the other side swayed me a little bit.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, knowing how easily the gentleman is swayed, would the gentleman further advise us whether his county is not—if not contiguous—very close to Allegheny County and the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, the city of Pittsburgh is a suburb of Armstrong County.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us further whether he is aware of the lady's ability when she served as City Solicitor in the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. PECHAN. Not too much, Mr. President. I used to read about her and see her photograph. That is one of the reasons why I could not understand why she would not have her picture taken with three Judges. Her pictures—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please respond to the questions? I will be glad to let him make speeches on his own when he is ready to do that.

Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us further whether he knew of her abilities as a Judge in the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. PECHAN. As a dentist could judge a Judge, Mr. President, I would answer "yes." I would say that she was a competent Judge.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, when you told us before that you were swayed by the gentlemen on this side or by the Governor, that was not the entire statement. What you really meant was that from your own knowledge of her as City Solicitor in the city of Pittsburgh, and your own knowledge of her as a Judge, you were moved to vote for her confirmation here in the Senate as Attorney General for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because you knew nothing about her which would be derogatory or prevent you from voting for her. Is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. I would say substantially.

Mr. WEINER. Then, your only complaint here today is that of a political nature; that she did not act on a matter in the city of Philadelphia or elsewhere. Is that not correct?

Mr. PECHAN. I have a lot of complaints which I did not enumerate. I would not have dared to; you would not have permitted me to go on. You stopped me from telling you what little I did tell you.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman for his responsive answers. I want to further advise the gentleman, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, that this is not only a person who has served on a job and is just being promoted on a political basis. This is a young lady who has made quite a career for herself. She has done quite a job both as City Solicitor in the city of Pittsburgh and later on as a Judge. She gave up a very secure Judgeship, where she could have been re-elected time after time. This was a position which was a respected job in the community. She was a respected person to come in and join the Governor and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a job that had only a four-year tenure, wherein the job she previously held had a ten-year tenure. For her normal and good behavior in office, she would have probably been elected and re-elected as long as she cared to run. This has been the general history in the large cities and in the communities where they apply the Sitting Judge principle.

If the gentleman is piqued at her, I am sure that my colleagues will come to the same conclusion that I and many others have come to; namely, that there must be something personal involved which he either chooses not to tell us or wants to bring to our attention and for which he feels he must withhold his confirming of this young lady. She will only serve until the electorate has an opportunity to act upon the matter in November. I would assume that all things being equal, she probably will be re-elected in January and will then serve for twenty-odd years.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman that it was the Members on his side who went to her, as well, when we had problems in the Senate, I noticed that many of the decisions which she rendered were of a bipartisan nature. Many times, they were against many of the decisions I would have liked her to call for the reason that it might have helped our cause here a little bit more.

She has also represented the Senate when it had a little difficulty down in Philadelphia. I believe she did a very fine job. I heard no one complain, including Senator Pechan. Recently, she has represented the Members of the Legislature in a court action which they had. To date, I have heard no complaints about this. As a matter of fact, the first complaint I have heard about her or anything that she has done has been from the gentleman from Armstrong today on this floor.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I expect to vote against the confirmation of Miss Alpern as Justice of the Supreme Court. I believe it is the duty and obligation of every Member of this Senate to vote as carefully on the confirmation of anyone whose name is sent to us by the Governor as it is the obligation of the Governor to make the nomination.

I believe we have a very grave duty. We are inclined sometimes to a bit of levity on the Senate floor, but this concerns the confirmation of a Justice of the Supreme Court.

I have talked to no less than ten Judges of the County Courts, and I have yet to find a Judge of the County Courts who says that she should be confirmed. I think my feelings are summed up very well in a letter which I received today. The subject of the letter is, "Alpern Appointment to the State Supreme Court," and it reads as follows:

> "We respectfully ask you not to confirm the above appointment.
> "We believe Miss Alpern is not qualified for such a high office in the State Judicial Department. . . ."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman will forgive me for interrupting, I did not hear who this letter is from.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I did not give the names. I have not come to that part of the letter, as yet. I do not propose to give the names because I do not think they are relevant.

The PRESIDENT. That is obviously the reason why the Majority Leader did not hear you.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I shall speak a little louder. I hope the Majority Leader will turn up his hearing aid.

The letter continues as follows:

> "Past records such as refusing to prosecute vote fraud and corruption and expose election violations in Philadelphia as she did in other communities for less serious violations, as in the Cumberland County Commissioner's case.
> "Most important, we challenge her judicial temperament; attacks in violent temper on all who disagree with her, attacks on public utilities.
> "We need Judges on the Supreme Court Bench, and in all courts, free from political attachment or obligations or influence and we challenge her ability for this important appointment."

Just a few minutes ago, Mr. President, the Majority Leader questioned Senator Pechan as to whether or not he voted for her for the important position of Attorney General. I voted for her confirmation at that time. Since that time, in my judgment, her record does not prove that she would make a good Justice on the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Therefore, Mr. President, without further ado, I am announcing to the Members of the Senate that my plan is to vote against her confirmation.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, since Governor Lawrence named Miss Alpern to the Supreme Court, I have had occasion to discuss this nomination with lawyers in Philadelphia, both Democrats and Republicans. I wish to state that the consensus of opinion is that Miss Alpern is a brilliant lawyer who will add to the dignity, impartiality and ability of the Supreme Court.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Miss Alpern was born in Washington County. I recall when she first became City Solicitor for the city of Pittsburgh. I followed her career down through the years and I was happy, indeed, when Governor Lawrence decided to make her Attorney General for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I do not believe that Miss Alpern fears any political figure. I recall when I served as a member of the Vote Fraud Committee, selected by this Senate. The Chairman was my good friend, Senator Scott. There happened to be an injunction filed in Philadelphia against our committee. We went to Miss Alpern and she, as the Attorney General, represented this committee quite successfully before the State Supreme Court.

No one in this Senate can tell me, when the Attorney General would take such an attitude, that she is fearful of any political figure or that she is the pawn of any political figure. I do not think she is that type. I am quite sure she is the type who likes to stand up and be counted. She is not fearful. I believe she will make an excellent Justice of the Supreme Court, and I hope some day she will be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. President, I think there has been more or less a little discrimination against the feminine sex when it comes to high appointments in office. Here is an opportunity in Pennsylvania to appoint an able lawyer, a learned jurist, a person who has an even temperament, and a person who could do the job. I would like very much to see every Member of this Senate vote for Miss Alpern, because I have all the confidence in the world in this woman. I know she will make a wonderful Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, statements have been made that Miss Alpern did not prosecute alleged frauds in Philadelphia. I might say that whatever happened in Philadelphia is a picayune matter. However, as picayune as it is, Miss Alpern did appoint a young lawyer and a very able member of her staff, a man by the name of Mr. Kalodner, to look into the vote frauds. He did attempt very hard to make cases out of cases which did not exist. He made one or two little things stick. However, the opposition knows, and everybody who has any information about the situation in Philadelphia knows, that we have run the cleanest elections which have ever been run anywhere. This attempt to smear the name of Philadelpiha merely smells like politics.

I believe Senator Scott, the Chairman of the Vote Fraud Committee, said that the elections in Philadelphia were clean. We intend to keep them clean despite this attempt to smear.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to call attention to the fact that Miss Alpern is up for confirmation and not Philadelphia. Her name was called from the table and not the name of Philadelphia.

As long as I have known Senator Wade, I have had great respect for him not only as a fair individual, but as a person who will do the honest and decent thing. I think, however, to read into the record any character assassination regarding anyone, without giving the source, is certainly not a very fair way of handling a matter, whether it be against Miss Alpern, me or anybody else. Senator Wade and I know that all of us receive mail about people. Anyone of us are subject to that type of attack if you are in public life. It might be that some people do not feel well or probably they have a problem of either some psychosis or neurosis which they should have taken care of, and they sometimes accomplish this by the use of a three or four-cent stamp. If you are reading letters from people who are ill and who need help, I think the gentleman should mention their names. If he does not, then I think he should turn the letter over to the Bureau of Mental Health and perhaps they can help that person, thereby putting a stop to the cluttering up of the mails. We have a deficit every year because of the heavy mailing that goes on. Many of these letters could be cut down if you took some of these sick people out of circulation. I know Senator Wade would not resort to using the names of people who are not mentally well and who take care of their problems by writing all sorts of poison-pen letters.

In all fairness to Miss Alpern,—who is a very fine lady and who has a very fine reputation in this Commonwealth, despite the fact that she might happen to be a woman and a Democrat, and if you will just leave that aside for a moment,—I think you should tell us the names of these people who are writing these things. Also, if it is somebody of any worthy note, then I would like to know about it myself. It may be they have some information which I do not have at hand. Perhaps I would not want to vote for Miss Alpern either. Therefore, Mr. President, I think the gentleman should make this known to his colleagues. Otherwise, I think it is in the category of being a low blow, which none of us can afford.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I expect to vote for Miss Alpern when we vote on her confirmation. My colleague, Senator Lane, prefaced his remarks with the fact that Miss Alpern was born in Washington County. I also was born in Washington County. If that has any preference, I hope he will hold me in the same esteem as he holds Miss Alpern.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, it gets very difficult for a Member of the Senate, and one who happens to be an attorney, to get up and state that he is going to vote against an individual who will become a Supreme Court Justice of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

However, I happen to feel very strongly about this. The individual who put it on the basis that this nominee is even-tempered is the person who put the finger on the reason I am going to vote against her. I am voting against her for the very lack of even temperament which she has shown. I have witnessed that lack, and I, as an attorney, would not desire to have that type of temperament on the bench.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, just a slight remark in answer to Senator Pechan's statement. In one of the committees of the Senate there lies buried one of my bills which I introduced earlier in the Session. That bill would have transferred jurisdiction, in cases of appeals from decisions of the Public Utility Commission, to the Supreme Court. Now the appeals go to the Superior Court. I wanted to lend dignity to these appeals by sending them to the Supreme Court, but my colleagues saw fit to put this bill to death.

Anyway, Miss Alpern is going to the Supreme Court and not to the Superior Court. Therefore, whoever is afraid that she may in any way affect the public utilities should not worry about it, because she will have no jurisdiction over these cases.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection from the gentlemen of the Senate, I think that I could cast some light which may be of help to you. I hear no objection and so I will proceed.

I have spent a little over two and one-half years as a Member of the Pardons Board, working with Miss Alpern as the Attorney General. I can tell you that she has an absolutely perfect judicial temperament. I have worked for her. She has a big heart. She has considered every case that has come before the Board with carefulness and with clarity. I respected her as a Judge, when I was a Judge, in the Judicial Conferences that we attended, and I am happy to have been able to work with her during the last two and one-half years.

If it is a matter of judicial temperament that is affecting any of you gentlemen, you can accept my word for it. She does have it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I will preface the very short remarks I intend to make by saying that I am going to vote for the confirmation of Miss Alpern, having previously stated so upon interrogation by the press many times. I consider her a highly competent and excellent lawyer.

However, Mr. President, it may be well to say here that any remarks that are made on the Senate floor apropos of the confirmation of a Governor's nominee for such a high post as this are in explanation and justification of the vote which these gentlemen intend to cast, pro or con, on the nomination. They have, in my opinion, every right to assert what they believe and their reasons for so asserting.

Mr. President, I think it is unfortunate, possibly, that this matter comes before us at this time. Whether or not Miss Alpern is confirmed by the vote here today for the post of Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, she is at the present time a nominee of the Executive Committee of the Democratic Party for that post, and if my vote should assist in her confirmation, it should be well understood throughout the Commonwealth that it is not by any means an endorsement on the part of the Republican Senate for that office.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I realize that the hour is late. I realize that a roll call is about to be taken. However, I think I would be somewhat remiss in my duty, as one from Allegheny County, not to say a few words on behalf of Miss Anne X. Alpern.

My remarks will be brief because I expected no such repercussion from the Republican side of the aisle.

I realize that many of the Senators in this Body are lawyers. However, they are lawyers who, perhaps, did not appear before Miss Alpern as a Judge, or when she acted in her capacity as City Solicitor of the city of Pittsburgh. I, for one, appeared before her on matters involving the city of Pittsburgh and also in her courtroom, both in criminal court and in civil court.

Gentlemen, you must distinguish between appearing before a person who is sitting as a Judge and one who is acting in the capacity of Attorney General. I assure you that in her capacity as a Judge, where I have seen her working with other jurists and sitting alone,—and we lawyers know of the term "court in banc"—she was an able, competent and fearless Judge, and she will serve this Commonwealth well when she is elevated to the high court, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

I ask you gentlemen to think twice before you vote against Miss Alpern because you are not doing your duty not only to yourselves, but you are not doing your duty to the Commonwealth and the people.

I, therefore, ask each and every one of the Senators to vote in the affirmative for the confirmation of Anne X. Alpern as a Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I had promised to offer amendments to this bill, House Bill No. 779. However, due to the singular success I had with Senate Bill No. 778, I think I will withhold the amendments.

I would like to say that I have learned something. I think I want a voice vote the next time.

Secondly, I want the good ladies of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania to understand that the only reason we used them as a test case is the fact that they were at the top of the page, and since I have lost the judges, the lawyers and the doctors, I would like to have a few women on my team.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Hays. It will be so explained to the ladies.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

APPROPRIATION BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 781 (Pr. No. 2639)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, Senator Hayes, despite the fact that he feels he did not score any victories today, rendered a great service to Pennsylvania this afternoon in this august Body. He did something which is long overdue. He elevated osteopathy to the same level as medicine. It happens that the College of Osteopathy does not benefit from the formula which he mentioned here on $2,400 per year, per student. They should, but they do not. Apparently, by including this in good company, I hope that in the future the College of Osteopathy will get its appropriation, not at the rate of $250,000 per year, but according to the formula of multiplying the number of students by the amount of $2,400 per year.

Senator Hays is the forerunner of things which are about to come.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL AND AMENDMENTS LAID ON TABLE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House bill No. 81 together with the Senate amendments be laid on the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, before they get off base, the parliamentarian has informed me that if you do not, you proceed to vote right on the amendment. So you vote on the bill when you knock down a conference committee report. You move to the next stage. We never discussed this with the minority floor leader. If he so desires we will proceed.

The SPEAKER. If you do not like the amendments you still have the bill. Having discussed the bill, the best place—

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, may we be at ease until we get this matter settled?

The SPEAKER. The best place for it is on the table until you make up your mind what you want to do about the bill. Defeating the amendments, as far as the House is concerned, does not defeat the bill.

The Chair would like to state that when anyone wants a roll call you just do not have a mob call "roll call." Some particular member asks for a roll call, some particular member seconds the request for a roll call, and you have a record. We often have a number of members asking "roll call," "roll call," when they do not mean it. When you want a roll call any member can rise and demand recognition and ask for a roll call. If the roll call is seconded then you get the roll call.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be familiar with the parliamentary situation which is now before the House. I do not understand it and I would appreciate if I could have a brief explanation when the conference committee report—

The SPEAKER. The Chair will explain.

The conference committee presents the report. The House rejects the report. It has passed the bill once. The bill is still before it without the amendments from the Senate. The motion is to lay the bill on the table.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, would we be in a position today to vote on the bill? Can there be any other motion than to lay it on the table when it is not on the calendar?

The SPEAKER. The only question you have before the House is on the amendments and you have rejected the amendments of the Senate. You have rejected the conference committee report on the amendments, but the bill is still alive as far as we are concerned.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am not interested in this particular bill, Mr. Speaker. I just wanted to learn some parliamentary procedure with respect to it.

The SPEAKER. We start from where we were.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to lay the bill and amendments on the table?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. McCANN and A. W. JOHNSON and were as follows:

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. With the permission of the House, the Chair desires to make a brief statement. The statement is brief by reason of the lateness of the hour today, half-past four, and the Chair has other avenues of communication with the members of this House.

We have no intention of inviting a purely partisan discussion; we do not want to inaugurate a session devoted to recriminations.

We have read in the papers that His Excellency, the Governor, favors a three-month session and the press of the State bob up and say, like the Philadelphia Bulletin, yes, His Excellency, the Governor, favors a three-month session and so do 10 million others. His Excellency, the Governor, has a very fine press, and once again we are the familiar whipping boy because of situations that absolutely we do not control.

What exactly did his Excellency, the Governor say? "The whole system is wrong," gentlemen. Mark that—the whole system. And I agree with him; the whole system is wrong. I am telling you the whole system is wrong. I would very strongly be for making provisions that we have a three-month session and adjourn at the end of three months or four months, whatever the time may be. "This—and he means and is talking about the present session—"is the greatest waste of time I have ever experienced in a long, long business and political career."

Now, ladies and gentlemen of the House, His Excellency, the Governor, and the administrative offices are a part of the system.

I have here a list of the bills that were said to be administration bills—and I only know that on the testimony of persons who purported to represent the administration's point-of-view—that were introduced in April, May and June. Now if you are going to start in January and end in three months, you cannot come in with bills in April, May and June. Half of the time the bills that were introduced in April, May and June represented a temporary administration or departmental point of view. This has been the "amendingest" session of the House that I have ever known. There have been more administration bills that have been introduced, amended, reamended, and re-reamended than I have ever experienced in all of my history here.

And so, His Excellency, the Governor, condemns the system, and so do I. I have long contended that what we needed was an order established that would have had committees of this House working last fall, formulating a legislative program. I have never agreed that tax programs should be formulated by citizens, however eminent they may be, who are members of the commission and hand us a program that we have had no part in creating, little opportunity to study, and supposed to swallow it. I have no sympathy with the idea of having an educational program that is framed by a commission not responsible to the members of this House, take a year to do it, not prepared at the opening of this session to file a report, many, many weeks, several weeks at least before any of the bills implementing the commission's report were available, and handing us a program which nobody had sold. You just cannot pull that program reorganizing the economy, wealth and educational facilities out of a hat. You have to sell it; you have to have grass-roots support. The people have got to know what it is all about, and I will venture to assert that not all the members of this House are even acquainted with the preliminary approach to the broad base project of education. We should have known something about it last year; we should have sat in; we should have had a part in formulating.

I will have something more to say upon another occasion about the system. We cannot get the system we need until we get the space to operate.

I would be very glad, and I think the leadership of this House and the members of this House would be very glad, to sit down in conference with His Excellency, the Governor, and determine what we must do to change the system, and what the Governor can help us do to change the system because there are some features of the Administrative Code that, in my opinion, will have to be amended before we can actually function as a free institution.

As for a "waste of time"—I resent it. There are members of this House and there are chairmen of committees who have worked day and night. And to cast aspersions upon the leadership of this House is rank ingratitude. I have never known a floor leader in all of my time here at Harrisburg who has put the time, the energy, the nervous energy, the devotion and the loyalty into an administrative program that the present leader has done. When administration bills were faltering, bills that I, personally, would have liked to vote against, how were they saved? By an appeal that the party needed your vote, or that the Governor needed your vote? Those bills, time after time, were saved by the simplest assertion that the floor leader possessed, "I need your vote." Notice how many administration bills got across. I say to you that the present floor leader has shown a type of personal allegiance, of personal leadership, that I have never seen exceeded nor equaled in all of my time here at Harrisburg, and some other time I will have more to say to you about the problems of the sessions.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER. Does the minority leader desire to be recognized?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I, too, would just like to make a few brief remarks, if I have permission of the House to do so.

The SPEAKER. The floor leader is always privileged to speak.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I know that on this side of the House last week, when we read the remarks of the Governor, the three-months' remarks, and so forth, that you have reiterated, this side of the House was literally boiling, I would say, and rightfully so.

I agree with the Speaker that a tremendous amount of hard work has gone into this session. Now, we of the Republican Party, when we were in power, let us take the most recent, 1957, how did we get out of here by the middle of June? We did it by sitting down and planning the session, as it were. We said, this month we are going to do this; next month we are going to do that. We are going to get out of here around the 1st of June. We are going to end our appropriation committee hearings on such and such a date, and we did that very thing.

On the appointed day Norman Wood had his appropriation committee hearings finished we had the bills out on the calendar; we had our tax program passed. In fact, we passed our tax program very, very early in the session, if you recall, in 1957; not as early as you folks did in January when you had the all-night session, but be that as it may, we had a tax program on the books relatively early, and, through sound planning, we were able to get out of here in the middle of June.

Likewise, in the '53 session, it was in early July when we ended the session. Now it can be done by proper planning. I agree with the Speaker of this House, the Governor has bombarded us with bills long after the 1st of April, stuff that should have been prepared, should have been in, should have been enacted into law. And even now administration bills are coming in right along from the front office and we are getting sheaves of amendments; we are getting bills from the attorney general's office, helping her, shall I say, in her campaign for the Supreme Court, but that is another matter. Be that as it may, we are getting an endless amount of stuff even now that ought to have been shut off long ago.

The only way to run this House, as the Speaker said, is to sit down and plan it. I can see where the majority party here could not plan anything because I do not believe that our Governor thinks in terms of planning. He is used to being mayor of a city where you do business all year long and council meets every Monday morning, and they decide on Sunday what they are going to do on Monday, and it moves and that is all there is to it. But when you are dealing with 210 people here in this legislature, you have to plan it; you have to come through with a program and you have to get it over with.

Now let us take this education program. We were rankled the other day when Mr. McCann said you will have an opportunity to show by voting for or against this tax program next week whether you are for education or not. Well, now, that was a broad statement to make. There is actually nothing sensational on this calendar so far as education is concerned. It is nothing but a simple subsidy bill that gives the schools back home $18.7 million. I know there is a reorganization bill on the calendar but that does not cost any money. Whether we vote for or against that bill does not say whether we are for or against money for education.

There is not anybody here, as I said, who would be willing to vote $18.7 million for education because we put the freeze clause into the education bill and, of course, the attorney general has said that that is unconstitutional, but we have shown that we have the interests of education at heart here by putting that freeze clause into that bill early in the session, and the Governor signed it, put it into law and there is no reason why it should not be paid. I am surprised that the school districts have not gone before the court and had the court on a declaratory judgment say that that freeze-clause amendment in the appropriation bill is just as constitutional as anything that has been put into the bill.

So, for you people on the other side—I do not want to get partisan now because the Speaker tried to be as nonpartisan as he could and as factual and as objective as he could—but whether we vote for this tax bill or not for education does not say that we are against an education program, because that education program could move, could go over to the Senate, and I would venture to say that if you took 5,000 people off the State payroll and cut down the budget like you did in '59 when you cut it down $42 million, there would be plenty of money right now for what is on our calendar, without putting on a dime of taxes, if the truth were really known. If they would cut $21 million out of this budget for one year, like the Governor did $42 million in two years, you would have the money in a nutshell for this program.

We are for this program and I venture to say if you would call it up this afternoon, before the tax bill, it would probably roll. The only one there would be any question about would be the reorganization bill, but we have not actually caucused on that. There are going to be amendments offered. But to repeat, you cannot say that we are against education, particularly now in the dying days of the session when the Speaker says there has not been any grass-roots sentiment built up for an education program because all the people back home say to you, there is an education program on that calendar. They think that we are going to perform a miracle down here in the next two weeks for education. But actually we are not. If $18.7 million passes, it will help the schools back home providing we do not eat it up for teachers' salaries this session.

There is nothing wrong with setting up a system of junior colleges, if you have the money to pay for it. There is nothing wrong with increasing the subsidies for school construction. But those are humdrum things in the ordinary walk of education that we probably should have done long ago; they are nothing sensational, nothing unique, nothing great about it; it is just a program here that is going to cost a little money.

So that is the admonition we have here. We could have, as I say, I agree with the Speaker, we should have gotten down to brass tacks in January and done the work, planned the session, and we could have been out of here. Reapportionment should have been agreed to long ago, but we have been dragging our feet on that and our crutch has been that we thought Congress was going to do something about it. We are nowhere on reapportionment today and we may not be tonight. I do not know, someone asked me when will we quit. We will probably quit here about 4 o'clock on December 30th, the way we are going.

I have nothing more to say. Maybe somebody else has some pertinent remarks on this situation.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY WHIP

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk on the issue that is before the House.

To start with, the Speaker has already mentioned that a part of any short legislative program is pre-planning. I agree with him 100 percent. By a little pre-planning we mean that when the Governor appears before the General Assembly to address it in January that he bring along with him, under the other arm, in addition to his address to the General Assembly, the package of bills that he wants as his program for the session; not to feel his way along all the time and keep introducing bills even as late as August, as he did with reapportionment.

No. 2, if you will go back and read the Governor's message to this General Assembly in January of this year, you will find that practically his whole program was tied to what the Federal Government might do, and we have dilly-dallied, and dragged our feet, we have hung around here waiting to see what the Federal Government is going to do, and the Federal Government just has not done. And we find ourselves, when the Federal Government has not acted, in a position of trying to develop a program.

No. 3, I said here that interim committees are very valuable things. They should be established in this House by a rule which I think we are going to try to adopt.

Another thing, your pre-session budget hearings are a very valuable thing to have us prepared when we meet here in January. We also suggest that be tried and done. Also, a line budget that the General Assembly may know what is going on, that we have some knowledge as to what is being done in government, that we be informed, that we become an independent coordinate branch of this government and not a subservient branch.

Those are the things which, in my opinion, will lead to a three-months' session of the General Assembly.

I would further recommend that we make a rule in this House and in the Senate that no administration bills may be introduced after the 1st day of March of any year. Make them get ready the same as they expect that we get ready. They cannot blame us for things for which they themselves are responsible. And if we want three-months' sessions, let us start gearing this General Assembly to those things which will give us a three-months' session, and if the administration is not ready, I do not care whether it is this one or the succeeding one, then we will tell them you will wait until the next session. You should have had your stuff ready and we do not intend to hang around here just waiting to see what you want to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DONALDSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, you quoted in your news letter and then read from the rostrum the statement made by the Governor on page 4 of the transcript of his press conference of August 7, relative to this session being a considerable waste of time, a statement with which I am in rather substantial agreement.

Mr. Speaker, I understand that the members of the majority party customarily receive the transcript of the Governor's press conferences. We in the minority have not been so privileged, but we would hope that we might be in the future. As I read the transcript, Mr. Speaker, I have a little difficulty in determining whether or not it was for real or whether it might not have been a script dreamed up by the gentlemen of the press for use at a gridiron dinner. I would suggest that a great deal of the reason for the long delay in this legislative session can be deduced by a brief examination of this transcript.

The Governor opens it on a rather prophetic note by saying, "We have nothing to give out, gentlemen." On page 2, under the talk about the meeting on reapportionment, the Governor is asked, "Have you got a compromise plan for tomorrow night?" and the Governor answers, "No, I have no plan at all."

On page 4, the Governor is asked in reference to the proposed limitation on the length of session, "Is there any plan for that?" The Governor answers, "I don't know, do you?"

Then over on page 5, the Governor is asked, "Do you think the lengthening to 40-foot trailers is going to do anything for highway safety?" and the Governor answers, "Well, I don't know whether it will or won't."

Then follows this interesting colloquy between the Governor and his executive secretary Mr. Geisey in response to a question, "Are there any other States that hold the limit to 50 feet, the overall limit?" and I will read this verbatim, because I think it is pretty good:

> GOVERNOR. I don't really know.
> Mr. GEISEY. I think—
> GOVERNOR. I think, generally, the — —
> Mr. GEISEY. — — the limits generally apply to the trailer rather than to the overall limit.
> GOVERNOR. I think that's right.
> Mr. GEISEY. At least that is my information, but I am not certain of it.

And finally on page 8, the conference closes on substantially the same note on which it was begun. The Governor is asked, and he is asked this during the week that his majority leader in the Senate predicted the session would sine die, he is asked, "What is your estimate of the terminal date of this session?" And he answered, "I have no estimate. What is yours?"

Mr. Speaker, one of the grave reasons for the long length of this session is apparent, either indifference, or a wait-and-see attitude on the part of the front office. It is a fact, Mr. Speaker, that any Governor as the titular leader of his party, as the chief executive, can put the legislative program through this House expeditiously. Indeed, if he has a program he has the duty to use the prestige and power of his office to see that just that is done.

Mr. Speaker, the Governor, with whom I have had always agreed, has demonstrated in times past his ability to deal with legislative bodies. He never had any difficulty in all these years in Pittsburgh in enacting a major legislative program with city council. And as a political power in his party, members will remember that in 1955 he displayed his political muscle, he displayed it from that very rostrum on the day the Leader "wage" tax was enacted into law.

But now, Mr. Speaker, the Governor, who was well-known in Pittsburgh as the architect of the renaissance, has become the astronaut of the compass. He looks north to Albany for the length of legislative sessions; he looks west to Pittsburgh for ward meetings; he looks south to Washington for Congressional help and Federal aid, and always, always, like Mohammed, with an eye to the east, to see that the Green lawyers are placated and under control. But, Mr. Speaker, the business of State government and the legislative sessions are here in Harrisburg, and, like old soldiers, they are not going to fade away while the commander-in-chief professes indifference or says, wait and see. He wanted to wait and see on medical care for the aged; he wanted to wait and see on reapportionment; he wanted to wait and see on education for the Governor's Committee or the Federal government to act. We say, Mr. Speaker, that it is wrong; we say it is wrong on this side because what we see after eight months of this session, and almost six years of Democratic administration, we see a Pennsylvania that is losing population in proportion to its sister States; we see a Pennsylvania where the quality of education is going down; we see a Pennsylvania where job opportunities are becoming less and less available to its young people and to its hard-core unemployed, and we say that it is wrong, that it is wrong to wait for the Federal government to take more money out of Pennsylvania and to use it to establish industries in other States, to build new schoolhouses and pay higher teachers' salaries elsewhere, to speed the migration of population from our borders with Pennsylvania moneys that could well be used here to solve the problems confronting us.

The gentleman from Allegheny who was our minority leader for a few months of this session used to say that he rarely agreed with Harry Truman, but Chick always pointed out that he felt the greatest respect for Mr. Truman when he said, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen," and we say to the Governor and the majority party, if you cannot conduct a worthwhile expeditious legislative session, get out of the kitchen and we will get the kettle boiling.

The SPEAKER. The pious hope expressed by the Speaker at the beginning of his talk, that we did not want to invite a purely partisan discussion and that we did not want to indulge in recriminations, did not get anywhere. I think for solving the problem of making this House more efficient, more modern, that we cannot do it by abusing each other in terms of partisan controversy. The question we have been discussing is not the weaknesses of the Democratic Party, if any, nor the strength of the Republican Party, if any, but how can we make this House a more efficient agency to serve the people of Pennsylvania. That is the issue, as far as the Speaker is concerned.

Was the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, signalling for recognition? He would like to add a little fire, I guess, a few straws to the flame. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, not wanting to prolong this too long, but feeling at the same time that we should be given equal opportunity, I would like to add some gems of wisdom to this record.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Little did I know when I first was the recipient of a beautiful package from the Governor's office that it was not sent to all of the legislators—

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not know that, either. He thinks it is a mistake. He thinks all the members should receive copies of the press conferences.

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, I thought they were sent to both sides, as I said. I would certainly be glad to turn mine over unopened to any of the minority legislators here who desire it.

Now, one point that was made by Mr. Donaldson, I do not think he followed through on it, he said that at the beginning of the conference the Governor made the statement that he had nothing for the boys today, and then in eight pages he proceeds to prove that point. If the gentleman from Allegheny had read verbatim, there would be no question about it, but he missed a couple of the real gems in here, and I would like to call them to the attention of the House because I think they merit your thoughtful consideration.

We are now on page 8 of this transcript, for the benefit of the minority members, and this is what he really missed. They are talking about the 90-day limitation on sessions, and Mr. Siglin—I do not know who he is, he is probably a press representative from Pittsburgh—says to the Governor, "You think the junkets suggested by the House to see how they do it in other legislatures will help?"

> And this is the Governor's reply: "Are they going to take the newspapermen along? You know I tried to get you out to Honolulu on that junket?"
> Now SIGLIN: "Would have been nice."
> GOVERNOR. "I would just love to have seen Duke—"

Now who is Duke? Is that Duke Kaminski?

> "I would just love to have seen Duke, for instance, with some of those l-e-i-s." (Then there was laughter.)
> Then KAMINSKI: "I'm not the intimate type." (Laughter)

Now, who is paying for this, the press? I do not think the press is. The taxpayers are paying for this, and I think it is ridiculous.

But the further point I want to make is this: When the Governor took that junket to Honolulu, we were up here working in the legislature, and my wife was asking me why I could not take a vacation with the children. I said because we have important matters—education programs—we could not go. The Governor, the same day that the story of the Honolulu junket was in the paper, was berating us for not staying in Harrisburg until we got our job done. My wife said to me, "You ought to bring this to the attention of the Governor." So, Mr. Governor, I am bringing it to your attention.

Now, that is all, Mr. Speaker, on the facetious side. As a somewhat self-styled student of constitutional law, until I was defeated on the issue by Representative Bowman, when I first came to this legislature five sessions ago, after perusing the Pennsylvania constitution, the one thing I learned was that the government of Pennsylvania, like the Federal Government, was divided into coordinate and equal branches of the government. That being so, I rightfully assumed and concluded, based upon not only the constitution, but statutory law, that we were supreme and sovereign in the field of legislation and that the judicial branch was supreme and sovereign in the field of law, and that the executive was supreme and sovereign with respect to administration. But since I have been here under Governor Fine, through Governor Leader and the present Governor Lawrence, we have been the tail on the end of the dog, and Mr. Speaker, I do not like it. I never have liked it, and I listened with great interest to what the Speaker has proposed many times with respect to the appointment of interim committees and different committees that would study legislation and come up with programs, and Mr. Tompkins today briefly alluded to separate and equal provisions of the law.

Now, when are we going to assume the duties that the founding fathers of Pennsylvania have imposed on us under the constitution to be supreme and sovereign and not to take orders and dictates from another branch of this government? We are elected by the people of Pennsylvania to come up here and legislate and enact laws, and we are the grass-roots. We here in the legislature know what the people want because we are among them every day. I say to you that any program that has to be enacted we can enact without the benefit, without the aid, of these, not only, Governors, but administrative assistants and secretaries, et cetera, and we ought to do the job. We ought to say, "this is what we are going to pass, and then proceed to do it and not flounder here month after month waiting for the Governor and the administration to send over bills that are labelled administration bills. We do not need that. We can determine ourselves what is good for the people of Pennsylvania, and, until we start to realize our true and proper function under the constitution of Pennsylvania, this legislature will never be able to do the job that the people expect us to do. Thank you.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair just wants to make one statement and then will recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Morley.

The members of the House must realize that we have not properly equipped our committees for effective action. A committee to do good work needs a technical staff; it needs a year-around office. More than that, ladies and gentlemen of the House, what this legislature needs and must have is more members who realize that you have almost a full-time job. That is one reason, and the only justification, for increased activities and increased committee action every day and our getting $9,000 a year, and the increased wage should be reflected in re-organization of our committees with technical staffs and the cooperation of the administration in obtaining space. Every chairman of a committee should have a private office and outside there should be a hearing room. He should have a staff. Our suggestion is that the administration rent a whole vacant building downtown and transfer one of the departments there. Money is available for the moving and if they did that we could proceed to orient our committees and work on a larger and more full-time basis. We cannot do committee work just off the cuff. We cannot do it; we cannot handle fiscal problems, educational problems, off the cuff anymore than anybody else can; we have to prepare for it; we have to have staffed committees and we have to have rooms to meet, and we have to have members of committees who are willing to put in more and more time on the job.

One other thing: Do not call this trip that was made a "junket." It was not a "junket." I hope that there will be at least three more trips, and that they will be as productive in suggestions as the other one that has been made. They are not "junkets." If they turn out to be junkets we will not have any more.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in your talk you mentioned two culprits in this picture, one the Governor of the Commonwealth and the other the Philadelphia Bulletin.

The SPEAKER. I did not use the term "culprit."

Mr. MORLEY. Well, I will use it then.

The Philadelphia Bulletin published an editorial on Saturday headed, "The Governor and 11 Million Others." It says that Governor Lawrence is lined up with some 11 million other Pennsylvanians in his appraisal of the way in which the Pennsylvania legislature more or less operates. Further down it talked about a legislative session, and about the days that we have put in here in Harrisburg. It says that the House has put in only 80 days and the Senate 72. These are days only in the legislative sense. A legislative day can mean an hour or so, with a dozen out of 210 eligibles actually in the hall of this House.

Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, that is a deliberate fraud; that is dishonesty. That is not so. I have been at every session of this House, I have been in my seat, I have voted on every bill, and never at any time did I see less than 160 or 170 members here voting on a bill. This is the kind of thing that we have been subjected to in Philadelphia; now the Commonwealth and the Representatives of the people of the Commonwealth are getting the same thing.

I have read a little American history. I know something about the history of legislative bodies. This Country was established by a legislative body; it declared its independence, fought a war, and established a government without an executive. I have read the proceedings of some of these bodies. Unfortunately, the Constitutional Convention kept no detailed proceedings and we do not know in detail what happened, but we know that in 100 days they adopted the Constitution of this Country and sent it back to a vote by delegates elected in the States. In the State of Virginia, with the prestige of George Washington, James Madison, and Randolph, it only carried by two votes. John Barry had to get a detail of sailors from the navy yard to keep the Philadelphia delegates at Independence Hall until they voted.

North Carolina and Rhode Island did not have to ratify it until after the government was established. The first 10 amendments which were passed by the First Congress were not ratified by some of the States until this century.

Massachusetts, Connecticut and North Carolina never ratified those amendments.

The legislative tradition in The United States of America has been to bring the problems to the people in a deliberative body, to discuss those problems, to get a broad representation and viewpoint, to disagree, to put them through the mill and to finally develop laws that are acceptable and enforceable in America.

It took me 35 years to get to this House. I did not come in a hurry and I am not in hurry. I was not sent here to be in a hurry. I was not sent here to run a race. I was sent here to do a job, and if that job takes three months, or six months, or nine months, I am satisfied to stay here and do the job. I will admit that there is lost motion in the legislative process, but democracy is not an easy form of government. We know that an all-powerful executive can push buttons and lay down laws and edicts. This government was not designed to do it.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of this House, that when any individual, or any newspaper, or any group complains that the members of this House are not in a rush or in a hurry, that is a compliment to the House.

There is one more thing that I would like to say. I came here a few months ago and I met men and women on both sides of this House who are intelligent, who are dedicated, who are hard-working people. I have seen them disagree without being disagreeable. We worked out our problems and we have completed the legislation that I think is of the greatest import to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I hope we can continue to do this.

You know this problem itself is not new; it happened before in the 19th Century in England; there was a rash of this criticism and complaining and demigoguery, and one of the classics of the English language was written by William Henry Cardinal Manning of England. Its title is "The Gossip," and I recommend, Mr. Speaker, that every newspaper editor in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania read it; better still, that he publish it and give the people of this Commonwealth a chance to thoroughly understand what they are facing today.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker — — —

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, rise?

Mr. SCHAAF. A point of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCHAAF. Am I allowed to move the order of business for the day?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may move the order of the day.

Mr. SCHAAF. I therefore move the order of the day, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The order of the day is to vote bills on third reading.

The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 65

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 12 of the calendar, the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 65. Is this in order to be voted?

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection. The proper order of the day would be third reading bills, but if the House does not object, the majority leader is privileged to call bills from any part of the calendar.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

STUDY OF INTERIM COMMITTEE

Mr. ANDREWS. We have a resolution:

Resolved, that with the approval of the Speaker, a meeting of any standing committee of the House may be called by the Chairman during the interim after final adjournment of the pending General Assembly.

That committee, without statutory law, could not be endowed with any power, penal or otherwise. There is some legal question as to whether we could make available the contingent funds that the chief clerk has available for the expenses of the committee in coming to Harrisburg. For the purpose of getting some way of doing the thing we want to do, the Chair names as a committee the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, the majority leader, Mr. McCann, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, to study this problem of an interim committee. We do not want to necessarily endow it with power, but we want to insure that we can create it as a functioning body during the interim, with expenses paid, mileage, and that sort of thing, for coming to Harrisburg.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1539, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. HAMILTON, STONE, KLEIN and FOERSTER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 21, 1961.

The Armbridge Team from Beaver County, coached by Joe Zerilla, beat Scranton's Tripp Park by a score of 7-2, to capture the Pennsylvania American Legion Junior Baseball Championship, at Copley, near Allentown, on Sunday, August 20, 1961.

For Mr. Zerilla and his youngsters, it was a long battle all the way, first winning the Beaver County Legion Junior League title, the district and regional playoffs and then the elimination in Allentown.

Fred Klages pitched the Ambridge team to the championship, giving up only three hits and striking out eight.

The fine play of the Ambridge team, under the able teaching and guidance of Mr. Zerilla, is a commendable demonstration of team effort which deserves the plaudits and admiration of all followers of clean and spirited sports competition on the part of American youth; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby congratulates the Ambridge American Legion Junior Baseball team on its attainment of the State Championship and commends Mr. Joe Zerilla for his fine coaching and leadership of the young men constituting the team; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Commander, Cudahy Hall Ambridge American Legion Post, Fourth and Duss Avenue, Ambridge, Pennsylvania, and to Mr. Joe Zerilla, Ambridge Junior and Senior High School, Duss Avenue, Ambridge, Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the minority leader, on Senate bill 667, the amendments that were given to him, does he desire to check them out before we place them into this bill?

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILLS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, SB 662, 823, 830 and 875, with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence HB 298, 1539 and 1827, which were referred to the Committee on State Government.

He also presented for concurrence HB 1224, which was referred to the Committee on Education.

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

He also informed the Senate that the House has adopted Report of Committee of Conference on SB 65.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

SB 65, 662, 823, 830 and 875.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, whoever the genius was who conceived the idea of placing Petitions and Remonstrances at the end of the day's agenda was, indeed, clever because when people get hungry, thirsty, and they want to get out and go home, they have no time to listen to Petitions and Remonstrances. Maybe at the next Session, I will be one of those who will try to change again the position of this order of business.

However, Mr. President, in my District there exists a condition which I must bring to the attention of the Senate. Because of the mutual admiration between the authorities of New Jersey and Pennsylvania in enforcing penalties for traffic violations, whether or not they exist, many of the citizens in my District, which is the Fifth Senatorial District, need help and they need speedy help.

The great State of New Jersey, while known for its justice, has some minor members of the judiciary in forgotten places in the State of New Jersey who are trying to enrich themselves at the expense of helpless Pennsylvania motorists by drawing up charges of traffic violations, penalizing them by receiving exorbitant penalties and then, suddenly, sending a notice to Mr. Simonetta who immediately goes into action and deprives people of their licenses for long periods of time.

I feel it is high time for a proper Committee of the Senate to bring Mr. Simonetta in and convey to him the wishes of the Senate that he be more circumspect in accepting those verdicts from these forgotten places in New Jersey where State Policemen and lay policemen are waiting for Pennsylvanians—to entrap them and foist upon them certain traffic violations of which they are not guilty.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to endorse wholeheartedly the statement just made by Senator Stiefel.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. HALUSKA, from the Committee on Local Government, reported, as committed, SB 916, HB 669, 1373, 1506, 1601, 1606, 1607 and 1829.

Mr. BELL, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported, as committed, SB 710, 826, 855, 880, 881 and 893.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, mass transportation is not fulfilling the needs of the people. It seems as though, especially in the big cities, large segments of the cities are without transportation. The buses run only on the main highways and there is no cross-town transportation at all. In order to go short distances, people have to travel for sometimes an hour and transfer to two or three buses in order to get anywhere.

I had the privilege of going to Atlantic City and watching and investigating the jitney buses that run in Atlantic City on Pacific Avenue and on certain other streets there. These jitney buses provide transportation. People hardly have to wait but a few minutes until a bus comes along. These jitney buses are only allowed to hold ten people. Most of the buses are held on permits from the city and give easy and cheap transportation. They are not run by some big corporation. They do not have buses holding forty and fifty people. No bus is allowed to hold more than ten people. In this way, they fulfill a great need at a cheap price, and at the same time they give employment to a large number of permit holders. Of course, they meet the needs of the people.

Mr. President, I am about to introduce a bill which I think will allow Philadelphia to experiment on such a proposition. I really think this is needed all over the State of Pennsylvania. However, I believe this bill would provide a pilot program for a start.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MULLIN presented to the Chair SB 927, entitled:

An Act providing for the regulation of certain motor buses and motor omnibuses by cities of the first class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. SILVERT and WEINER presented to the Chair SB 928, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," changing the power and duties of the Department of Internal Affairs in relation to the minutes of the Canal Commissioners."

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. SEYLER and WEINER presented to the Chair SB 929, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 2, 1937 (P. L. 2797), entitled "An act requiring collectors of city, county, borough, town, township, school, and poor district taxes, to file certain reports with the quarter sessions court and the Department of Internal Affairs; . . . ," applying the provisions of the act to elected collectors and collectors appointed to fill the office of elected collectors; requiring the treasurer of each city, county, county institution district, borough, town, township and school district to file reports on taxes received from sources other than elected tax collectors, or their successors; and setting forth matters to be reported.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

HONORABLE MARCIANO D. ANSELMO, OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR, MANILA, PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. At this moment, gentlemen, may we take just a moment to honor the Honorable Marciano D. Anselmo, Assistant to the Secretary of Labor, of the Department of Labor, Manila, in the Philippine Islands? Mr. Anselmo, will you say just a word to the gentlemen?

Mr. ANSELMO. I am deeply honored at this opportunity to be a witness to this great assembly. Words fail me in expressing my sincere gratitude for this opportunity which the President of the Senate has afforded me.

I wish you could all come and see our beautiful islands and we would really be—as the Filipinos have been known throughout the Orient—a most hospitable people.

Thank you so much.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you. Mr. Anselmo. We are very happy to have you with us.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it will be noted by the Members of the Senate that among the nominations which are presently before us for confirmation is the nomination of Mr. Stahl for Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We expect to confirm this nomination immediately. We believe the Governor is entitled to and should have—and it is also necessary for the proper conduct of the business of the Commonwealth—an Attorney General in office. Yesterday, Mr. President, we confirmed the then Attorney General as a Member of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. At that time, the question was asked in this Body whether or not certain Members had voted for her to be Attorney General of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the answer, of course, was "yes." We expect to confirm this nomination for the same reason that we confirmed the nomination of Miss Alpern. The Governor is entitled to have his nominee for Attorney General, and the Commonwealth must have an Attorney General at all times.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman.

We also would like to point out that the gentleman we are confirming as Attorney General is not only an excellent lawyer, but an outstanding member of the Bar and an outstanding citizen of Pennsylvania. He is a man who has a background of which all of us can be proud. We can be proud to have him represent us as Attorney for the State of Pennsylvania.

We also thank the gentlemen for seeing their civic duty and acting on it.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Committee, I want to express my appreciation for the excellent cooperation I have received.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Bell,	Hays,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

The motion was agreed to.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a forty-five minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Democratic and a Republican Caucus, to be held in their respective Caucus Rooms.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I remind the Members of the Senate to take with them to Caucus the bills that are on their desks?

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections to the recess? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a forty-five minute recess of the Senate.

ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILLS Nos. 1707 AND 1259

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, tomorrow will be the last and final opportunity for acceptance of any amendments to House Bill No. 1707. There were two more handed to me today, to include a couple of roads, and two Senators have roads which they want excluded from the bill. Tomorrow is the final day.

This bill is 155 pages long. It is a very expensive bill to print, and I hope that all the Senators will get their amendments to be before 9:00 a.m. tomorrow morning.

At 10:00 a.m. tomorrow morning, the subcommittee will meet with the Secretary of Highways on the Highway Code Bill, which is House Bill No. 1259. We hope to have those amendments by tomorrow also. Therefore, if there are any amendments to that bill, I would like to have them before 10:00 a.m. tomorrow morning.

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE DEFEATED

SB 845 (Pr. No. 1049)—On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would just like to say a few words concerning this bill.

This is a very simple bill. It is intended to protect some 2,000,000 or more automobile owners in the State of Pennsylvania. It simply provides that where an automobile owner is insured and has paid his premium in full, and it so happens that the company decides to cancel his insurance, the company should give more notice.

We do not deny the right of the company to cancel the insurance. At the present time, the notice for cancellation is ten days. We feel this is too short a time, because an automobile owner during the summertime may be on vacation, he may be traveling, or he may be away for two or three weeks. A notice canceling his policy may have gone to his home. He may not even know about it and yet he becomes uninsured.

Also, where an automobile policy is canceled, the owner should have a reasonable length of time to replace the insurance. There is always sort of a bad mark placed on the owner when his policy is canceled, and it might take him a little longer to replace the policy.

The insurance company loses nothing by it, and I think we owe it to the two or three million automobile owners in the State of Pennsylvania to give them—when they have been accepted and paid for their insurance—a reasonable time upon cancellation to replace their insurance.

I ask the Members of the Senate to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I listened with a great deal of interest to Senator Silvert's defense of this bill. I, too, have regard for the automobile policyholders, but I am not sure that Senator Silvert is completely conversant with the insurance field.

We have gone along for many years on the ten-day notice clause. I would like to draw the attention of the Members of the Senate to the fact that in practically every instance where a man is an agent for a casualty company, he can write an insurance policy for any person who comes into his office. His license as an agent for the company, in most instances,—I know there are some companies who do not follow this procedure, but the majority do—permits the agent himself to issue the policy.

Let us assume, Mr. President, that there has been some falsification on the part of the applicant to the agent when he wrote the policy. Every agent, I am sure, asks the question as to whether the person has been involved in any automobile accidents and various questions like that. If the applicant would answer those questions in the negative, then, in all good faith, the agent would write the policy. Let us assume, then, that the report which is subsequently run by the insurance company proves that this information was incorrect. Certainly, the company should have the right, under a ten-day notice, to cancel that particular risk.

This has proven satisfactory down through the years. I can see no reason to extend the time to thirty days, and I do not believe the bill is in the public interest at all.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to endorse what Senator Fleming has so well said, and to add this. The enactment of Senate Bill No. 845 would set two new precedents. In the first place, it has never been required of a company to provide a policy provision on cancellations. That has been the practice. The ten-day provision mentioned by Senator Silvert is simply a practice in the business, and not a policy provision that is required to be printed in the policy.

The second precedent relates to the term "fully paid policy." In my judgment, if this were enacted, anyone who chooses to buy a policy for a year and wishes to pay the premium in four quarterly installments, after he has paid the first quarterly installment, or the second or the third, his policy is not fully paid until he has paid the fourth quarterly installment. The term "fully paid," to the best of my knowledge and belief, is used only in connection with life insurance where a policy may require a certain number of yearly payments. For example, with a twenty-payment life policy, such policy becomes fully paid only when the payments are completed after twenty years. This, therefore, is sort of an odd term to use in connection with liability and casualty insurance.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I do not think it would make much difference whether the policy is to be paid in quarterly installments and a quarter has been paid, or a half or three-quarters, or fully paid. The important thing is to give protection to the policyholder in case of cancellation.

As far as Senator Fleming's objection is concerned that an agent may place a policy on information that is incorrect, I am not in the insurance business but I do know there is such a thing as a "binder." An agent can issue a binder for ten days on a policy that he is not certain of. This binder expires in ten days, and there is no insurance after that if the company does not want to issue it. Therefore, the agent can protect himself.

After all, you are thinking of the rights of the agent. However, what about the rights of the 2,000,000 automobiles owners in the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I understand the intentions of Senator Silvert. They are very worthy, indeed. However, after reviewing this legislation, Senator Silvert, I do not think that we can possibly pass it whereby it would be of benefit to all of the people.

When you speak of binders, Mr. President, in some cases an insurance company will have a binder provision on the application. Sometimes the subagent has the right to use this binder provision under the provisions of his connection with the agency. The result would be that should I have a binder on an individual and he does have a bad driving record,—he probably gave wrong information—even under the provisions of a binder, which actually is the substitution of a policy until that policy is written by the company or by the agency itself, we would be stuck for a period of one month with this person who has a bad driving record.

Mr. President, those who have bad driving records are the persons who cost the other policyholders a considerable amount in the increase of premiums. In most cases where we have a number of bad drivers with bad driving records, in all probability, in that particular area, the cost of insurance would be increased.

I do not believe it is workable because of the binder feature. There is no limitation, Senator, as far as I know on binders. As a matter of fact, I have now a general liability policy which has been under a binder for about thirty-six days.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, not having heard my name called, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

BILL OVER IN ORDER ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 283 (Pr. No. 2628)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I regard this bill as one of the most important on today's Calendar. I was hoping I could vote for it in the original form as it came over from the House. I had thought of offering amendments to restore it to that order. However, as the insurance men would say, my experience rating on amendments recently has not been very good. Therefore, I shall not take that step, but instead register a loud "no" when my name is called.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to request that the bill go over in its order on Final Passage. I understand that it has passed Third Reading. Is that correct?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct, sir.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in order. I wonder if the gentleman will advise when we might act on this measure.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, happen to have—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Senate be in order? The Senators cannot hear themselves speaking to each other. Let us have order in the Chamber. Please proceed, Senator Kessler.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I happen to have some amendments—three, in fact—which I just received before we went into Session, or more recently here, and I have not had a chance to look them over. I do not know whether they are of interest or whether I want to offer them. However, I would like to have the opportunity to review them. I assure you that if they seem reasonable, I will either offer them or not offer them tomorrow.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the gentleman offering amendments or the bill going over in order. I would just like to respectfully suggest that this bill, I think, would not stand any more amendments and remain the bill that it is.

I hope that we can do this tomorrow and dispose of this measure finally.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, at the request of the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler, House Bill No. 283 will go over in its order and appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 720 (Pr. No. 2510)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to urge my colleagues to vote for this measure.

This bill changes the definition of an employer from one who employs twelve people to one who employs six people. It also removes one of the principal problems that we are having today in the State of Pennsylvania and the Country, generally, where people over a certain age cannot get a job.

You may find a man who is in his early forties, or you might find a young woman in her early forties, who is interested in doing a job and capable of doing it, but he or she is unable to qualify for the reason that the employer will discriminate because of age. We are asking that the age be removed so that when a job is advertised or when there is an application blank to be filled out, age will not enter into it. The only consideration should be the person's ability to do the job and to do it well. We are finding more and more, as time moves on and as automation moves in, that there are many able-bodied people who have ability to do a job who are not being hired because of their age group.

I respectfully ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I listened carefully to the explanation made by the Majority Leader, but I fail to read the bill in the manner in which he explained it.

It would appear to me that one of the principal considerations that was given to the then so-called F.E.P.C. bill was that age should be included as an element against which an employer could not discriminate in hiring employees.

On page 4 of this bill, it appears to me that an individual who seeks employment may not express his race, color, religious creed, ancestry or age in any manner when he seeks employment. I fail to go along with the explanation given this bill. I feel it is a discriminatory bill, and, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that in this bill there is a clarifying amendment as to age and, on page 3, it specifically deals with the ages between forty and sixty-two, inclusive, because these are the age groups that have difficulty.

The other things that is clarified is the problem of the employer. It reduces that to an employer employing six employees or over.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 801 and HB 1028—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1162 (Pr. No. 2070)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 1162.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am about to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 1162 which, in effect, would remove from the bill that portion of it which would give to an accountant the confidential communication privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 4), page 9, line 15, by inserting after "board": > or
> (3) Satisfactory completion of a curriculum in accounting or business administration of not less than seventy-two semester hours content in which at least twelve semester credits have been earned in accounting taken in any post-secondary educational institution authorized to operate under the laws of the Commonwealth or accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting agency and at least four (4) years of public accounting experience of a caliber satisfactory to the board

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the right to enjoy a privileged communication, it seems to me, is a very serious thing. It has evolved over a period of 1,000 years of Anglo-Saxon legal history, and it has been limited, basically, to three professions; the clergy, medicine and the law. In recent years, in some jurisdictions and to some extent, it has been extended to our brothers of the fourth estate—newspapermen. I can see no reason why it should be extended at this time to the field of a limited number of accountants.

Furthermore, as the bill is drawn, this privilege is exempted in criminal and bankruptcy cases. It seems to me, therefore, that it is limited only to civil tax cases. I can see no justification—and I have heard none expressed in the halls of this Senate or in the mail that I have received both for and against this particular amendment—why a Certified Public Accountant should be given the privilege of having a confidential communication in civil tax matters.

It seems to me that this is wrought with danger and that we are opening the door to a great public injustice. I cannot, after searching my heart, find any reason why a limited group of accountants should be given this privilege in a limited number of cases. I would, therefore, urge the Senate to support this amendment.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, normally I would agree with Senator McMenamin in such matters as this. We are both attorneys, but we have divergent viewpoints on this amendment.

The reason, I think fundamentally, why I cannot agree with Senator McMenamin is that the Certified Public Accountant profession has come a long way since its days of infancy. It is a recognized profession; recognized as being tremendously important in this day and age of tangled finances and the web of finance that has grown up. This section of the bill is primarily designed—and this is the thing that I believe should be emphasized—to protect the clients. This bill prohibits the Certified Public Accountant or his employees from divulging information which comes to him in connection with the performance of his professional services without the permission of his client.

The privilege is, of course, a limited one. It is limited, and the client may waive it. It does not extend to information given to the accountant in connection with the examination, audit or report on financial statements, books, records or accounts by the CPA, nor does it extend, as Senator McMenamin indicated, to cases in which the Certified Public Accountant is consulted in furtherance of a criminal or fraudulent scheme. It is also limited by the existing criminal and bankruptcy laws of Pennsylvania and the United States. The scope of the privilege and its limitations are similar to that which exist in the attorney-client relationship.

As the Senator has pointed out, this privileged communication has been extended to other fields, such as the fourth estate and, of course, to ministers, as well, by statute.

The earliest application of the rule under common law extended this privilege of confidential communications made by a client to his attorney and confidential communications between husband and wife. These have been made statutory since that time. In addition, confidential communications have been extended between a physician and his patient, and a clergyman and his communicant. A newspapers reporter and his source are also now protected.

In addition, it has long been recognized that public officers are privileged with regard to communications relating to affairs of State, and the courts have protected inventors and technicians from disclosure of trade secrets. In recent years, a great many States have extended this privilege to Certified Public Accountants.

In this connection, the rule of public policy is designed for the safety not of the Certified Public Accountant, but of his client, and as a means of maintaining the confidence between the Certified Public Accountant and his client which is so essential to the public interest. In this connection, it is interesting to note that the courts have regularly held that communications made to an attorney by his client in the presence of a third person are not privileged, and there is presently no privileged communication between a client and his accountant.

This is difficult for many attorneys who are practicing in conjunction with Certified Public Accountants and their clients. Many tangled cases arise where an attorney cannot possibly operate without a Certified Public Accountant there to guide him.

There are a few more things I would like to state regarding this bill, Mr. President. Mostly these are matters of policy.

The professional status of the Certified Public Accountant, based upon the professional disciplines to which he is subject, has long been recognized by the Federal Government. The Treasury Department, for example, established different standards for admission to practice before the Internal Revenue Service for attorneys and Certified Public Accountants and persons who are not attorneys or Certified Public Accountants. Those who are not attorneys or CPA's may be especially admitted to practice at the discretion of the Director of Practice only if they demonstrate special competence by a written examination and otherwise satisfy the Director of Practice as to their competence and reliability.

The attorney or CPA, on the other hand, has merely to show that he is admitted to practice by his State, and is subject to the discipline of his State licensing agency. Since he has already shown his competence and reliability to his State licensing agency, the Treasury Department is willing to rely upon his professional status.

To conclude, therefore, this section of the bill is intended to do the same thing which the rest of the bill is designed for; namely, to further raise the standards and the professional status of the Certified Public Accountant.

Certified Public Accountancy, like the law, medicine and the ministry, is a learned profession, dedicated to the service of the public and subject to professional disciplines. It should receive the dignity and status of those other professions. Therefore, I ask the Senators to vote "no" on this amendment.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, let me say just a few more words to the Members of the Senate.

My colleague, Senator Ehrgood, pointed out something that I think needs further discussion and clarification. For instance, to bring in the analogy of the privileged communication between husband and wife, it seems to me, is totally irrelevant and totally different. I think that originates in the old Anglo-Saxon concept that after a marriage, neither spouse was an entity in itself but the marriage was a partnership where neither was an individual and it was considered as a group. We take title to property today in Pennsylvania as tenancy by the entirety, as lawyers well know. In that concept, it is a little bit different from the normal joint tenancy.

Further, of course, it would be supported on grounds of public policy to promote the harmony of the family and public morals in general.

It seems to me, basically, that what we are doing here is giving, as I say, a limited group of accountants this privilege in a limited number of cases. The clients certainly cannot be protected—if that is the reason assigned for it—by reason of the fact that they are allowed to have this privilege only in civil cases, for if there is any fraud and a criminal case evolves out of it, then the privilege disappears. Therefore, I ask, where is the protection of the client in that instance?

Secondly, for the same reason, it seems to me that the basic privilege has been given over the years, as I said, to the three professions; the clergy, the medical and the law. Now there is a basic difference in the work or the study of these fields than in accounting, because in these three fields we are dealing largely with a philosophy, or a concept or an intangible. In accounting, you are nearer an exact science. The subject matter of the fields are entirely different.

I think this is a great departure from tradition, and, as I say, I think it is unwise and not prudent for us to vote for this bill at this time.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it is a very dangerous thing for a person not learned in the law to enter into this discussion, I presume. However, it strikes me that this is a very fascinating subject. I am fascinated by the historical development of this privilege, as it now relates to the present professions that enjoy it and as outlined by my two distinguished colleagues who have spoken previously.

It seems to me—and I do not pose as a philosopher of the law—from what I have read, due to my interest in this area, that the privilege extended to certain individuals, who minister to the needs of people, is really an extension of the right not to self-incriminate oneself. That is to say, if a man has a right to this essential privacy wherein he is not required to expose himself, then this right must extend to those individuals who are placed in such a position by the need of the individual and by the service they render so that they can withhold nothing if they would enjoy and need the aid that this professional person can offer them.

I think that is one criterion. I further think the other criterion is that it should only be extended to those persons who are in a profession which has a professional standard, and an ethical standard, adequate for the protection of this privilege.

I would suggest to you that there was a time when probably extending this to the ministry, to the physician and to the attorney was adequate. Certainly, those are three professions where if a person wants to enjoy the full ministrations of these professional people, he must hold nothing back. If he is to make peace with his soul, certainly he can withhold nothing from the confessor or the person to whom he reveals his personal matters. If he is to enjoy the real services of an attorney, it is axiomatic, I think, that he withhold nothing from that attorney. Certainly, if he is interested in his health, neither shame nor any other consideration should cause him to withhold from his physician full knowledge of his problem, holding nothing back.

I would suggest to you, Mr. President, that in this modern day, with the development of the complex nature of business affairs that we have, in order to conduct properly the business that a man wishes to engage in, it is necessary for him to use the skills of another person. Certainly, if he wishes to enjoy those skills in a manner that could do him the service he wants rendered, he again can withhold nothing. It seems to me, therefore, that he is entitled, basically and philosophically, to the same kind of protection under the privilege that he enjoyed in these other categories to which we have long extended it.

I would say further on my second criterion that this must be extended only to such groups as have a professional standard and an ethical standard which is capable of extending this protection and of observing this privilege, and of not making an abuse of it.

I believe the profession about which we are talking today—the Certified Public Accountant—has come a long way and has established itself as a profession in this category of having a high ethical standard and of having a strong professional set of standards so that they are to be trusted with this.

Therefore, while I do not think this privilege should be given lightly,—and there I would agree basically with my colleague, Senator McMenamin,—I do think that on the basis of the nature of the services that are performed and, secondly, on the criterion of ethical standards, we should extend this privilege, as this bill would do. For that reason, I would join Senator Ehrgood in asking my colleagues to vote against this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call vote on this amendment.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McMENAMIN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Camiel,	Lane,	Pechan,	Stroup,

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer further amendments to this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection and the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the amendments I am offering would, in effect, allow graduates of the two-year business schools to qualify for the CPA examination.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

HB 1221 (Pr. No. 2651)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I sense we are approaching the end of what has been a long period of hard work and chagrin and disappointment for a number of Senators.

I am reminded of one of the first times I went into court as a young lawyer. I happened to go before a Judge who had been on the Bench for more than thirty years. He was well up in years and had acquired the wisdom and experience of those years, and he used it judiciously. We had a very serious, and a very complicated and intricate case. It was the type of case that might have been litigated for a long time at great cost to everybody. After a day or so of trial, the Judge took us into chambers and tried to work out a settlement of the case.

The case was ultimately settled and when settlement was completed, everybody was disappointed. That sage old Judge said: "I can tell it is a good settlement because everybody is disappointed." That meant that everybody had to give a little bit.

I think that what we are getting here is not the best bill on anthracite strip mining that a lot of us from that region would like to have. I am sure that others are disappointed. Perhaps industry is disappointed. I am sure the Administration and the Department of Mines are disappointed. However, maybe that means it is a good settlement.

I believe this is a step forward for the people of the hard coal counties. It is perhaps only half a loaf, but there are times in life when none of us can get 100 per cent of everything we ever want.

We are getting a good many things in this bill that are going to help the communities in the hard coal region. In the first place, the bond that the stripping operators are going to have to post in the future on each acre is being raised. That will provide more money for backfilling by the State, if the bonds are forfeited.

Secondly, we are extending the distance from a highway, which must be completely backfilled, all the way from fifteen feet to seventy-five feet from the highway.

We are extending the distance from a house or a public building or a community hall—the distance to which we must have 100 per cent backfilling—to 225 feet.

Then I think even more importantly, we are going another 700 feet in requiring backfilling to a forty-five degree angle, which is what the department wanted originally.

Left out are those deep pits in the remote areas. However, I think if we can improve the outlook of our communities and require backfilling and restore land to useful purposes in the built-up areas, we are making a great step forward. We will provide more possible sites for factories and homes and remove in the future the scars that are left close to the view of everyone traveling through or living in the hard coal communities.

Therefore, although I am disappointed and not completely satisfied with the final form of this bill, I am going to vote for it. I would also urge my colleagues to vote for it.

Let me say, lastly, that I am assured by the Department of Mines that on the basis of experience in the past, this bill will apply to two-thirds of all of the strippings in the northern part, at least, of the hard coal fields. I am sure that we in Lackawanna County can be satisfied if two-thirds of our problem is going to be resolved, as far as stripping is concerned, during this Session of the Legislature.

There will be other Sessions of the Legislature. We will come back on the other one-third later on.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, House Bill No. 1221 represents many hours of work, negotiation and conference by all of the Members from the anthracite area. There are many safety provisions in this bill. It will be an improvement over the present strip mining law.

Personally, I would like to have a much stronger bill. However, I am voting for House Bill No. 1221.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I merely want to add that I agree wholeheartedly with the previous speaker. I also want to say that most important is the fact that this is now a bill that industry can live with, and it does not mean that any one strip miner will lose his employment or his job.

HB 1438 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 1438 (Pr. No. 2652)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 9 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1438 (Pr. No. 2652)—Read at length the third time and agree to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, House Bill No. 1438 appears on the Calendar today as the result of a lot of hard work.

No man who has ever served in this Body, I dare say, has ever taken a greater punishment personally than I have, which is all because I believe in the philosophy that laws are made to protect and not to destroy.

I have been accused of many, many things. My family has been attacked, mention has been made of the way I wear my clothes, my carnation, and a free ride in a car. They said I was a friend of the strippers. I am now serving my twenty-third year in this Chamber and, throughout those many years, I have defended many a cause, but never have I been so attacked.

If House Bill No. 1438 is passed, as it appears upon the Calendar, it will be the most stringent strip mining law in the United States. I dare anyone to say differently. I have checked the laws of Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Illinois, and none of them compare with the bill we are about to pass. Yet, I am told at this moment that after it passes, it will not be satisfactory and that the House will not concur. The Secretary of Mines will have no part of it. Again, in the near future, before we adjourn, there will be a conference to try to amend the bill again. As far as I am concerned, personally, I will not stand for one change, and I hope my colleagues on both sides agree with me.

This bill that I have before me is such, gentlemen, that industry cannot live with it. If you are out to destroy and not protect, well and good. If such is the case, then you should try and pass this bill.

This is a big industry. Yet the papers, for some unknown reason, have picked upon this one industry. What about our highways with ninety-degree angles? What about our limestone strippings? What about cement, ore and railroads? Nothing is being said about any of them. However, for some unknown reason, they have picked this one industry.

I trust we will support House Bill No. 1438, pass it, and stand for no further amendments.

If there is any further amending, you will definitely put these people out of business, and immediately they will say that there shall be no more stripping in Pennsylvania. That is what it means. Is one man in this Commonwealth to dictate our policy or is the Senate going to vote its conscience as it wishes?

True, they want more, but with every step in life we try to gain as we go along. If, in 1963, this Body finds that further amendments are in order, certainly we will endeavor to pass them. As time goes on, we amend many laws to try and make them what we can live with.

I say again that this bill now, as amended, gentlemen, will be the most stringent law, and many of the operators will not be able to live with it. Many of them will be compelled within a year's time to go out of business. Any more penalties will put the rest of them out of business, as well.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I agree with my colleague from Cambria County that no one man should run the State. By the same token, no one Senator should run the Senate.

This bill that we are about to vote on, Mr. President, has a long history not only in this Session, but also in previous Sessions. A good bill, in my mind, just like a good map ought to accurately represent and describe the ground it purports to cover. I do not think this bill does this. I think it flirts with some of the problems in the strip mining industry, and I think it fluffs others.

Nevertheless, Mr. President, in view of the fact that this legislation has been so notoriously unsuccessful in previous Sessions, and since there has been great difficulty in arriving at some basis on which the public interest can be preserved, and since there will be subsequent Sessions, I am going to vote "aye" in favor of this bill. However, Mr. President, my voting affirmatively on this bill ought not, and will not, be taken as a concession or a withdrawal from the position the conservationists in the State and others have taken as far as this industry is concerned.

The only thing we have ever sought, Mr. President, is that the strip mining industry take its place along with other industries in the State, and become a responsible industry and responsive to the public interest. Also, Mr. President, that they bear their fair share of regulations like all of the other industries do, which many of the bills that we have passed reflect.

Therefore, Mr. President, in conclusion, I simply want to say that I cannot predict what is likely to happen to this bill after it leaves here. After a short six months here, I have learned this: With each passing day, we have a new crisis. We had our day with this bill yesterday, and we failed.

Mr. President, we will be back in 1963, and by that time perhaps the experience of this bill, and the experience that we have all gained in the meantime, may put us in a position to better provide for the public interest. The confusion that has arisen here on this bill has been primarily a decision which each of us has had to make, Mr. President. That decision is whether, on the one hand, to protect a narrow private interest or, on the other hand, to provide for a broad and continuing public interest.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since we are now on the threshold of ultimately, I hope, passing some strip mining legislation, about all I can say for House Bill No. 1438 is that it is a better piece of legislation than we passed in 1945, it is a better piece of legislation than the amendments of 1949, and probably we have made some steps forward.

I might say, Mr. President, that over the many years that I have served in the House of Representatives and Senate of Pennsylvania, I have always felt that I had both feet on the ground when I was handling legislation. However, since I got into House Bill No. 1438 and its problems, I was never sure how I stood—whether on the road inspecting these mines or on the floor of this Senate—because there was always a lot of confusion.

I feel, Mr. President, that the handling of this particular piece of legislation has aroused the population of western Pennsylvania. I believe it has made them cognizant of the problems which they have been confronted with over the years.

Mr. President, although I am going to vote for this legislation, because it is the best that I can see we can get, I must say that it still does not go far enough.

I am going to digress just a moment and talk to the Members of the Senate as to the ramifications of this legislation.

Mr. President, as you know, when a stripper makes a contract with a real estate owner, they generally do it on a realty basis. Where there is no provision between the owner and the stripper, all the stripper does is comply with the regulations as set forth in the strip mining act. So, he proceeds along that particular line. He tears up the earth, he removes the coal, and in a great number of cases there are gob piles all over the country. As has been said quite often, Penn's Woods are torn up throughout western Pennsylvania and the east, also.

I think this is because of neglect in the past. However, here is what it costs the taxpayers. Once the coal has been removed, Mr. President, there is no real estate on the coal because it has been depleted. Since the coal has been removed by stripping, the valuation of the land decreases. Therefore, the result is since the valuation of the land is decreased, the assessment is decreased, naturally. The owner of that land will go into the County Commissioner's Office, talk to the Chief Assessor and say: "Well, this land was formerly worth $500 or $1,000 an acre, and now since it has been stripped, there are gob piles here and there are holes here. The land is not of any value. So, I want a reduction in my assessment."

Actually, there is a decrease in value. Therefore, the chief assessor must acquiesce and reduce the assessed valuation of the land. They have lost the tax on the coal, which of course is proper, and they are also losing tax on the land itself unless it is properly backfilled or properly contoured. The ultimate result is, Mr. President, that the taxpayers are in part—a great part—subsidizing strip mining operations.

I also wish to point out this salient point. Once there is a reduction in assessment from a duplicate, there has to be an increase from some other source. The result is the small homeowner, who probably might live right next door to a gob pile, has an increase in his assessment because it takes just so much money to operate government, and when they adopt a budget, they must have the money. The result is that the average taxpayer—the average homeowner—is helping to subsidize strip mining operations. There is nothing we can do about it except to require the mine operators to refill these holes and demand that they refill them according to contour so that they can be replanted. Then, of course, it again becomes productive land. Unless we have legislation to that effect, Mr. President, we are not being fair to the real estate owners of Pennsylvania.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly want to say at the outset that I intend to vote for this bill. Like Senator Staisey and like Senator Lane, I am not happy with the bill as it now appears. I was hoping against hope, I guess, that we would enact a bill that would be much more stringent and would put more rigid controls on strip mining, which certainly would be in the public interest.

However, if this is the best we can do, I would agree with those two gentlemen that this is a step in the right direction. Possibly, in a later Session, we can get in the rest of the measures which will fully protect the natural resources of this Commonwealth.

I would say to you, Mr. President, that every Member of the Senate, and every Member of the General Assembly, should be concerned with the preservation of our natural resources and the problem of taking away any possibility of the pollution of our water supply in Pennsylvania. These are serious matters, Mr. President, and we cannot move forward, and not try to protect them, not only for this generation but for future generations to come.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I think all sides—both the proponents and opponents of this legislation—recognize this is a progressive step in Pennsylvania. The two sides that were either in favor of or opposed to this bill in the past found it impossible to even, I would say, stay in the same room together because the antagonism was so great.

The men who worked on this bill deserve a lot of credit for what I consider statesmenlike action in handling this legislation and solving the problem of this situation.

I can see that times are changing, and we can make requirements. When I went to law school, we were told that a landowner owned from the center of the earth up to the end of the sky. This bill says he does not because he cannot dig too deep without filling up the holes.

When I traveled around the coal regions with the committee, I saw some holes in which you could put this Capitol, including the North and South Office Buildings, and probably some of the steps out in front. I knew that asking too much would have been impossible and in vain. It took the action of this committee to bring these people together. I feel very grateful for having been associated with them, and I think they deserve a lot of credit.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 911 and if the amendment is adopted, I request that the bill be read for the second time.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 3, page 6, by inserting between lines 3 and 4: (k) Employed in a hotel or restaurant except in cities of the first and second class

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

> Amend Sec. 3, page 5, lines 17 and 18, by striking out "AS A COUNSELLOR."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the amendment which I am about to offer is to page 6, line 3, of this bill and reads, in part, as follows: "A religious or charitable organization or an institution engaged in the care of the mentally deficient . . .

If this amendment is adopted, I think the bill should go over in its order, rather than the previous request that it be read for the second time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Section 2, page 6, line 3, after the word, "home", by inserting the following: A religious or charitable organization or an institution engaged in the care of the mentally defficient the aged or infirm

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in talking about minimum wages, there is no reason why any person who works for a charitable institution or any kind of an organization should not receive a decent salary and wage. I think the people who work for these organizations certainly have to pay the same amount of money to live and to pay the same amount of money for clothes as you and I and everyone else. To exempt them, or take them out of this measure, is putting an undue burden on them. They work for a charitable organization and they are trying to do charitable work and trying to help the people who are ill and cannot afford to pay the full amount, and you are denying them the same opportunity which every other individual has.

How long do you think these people will continue to be employed? How long do you think these people will be interested in working for these organizations?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I rise in support of the amendment, as one familiar with religious organizations and their activities in many fields. Many times when you go into a church you see someone working there, cleaning up the nave or the altar, and you will find that he is an older person; a person who is crippled or infirm or someone they are taking care of.

To make an across-the-board ruling of this type presents hardship cases which you would like to take care of, but are not able to take care of.

Religious institutions are not hardhearted like corporations are or individuals, such as you and I. We have to be very businesslike. They should be given some latitude to take care of the people who just do not fit into a community and make sure that they have gainful occupations. Therefore, I will vote in support of the amendment.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I was rather astounded at the statements of the Majority Leader in opposing this amendment.

I heard not long ago a statement by a former Secretary of Welfare, who stated that in the mental hospitals of Pennsylvania, volunteer workers had contributed some 86,000 hours in one short period of six months. In my judgment, this bill would include those folks, and they did it entirely on a voluntary basis.

I think this amendment is a good one, and should be adopted by this Body.

I also oppose the request of the Member, who offered a previous amendment, that the bill be read for the second time. I suggest to my fellow Members of this Body that if we do anything today of real value, we will adopt this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment was agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WADE.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

The Ambridge Team, coached by Joe Zerilla, won its first State American Legion Junior Baseball Title by defeating Scranton's Tripp Park, 7-2, on Sunday, August 20, 1961.

Fred Klages pitched the Ambridge team from Beaver County to the championship, giving up only three hits and striking out eight.

The team first won the Beaver County Legion Junior League Title, the district and regional play-offs, and then the eliminations at Allentown. Its efforts, which culminated in winning the State Championship, were a long and continuous battle, and served to demonstrate the best in youthful sportsmanship, desire to win, and team effort; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby commends the Ambridge American Legion Junior Baseball Team for its fine efforts in winning the State Championship and its capable coach, Mr. Joe Zerilla, for his excellent coaching and leadership of the team; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Commander, Cudahy Hall Ambridge American Legion Post, Fourth and Duss Streets, Ambridge, Pennsylvania, and to Mr. Joe Zerilla, Ambridge Junior and Senior High School, Duss Avenue, Ambridge, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. J. H. ANDERSON and WOOD.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 101.

In the House of Representatives, August 21, 1961.

The Federal Highway Law presently prohibits the construction or location of commercial establishments or facilities of any nature on the rights-of-way of the Interstate Highway System.

The purpose of this prohibition is highly commendable, as it is intended to protect the traveling public from dangers and distractions caused by such establishments and also to protect the scenic beauty of the countryside.

A minor exception to this provision in the Federal law, however, appears both desirable and necessary; that exception being authorization for the erection, at certain intervals, of public telephones.

The ready availability of public telephones along these highways would make possible the immediate reporting of any accident or other emergency. Such telephones would also add greatly to the convenience of travelers and would not be unsightly; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to make necessary amendments to the Federal Highway Law in order to permit the erection of public telephones within the rights-of-way of the Interstate Highway System; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. HAMILTON asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Insurance to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. PARLANTE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Banking and Building and Loan Associations to meet during the session of the House.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. FOERSTER, KAMYK, MIHM and WALSH offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 22, 1961.

Attorney Patrick J. Corr, a member of this House of Representatives during 1951 and 1952, suffered a fatal heart attack on Sunday, August 20, 1961, while visiting his summer home at Conneaut Lake Park.

Mr. Corr's interest in amateur sports was highlighted by his sixteen year tenure as swimming coach at the University of Pittsburgh. His success as a swimming coach was emphasized by the many fine teams he taught.

Mr. Corr was a practicing attorney in Pittsburgh from 1926 to the time of his death. His outstanding career in the law won him the respect of his colleagues in the legal profession, as well as the admiration and good will of the many other people who knew him. He was a candidate for a judge of the County Court of Allegheny County at the time of his death.

In addition to his many other activities, Mr. Corr was on the board of directors of St. John's Hospital, North Side, Pittsburgh, and belonged to the Pitt Varsity Letter Men's Club and to Bellevue Council, Knights of Columbus. He was a former President of the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Association.

Mr. Corr's many activities and interests made him an outstanding member of the Pittsburgh district, and his untimely passing will leave a void in many essential community activities; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives hereby express their individual sorrow and regret at the death of the Honorable Patrick J. Corr, and extend their condolences to his widow, Mrs. Mary Fisher Corr, his daughter Mrs. Howard Simon, and to his sons, William D., Robert J., Thomas P., and Patrick, Jr.; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Mary Fisher Corr, at her home.

RESOLUTION

COMMENDATION

Mr. SCARCELLI and Mrs. MARKLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 22, 1961.

During the past eleven years, Colonel Phillip F. Neuweiler has made the Pennsylvania Wing of the Civil Air Patrol of which he is commanding officer one of, if not, the outstanding Wings in the United States. He created and built up the Wing's Ranger Training School located near Hawk Mountain, north of Kempton. Here the Wing trains its male cadets in survival procedures. These cadets are members of the Wing's numerous Ranger Teams and are highly trained specialists in air and land rescue operations. This school has become a model for others throughout the country and, each winter and summer, camps are held to which other Wings from bordering States send in their personnel to obtain and receive this valuable training.

In addition, Colonel Neuweiler has created five airborne field hospitals, fully staffed with doctors and nurses, and all of them self-sufficient in the field.

Colonel Neuweiler also is the force behind an annual Cadet Officer Candidate School and an annual summer encampment, usually held at Olmstead Air Force Base at Middletown, Pennsylvania. Colonel Neuweiler, in these few activities, (and there are numerous others) always has shown devotion to duty far and above anything that might normally be required of him. He spends countless hours yearly traveling from one end of the State to the other in the interests of making "men out of boys before they are 21" to use his expression. His driving, consuming passion is to make better citizens out of our young people, male and female, through the medium of Civil Air Patrol. Needless to say, this activity is at a great personal expense because none of the costs are contributed by the Federal Government, since Civil Air Patrol is a volunteer organization, chartered by an act of Congress as the official civilian auxiliary of the Air Force.

It may be said that although he operates solely in Pennsylvania, the good that comes through his activity is for the general welfare of the State, as well as the Nation. His operations are carried out with sharp military efficiency, the Wing's annual Air Force evaluation rating being better than ninety per cent for the past six years.

He never fails to have a chaplain on hand for any operation; field maneuvers, summer camps, operations of all kinds. Halfway measures are not condoned by the Colonel; he does not operate that way, nor will he permit his subordinates to do so.

When the flood of 1955 hit the Poconos, his forces in Civil Air Patrol were out before the rushing waters had begun to recede. His Ranger Teams were traversing mountain streams looking for survivors or victims. He, himself, flew countless hours over the storm-battered area, directing the Civil Air Patrol units from the air as well as from his ground headquarters at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

In any emergency, across the State, he and his troops are the first to announce that they are ready where they may be needed.

In the field of Aerospace Education, he is again the driving force behind these Aerospace Education Workshops held at various universities in the State. The current one (1961) was at Temple University, Ambler Junior College division. On Saturday, August 12, he flew some thirty teachers on orientation flights out of Wings Field. On Sunday, August 13, he stood a review of cadets at the summer encampment at Olmstead Air Force Base, flying in again in his own aircraft.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proud to have as one of its public servants dedicated to the health, safety and welfare of its people, a man of the caliber of Colonel Neuweiler; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commends Colonel Phillip F. Neuweiler for his service to the Commonwealth and expresses its gratitude in making the Pennsylvania Wing of the Civil Air Patrol one of the most efficient Wings in the United States; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Colonel Phillip F. Neuweiler.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Merry.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, in legislation like this I would like to ask a question: What is the need for this legislation and why was this bill introduced? Can anyone in the House tell me if they have ever heard of a school bus catching fire? Does anybody know—

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman want an answer?

Mr. MERRY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, who will explain the bill and answer the gentleman's questions.

Mr. MERRY. I would be glad to hear the answers.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, as to the purpose and meaning of the bill, I think the bill itself sets that forth. This is to provide for school children who travel in school buses, whether owned by the particular school district or whether they are used by virtue of a contract between the school district and some professional bus operator, it affords these children an opportunity to be drilled, if you will, in the procedures to be used in the event of the evacuation, the necessary evacuation, of a bus. It affords, I might say, also, implicitly it affords, to the users of the bus an opportunity on two occasions, during the course of the school year, to check the mechanical features of the bus relative to emergency doors and things of that nature.

Mr. Speaker, I am of the opinion that this is desirable legislation.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Erie for his answer to that. The first thing is, of course, when the police come out and check the buses for the fall, they always find out whether the emergency door opens or not and if it is well oiled. That part of the mechanical part of the bus is all right. The other door is the entrance door, and each time a child gets in or out that is open, so I think that works all right. And if he ever drove a school bus on the first day of school, before the driver had an opportunity to tell the children to stay on the bus and get out the front door, he will find that half of them have found out how to get out the emergency door, jump down, and are already in the school yard before he gets the other half out the front door. So, I think they know how to find their way out of a bus.

As to ordering it done twice a year, our Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. Boehm, last year sent out a directive that all school buses should have a buzzer button posted on the rear door because so many children are getting in and out of it and leaving the door unlatched that when the bus moves ahead somebody might fall out of the bus. The question is to keep them in the bus, keep them from jumping out the rear door, not showing them where it is.

This new fire extinguisher that we have is a dry chemical. I do not think I want any of the children fooling with that; I want the driver to take care of it because it has 160 pounds pressure in it and, if some child pressed the handle on that, he might get some dry chemical in somebody's eyes on the bus. I do not think we want that kind of inspection.

I do not see any reason for this, Mr. Speaker. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, rise?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, there is a committee out in a meeting. Unless everyone is recorded from that committee I say that the roll call should not be announced.

The SPEAKER. The sergeant-at-arms will instruct the committee to return to the floor of the House. The majority leader, with so many things on his mind, just overlooked the fact that there was a committee still out, and so did the Speaker. The Speaker thought, by the number of bills that were reported, that the committee had returned.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I humbly apologize. I failed to note that they had not returned. I will hold the roll call until they have an opportunity to return.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

MOTION TO DIVIDE QUESTION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House divide the question of concurrence in Senate amendments and that the first question we vote on be the amendments to section 6, page 17, lines 18 and 19.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to divide the question as presented by the minority leader, and I ask that the membership vote down the motion to divide the question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, so that the membership of the House will know what the question is that we will be voting upon at the present time, for the information of the House, on page 17, lines 18 and 19, the Senate added a section to 1663 which says, "Section 6 Section 534 of the act as amended is repealed."

Now what this amendment would do is to deprive or deny or take away from the merchants of Pennsylvania, or those collecting the sales tax other than merchants, a two per cent commission which they presently are receiving for collecting the sales tax, and which commission they may receive if they pay the sales tax on time.

The only motion before us at the present time is, as I take it, whether we shall be permitted to divide the question and bring up this one amendment for a vote. Is that not the question, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands the motion to mean that you would divide the question by having a vote on the first five sections of the bill and then another vote on section 6, that is, lines 18 and 19 in section 6. Does the House understand the situation? Those voting "aye" vote to divide the question along the lines indicated.

The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we want a roll call. If this motion prevails, we will then be voting, as I take it, first of all on section 6, will we not, which is the section which repeals or denies the merchants this commission for collecting the sales tax?

The SPEAKER. The Chair understood, though perhaps the Chair was in error, that you first wanted to vote to concur in the first five sections and non-concur in section 6. Of course, you can have it either way, on which you vote first.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, is not the question before the House simply the motion to divide?

The SPEAKER. That is all at the present time.

Mr. McCANN. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is whether the concurrence is to be divided as indicated —the first five sections would be passed upon by the House and concurred in or non-concurred in, and section 6 will be passed upon by the House and concurred in or non-concurred in. The question is on dividing the issue.

They tell me that although I am speaking as loud as I can speak that they cannot hear in the rear of the House.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, rise?

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to agree with the remark you just made. There is so much noise on the floor of the House that it is very difficult to hear this important debate.

The SPEAKER. The only issue now is whether the question will be divided. After you decide that, the next motion will be as to how the question is to be divided. You are simply passing on the motion to divide the question. Those voting "aye" vote to divide the question; those voting "nay" vote not to divide the question.

The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe the House understands the question. I just want to, by a few remarks in support of the motion, inform the House that in the opinion of this side of the House the amendments inserted by the Senate are clearly divisible. We have two sets of amendments—well, actually three—three that are different in character.

The one set of amendments, of course, enlarges the definition of manufacturing and includes slaughtering and various other items under the umbrella, you might say, of what is manufacturing; the second amendment takes away from the merchants the two percent for collecting the sales tax; and the third major amendment, of course, accelerates the payment of the tax. The thing that we, of course, are vitally interested in is getting a vote on the question of denying the merchant his two percent.

We say the question is clearly divisible. It is unfair to expect this House to vote on a hodgepodge of amendments like this all in one vote. I might want to vote for enlarging the definition of manufacturing. I might want to vote for accelerating the $31 million, I might want to vote against the denial of this commission to the merchants, so it is eminently unfair to the membership to ask us to vote on these amendments in toto. Therefore, I am asking this House to vote "yes" on the motion that the question shall be divided.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership on this side of the House to vote "no" on the motion presented by the minority floor leader, and we will debate the reasons later.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

NOT VOTING—7

Ashton,	Jones,	McInroy,	Willaredt,
Esler,	Lippincott,	Reidenbach,

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, seventh to ninth lines of Title, by striking out "AND ELIMINAT-" in seventh line, all of eighth line and "TION AND REMITTANCE OF THE TAX" in ninth line.

Amend Sec. 6, page 17, lines 18 and 19, by striking out both of said lines.

Amend Sec. 7, page 17, line 20, by striking out "7" and inserting: 6

Amend Sec. 8, page 18, line 17, by striking out "8" and inserting: 7

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of these amendments is to accomplish what we failed to accomplish by seeking a division on the question.

I realize this is a new procedure which has not been tried, or, let us say, tried in this House in the memory of most people here. It seemed to us in the minority on Monday morning, as we were going over the calendar and discussing House bill 1663 and the amendments that had been inserted in it, that surely there was some way that this House could express itself separately on these amendments that were inserted by the Senate, because, as I have said, they are so different in their character and affect such a different segment of our business population that certainly we in this House ought to be able to have a division of the question so we can express ourselves one way or the other on these amendments which were inserted by the Senate.

Through the cooperation of the parliamentarian and the Chair and by the use of the rule book, we feel we are on sound ground in first seeking to divide the question. That having failed by a vote of the House, we have a right to amend out of the bill an amendment which has been inserted by the Senate, or to change that amendment in some way.

That seems eminently fair to be able to do that. Surely this House would not be without a remedy to give the members a chance to express themselves one way or the other on amendments inserted in House bills by the Senate. Hence this amendment now which, if it passes, will restore into the sales tax law the right of a merchant to deduct two percent commission for collecting the sales tax.

Now I am asking the House to support this amendment. You people do not realize what a critical, what a far-reaching, what a tremendous thing this is to these merchants, this commission that we give them for collecting the sales tax.

First of all, we impose upon them the duty of collecting the tax. You run into a lot of resentment, and there still is, for making the merchant a tax collector for Pennsylvania. We thought when the tax was first put on that the least we could do for the merchant was to give him two percent commission for collecting the tax, providing he pays the tax on time. He must pay it on time to get the two percent commission.

Now here we are today saying to the merchants of Pennsylvania, you continue to be a tax collector for Pennsylvania, a free tax collector but we will take away from you your two percent commission. You continue doing the job that you are faithfully doing for your State, but we want you to do it for nothing.

I am telling you one thing: I do not want to have to walk up and down the streets of my community and look the merchants of my town in the face and say, I was one of those who stood up to take away from you the little, measly commission that you are getting for collecting the sales tax for the great State of Pennsylvania.

I want to say something about the small businessman. We are not so worried about the big fellow. It is that little, small guy, that country grocer, that small drug-store in your home town, the dry goods store, and all those different people, they are the ones whom we are interested in. They are the ones who are faithfully doing this job and are collecting this tax.

Do you realize that we have figures from the Sales Tax Bureau that there are 217,679 people, businesses, collecting sales tax in Pennsylvania, 217,679 collectors that this would affect. Now, those small businessmen are the very life-blood of this State. They are the ones who keep this State going. They are the ones who keep our schools going; they send their children to college; they are the upright citizens of our community. They are collecting that sales tax for us, and it is eminently just and right that they keep that commission. And here we today are seeking, because of amendments inserted by the Senate, which we say are eminently unfair, to take this commission away from the merchants of Pennsylvania.

Now, to come back to this merchant. Many of them put that tax on their sales slips and they have to return it and pay the tax, even though they trust the people and put it on their books. Many of them have their wives, after the stores close at night, separate the sales tax from their sales. Then they have to carry that along from day to day until the end of the reporting period and, finally, they have to send it in to the State and they get, as I say, that two percent commission. They are entitled to it. We are doing a very, very unfair thing to these wonderful people whom I say are the very backbone of this great State of ours.

I am asking everybody in this House to support these amendments that we are offering to restore this commission to the merchants.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of these amendments. I have some facts and figures which I gave, I believe, in this House in January when I asked everybody to oppose this particular provision that has now been entered in House bill 1663 and has become a part of it.

I have some figures which I would like to bring to your attention. Ohio, as most of you know and some of you might not know, just decided to eliminate their tax stamps. They will no longer, after December 31st of this year, issue the stamps. However, they are still giving the merchants their two percent for collecting the tax. There are 17 states that give a commission for collecting the tax, starting with Alabama right on down: Alabama, two percent; Arkansas, two percent; Colorado gives five percent; Georgia gives three percent; on down again to Missouri which gives three percent; North Carolina gives three percent; South Carolina gives three percent. Seventeen states give from two to three percent. There are 12 states which give a breakage. Breakage is the difference between the sales and the actual amount of tax they collect. California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah and Washington give the breakage, which gives more than two percent. There are five states that not only give a percentage for collecting the tax but also give the breakage: Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Nevada and South Carolina.

The State of Ohio, in the process of deciding whether they are going to eliminate the tax stamps, have recently made a comprehensive study. The University of Ohio, the Bureau of Business Research of Ohio State University, has made quite a study and has come up—I am not going to burden you with all of the figures—with a figure that it costs, and this is what I want you gentlemen to listen to, with a figure that it costs the average merchant 3.93 percent to collect the tax, almost four percent. It costs the average merchant almost four percent to collect the tax. We here in Pennsylvania give the merchant two percent. In other words, if we continued the same two percent, they are losing practically two percent.

So I rise in support of the amendments to this bill to still continue to give the small merchant and the large merchant of Pennsylvania two percent for collecting the tax.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if the amendments offered by the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, were to carry, they would, of course, eliminate from House bill 1663 the present revenue-yielding measure that is contained in the bill.

Not very long ago in this House, on a particular given day, there passed, by a vote of 197 to as high as 201, $42.5 million of non-preferred appropriations. The record stands as to how every member of this House voted for the hospitals, the universities, the homes, the schools, and every other single item that was voted on that day in this House. There is no question that if these amendments prevail and there were not to be a revenue-raising measure for this General Fund, that each of those items would be paid at 58 cents on the dollar. This you and I know. If you believe that this is what you want, that by these appropriations you prefer to give to your hospitals, to your homes, to your schools, 58 cents on the dollar, you should support these amendments. But if you believe you should give 100 cents on the dollar on what you voted for, then this bill must pass and become law.

In this House we have had a firm fiscal policy, that revenue measures should pass the House before we pass the appropriations bills. House bill 95 is really the section that is in this amendment, as you will recall from the debate in the House, which the gentleman from Erie is speaking about now. At that time this bill passed, 107 Democrats with no Republican votes. Today, if this amendment were to prevail, you would eliminate that revenue as to its value today, and it was worth an awful lot more on the date that it passed than it is today; but each of us believe that we are trying to fulfill our honest commitments to these schools, universities and hospitals in providing to them 100 cents on each dollar in the appropriations bills that you and I, in this House, voted favorably for on that day.

For that reason and other reasons, I ask that the membership on this side of the House vote "no" on these amendments, stand on the record of what we have done in this session and to state honestly that we agree with the reason for providing the money and providing the revenue to pay for it.

There is no question that the finest men in Pennsylvania are our businessmen. There are over 200,000 that collect this commission, and it is not with pride and glory that any of us today will ask them to relinquish that commission which they now receive for collecting the sales and use tax in this Commonwealth. We do not deny that there are many other States that have for years not given any commission, and in the debate that took place here in that midnight session, you will recall quite well, it was clearly brought out that many States do give commissions; that for the taxes you collect under Act 481, under Local Government, under the Sterling Act and under the Federal Act by which you must withhold, you get no commission whatsoever. It is not great to be able to say this, because as a businessman you have expenses involved in collecting and reporting that tax, and you must live by the Federal and the State laws that we passed regarding those reports. I say honestly to the over 200,000 collectors of the sales and use tax in this Commonwealth, that when we ask you to give this commission up you are giving it up emphatically, and we have proven it to this point, to help with the general fund to pay for the schools, the universities, the hospitals and the homes. With the enactment of House Bill 1663 into law, every non-preferred appropriation bill passed in this House and passed in the Senate will be signed by the Governor at its full 100 percent, instead of being reduced to 58 cents on the dollar, a possibility which we faced for many weeks.

For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I ask the members of this House to vote "no" on the amendment offered by the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, and stand on the record that we made previously and which we will take to the people of this Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER. Does the minority leader yield to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, we here in the House, have heard a very fervent plea on the part of the majority leader. I say, however, that there is one simple thing that will be brought out and we will vote on this amendment, and we will all stand up to the public accordingly.

Those who vote in favor of this amendment will go on the record as friends of the small businessman and the merchant, and those who oppose this amendment will go on the record in opposition to the small businessman and the merchant.

Now this bill or this amendment inserted by the other body, to my mind, is a political trick. It came over here and today we are offering these amendments to straighten out what I consider to be a political trick. Today the ball goes back into the laps of the other party. When we cast our votes today all of you on the majority side will have to stand by the vote that you make very shortly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in reply to what the majority leader had to say about cutting nonpreferred appropriations if this particular amendment passes. He says it will amount to a reduction of 58 percent, or something, or 42 or whatever it was.

Mr. McCANN. It would be 58 cents on each dollar as it passed the House, or a reduction of 42 cents per dollar.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Let's project this particular matter right now with respect to the overall budget and not the non-preferred. Of course at this late hour, you might say, in the new fiscal year there is a considerable portion of the original $8 million which will not be utilized. Of course, as far as the merchant is concerned this is a thing that will go on into the future and will cost him many, many hundreds of dollars in loss of that commission. But even now the $5 million that it might bring in, in the overall billion dollar budget, would only be about five percent. On the $100 million worth of non-preferred, I believe it was upward of $100 million, the $5 million would be a relatively small sum of money to shave off of the non-preferred. Of course, it is too bad, as I have said, to wait until the dying days of a session and practically put a hammer on ourselves and say, "Well now, unless you do this, hospitals and schools and everybody will suffer." That is the wrong way to do it. We in this House, on the Republican side, every session have pulled your chestnuts out of the fire. We did it in 1955 and we did it in 1959. I grant you that in January you stood up, as you should as the majority party, and passed your own tax program. Now you are asking for votes for a tax program in the dying days of session from us. We have always stood up like men, and have voted taxes to balance the budget. Just because we here today say that we are not willing to deprive the merchants of Pennsylvania, and again I say, the real fine citizens of this State, the citizens who make this State tick, we might say, and keep us on a even keel—just because we are not willing to do such a wrong thing to him, the majority leader cannot say that we are standing up here and voting against the appropriations for the non-preferred items. That is eminently wrong and unfair, and that is not true because our history in the past years will show that we have always stood up, even when we were in the minority, and have said, "You people need a tax program." So it is not a question here today of whether we are robbing the non-preferred appropriations, because $5 million dollars out of a $100 million is not any 42 or 58 percent, as I see it. There is a distortion of the percentage there which is eminently wrong. The question before us right here today is, are you willing to deprive and take away from the merchants of Pennsylvania the two percent commission they are presently getting for a job well done, laboriously done, in collecting the sales tax for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I said here yesterday that in the 1959 biennium the Governor of this Commonwealth through his Budget Office—and I commend them for it—cut $42 million out of that budget, after the State Senate cut $53 million out. I stood up here and said when the $8 million freeze clause went through, "Take it out of the budget, pass it, we will shave it out of the budget." You said, "No, that is unconstitutional." Here is another item of around $5 million or so. Here is another opportunity to shave it out of the budget.

I do not know where all the employes are working that you have hired since the Democrats came into power. I have heard figures of nothing less than 15,000 to 22,000 new State employes. What are they doing? Have you set up job specifications for them? Do they have remunerative work to do for the Commonwealth? Are they necessary? Can you not get rid of a few of these employes and save this $5 million so that we do not have to deprive the good, fine, merchants of this State this two percent commission which they have learned to bank on? Most merchants say, "I am glad to collect this tax for Pennsylvania. They give me a little commission for doing it." Many of them have been good soldiers and are doing a wonderful job at it. But here we are saying, "I know you may have done a good job, but we are going to take that commission away from you," and we repeat that it is eminently unfair.

We want a roll call on these amendments and I ask everybody to support these amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot refrain from rising to repudiate the statement of the majority leader that his remarks prove anything whatsoever. It is ridiculous to use a common term used by the Governor of this Commonwealth. It is ridiculous, it is asinine, to say that—

The SPEAKER. I would not say that.

Mr. BOWMAN. Unfortunately I have said it and I will stand on it.

It is ridiculous to say that the hospitals, the schools, et cetera, must suffer if we do not pass this particular bill.

The only fact before us at this moment in cold, hard fact, is an executive threat to reduce a non-preferred appropriation. That is not a decision of this legislature. It is not a decision of the majority party of this legislature. It is an executive threat. I must concur heartily in the comments of the minority leader that to single out non-preferred appropriations in light of the padded payrolls of the excessive number of employes is ridiculous. I must insist that the sole issue before this House is whether or not these commissions shall be allowed to the merchants for the cost and expense of being the tax collector for the Commonwealth. That is the only issue and the sole issue and we should vote only on that issue.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

NOT VOTING—6

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House do concur in the amendments in House bill 1663, printer's No. 2634, inserted by the Senate.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley, desire to be recognized?

Mr. WORLEY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Adams will proceed.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, these Senate amendments are against the interests of small business and should be voted down. If the majority party wants so many sales tax amendments in this bill, why do they not exempt meals bought in restaurants up to $1.25 instead of keeping them all at a 50-cent exemption. Or let us do something for the working people, the people who are on pensions and all others who must eat away from home or in restaurants. They just cannot eat soup and bread all week. Let us bring the government home to the people and defeat these Senate amendments today.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1663 as before us with the amendments placed by the Senate, of course, is a combination package now of the manufacturers' exemptions with the acceleration payment of the sales and use tax and the commission which was just debated a few minutes ago. Of course, 1663, and its companion bill 1664, is a bill in which a large segment of the industry in this Commonwealth is deeply interested. There is no question that we had debate in the House when 1663 passed here and it had a series of many specific manufacturers' exemptions which would clear the air in the sales and use tax. The amendments in the Senate dealing with lumbering, slaughtering, rendering, the flour mills, or the milling in that field and the electro-plating, I believe, are amendments which are specifically in the bill and I ask that this House concur, and when you vote for this bill in the affirmative, which I am asking that you do, you will complete the entire project on the manufacturers' exemptions in the sales and use tax and the revenue measures which we have debated.

Mr. Speaker, this is certainly good for industry in Pennsylvania because you and I heavily favored these amendments in the House when the House bill passed, before the Senate amendments were inserted in this section.

I ask all the members to vote "aye" in concurring in the amendments to House bill 1663.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 2 of the calendar, bills on final passage, House bill No. 1448, printer's No. 2564.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1448, entitled:

An Act amending the "Milk Control Law" approved April 28, 1937 (P. L. 417), further regulating the sale of milk on farms directly to consumers.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I am here to oppose that motion to recommit. This bill has been on the calendar for a long time. It has been thoroughly studied and well understood that it is a good piece of legislation for the protection of the people in the industries. There are those who oppose this bill because of lack of knowledge of what it actually does. I guess I am not at liberty to discuss the merits of the bill; it is only a motion to recommit, and I am opposed to the motion to recommit. I think it should stand on its merits and that the bill be voted on. I ask you to oppose the recommittal.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I merely wanted to concur in what the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh, has said and I request a roll call on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be called. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I want to join in the motion to recommit this bill. Last week a resolution was introduced in this House calling for a legislative study of the operations of the milk commission. This bill would increase the milk commission's power to set minimum regulations or minimum prices on milk and thus increase the price of milk. Therefore, I think that the resolution which is pending to investigate and have a legislative investigation of the milk commission should be adopted, and this bill should be thrown back into committee and there should also be a report of that legislative investigation. Therefore we should recommit this legislation.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Downs, desired be recognized? The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer.

Mr. DOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support my motion to recommit. It seems as though we have a difference of opinion here in our two great farm organizations in Pennsylvania, and the legislators are right square in the middle. Now, this bill, as Mr. Murphy says, is purely and simply a bill to raise the price of milk to the poor consumers. I ask that the motion to recommit be supported.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit to protect the milk truck driver's job, to protect the rate that the farmers get for their milk, and to protect the milk dealers. There are too many people involved here who can be hurt without this bill being enacted into law.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down, asked unanimous consent to make a motion to reconsider the vote by which House bill 1448, printer's No. 2564, passed third reading on August 7.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DOWN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 413), page 4, line 19; page 5, lines 1 to 19; page 6, lines 1 to 18, by striking out "BE EXEMPT" in line 19, page 4; all of lines 1 to 19, page 5; all of lines 1 to 17, and "OF THIS SECTION SHALL" in line 18, page 6.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments are very simple. Actually they bring the bill back to the present law. They eliminate the milk control commission, the licensee; they bring the bill back to the present law in which the producers themselves help produce on their farms two gallons per consumer a day and could be processed on these farms, which we passed in 1959, which they have had a right for 20 years or so to do without any controls whatsoever. These amendments bring it back right to the present law.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DOWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if there is any part whatever of the amendments which were placed in some time ago, that part which is in capital letters in our bill, is there any of that at all left or is it stricken out entirely?

Mr. DOWN. All of page 7 is still contained in the amendment—after the bill was amended and the last part on page 6 complying with the qualifying requirements, and all of page 7, which was in the original amendments which the gentleman inserted is still there.

Mr. FOX. Do I understand then that there are parts of these amendments which are still—

Mr. DOWN. Parts of the gentleman's amendments are still in the bill.

Mr. FOX. Could the gentleman point out to me what these parts are?

Mr. DOWN. Starting on page 7, "All pasteurized milk sold to the consumers must be produced on the farm operated by such producer and shall be sold at the farm where produced." That is part of the present law.

And, "Sales to consumers must be on a cash basis.

"Consumers must own the containers in which they purchase the pasteurized milk.

"The producer must not hold a milk dealer's license issued by the Commission nor be engaged in the delivery of milk on retail or wholesale routes," and so on. If you have the bill there you can read what you had in it.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. That concludes my interrogation.

I think that we should all oppose these amendments for this reason:

Section 4 on page 7 which Mr. Down has said would remain in the bill contains this language:

"The producer must not hold a milk dealer's license issued by the commission nor be engaged in the delivery of milk on retail or wholesale routes."

Mr. Speaker, of the approximately 1,000 licensed milk dealers in the State of Pennsylvania, there must be 300 or 400 of these that are producer-distributors, farmers who are licensed to sell milk on wholesale and retail routes. If we amend the bill in this regard and pass it, we would put every one of these presently licensed milk dealers, producer-distributors, out of business. I know Mr. Down would not want that; neither does anyone else here. These are very dangerous amendments and I would ask either that Mr. Down withdraw them or that we defeat them, because if these amendments are placed in the bill it would put out of business several hundred people who have been in the business for years and years.

Therefore, I would first ask that the amendments would be withdrawn as they are dangerous to the industry, and, if he refuses to withdraw them, I certainly would ask everyone to oppose them.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I was unable to hear the entire interrogation and the answers, but from what I can gather, from what I could hear, these amendments would turn this into a very bad bill, which was a good one to start with, as presently amended.

Again I say I am not at liberty to discuss the merits of the bill in its original form because only the amendments are before me. And if Mr. Down would have given me that opportunity before he presented his amendments, I think I could have cleared up some things that seem to be confusing people here. I suggest that these amendments are bad and would make a very bad bill out of it. I would hope that you would vote against and defeat these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments have been interpreted wrongly by the proponents of this bill. Actually it is part of the bill and an amendment that they inserted themselves, and I just left it there. It is part of the original bill. The only thing that the amendments do actually, in bringing it down to a point, is to eliminate the fact that the producers will be put under the Milk Control Commission and the price-fixing practices of the Milk Control Commission.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox.

Mr. FOX. I want to repeat what I said about these amendments and the very dangerous nature of them.

Section four, on page seven, I am going to repeat this, has this language. "The producer must not hold a milk dealer's license issued by the commission nor be engaged in the delivery of milk on retail or wholesale routes."

Now, Mr. Speaker, in the bill as it is presently written, this is referring to a section back on page six, the last three lines where it says, "a producer to qualify for this special type of license." However, since the last three lines on page 6 are being stricken by the amendments of Mr. Down, the type of licensee to which section four, on pages six and seven, refers is no longer in the bill. Therefore, the language that he would leave would refer to all producers, not just a particular producer.

That is the thing that makes these amendments read that all producer-distributors would be put out of business. The section to which they refer, as it is now written, is removed. And this really fouls it up. It is imperative that these amendments be defeated, whether you are for or against the bill. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I am anxious to get this bill on roll call. I do not want to delay it too much, but this bill was debeated at length on July 11th and defeated. For some reason it is back on the calendar.

Now I charged then, and I charge now, this is strictly a milk dealer's bill to eliminate their competition in the milk business. Presently there is not any competition in the milk business. The only competition is, which one can rebate the most.

The problem we have here is that the farmer, the producer, has had the right for 20 years or more to sell milk from his farm at two gallons per each customer a day and milk that was produced on his farm.

Now the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association believes that the farmer has this inherent right. I believe they have the inherent right to sell anything that they produce on their farms as long as it is passed by the Department of Health.

In 1959—and the brutal part of this bill as they want to pass it now is—this House voted to say that the farmer can continue to sell this milk from his farm with the restrictions that you must process it on your farm. Now we are talking here about 42 farmers in Pennsylvania; 42 of them. There are 38,000 producers in Pennsylvania and they produce 7 billion pounds of milk and we are talking about one-tenth of one percent of the milk, one-tenth of one percent of the milk, produced by 42 farmers.

Now, in '59 this House had the wisdom to say that you can sell this milk from your farm but you must process it on your farm. Consequently, 42 farmers in Pennsylvania went out and borrowed money, some of them as high as $50,000, to go into this business.

Now here we are in '61, in this session of '61, and we are saying now we are going to put you under the Milk Control Commission, this governmental monstrosity. And some day I hope the consumers—and I am arguing for the consumers and producers here. I do not know one end of the cow from the other and I would not know how to milk one, but the point is that one day the consumers—of this State are going to come down and shake that Milk Control Commission from head to foot because it is a governmental monstrosity. And once you put the producer under the milk pricing practices of the producer, you are going to discourage the consumer to drive to his farm to buy milk.

Now who buys the milk? It is the housewife with the big family. The rich man still gets his delivered to the house and pays 28 cents a quart for it. There are women who save as much as $6 a month on their milk bills. Now this is a saving. This is money in the pocket, a new pair of shoes for the kid, or something. Now here you are, you are going to discourage these consumers from buying their milk at the farm.

Now it is as simple as this: If you are against the ordinary fellow buying milk at the farm at cheaper rates than these milk dealers would like to have you buy it, then vote for this bill. But if you are for a little cheaper milk for the large families, then I say vote against this bill. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, when I debated the bill on July 11th and it failed of passage, I pointed out two things, I believe.

No. 1, any person who votes in favor of this bill is in favor of more regulation and more price control. The purpose of this bill, insofar as milk producers in Allegheny County are concerned, is to enable a poor man to go out and buy pasteurized milk in Allegheny County at a lower price.

This bill involves an invitation for the production of raw milk and to enable people who want to sell raw milk to do so without regulation and without price control. And let me read you a section which so states. This is a raw milk bill. Section 414:

"Sales of raw milk to consumers. A producer selling raw or unpasteurized milk where such sales are on a cash basis and do not exceed two gallons to any one consumer in any one day at the farms of producers to consumers in containers owned and provided by the consumer, the producers so selling milk shall be exempt under the provisions of this act . . ."

In other words, the raw milk seller is exempt; the individual who sells pasteurized milk is subject to price control.

We say, if you are against price control and you are against raw milk, vote against this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, there are several things that have been brought out here that I think the members should be put straight on.

Back some years ago this change in the milk control law was made to permit a farmer to sell milk on the farm in the consumer's container without any price regulation. That still exists and this does not change it except when he goes into the business in a large way and pasteurizes milk.

Now the statement has been made here that this is a milk dealers' bill. Anyone who thinks I am going to stand up here and try to help the milk dealer at the expense of the farmer is kidding himself. I have been a farmer practically all my life. I have made a living and I have raised a family in the dairy business and I am not likely to stand up here and try to do something that is detrimental to them.

But the facts remain that there are those few who happen to be located in a desirable position whereby they can justify going into the expense of setting up a pasteurizing system and go out and cut the price. Now it is not the dealer it hurts. The dealer only pays the farmers for that part of the milk he puts in bottles in that class. It is that farmer sitting back here selling the milk to the dealer whom it hurts because he gets a lower price for that portion of his milk.

This piece of legislation, if enacted into law, is absolutely not going to hurt anybody. It does not prevent you from going to the farm and buying that two gallons of milk a day, if you so desire, if you would rather spend it for gasoline than for milk.

The law that was changed in '59, I believe it was, that Mr. Down has mentioned, was a simple amendment to the law which said it shall be sold on the farm where it is produced because there were people who were moving it from the farm over somewhere and setting up a milk plant in competition to a legitimate dealer and cutting prices. Now I have heard plenty here, and there are plenty of you folks here who have voted consistently on things where you say you are upgrading somebody's profession or somebody's business. I think the majority of you realize the importance of some type of organization to control these things.

And this is not any increase, as has been said here, to cause the people to pay more money for their milk. That is not true. They simply come under the regulations of the milk control when they get into the position where they are milk dealers. They are no longer a farmer; they are a milk dealer, and they have the right to come under the same regulations.

The point that Mr. Murphy has mentioned here, the investigation to find out about what is going on in milk control, I am not opposing that, but he is wrong when he says this is a method of charging the consumer more for his milk. That is not correct. This piece of legislation as it stands now will hurt nobody and it is a good piece of legislation, very similar to a lot of other legislation that has been passed in this House, and I would ask you all to support it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Horst.

Mr. HORST. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen, I am one of the sponsors of this bill. The reason I sponsored this bill is because at the last session they had a bill similar to this that had a noose around the farmer's neck. In fact, if that bill would have passed his tongue would have hung out maybe a foot, if it was that long.

I am a farmer. I manage and operate farms. I do not have any dairy cows; I know how to milk a cow which is more than Mr. Down who admitted he does not know how to milk one. I am not connected directly or indirectly, neither is any of my family, with any milk producer or plant in Franklin County or anywhere else in the Commonwealth, nor do we own any stock in any dairy corporations, so I am here pleading for the farmers. I am a member of the Franklin County Chapter of the Farmers of Pennsylvania, I am a seven-year member. I have confidence in the farmer. I feel that the farmer and the fluid milk market should be protected. There is a great investment in this industry.

Back in the 30's, during the Earle Administration, the Milk Control Board was introduced and established and the farmers today, over the State, have less mortgages in the banks, less borrowed money and more invested in their farms and cattle and dairy programs than any other industry we have in our State. Today, Pennsylvania is the largest ice cream manufacturer in the Nation. The county which I represent is Franklin; we have $13 million in cash coming in each year. It is the largest single pay in the State. The next largest is Letterkenny Ordinance Depot, that is U. S., that is "us" you know—one of those gimmicks. Their payroll is $12 million. Today we have in our county two of these fluid milk markets—farm jug milk markets. We have a plant in Chambersburg which, I understand, over the weekend has laid off their farmers, has switched them into a Lancaster broker, and the milk goes into the New York market. The milk is being transported by truck from Northumberland County into Franklin County. Now if our fluid milk market goes out the door, the farmers in this State will have more distressed areas than you have now at the present time.

For the information of the House, the average farm is $50,000; it is a $1,900,000 investment. Today the income is $360 odd-thousand dollars coming into the farmers of Franklin County and all the rest of the counties for their milk. Bearing this all in mind, our State has something at stake. The gentleman from Pittsburgh, on our side, made a remark that the farmer could not sell his milk to whomever he pleased for whatever he wanted to. That is not quite right. The bill, either the number before this bill or the number after it, is a companion bill dealing with raw milk. A farmer can sell all the raw milk he wants to sell to whomever he wants to sell it to, so long as he takes Bangs disease tests once a year and a ring test every three months for the cows' protection. That bill passed this House and went over to the Senate. This bill only curbs the price of milk at the farm once they make it into pasteurized, homogenized, cheese, ice cream and finished products. Once a farmer does that he is no longer a producer of milk; he is a processor and a merchant delivering milk to the customer at the farm. The Milk Control Board regulates the price of milk. There is more value on a 26- to 30-cent quart of milk than any other food product you can buy out of the store for from 26 to 30 cents. Now, as for a housewife saving money, if she does not want the milk delivered in a paper container or a glass container, she can go out to the farm and buy it for 80 to 90 cents a gallon. The Milk Control Board will regulate that price somewhere in that bracket due to the fact that there is no delivery charges nor expense of bottling, handling, and so forth. You can get that at the same price. There is no reason why the Milk Control Board will not regulate it. But under the present circumstances there is nothing wrong, nor anything to prohibit, any one of us to take a farm and bring all of your products in and milk the cows in a plastic tube and deliver it, sealed in a plastic container, from the cow to your jug. I say, ladies and gentlemen, do this if you want to protect the fluid milk market and protect these men who have buckled down to the $50,000; they may have $60,000 or $70,000 invested in their operation. Those gentlemen, if milk goes to 26 cents a gallon, are in trouble. They are not going to be able to pay their mortgages on their investments, nor is the farmer going to be able to come to town and buy peanuts, soup, shoes, clothes, and the products from the merchants. When that happens we are in trouble.

Ladies and gentlemen, as I said in the beginning, I am pleading for the fluid milk market of Pennsylvania. If the legislature votes it down, the people and farmers in Franklin County lose their fluid milk market. They cannot say that their friend, Enos Horst, has not helped to preserve it. Thank you, very much. I would appreciate your support of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sullivan.

Mr. T. F. SULLIVAN. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, I understand that if 1448 passes that the milk commission will control the price of the milk. I am concerned because the area which I represent, I am one of the Representatives of the 16th Legislative District, is a highly industrial area, and we have much unemployment there. The people work in Westinghouse Electric, Westinghouse Air Brakes, United States Steel, and many other factories and mills in the area. It so happens that in a corner of our district is a small dairy farm, and these people that I speak of, and I presume many people who are working with such unemployment, and I must say short work weeks, can buy their milk for from 9 to 10 cents a gallon cheaper at this dairy farm. If this comes under the milk commission, naturally, the milk commission, I am free to assume in my own mind, will set the price at the same amount as the corner grocery store. In doing so, eventually a person would not travel a few miles to get a half gallon of milk for one price if they could get it in their corner grocery store for the same price. So, eventually, the small dairy farmer will be put out of business.

Also, I am concerned with the number of people that I spoke of who are unemployed, and who save the few pennies that they need to provide the staples of life for their children. I am asking that the members on both sides of the aisle vote this 1448 down. Let us take care of some of these little people whom we are always talking about. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the position of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh, and the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Horst.

I speak not only as a member of this House but as a member of the Pennsylvania State Grange. I wish to bring to your attention that the Grange is in favor of this bill and has so signified in the letter that came out from the State Grange. I would like to point out that this bill has been misrepresented as being a milk dealers' bill. It is primarily a bill to help the farmer and I would like to explain that there are three grades of milk. There is a price for blend milk for which the farmer is paid by the milk dealer; there is a class 1 and a class 2, which is the ice cream grade and a lower rate; there is a buttermilk class 3. A price war could result from this, and the price cutting, if this bill is not put into law, will take away from the market of the milk dealers and from the producers, the farmer who sends the milk there. It will reduce the grade of milk that goes to the dairy, and therefore it will reduce the price that is paid to the farmer for producing that milk and he is the man who will suffer. So, if you are for the farmer, show it by supporting this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I cannot speak from the experience of milking a cow, as the gentleman from Cambria and Representative Horst spoke, but I can speak on a par with them from the milk consumers viewpoint.

I know that our family purchases more milk than anyone else in the neighborhood, and I know that occasionally we have to deviate from the mlik that is delivered at the door to go out and buy a gallon of milk for 78 or 79 cents a gallon. I know you can purchase gallons of milk in Ohio and quarts of milk in Ohio a lot cheaper than you can in Pennsylvania because they do not have the Milk Control Commission pumping up the price. I know you can buy milk in bulk here in Pennsylvania for a cheaper price than you can it in bottles because the Milk Control Commission is not pumping up the price of milk in bulk, but if this legislation is passed, we are going to pay up to a dollar a gallon for milk in Pennsylvania instead of 78 or 79 cents a gallon.

I know also that this bill, if it is passed, is going to encourage both milk producers in my legislative district to sell raw milk in bulk, and no longer sell pasteurized milk in bulk, because they will still be able to sell raw milk for 78 cents a gallon, but if they want to sell pasteurized milk, it will have to be under the commission at a dollar a gallon. Now, I think that is going to encourage the sale of raw milk as distinguished from pasteurized. I think it is going to encourage the increase in the price of milk and I think we will be doing a disservice to the consumer in this Commonwealth if we pass this type of legislation. I asked one of the proponents of the bill, "Why are you for this bill? Why do the farmers want this bill? Why do some of the milk producers want this bill?" Of course the reply is, "Misery loves company. If some producers and retailers are going to have to have this commission on their backs, all of them should have the commission on their backs. I agree with Representative Schaaf's resolution, which I helped co-sponsor, saying that the milk commission in its entirety should be under a legislative investigation to find out where it is going, where the prices are going. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to delay this thing, but Mr. Horst, on his own admission, said the Milk Control Commission will set prices. The bill says it shall have hearings and they will set prices. Now, let us look at the price of milk being sold at the farm today, say, in Northwestern Pennsylvania. It is sold anywhere from 38 cents a half gallon to 40 cents a half gallon. Now, these fellows who are proponents of this bill and say they are for the farmer should vote against the Milk Control Commission. Just look at Pennsylvania. We are the greatest ice cream state in the United States. Why? Why? The only price that is controlled is the No. 1 class A price for drinking milk. What does the farmer get for class 1 milk? $6.39. Let us take Northwestern Pennsylvania. The price is $6.39. It is a pretty bad bill when 37 percent of your milk is being paid for under one class and 90 per cent of it is being used as class 1 milk because the same milk produced in Pennsylvania is being sold over in Ohio for 35 cents a half gallon. Then you can buy it for 18 cents a quart—the same milk that I might buy on my door step—right over the line. And let me tell you, when the people go over to Ohio and buy the same milk produced in Pennsylvania and buy their post-toasties and meat and everything else there, business is leaving Pennsylvania. There is one thing about the producers, they are holding that Ohio business in Pennsylvania and those people are buying their groceries and everything else in Pennsylvania.

Now, with their own admission they said they will set the price and, when they set the price, let us look at the Milk Control Commission. It is run and operated and financed by the milk dealers and they say it is not a milk dealers' bill? Well, my friend, lobbyists were around here button-holing everyone to vote for this bill. So what reasons would they have for that? The only reason, and I am the guy that said it, it is a milk dealers' bill. I will stand by it—the only reason is to erase the competition and when they end up it will put this man, who has gone out and borrowed $50, $20, $60 thousand to go into the processing business, they will put him out of business because they will discourage the business going out to the farmer. What is wrong if a consumer wants to buy cheaper milk and if he wants to drive out to a farm and get it with his own container? I ask you, what is wrong with that?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, there is certainly a lot of information given out here without grounds. I think I will have to go into a little more of the detail of how pricing is done on milk, if you are going to understand this. Now, we were talking about, I believe it was Mr. Sullivan who seemed to be worried about, the increase in the price of milk and being prevented from going to the farm to buy milk, which does not change one iota. He can still go out to that farm and buy that milk in his own container if he so chooses, and all it says is that the person who goes into it in a big way and in competition is a milk dealer himself, and comes under the price regulation.

How are you going to get the price of milk to a dollar a gallon like Mr. Murphy said? The Milk Control Commission, before the price is set, holds a public hearing, and the prices are based on the information collected at that hearing. The milk sold at the farm does not have that cost of distribution added to it, and the difference of what their prices are and what you pay when delivered to your doorstep cannot get any higher than some of them are now because the difference is what it is costing the distributors. That is a lot of wrong information being handed out here. I do not want to prolong this thing. I could go into detail on how the entire thing is done, but at least we have talked the thing over, and now I think the milk might be getting sour and we should vote it.

On the question recurring,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 4 of the calendar, bills on final passage, House bill No. 1831, printer's No. 2616.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1831, entitled:

An Act increasing the number of courts of common pleas in the County of Philadelphia establishing therein a distinct and separate court of common pleas designated court of common pleas number eight and providing for the appointment and election of judges for the court.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I did not contact the majority leader, but I have some amendments to this bill. I am quite certain he will have a full crew tomorrow, so I will enlighten him on them.

The amendments are as follows: I want to keep the courts out of politics in Philadelphia and also in Allegheny County. I have had a bill since 1955 providing for the nonpartisan election of judges, and I would like to have the bill go over so we can elect judges in Philadelphia County on a nonpartisan basis.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have never refused such a request in this session, but I spoke to the minority leader specifically and gave to him a list of special order of business for consideration and at no time was I informed of the possibility of amendments being drawn. This bill 1831 has been in its present position for quite a few days for a couple of weeks, and I, at this point, cannot ask that it goes over. I am ready to roll the bill as the next special order of business.

I certainly feel rather embarrassed by the request at this hour for a set of amendments on House bill 1831.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the request to offer amendments arose in our caucus today and I apologize because I did not tell the majority leader sooner that we would have amendments. I understood that the remainder of our time today would be spent with the amendment battle on the reorganization school bill, so had you suggested to me when you came over that you were going to call the judges bill, I would have then told you that we had a set of amendments to the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I feel rather embarrassed about never being informed at any point that there were any amendments to the bill, until this very minute. Therefore, I am going to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, if possible, to offer his amendments in the Senate. This bill has been in its present position on the calendar, ready for a vote, since July 13.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am often confused with a Senate that passes bills 50 to 0 which are amended time after time in the House. We are never supposed to speak about the other body. I have no influence in the Senate; I would like to do a little job in the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to be facetious. I have a serious amendment. I want to have this matter brought before the House and, since it was not brought to the attention of Mr. McCann, inadvertently—I can assure him it was not done by design—I am quite certain that Mr. McCann, who has been a vigilant leader of the other party, will have the same men in their seats tomorrow and will get the same results.

I still would like to have my amendments presented.

MOTION TO LAY BILL ON TABLE

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill be laid on the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion and ask the membership to vote "no."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. M. H. GOLDSTEIN and McCANN and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, desire recognition?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Is there an appropriation connected with this bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. McCANN. There is not an appropriation attached to House bill 1831. I will check with the appropriations chairman, but I believe I am correct in my statement.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. There is none?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe the appropriation is in the bill. I beg your pardon. I yield to the Appropriations' chairman who will give you the exact amount.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, since there is an appropriation in this bill, was this appropriation set up in the Governor's budget?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, It was not.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. It was not?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Has not the Governor announced a public policy that he will sign no bill where there has been no appropriation provided and funds provided?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the Governor has said that he will not sign bills in excess of the estimated revenues. This bill will fall within the estimated revenues.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, was this decision and survey and prophecy of estimated revenues decided before certain tax bills were passed?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the estimated revenues take into consideration the tax bills that were passed today. There was a statement issued giving what amount these bills would produce and, in our caluculations, taking into effect the reductions we made and the estimated revenues, this bill has funds available to cover it.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, that is all.

Mr. Speaker, I intend to vote, as I said before in the previous debate on this bill, against the increasing of the number of judges in the State of Pennsylvania until we have a court administrator plan in this Commonwealth. I say that this particular item was not in the Governor's mind nor in the Governor's budget in January 1961. I feel it is a part of a political by-play and I do not think we should add judges to the payroll of Pennsylvania for the purpose of political by-play.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am merely trying to find out how much money this bill would cost if enacted. What is the amount of the appropriation?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I do Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How much will this bill cost if enacted into law?

Mr. POLEN. This bill will cost in this fiscal year $67,500.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What about next year?

Mr. POLEN. It will cost slightly more because this is figured on the balance of the year, and next year will be a full year.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker. I have previously opposed this bill on other grounds and gave my reasons for it in previous debate. I think we ought to trot out the constitutional amendment concerning the courts in Philadelphia and get that situation down there cleaned up once, rather than add more courts and more president judges and more judges when they still do not have any coordinated activity on the part of the several courts of common pleas.

Today I am going to object to the passage of this bill because it is going to cost $67,000. Every time we propose something on this side to take care of something in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we are told, you cannot do it because it is not in the budget and there is no money available for it. I would like to know where they are finding all this extra money. Is it just out of thin air on the estimates, and so forth? We ask them about estimates and they say, we cannot pass anything because there is no money and we cannot increase the estimates.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, if there is enough money for this bill, there is enough money for a lot of the other programs in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that need it a whole lot more than they need three judges in the city of Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we were very interested in the remark of the chairman of the Appropriations Committee that there was money within the revenue estimates for this particular judge bill.

Before I ask a question, I want to preface my question by this: I believe the Governor's budget showed there would be about $995 million, or something like, that as the revenue estimate for the fiscal year. Now query: Has the administration made a final estimate of the revenues for the year so that you know what that particular sum is?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, there has been no new revenue estimates other than the ones shown in the budget adjusted to the tax bills that we have passed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then, Mr. Speaker, we are still operating on the revenue figures that were made back at the first of the year, shall we say, at a time when there was a depression on and the outlook was bleak. We are still operating on that set of estimates, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, we are still operating on that set of figures, taking into consideration, as was given in the release from the office of the administration, that in connection with the corporate net income tax, I believe, it was raised $21 million plus. That was taken into consideration to give effect to the increased business economy that we are now experiencing.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Would the gentleman repeat that figure? Does he mean to say that the corporate net income tax will bring in $21 million more than was estimated in January?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct. Mr. Speaker. It is $21 million plus, as I recall it. I did not know I would be interrogated on this matter and I do not have the figures here, but I believe it was $21 million plus.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, then if the corporate net income tax is bringing in $21 million more than estimated, is there not some money that we could use for this so-called school program?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that increase is due primarily to the fact that the amount that did come in was less and created a deficit, so there is no new money available in connection with the $21 million. What we did not collect in the past fiscal year we expect to collect $21 million plus in the new fiscal year, the one we are in now.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate and ask for this information to be brought to us tomorrow? Could you tomorrow, by reason of the fact that House bill 1663 was concurred in today, ask the administration, that is the bureau of administration or secretary of administration, to review their figures, read the Wall Street Journal, News Week and all the magazines which say that the gross national product this year is going to be from $530 billion to $550 billion, would you ask them to please review their figures, take into consideration the boom as a result of, as I said before, "The New Frontier," and bring us in new estimates of prospective revenue, and may be we will not have to pass House bill 1789 tomorrow? Could the gentleman do that?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I think I could give him the figures now. The correct amount that we expect to increase the business tax revenues is $21,337,000. That would be for this fiscal year.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then since the estimates made in January you have upped the estimate $21 million, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. Would you repeat the question please?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Since the estimate of revenue was made in the Governor's budget in January, February 1 when it came out, you have revised the esimates upward by increasing the take from CNI $21 million.

Mr. POLEN. From the business tax it is $21,337,000. I might add, Mr. Speaker, that does not give us any additional money for the simple reason that the deficit was bigger. Due to the fact that the money did not come in in the past fiscal year ending May 31.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then, Mr. Speaker, what the secretary of administration has actually done is find out what the deficit was and up revenue to equal that deficit so we do not have that deficit to contend with, and then we can sign the non-preferred bills based on the original estimate made back in January? Is that not about what has happened.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would not want to say that is what happened, but due to the fact that the revenues did fall in the pass fiscal year and that there is a great increase of business, as everyone knows, that he did, on August 14, state that the revenue lag during '59-'61 of $21,337,000 is expected to be picked up in this fiscal year now. So we have a deficit which will be paid for by the exepected increase in revenues which we expect to receive in this fiscal year.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

In other words, if you were to bring in a fresh statement tomorrow, it would be exactly the same as you have there?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could you furnish us with that statement? I do not believe we have received it upstairs.

Mr. POLEN. I will be glad to, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the bill. The backlog in Philadelphia is three years in arrears. Many of these people are demanding that their cases be heard. In the name of justice we should create a new court. I would like to say that the question of a court administrator has been raised. It seems to me that this is a measure which is throwing sand, or attempting to throw sand, in our eyes. A court administrator would not try a single case, and I think that this is an attempt to confuse the issue.

As for those who are concerned with matters of the budget, let me point out that in these closing weeks of the session it is extremely unlikely that a court administrator bill could be considered at this time. Nevertheless, there was some $100,000 in the budget for that particular purpose. So I say, Mr. Speaker, aside from the answers already provided by the Appropriations Committee chairman, that this money is in the budget.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia just made the statement that there is an emergency situation in the courts in Philadelphia. I should like to ask the gentleman why it is that this legislation was not introduced at an earlier date in this session?

Mr. EILBERG. I cannot answer that question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Could it be, Mr. Speaker, that it was not introduced at an earlier date in order to provide a situation whereby we will once again have the old "sitting judge" situation in the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. EILBERG. This is emphatically not so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Then may I ask the gentleman this question: In 1964, when these judges must be elected, will it be the position of the majority party in Philadelphia to call these judges "sitting judges"?

Mr. EILBERG. I do not know what our position might be at that time, but I will answer the gentleman further, that if this bill had been introduced and enacted at an earlier time, whoever might be in the court would be considered a sitting judge, under the principle as we now know it.

Mr. FETTEROLF. As some people now know it. In other words, if you are in the judge's robes for any length of time you become a sitting judge.

I bring this out because I feel that this bill might well have been brought out earlier this session whereby the length of the appointment might not have been as long as it will be in this case, which will be the early part of 1964.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was last debated, I believe the majority leader stated that if this bill went down the other bills on the calendar for the other counties which were contemplating additional judgeships would not be brought up. Is this still the position of the majority leader?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will give it to him in toto so he will not have to ask any more questions: 1831 is for C.P. No. 8, three judges—that goes to the Senate; the Senate sent over a Senate bill creating a family court in Allegheny, whatever the number is on that bill; on the calendar is the Butler County judge bill, 1625, with amendments to go into it today and to be sent over to the Senate, then we will have in the Senate the C. P. No. 8, Butler County; the Senate has sent over Allegheny County; Bucks County is on the calendar; and I believe whatever other bill is on the calendar in the Senate will send it over to us at this point. Then when the Senate bills are here and the House bills have cleared the Senate, the Senate bills go through the House and to the Governor's desk.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I thank the majority leader.

The majority leader has said that not only will these other bills for judgeships, one of which, the Bucks County bill, happens to be on our calendar, not be called up today, but they will not be called up until the Philadelphia judgeship bill has not only passed this House but has also passed the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want the record clearly understood. Perhaps the gentleman should check carefully each of these bills requiring amendment that go back to the Senate.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, would the majority leader give me any reason why we cannot vote on Senate bill 20 today?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have to give him any reason why we do not vote on it, but it will come up in order, as I told him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Montgomery County, Mr. Fetterolf, who observed that the bill in question was not introduced until July 12, which to his thinking was a very late date, I want to refer him to House bill 30 creating not only C. P. but additional courts, which was introduced back on January 17 of this session. I do not think any bill could have been introduced at an earlier date.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—9

Ashton,	Lippincott,	Odorisio,	Trusio,
Esler,	McInroy,	Reidenbach,	Willaredt,
Jones,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the last bill for today, the amendment battle, on page 5, on Senate bill 867, printer's No. 1223.

I believe there is an order on the Speaker's desk for the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inform the gentleman that the Chair has a list of the people who desire to present amendments, but we do not have the order in which they are to be presented.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have a list in which No. 1 amendment would be presented by Mrs. Henzel; No. 2 and a statement by Mr. Fineman; No. 3 by Mr. Gailey; No. 4 by Mr. Tompkins; then Mr. Eshleman and Mr. Gramlich.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We also have the name of Mr. Fetterolf appearing on the list.

Mr. McCANN. Well, we have Mr. Fetterolf and Mrs. Kernaghan. That will be it.

Mr. Speaker, I believe I made one error. I stated this would be the last bill. There is the sine die resolution that we will put across the desk here today. So no one will hold that against me, that is immediately following this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, education bills on third reading, Senate bill No. 867, printer's No. 1223.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 867, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further classifying school districts and providing for the reorganization of school districts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. HENZEL asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 285), page 6, lines 14 to 19 and page 7, lines 1 and 2 by striking out "Department of Public Instruction to Prepare Plans" in line 14, all of lines 15 to 19, page 6; all of lines 1 and 2, page 7 and inserting:

Approval of Plans by Electorate—(a) When a plan of organization of administrative units for a county is approved by the State Council of Education, the question of the approval or disapproval of the plan shall be submitted to the electors of proposed administrative unit in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at an election to be held prior to December 1, 1964, and, if approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, the plan shall be deemed the approved plan of organization of administrative units for the county.

(b) In the event that the plan is not approved by the electorate, the classification of the school district at the time of the rejection by the electors shall remain in existence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I should like to comment briefly upon these amendments which have been introduced.

The local school boards have been vested by statute with the responsibility of running the schools of our Commonwealth. At their annual convention last fall they adopted a resolution relating to the reorganization of school districts, and I should like to read to you the two sections that apply to their attitude and feeling toward this reorganization.

> Section 16 of their resolution says:
> Be it resolved that this Association shall continue to oppose strenuously any and all legislation which would mandate the formation of union or merged school districts according to some plan formulated at the County or at the State level without affording the electorate affected thereby an opportunity to vote on such plans.
> And in section 17:
> Be it further resolved That this Association will support legislation which would require a vote of the electorate of a proposed merged or union district.
